Times Subscriptions Start Accumulating Before Drive Opens

South Side is proud to recognize the most loyal boosters of the Times who were interested enough in our school paper to subscribe two weeks or more before school opens. Betty Rayl was our first subscriber by virtue of winning the subscription offered by Miss Rosemary De Lancey for the highest grade average in her home room.

John Dutterer, sports writer, was the first boy to come through with seventy-five cents. John subscribed in the early days of July.

Bob Storm, once circulation manager himself, was loyal booster number three. Lloyd Grodman, copy editor, was the fourth subscriber. Martha Baumgartner, president of G. A. A. sent her subscription with a member of the Times staff, as she is in the hospital recovering from injuries received in an auto accident. The sixth subscriber was Edythe Thornton, editor of the Times. The seventh place is held by Mark Gross, '34 graduate.

Ursula Morton, general manager of the Times, was the next to come through. Helen Kelsey, assistant circulation manager, and Louis Bonsib, news editor, were the ninth and tenth subscribers. Bernita McIntosh, president of Art Club, was the eleventh booster. Last but not least comes the circulation manager herself, Rosemary Chappell.

Others who had subscribed by August 29 are George Ann Martin, Jack DeWitt, Mr. Herbert Voorhees, John Brown, Norman Franklin, John Bremer, Pat Tarney, Helen Doenges, Helen McCormick, and Peg Kilpatrick.

Remember "the early bird gets the worm," so the rest of you people profit by the example of your fellow students, and subscribe as soon as possible.

Local School Board Elects New Officers

Clyde W. Reed has been elected president of the Fort Wayne public school board after serving on the board for a number of years.

Dr. Victor H. Hilgemann was newly elected as secretary to succeed Mrs. L. A. Fonner.

The office of treasurer is being held by Benjamin F. Geyer. It was formerly held by Mr. Reed.

Ask Students To Buy Books From Faculty

Sale of Second-hand Texts Is Regulated To Protect Purchasers From Trouble.

Every semester much trouble has been caused by students selling second-hand books. Sometimes this is very serious because the books which were sold had been acquired by irregular methods. The purchaser of the stolen books is as liable to punishment as the person who sold it.

Second-hand books should be purchased from the teachers located in different rooms in the building. The list of books and the room in which they are sold is as follows:

All of the second-hand books must be purchased from these teachers. Other teachers will be in the school to see that the buying of second-hand books is only done in these rooms.

Musicians To Use Remodeled Room

Former Forge Room Now Improved by Partitioning Private Room and Soundproofing Walls

Remodeling of the large room on the southeast side of the building has been completed for use during the winter. The room was formerly known as the forge shop until classes in forge shop work were discontinued two years ago. It will be used strictly by the band, orchestra, glee clubs, and for other musical purposes. Mr. Anderson, the school carpenter, fitted the room which was used by the department of music during the winter with acoustical equipment for the opening of the fall semester.

The addition of a partition has greatly improved the remodeled music room. This partition allows a small room connecting the one to be used by the band with the engine room. Private lessons and practices are to be given in this room. It will prove very convenient for these purposes.

Insulating material has been used to cover the walls and ceilings of the room. This material, which is called "Nu-wood," is glued on the walls in rectangular sheets. "Nu-wood" sound proofs the rooms and sets all sound made in them apart from the remaining sections of the building. The rehearsals by the band and orchestra, which are held in the room under the direction of Mr. Jack Wainwright or the glee clubs' weekly noon sessions will not interfere with classes which are being held at the same time.

In the spring when plans of remodeling were in progress, a band stand was contemplated. It was to have risers which would hold two rows of chairs. The stand was to be used by the band for rehearsals and by the glee clubs in some of their frequent pageants, minstrels, and plays. However, lack of money prevented the progress of further plans toward the addition of the band stand.

Thirty-Two Named For Special Class

New English Group of Mixed Rating Will Be Taught by Mr. Makey; No Time Limit Is Set.

A new system of teaching English has been inaugurated this semester and will be in charge of Herman O. Makey, through whose efforts the system was worked out.

This system will enable the pupils to understand thoroughly their English before going on. The class will be limited to thirty-two pupils. No board work will be required, as each pupil will work individually according to the plan. Some will need as much time as a year, others only a few weeks, Mr. Makey believes. The pupils will thus have as much time as is needed to complete the study.

Absence Slips Issued In Study Hall Now

Absence slips will be obtained this year in the study hall from Miss Virginia Montgomery, who will have charge of it this year in place of Miss Elizabeth Chapin, who is now at Central High School. In order to obtain these slips an excuse should be brought from home stating the reason for the pupil's absence. Pupils with unacceptable excuses will receive pink slips which do not allow them to make up their work. These slips, signed, are to be returned to the study hall for filing.

Pupils who are tardy during their home room period should go directly to the home room where they will receive their tardy slip. Those tardy during any other time of the day should get their slip from the study hall.

Introducing Your Principal and Dean

R. Nelson Snider

Martha Pittenger

Freshmen, meet your principal and dean whom you will have as your advisers and friends for the next four years. Mr. R. Nelson Snider is entering his eighth year as principal of South Side; he will help you when you need his advice. Miss Martha Pittenger has been the dean of girls since the school was established in 1922. Girls, you can take your troubles to her.

No Room in School Is Without Home Enrollment Students

Home room assignments made it necessary to press every available room in the building into use. The gym, library, study hall, Greeley Room, and Voorhees Room will also be used. Pupils will keep the same home room until they have graduated.

The following is a list of teachers and their rooms:

Teachers, Principals Hold Organization Meet

The annual organization meeting for teachers and principals was held Tuesday, September 4, at 2:30 p. m. at Central High School. Merle J. Abbott, superintendent of public schools, made the principal address at this meeting at which time he set forth the general policies to be pursued during the year in the schools.

At various times during the meeting, musical numbers and group singing were presented under the direction of Oswald D. Jones, supervisor of music in the Fort Wayne public schools.

And now for a much needed rest!

Success comes in cans—failure in can'ts.

How about helping along the New Deal?—Serve tea at tea dances.

Think of that feeling at the end of the grade period. Need we say more?

The best thing about school is vacation—and the best thing about vacations is going back to school.

Advice to the lovelorn: Never run after a street car or a woman—another will be along any minute.

Students! You'll find the Times a real necessity this year! Don't put off subscribing—it's only seventy-five cents.

South Side's first opponent—Bluffton. (We hope the printer gets writer's cramp after the first five letters.)

If you intend to study at all, a good plan is to study hard at the beginning of the term... the rest will take care of itself.

Freshmen, it's your turn to fool the seniors—there really is an elevator in South Side. You'll find it under the east incline, to the cafeteria.

Remember—this year South Side's football team is fighting in defense of the city championship. Here's hoping the other team jumps over defence and runs.

Back to Work

They're gone! Yes, those three months of vacation are now but memories. Memories of sun-burned backs, of weary legs and sore feet, of pleasant hours of traveling, playing on baseball diamonds and tennis courts, reading, and sleeping. Although we used up a lot of physical energy, our mental powers were given a rest. No matter how we spent our vacation, we should now be ready to get back to work. The aim of every student should be to do better work than ever before.

Welcome, New Freshies

Today, within the mighty portals of South Side, there are more than three hundred freshmen just starting their four years of high school. These freshmen are unfamiliar with the customs and rules of South Side and, until they become acquainted with the school, they will probably feel bewildered and out of place.

Until these new freshmen get accustomed to the ways of high school, the upperclassmen should remember their experiences when they were freshies; and help guide the freshmen instead of annoying and taking advantage of them, as the case has been at various times.

The freshmen, too, should be given some advice. Get down to business at once without wasting any time. Resolve to study hard and know your lessons every day. Stick to the resolution and your reward will be a place on the semester honor roll; keep the resolution four years and the result will be your name on the four-year honor roll. Bear in mind, freshmen, that the upperclassmen and faculty are waiting to help you whenever they possibly can.

Good Manners Important

"Good manners are more important than arithmetic," John F. O'Ryan, Police Commissioner of New York, declares; and we, even in a place where arithmetic reigns, agree. Good manners are not for use just on special occasions, they are practically indispensable at school. They are needed in the halls where many pupils are hurrying from one room to another, dropping books and pencils, treading on others' toes, and jostling one another however unintentionally.

They are needed in the locker rooms where it is so crowded and everyone is in such a hurry that his thoughts are usually for himself alone. They are needed in the classrooms when the embarrassment of a bashful pupil who has made an unintentionally ridiculous remark is heightened by the thoughtless laughter of a this-time-more fortunate classmate. They are needed at the basketball games when a referee has made a decision contrary to ours.

In short, there is no place where they should not be exhibited; and our school can be made something to be more proud of or it can be dragged down by a reputation given it by a few thoughtless people who leave their good manners in the pockets of their other pants.

Times and Totem

The time rolls around at the beginning of every semester when the fate of the Times and the Totem is in your hands. Will you merely look on and refuse to give your support? Or will you realize the help and pleasure that these two publications can give to you? We are not asking you to subscribe to something that has not proved its worth. The Times, judged as "The Best High School Paper in the United States," and the Totem with an "All-American" rating are the best to be had for a very reasonable price.

The Times is indispensable as a source of information about announcements and details of club meetings, school activities and functions, news of the classrooms, feature stories, gossip about your friends, the latest jokes, and humorous articles. It is not only one of the best papers in the United States, but it is also one of the largest for a school of this size.

Everyone carries away with him memories of his high school days, his escapades and experiences. But these in time grow dim and are almost forgotten. A yearbook keeps your memories fresh with its accounts of the year, pictures of friends and teachers, and the accomplishments of the school.

Read the first three issues of the Times which will be distributed, think of the benefits they can offer, and then take advantage of the payment plan by subscribing to the Times and the Totem.

Season Tickets

Football, basketball, and track—the three activities all South Side students look forward to with enthusiasm. The tickets for each of these activities are combined into a booklet known as the season ticket. Freshman, you particularly, are unacquainted with our season ticket arrangement; and we take this opportunity of conveying to you the threefold privilege the season ticket presents you. These privileges are time, economy, and enjoyment.

By time, we mean pupils of South Side are able to take advantage of the installment plan. By this plan a sufficient amount of time is given to make payments on your ticket at regular intervals with convenience.

By economy, we mean the season ticket offers the student every game at a much reduced price.

The word "enjoyment" is self-explanatory. One derives no keener pleasure than realizing that his school and he, himself, is there backing the team. The team which has no equal!

It is essential, therefore, that all students make every possible effort to secure one of these tickets.

You may ask, "How is the money spent that is secured from these tickets?" It is put to good use, and the answer to that question is very simple. The money is put into the hands of our athletic department, and thus our teams are given good support and furnished with all necessary equipment.

Freshmen! Sophomores! Juniors! and Seniors! are you going to let this opportunity pass you by?

"To Serve Is Noble"

Today approximately three hundred fifty freshmen are starting high school careers in South Side. In any school course the principal objective is to educate the student in two distinct lines—scholastically and socially. Fulfilling the requirements of the regular course of study is, however, the first consideration. Extra-curricular activities are excellent, but it must be recognized that they are of secondary importance.

Freshmen often acquire the idea that they are merely in the way and are not needed in the many school activities outside the regular class routine. Freshmen, don't get the erroneous idea that only seniors are needed to carry on the activities of the various clubs. True the officers are often seniors, but we would be the clubs if the freshmen failed to co-operate with them.

While we are giving our service to the various organizations, we will be gaining many desirable results for our own benefit. We gain not only the art of leadership, but the ability to follow leaders and to work with classmates is cultivated.

"Remember you can't afford to stand still because he who stands still is already going backward.

Neither can you afford to be a mere follower for he who is content to follow another is always behind."

As one by one we graduate and leave this institute of learning, professions chosen will be varied; but we have one privilege in common, that of being a citizen. As a citizen we must be able to adapt ourselves to variable situations and to accept complications as they may arise. Surely there is no better place to gain these experiences than in school clubs.

Last but not least, join a club for the pleasure and good times that are found in every club. In addition to the many beneficial results there are numbers of good times in store for the members of all clubs. Freshmen are urged to attend the first few meetings of all the clubs open to them. Today is the day to consider seriously joining some extra-curricular activity. Don't put it off, for remember,

"By the streets of Bye and Bye
One arrives at the house of Never."

The Tiny Times

The Library Table

A Feather In Her Hat

By I. A. R. Wylie

If you were a millionaire and were able to have a novelist write you a story that contained everything you wished a novel to contain, this is the kind of novel you want.

The plot is unique and the characters are unusual. You might like Clarissa Phipps with the brave feather in her hat, or maybe it would be Richard, the hero; or Julia Trent, the discontented and temperamental actress of yesterday; or it might even be Pauline, lovely wanton who reaches for life with all ten fingers. The story itself revolves about the life and loves of Richard. Beginning in The Limehouse district of London where Richard is a shoe clerk, the story moves to St. John's Square, one of the better districts of London, where Richard starts life anew as a wealthy man, with two thousand pounds. How he spends the money on the household at St. John's Square, how he rescues a young woman, cast off by her parents, and gives her food and shelter, how he produces a play which everyone thinks rotten, successfully, and how he finds love in St. John's Square, all go to make up one of the maddest and merriest novels of the day.

Freshman Fantasy

Verily brethren, I say unto you, lend your ears and hearken unto me. For unto you hath come this year the class of '38. Behold they come from the utter darkness and the outmost bounds. They seek the Star of Knowledge. Rich gifts they bring; golden mathematical genius, frankensensian scientific urge, myrrhian literary ability.

A gentle wind whispered through the tall trees. The murmur of a lullaby among the grasses and the asters binged with my drawings. I fell asleep. The Muses must have been wandering that way, for a confused procession of faint glimmer days passed before my wondering eyes. The glimmer is a little clearer now. Ah! what is this I see? Teachers and fellow students, I'll be bound, armed with books, and all the other paraphernalia of school. Could I have forgotten them so soon? But horrors! what are these next? My forehead beads with sweat! 'Tis an essay marked "D", and an unexpected history test and a learning mathematical wraith called "Unpreparedness."

But the ordeal passes. My brow is dry again. Smiles reappear and merry laughter fills the air. The parade is brilliant now and hurries faster and yet faster and more vivid. Drums pounding, bugles blaring:
The Freshmen are coming!
The Freshmen are coming!
Viva la South Side!
Viva la South Side!

Freshmen—get wise!
Get wise—get wise—and evermore get wise!
Remember the words of King Tut or perhaps it was Marco Polo or somebody:
(Quote)
To the young must be given knowledge and discretion; yea and subtlety to the simple. Therefore, my son, concentrate on the words of thy teachers and let them slip not. So shalt thou rejoice when comes the day of trial. (unquote.)
(Quote)

Moreover my son if thou dost not get a place on the football team, be not cast down. Such doth but save thy nose from bashing and thy collar bone from fracture. Rather reserve thee thyself then a place on the sidelines! There thou mayest expand thy lungs and lift thy voice and urge on thy school with thy much yelling. (unquote.)
(Quote)

Further, my son, the damsel whom thou takest out to partake with thee of sustenance, let her not thereafter go out into the darkness alone. It is for thee to see that she arriveth at her domicile in safety. Above all, my son, this must thou remember: That the wise keep their own council, but alas! the voice of the freshman is always heard throughout the land. (unquote.)

Magna Cum Laude

While the heat rose in waves from the melting asphalt, a couple of boys buoyed up by a dim vision of jerseys, goal posts, and footballs slaved feverishly to make possible a trip to football camp. While others lay luxuriously in bed in the morning, they tumbled out in order to send letters to the boys who had signed up for training camp, to secure financial aid for the boys who did not have the necessary means to attend, and to prepare the equipment which had to be taken along to camp.

It was necessary to make a list of those who needed assistance in securing pecuniary help. It was of vital importance to promote a system whereby boys who needed help could get a commission for bringing new customers to certain firms. It was important to see that the equipment was in satisfactory condition. At the last moment, transportation for the boys and equipment had to be arranged, and passed out.

The two boys, working hard as the coach's deputies, accomplished all of these things. Regardless of heat, vacation lethargy, and the absence of the coach, these boys made the necessary arrangements so that our football team might have the opportunity of securing a week of early training in anticipation of the tough schedule ahead of them. Not a little of the team's future success will be due to these boys who worked long and hard while the rest of us were still idling away the all too short vacation. These boys deserve our appreciation, gratitude, and thanks since it is to them, largely, that the credit for a successful training camp is due.

These boys, Harrison Simon and Fred Meyers, were assisted only by Mr. Fields and Mr. Davis. They performed successfully a difficult task.

Wit, Wonder and Wise Sayings

The story has been going around about a football player in a small school who was unusually dumb. To the surprise of everyone, he got by in every subject, including a special examination in chemistry. When asked about it, the chemistry teacher replied, "I decided to let him pass if he made a grade of 50 percent. I asked him two questions—one he answered correctly—the other he did not, so I let him pass. The first question was, 'What color is blue vitriol?' He answered pink'. That time he was wrong. The other question was, 'How do you make sulphuric acid?' His answer was, 'I don't know.' That time he was right."

There's a Lot in Knowing How
The small-town superintendent of street cleaning, water works, light works, gas works, and town constable was at a loss to know what to do when the water works broke down; so he called in an expert from one of the larger cities nearby. The expert came, gave a few taps with a hammer on a certain pipe, and the water works began working again. He sent the town a bill for $250. The town council was shocked. When asked for an itemized bill, he sent the following:
Tapping with a hammer..... $1.00
Knowing where to tap..... 249.00

Voltaire, the well-known French sage, kept his wit with him to his very last days. One day a visitor was talking to him about a call he had made at the home of Haller, a philosopher of his time, "Haller is a great man," said Voltaire, "a great poet, a great naturalist, a great philosopher, almost a universal genius."

"What you say, sir, is the more admirable, as Mr. Haller does not do you the same justice," remarked the visitor.

"Ah," remarked Voltaire, "perhaps we are both mistaken."

Pedagogue to Parents

Editor's Note: Any question which the parents may have concerning the school or extra-curricular activities will be answered in this column by the teacher most closely connected with the particular question. It will be unnecessary for the parent to sign the inquiry, merely submit the question to the Times and it will be answered.

By Miss Dorothy Magley
One of the first questions that presents itself to the freshman is that of joining a club, or even clubs. Clubs have an important and a peculiar place in the life of a high school freshman. They furnish him a means of keeping and making friends. He has come from a grade school in which he has shared his activities and interests with a group that he knew quite well. In high school he may not be in a single class with any of that group. He, then, must continue his contacts with these old friends through his extra-curricular activities. On the other hand he will want to make new friends. Class room associations help in that respect; but through the cooperative spirit of committees, programs, and projects, the club presents a much better and quicker medium of making friends.

The clubs of South Side offer such varied interests there is sure to be one, or more perhaps, with an appeal to each student. The matter of dues has been carefully considered and no club has a prohibitive cost. There are, in fact, many which do not entail any cost. All the clubs function first and foremost for the student body and its betterment. The club may be a means of continuing an already present interest or hobby, or it may serve as a basis for finding and developing ones.

Participation in a club makes one a broader, a more cooperative, and a more useful citizen of South Side. As a teacher, I heartily recommend club membership to freshmen. The club member is often a more responsive student, for having found for himself a source of pleasure and information, he is eager to share it with the others. He has gained self-confidence and poise through club contacts. He knows how to work with others toward a general betterment.

However, the question of the number of clubs to which he belongs should be given serious consideration both by the student and his parents. He should know wherein his interests lie and should not "spread himself too thin." He should discuss the matter with his home room teacher and carefully consider the time and work of each club. Joining a club as a freshman shows that that South Sider has allied himself more closely to his fellow students, at once, and has begun immediately to be a booster for South Side in this particular field.

New Instructor

Harry Windmiller

Harry Windmiller, of Geneva, Indiana, will teach at South Side this year as successor to Conrad Morris, teacher of commerce.

Mr. Windmiller received his education at Ball State Teachers College, where he received his A.B. degree, and at Indiana, where he took a Liberal Arts course.

Prior to his post in this city our new instructor taught for several years at Somerset, Kentucky, and at Ossian High School. At Oxford, Indiana he taught commerce and physical education and coached the athletic team.

Mr. Morris secured a leave of absence and has retired to his farm in Mississippi.

South Side Clubs Enjoyed By Many

Leisure-time Projects Attract Total of 27,187 Students; Thirty Organizations Here.

Extra-curricular sessions at South Side High School were attended by a total of 27,187 pupils during the past year, R. Nelson Snider, principal, reported after the compilation of an extra-curricular statistical report.

"If we added in the attendance at games, plays, and exhibits, the total attendance would be nearly 60,000," he said. Many persons included in the 27,187 participated in publications work.

The thirty extra-curricular clubs met after school hours to carry out recreational and educational leisure-time projects. From six to twenty meetings were held by each of the clubs. The clubs are listed as follows: Wranglers, Airplane, Sunshine Juniors, Girls' Rifle, Philaethian, Art, Lettermen's, Math-Science, Booster, Kodak Klan, Publications, U. S. Martha Baumgartner Suffers Fractured Back in Accident

Martha Baumgartner, prominent senior at South Side, is suffering from a broken back received when she automobile in which she was riding turned over on a sharp curve. She may, however, return to school in a few weeks. The accident happened near Richmond, Indiana, when Martha was returning from a Y. W. C. A. camp late at night, in the latter part of July.

Other occupants of the car carried her across the road to a farmhouse and immediately summoned a doctor. She was taken to the Richmond Hospital and her companions were given a ride to Fort Wayne. Her sister, who was visiting relatives at Berna, came to the Richmond Hospital as soon as the news reached her. The next day a large wine-colored Chrysler ambulance brought Martha to the Lutheran Hospital here. She said she felt like a million dollars when the driver blew the siren and everyone got out of her way.

The break was mended, and she was placed on a splint. One talks about something being "hard as a board," but they don't realize how hard that is. Just ask Martha. She has been lying on her back on a board for four weeks and still has two weeks more of it. She was under the influence of an anaesthetic for over two weeks to relieve the intense pain that she suffered.

Martha has had hundreds of visitors. Her room is filled with gifts that she has received from her many friends. Flowers also play an important part in the decorations of her room.

Her bed has a sign on it: "Do not touch." She is strapped to the bed at night, so she can not move an inch, and the doctor said when she gets up, she will have excellent posture. She will have to learn to walk all over again.

Though all of her suffering Martha has kept up her sunny disposition and cheerful smile. She is one in a hundred that could. She will get off of the splint today, and return to her home a few days later. She hopes to be able to come back to school some time in October. Hurry back, Martha.

Elizabeth Chapin Has Central Post

Former Study Hall Teacher Here Is Transferred; Virginia Montgomery Takes Her Place.

Miss Elizabeth Chapin, who has always been in charge of the study hall since South Side High School has existed, has been transferred to Central High School where she will have full charge of the study hall there. Miss Ehle, who formerly had charge of the study hall at Central, has been transferred to North Side where she will fill the place left by Miss Auman, the German teacher there.

Miss Virginia Montgomery will have charge of the study hall and attendance office. Students will go to the study hall to get absence slips. If students are tardy for home room period they are not to go to the study hall but to their home room. There they will be admitted to class and be given an eighth period. If students are tardy for the first or any other period, they are to go to the study hall and Miss Montgomery will give the student an admit slip. They will also be assigned an eighth period.

Local Scout Group Acquires Property

Anthony Wayne Area Camp Site Has Been Transferred To Logan Island Location.

The Anthony Wayne Area Boy Scout summer camp has been moved from the Gene Stratton Porter "Lumberlost" property on the mainland of Syllan lake across the lake to Logan Island.

The committee, meeting at the Chamber of Commerce, made plans to pay off the mortgage on Logan Island to Mrs. L. D. Borum of South Bend. The scout organization contracted in 1928 for the island along with the purchase of the mainland "Lumberlost" property.

The island originally cost about $10,000. The remaining debt amounted to $3,400 which was reduced to $1,800 by Mrs. Borum. The committee has agreed to pay off the $1,800 during the month of August. The island is to be used as the permanent camp for the scout area which has a total membership of 1,700.

The mainland property of the camp, which is being used yet this summer, has gone back into the hands of Mrs. Jeanette Porter Meehan of Los Angeles, Cal. The scouts are to move four of the buildings from the mainland to the island after the close of the summer camp on August 1. Logan Island consists of 80 acres of land and will make an ideal camp for the boys, the committee announced. Several troop camping units have already been using the island. Ferry lines are to be constructed to carry the scouts to and from the island.

David Parrish, '31, Wins History Prize

To David Parrish, '31, went the annual cash award of the Indiana University history department for the best essay written by a history student on some phase of American history.

The cash award presented to Parrish was $25.

Parrish graduated from South Side High School in 1931. During his attendance here he was prominent in scholarship and extra-curricular activities. He attended the Indiana University Extension Division here in 1931-32, the summer of '32, and in 1932-33. He enrolled as a junior on the campus at Bloomington last September.

Many Students Go To Lakes, On Tours During Summer

Many methods of diversion were adopted by South Side students and teachers this summer. The lakes near Fort Wayne seem to be the most popular places for vacationers.

A great number of people, however, traveled in Indiana and various other parts of the United States.

For the most part, students are glad to be coming back to school after the long vacation, proving that even vacations may become tiresome.

When asked by the "inquiring young reporter" what they did during the summer, these answers were received:

Rosemary Chappell: "Traveled in southern Indiana."

Harriett Yapp: "Went to the lake."

Edythe Thornton: "Traveled and then went to the lake."

Bryce Minier: "Went to Lake James. Solicited Times ads."

John Bremer: "Monkeyed around at Chicago."

John Bex: "Toured Canada and farmed a little."

Marcelle Horn: "Nothing." (Believe it or not.)

Wayne Bender: "Went to Big Long Lake."

Manuel Rothberg: "Impersonated a business man and ate and slept."

Bob Storm: "Went to camp."

Ursula Morton: "Worked and played tennis!"

Bill Hockett: "Played tiddly-winks with Satan."

"Irish" Ireland (Linotyper):

'34 Archer Graduate Wins New Scholarship

Ray Hagans, '34, has been awarded the Rev. Phillip Wambsgans Scholarship to Valparaiso University for this year.

The scholarship, valued at $175, will pay all tuition for one year. It was established by the board of trustees of Valparaiso University in honor of the memory of Rev. Wambsgans, for many years pastor of the Emmaus Lutheran Church of this city and an originator of and leader in Lutheran activities.

Hagans will take studies at the university dealing with chemical engineering or literary subjects. The basis of the award is scholarship and the promise of future success.

"Worked, worked, worked, and worked some more; caught a 15-lb. bass at Rome City (that was work, too!)"

Fred Schwartz (typesetter): "Same as 'Irish' except the fish and Rome City."

Charlie Nelson (pressman): "Saw America First."

Louis Bonsib: "Was official plow-pusher, spud-digger, and 'rabbit-keeper-out-of-the-garden', at Wainwright Camp."

Pop Stahl Changed To New Position

Former Custodian Transferred To Administration Building; Carl Vonderau Comes Here.

W. G. (Pop) Stahl, who has been the custodian at South Side High School since its establishment in the fall of 1922 and who has aided with his handiwork in many school activities, has taken up new duties in the school system.

He has been transferred to the old Administration Building on Clinton Street, where he will aid in the restoration of school furniture and do general repair work. Mr. Stahl will also do carpenter work under the direction of Carl J. Carlson, supervisor of buildings and grounds.

During his sojourn at South Side, he was a great favorite of the students because of his unfailing amiability and willingness to help in the advancement of all plans to make student life more happy. Because of these characteristics the students whom he aided in making their four years of high school more enjoyable sadly regret his departure from South Side. Mr. Stahl was a popular entertainer while at South Side, singing German songs, dancing and yodeling. He was in demand by clubs and by home rooms for programs.

Before coming to South Side twelve years ago, Pop Stahl was a postman in Fort Wayne. Mr. Stahl is being replaced by Carl Vonderau, who came to us from the Harrison Hill grade school.

G. A. A. Invites New Freshmen To Join Ranks

All Girls Who Pass Health Examination Are Eligible To Participate in Sports.

Games in Charge Of Student Leaders

Tennis, Volleyball, Hockey, Basketball, Track Are Leading Sports of Year.

For the past twelve years the Girls' Athletic Association has been one of the leading girls' organizations at South Side. During this time the club has succeeded in its purpose to promote an interest in wholesome gymnastic and athletic activities. The club wishes to welcome all the new freshman girls to help make this year as successful as other years.

Any girl is eligible to this club who is able to pass the health examination. A member must take part in sports and attend the business meetings. A certain number of points are given for each sport. Numerals are awarded for 300 points, and letters are given for 1200 points.

Business Meetings Called
Participation in all sports is after school on appointed days. Business meetings are called only at special occasions during the semester. The officers who were elected last spring preside at these meetings. Twenty-five points are subtracted from a member's total number if she fails to attend a business meeting.

Student leaders referee and take charge of all the activities. The girls going out for each sport are divided into different teams which are under a captain who takes charge of the score cards.

Tennis is the first sport in the fall. The matches are played on city park courts. Twenty-five points are awarded for this sport.

Speedball, the leading sport for freshmen in the fall, begins after tennis. This very exciting and entertaining sport awards 100 points to participants.

Hockey During Fall
Upperclassmen may enjoy hockey during the fall. One hundred points are given.

Volleyball and tumbling are two interesting sports which give 100 points each.

The most exciting winter sport is basketball. Each class plays for the class championship, and the winners play for the school championship. Participants are each awarded 100 points.

Track and baseball are the leading spring activities. One hundred points are awarded for baseball and twenty-five points for track.

Additional sports performed outside of school are hiking, skating, and swimming. Extra points are given for these providing a student leader accompanies the girl.

Alumni Hi-Yers Join National Y. M. C. A. Order

At a meeting held at the Y. M. C. A. August 26, the Fort Wayne Alumni Hi-Y Club became a charter member of the Phalanx, the national Y. M. C. A. fraternity.

The chapter from Marion, Ohio, administered the ritual in the induction services. The new local chapter has as its heads Dale Robertson and Paul Jasper.

A committee comprised of Elmer Sherbondy, Bill Cripe, Arnold Dickey, and Earl Mosier was picked to welcome the delegation from Marion upon its arrival on the preceding Saturday night.

Bob Maxwell, William Crick, Ed Kruse, Arnold Dickey, Franklin Doenges, and Walter Zimmerman, members of the new tribunal, made the arrangements for the meeting.

School Garage Planned
Plans for a school garage to be built at McClain High School in Greenfield, Ohio, are completed. The cost is estimated at $46,351.50. The garage is designed to take care of the twenty-five school buses.

South Side Student Wins Third Place

Garland Eickmeyer Captures Trophy in American Legion National Model Plane Contest.

Garland Eickmeyer, South Side, has won third place in the experimental division of the American Legion National Model Airplane contest held at Indianapolis August 26 and 27. He has been awarded a trophy.

Eickmeyer also was winner of the first outdoor model airplane contest of the season held June 11 at the Municipal Airport under the auspices of the Fort Wayne Model Airplane League.

Eickmeyer placed first in the glider event, his model remaining in the air one minute and 38 seconds.

He has won seventeenth place in a national contest at Akron, Ohio, in the Stout outdoor fuselage division for which he was awarded a bronze medal.

Last summer he won sixth place for outdoor twin pushers in a national contest at New York. Eickmeyer now holds nine city model records and has won two city glider contests.

Many 1934 Graduates Receive Employment

Many graduates of the class of 1934 were more fortunate in procuring employment than have others in the past few years.

"I believe that conditions for employment for our high school graduates this year are greatly improved," Merle J. Abbott, Superintendent of Schools, commented, "we have no way of checking and procuring figures in corroboration of this statement, but I do know that I have recommended about three times as many graduates this year, and, in many instances, they procured the positions they were seeking."

A number of commercial students have secured positions in the Lincoln Life and other insurance companies. Several honor roll girls have found employment in large office buildings, and others have been added to the sales staffs in downtown stores. Many boys have enrolled in the General Electric apprentice schools in which they work half-time and study half-time.

Miss Lucy Mellen Is Head of Cafeteria; Plan Plate Lunches

The South Side cafeteria will be conducted as it has been in previous years with Miss Lucy Mellen again the manager. Miss Mellen has regular classes every day along with the planning of the meals, hiring the employees, and acting as buyer.

Miss Mellen stated that all suggestions would be welcome and also that she wished all complaints brought to her personally.

The cafeteria intends to serve general counter food, plate lunches, sandwiches and candy. This year will be the second time that plate lunches will be instituted.

They intend, as usual, to serve food during the fourth and fifth periods in an absolutely non-profit basis. Students are invited to bring their own lunches and eat them in the cafeteria. Hot dogs, hamburgers, and candy will again be sold on the west side of the cafeteria.

Student Aid Needed In Cafeteria Work; Helps Earn Lunch

Just around the corner from the gym their is a large refectory calling for an unacknowledged amount of work. This room is known to the students generally as the cafeteria. Miss Lucy Mellen, home economics teacher, is the efficient advisor of all work done in this department. She has three women in her employ in the kitchen. These women are headed by Mrs. Mercer.

Because of the number of students who eat in the cafeteria daily, there is needed additional help. Any student who works one period receives his lunch free of charge. Students wishing to work should put in their applications in Miss Mellen's office. Approximately 500 students and teachers eat in the cafeteria daily.

R. O. T. C. students of Oakland Technical high school, Oakland, California, recently sponsored a military ball to conclude activities.

Faculty Members Supervise Games

J. H. McClure and Louis Briner Are Playground Instructors During Summer Vacation.

Two members of South Side's faculty have found an interesting way of spending the summer vacation. They are J. H. McClure, basketball coach and history instructor, and Louis E. Briner, instructor of physical education, who have been directors in Fort Wayne's public playgrounds during the summer, aiding in the supervision of athletics there.

Main Library Displays Information on Colleges

An unusual collection of information on American colleges and universities was on display in the main lobby of the Public Library for the use of students going to college this fall.

The new display was completed in early August and included a special collection of Americana, Miss Alice Van Zanten announced.

In addition to the data on higher education in the lobby, the library had catalogs issued by a large number of institutions of higher learning on file in the rear of the main desk.

The Americana display included outstanding books of United States history and biography in addition to a collection of works on travel in this country. Another group of books was more general, containing representative modern works of poetry, music, drama, and art.

Looking at Sports

By Norman Buck

Congratulations to Bob Nulf on his new position as coach at North Side. We wish him plenty of luck. (Pardon us, but we have a hunch he may need it when he backs up against the Archers.)

Mr. George Herman Ruth, Sultan of Swat of the American League, et al., is helping the aspirin business quite a lot indeed of late. Just about half a dozen big league managers received headaches when Ruth announced his intention of quitting active playing as a regular at the end of this season and his desire to become a big league manager. Each member of this select group of half a dozen is wondering if he will be replaced by the famous old Powerhouse.

Illinois received a set-back in their Big Ten hopes recently. Ken Meenan, star backfield performer for Northwestern several years ago, who had announced his intention of playing at the Illinois school this year, died this summer of injuries received in an accident after a leg amputation had failed to help him.

Ed Golden and Bob Hoffman, two members of the Archer golf team of 1933, went far in this year's City Amateur Tourney. Both progressed to the semi-finals of the tourney, and both were defeated in this round.

How different the scores would have been had they played with the Scotch golf balls of the early Nineteenth Century. The following is an extract from an old English book on sports published in 1840: "...We shall introduce a short account of that favorite Scottish game, which is written golf but pronounced 'gouf'. The golf ball is about the size of an egg, and is made very firm. It is composed of stout leather, which, having been previously soaked in boiling water, allows of its being first very firmly soaked and then turned inside out, leaving a small opening by which it is very forcibly stuffed with feathers. The leather being yet wet, it contracts into a ball of the dimensions stated, but nearly as circular as that used in the game of cricket." Oh me, let's go out and sock the feathers out of the thing—hitting it fifty yards down the fairway. Good old gouf!

Parent-Teacher Head Given Board Position

Mrs. David S. Vesey, president of the South Side High School Parent-Teacher Association, was recently named a member of the board of school trustees. Mrs. Vesey will serve in this capacity for a period of four years.

Besides her presidency of the South Side organization, she has been prominent in other school activities for a number of years. She is a graduate of the University of Michigan and formerly was a school teacher. She is the mother of Virginia Vesey, a prominent South Side student, and Jane Vesey, '33, co-editor and business manager of The Totem, formerly a general manager of The Times, and a member of the National Honor Society.

Budget System Regulates Cost Of Athletics

Extra Money Is Used To Buy Sports Equipment; Expenditures Are Listed.

There are many people in Fort Wayne who can't understand how South Side manages to "break even" in athletics. This is a definite way by which this is accomplished. At the opening of each school year, a budget is made in which each expenditure is listed. If there is any extra money at the end of a year, it is spent on equipment; if there is a deficit, or if one is foreseen, the amount of equipment bought is reduced. More has been bought this year. Most of it has been footballs and suits.

To start the year of 1930-31, there was a deficit in the budget of $500; to start the year of 1931-32, the deficit had been cut down to $222; in 1932-33 they broke even; while by the spring of 1934 there was a reserve of $500. At the end of each year a record is made which contains in it all the items for which money has been spent and every cent that was taken in including gate receipts and season tickets.

Here is a list of the things for which money went out:

Equipment	$1,182.72
Officials	577.50
Professional services	54.00
Transportation	389.00
Meals and lodging	317.60
Guarantees	872.08
Care and repair of equipment	172.61
Laundry	137.11
Medical supplies	165.81
Sweaters and letters	169.95
Advertising	5.00
Printing	58.48
Telephone	25.27
Fees	20.50
Dues	6.50
Postage	9.00
Letterman's banquet	24.45
Tourneys	160.00
State tournament	727.50
Scouting	38.75
Supplies	16.25
Miscellaneous	99.61
Total	$5,317.45

In other years the help which is now donated by the janitors, teachers, and students was paid for. This formerly amounted to a figure somewhere near the $400 mark. All teachers who stand watch at gates, all decorating, and the preparing of the floor and the cleaning of the gymnasium is done free of expense to the school.

Orien Patch Attending Reserve Officers Camp

Orien Patch, graduate of South Side, is attending the reserve officers camp of the U. S. Army at Carlisle barracks, Carlisle, Pa., for six weeks training in the medical division. Dealing purely with the military tactics employed by the Medical Corps in war time, the camp is the only one of its kind in the United States and abroad. At the expiration of the six weeks, Mr. Patch will receive the commission of first lieutenant in conjunction with the School of Medicine, Western Reserve.

Indiana Theatre Has Two Features Billed For Future Release

No picture in many months provides and promises more laughs or more tender irony than "Advice to the Lovelorn," coming to the Indiana Theatre in the near future. The part of the hard-boiled reporter forced to conduct an agony column is enacted by Lee Tracy.

"Advice to the Lovelorn" reveals a shrewd grasp of the public interest of today and recalls the sentimental columns that are rapidly disappearing from our American newspapers. These columns are often laughed at for their mawkishness even while those who laugh realize that they serve as public confessionals to which many sorrow-ridden people bring their troubles and seek for light.

The picture opens with Lee Tracy as Toby Prentiss, star reporter and feature writer under a five-year contract, sleeping off a drunk during an earthquake, the biggest story of the year. On the very same day the portly, heavy-faced woman who had the "Advice to the Lovelorn" column for many years, resigns to get married. The managing editor, incensed at the star reporter's frequent lapses in the direction of liquor, assigns the vacancy to him, making him an object of ridicule for his fellow reporters.

"Henry VIII" Coming

"The Private Life of Henry VIII," coming soon, sees the fulfillment of Charles Laughton's wish to play the part of Henry VIII, the Bluebeard of Kings. The story is concerned with the romantic rather than the historic phase of Henry's reign. In fact, the story of "The Private Life of Henry VIII" leans decidedly towards the humorous, and it is claimed the picture provides almost continuous laughter.

Five of the six wives of Henry VIII, Anne Boleyn, Ann of Cleves, Jane Seymour, Kathryn Howard, and Katherine Parr are portrayed. Neither funds nor effort was spared in making this film. Not only were several sets duplicating the mammoth halls of Hampton Court built in the studio, but the costumes required many months to prepare and were made from the finest materials and cut only after careful research to assure their being correct in style and line.

Loves Fourth Wife
The story begins on the day Anne Boleyn, Henry's second queen, was beheaded, and Jane Seymour, whom he called sweet but stupid, becomes his third wife. But the real romance of the picture is his love for Kathryn Howard, whom he could have taken for his fourth wife had diplomacy not selected the German Duchess, Ann of Cleves, who wanted him for a husband no more than he wanted her for a wife, and who won a divorce in a card game played on their wedding night. His marriage to Kathryn Howard promises to be his most successful, but she finds she has never gotten over her love for Thomas Culpepper—and thereby hangs a tale of infidelity.

South Side's Gridiron Schedule For Year Is Announced

Archers Play Eight Contests During Season

Mr. Ora M. Davis, Athletic Manager, Publishes Card Of Football Opponents.

Green And White Meet Bluffton First

Mishawaka, Peru, and City Teams Offer Opposition; Culver New Opponent.

Announcement of the football schedule for the coming season has been made by Mr. Ora M. Davis, faculty athletic manager, and has met the approval of the entire athletic department. This year the South Side football schedule contains a wealth of good teams and nothing which could honestly be put under the term of set-ups, although probably both Bluffton and Decatur were scheduled as easy opponents. Mishawaka, Peru, and the three city opponents are always tough, while Culver this year comes from the unknown quantity.

The first game will take place at the Archers' field and will be with the Bluffton Tigers. This game seems like a breeze for the Archers, although there is still a chance that the Tigers might unleash an attack wholly unexpected. The Archers should take this one without overexerting themselves.

Archers Meet Decatur

After coping with Bluffton, the Archers will stay on the home stamping-grounds to meet the Decatur Yellow Jackets. Decatur as well as Bluffton seems, up to this time, to have offered no determined opposition and South Side should turn them away without too much of a struggle. Mishawaka, to be taken on at that city, will be the next foe and as usual will be plenty tough. The Archers, thoroughly tried in the first two games, will be settling down into their pace and should have a good fight in attempting to take Mishawaka into camp.

After Mishawaka, South Side travels over to Peru to take a crack at the Circus City's usual fine outfit. This will be another test for South Side's gridiron warriors; and should they emerge the victor, they should feel real elation.

Culver Strength Unknown

Culver, who will play the Archers on their (Culver's) home grounds, will be the next opponent; and we don't have much of an idea of what to expect as the result of this game, but reports have it that Culver is none too tough. We can but wait and see.

The Archers then come back to Fort Wayne to tangle in the first of three games to be played for the high-school football championship of the city. Central Catholic will come first to play on the South Side gridiron, and they should give the Archers a good battle with the outcome still in doubt. North Side, who will also play on the Archers' field, will be probably the toughest team on the schedule. If you want a close, hard-fought football game, don't miss the North Side-South Side game.

Central Last Foe

After a week's rest, the Archers wind up their campaign by leaving the home grounds to tangle with their oldest and most bitter foe, Central. If South Side should win every game and Central lose every game, you still could not predict with any precision the victor in this game. Central, the victim of a humiliating defeat last year, will be out for blood this year; and both teams will want this game above all others. Altogether this year, South Side has a tough schedule, filled with very worthy opponents; and should they come through unscathed—well, they're good.

The schedule follows:
September 15—Bluffton, here.
September 22—Decatur, here.
September 29—Mishawaka, there.
October 6—Peru, there.
October 13—Culver, there.
October 20—Central Catholic, here.
October 27—North Side, here.
November 10—Central, there.

Bob Nulf Succeeds Mark Bills As Head Coach at North Side

Bob Nulf recently was named head athletic coach at North Side high school to succeed Mark Bills, who resigned to continue his study of music. Nulf has been assistant to Murray Mendenhall at Central since 1930. He is a local athletic product.

Mr. Bills will study music at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor for the coming year and then plans to go to New York as a professional singer. In 1924, Bills was made head football and baseball coach and assistant in basketball. Three years later he became head football and basketball coach at the Redskin school when it was first built. He has been connected with the music department of Trinity Church in Fort Wayne for nine years and this summer has been a vocalist in an Ann Arbor church.

Nulf will be football and basketball coach at the northern school and also instructor in physical education and supervisor of intramural sports. Rolla Chambers will continue his work as head track coach.

Nulf Local Product

The new coach was a three-sport man at Central during his school days, participating in football, basketball, and baseball. He was graduated in 1924 and went to Butler University for two years and Illinois for two more, graduating from there with a physical education degree. Norwich, N. Y. was the scene of his coaching activities for one year. In 1930 he returned to Fort Wayne and became assistant to Mendenhall.

Nulf began work at North Side almost immediately after his appointment, handling out equipment on August 23 and beginning actual practice and drill soon after. Due to his long experience in this region both as a player and as a coach, Nulf realizes the type of players and the type of ball necessary against local opposition.

Mr. Nulf is judged very efficient in the line of putting out excellent teams and creating a fine spirit among the players. According to Mr. Bills, he has the best football material in the school's history. Given a few years to organize and prepare for the future, Nulf no doubt will turn out highly successful teams.

New Gridiron Marker Purchased by School

Gone are those days of old when the markings on the South Side gridiron had the appearance of being the work of a gentleman under the effects of intoxicating spirits. No longer will the sidelines look like a winding mountain trail. Here's the reason. The athletic department has purchased a new field marker. The new marker is of the same type as was used in making the markings at the Olympic games in 1932.

It is so designed that lines can be made in the end zones up to the goal posts. The marker formerly used was constructed in such a way that it was not possible to make the lines up to the posts. The sighting mechanism on the new marker is a great improvement over that of the old marker. It also is equipped with a rubber protector which keeps the wind from blowing the marking material as it emits from the marker spout.

Eleven Archer Students Gain Athletic Honors

South Side Boys Compose Baseball Team Playing in American Legion Finals.

Eleven South Side boys have proven themselves worthy of school-wide recognition by virtue of their athletic prowess shown this summer.

These eleven boys played on the Archer Trucking Company American Legion Junior Baseball Team which won its way to the State finals of The American Legion Tournament, held at Perry Stadium, Indianapolis. As South Side has no baseball team and as this Legion team was entirely composed of South Side students, South Side should feel proud of these boys. Members of this state finalist team were Wallace Bartels, Charles Baumgartner, Richard Brown, Elmer Cochran, James Ellenwood, Carl Hall, Earl Rarick, Gaylord Stalker, Richard Wigent, and Richard and Robert Woehr. C. J. McGary was the manager of the team.

On their path to the state finals, the Archers defeated Berne 9-8, Kendallville 7-6, and Decatur 9-0 at their sectional tournament held at Fort Wayne. At their regional tourney, held at Frankfort, they defeated Kokomo 1-0 to entitle them to be one of the four teams to meet at Indianapolis to decide the State Championship. Defeating Southport 3-2 the Archers had defeated Carbon 6-0, in the state finals. Lafayette proved to be too much for the Archers in the final game and defeated them 9-2.

American Legion tournaments are held to promote the interest of boys in baseball. To be eligible for a Legion team, a boy must not be seventeen years old before July 31.

Eight Football Games To Be Played By Irish

Central Catholic's gridders will play a schedule of only eight games this fall, it was announced recently by Bill Barrett, Irish coach.

The first contest will be played at home the Saturday after school begins, the opponent being the Decatur Yellow Jackets.

Of the games on the schedule, four will be home games for the Irish. These will be the contests against South Side, Central, Decatur, and Howe Military Academy. Also included on the schedule are two night games, those with Portland and North Side.

The Irish will meet their first city series opponent when they play the Central Tigers on September 29. Their next city game will be played on the following Friday evening against North Side and the third and final city match will be against the Green Wave about two weeks later, on October 20.

The complete schedule follows:
September 8—Decatur, here.
September 14—Portland, there.
September 22—South Bend, there.
September 29—Central, there.
October 5—North Side, there.
October 13—Howe, here.
October 20—South Side, there.
October 27—Garrett, there.

The home games listed on the schedule will be played on the South Side gridiron.

Goal Dust

What will be the results of the Archers' gridiron endeavors this coming season? This is the one big question that confronts the Archer fans now. On paper the team seems to be the best in this vicinity and the prospects of a very successful season are bright.

Many former stars of the southern gridiron bowl will be active this season on the college gridirons. The possibilities of their accomplishing outstanding feats are very good. Herb Banet, one of the greatest backfield stars in the gridiron history of South Side, will hold down a post on the North Manchester College team. Don Powell will be out for the freshman squad at Purdue and he will undoubtedly be holding down a regular post on the varsity in a few seasons. Brad Moring will be out for the Wabash College team.

Possibilities of having a good turf on the gridiron this season were given a stunning blow by the continued drought which this vicinity experienced this summer. The grass was well watered but the blazing sun burnt it out in many spots.

Central must be a true believer of the adage that "Practice makes perfect" for a few of the Tigers have already made their appearance on the cinder track. Perhaps it would be well for some of our track aspirants to do the same.

"Watch North Side" seems to be the motto of the football fans of this city. With the appointment of Bob Nulf as coach of the Redskins, a new era in North Side athletics is sure to bring the results. Former Coach Bills stated shortly after he resigned that he was leaving what promised to be the greatest wealth of football material that North Side has ever had.

Central Grid Schedule Announced by Officials

Central officials have announced the football schedule for 1934. It will consist of eight games, the three most difficult being with Elkhart, South Side, and North Side. The schedule appears to be a difficult one, and may give the Tigers some trouble.

The schedule follows:
September 15—Columbia City.
September 22—Elkhart.
September 29—Central Catholic.
October 6—Decatur.
October 13—North Side.
October 27—Auburn.
November 3—Central of Lima.
November 10—South Side.

Football Opens Athletic Season In Intramural

Cross Country, Tennis, Golf, Volleyball, and Handball Are First Fall Sports.

Letters Awarded By Point System

Mr. Louis Briner, Director, Offers Valued Prize for Work in His Department.

Opening with tag football, the intramural athletic department of South Side will offer six sports this semester. Tag football, cross country, tennis, golf, volleyball, and handball are the various sports that may be participated in. Next semester's intramural schedule will consist of wrestling, boxing, basketball, track, softball, tennis, golf, and horseshoe.

Intramural letters may be earned by boys who garner enough intramural points. A first letter is awarded for earning 125 points, and a second letter is awarded for earning 125 additional points. White, with a green I M on it, is the color of the first letter; and green, with a white I M on it, is the color of the second letter. Requiring 125 points for a letter has been deemed necessary by Mr. Briner because it was becoming so easy to earn one hundred points.

South Side's main reason for conducting an intramural department is to give boys who do not make varsity teams a chance to participate in the sports they like and to give them an opportunity to earn a minor letter. Any boy enrolled in South Side is eligible to take part in intramural athletics as there is no scholastic requirements. Of course a boy who makes a varsity team is not eligible to participate in that particular intramural sport.

South Side's intramural system was originally introduced, and is now headed by Mr. Briner, boys' physical education director. Mr. Briner introduced his system to South Side six years ago and he has improved it each year until it is now one of the best intramural systems to be found anywhere.

Freshmen boys, as well as other students, are urged to participate in the several sports offered in the early part of this season.

Take Fire Drills Seriously; Learn Rules For Safety

For the benefit of those who are not familiar with our system of controlling traffic at fire drills, the following rules are to be emphasized:

1. The fire siren is the warning signal.
2. The students are to form in two's inside the classroom door.
3. Teachers are to accompany the classes outside.
4. All students must leave the building.
5. Students must walk rapidly, but must not run.
6. The two pupils out of any sets of doors first should hold them open until all of the classes have passed out.
7. The first classes out must go far enough away from the doors to prevent congestion there.
8. The fire drill is to be conducted without talking or disorder.
9. Classes are to stay outside until the siren orders them to return.
10. The order of passing from the building is:

Lost, Found Articles May Be Reclaimed From Dean's Office

Miss Pittenger, as in former years will take care of all the lost and found articles of the school. At the end of the spring semester last year she had a large collection of various articles found around and about the school. Fountain pens, ear-rings, lipsticks, bracelets, pins, and wearing apparel such as glasses, made up the collection. All students who lose or find any objects during the next two school semesters are requested to take them to Miss Pittenger.

2730-2732 SOUTH CALHOUN

South Side Is Largest School In Fort Wayne

Enrollment Totals 1,883 Pupils; Gains 1,000 Pupils In 12 Years of Existence.

Most Classrooms Are Used Hourly

"Floating Teachers" Is the Result; Central High, Second; North Side, Last.

As in previous years South Side leads the city high school enrollment with 1,883 pupils. Central, in second place, reports an enrollment of 1,645 on the first day. North Side follows with 1,300 pupils.

Statistics show that South Side's enrollment has increased over one thousand pupils since 1922, when the school came into existence.

Because of the crowded conditions, some teachers are obliged to change to different rooms during the day. Practically all the classrooms are used every period except the fifth. Since the enrollment is increasing every year, South Side will soon no longer be able to accommodate all the pupils in the present building.

Library Workers Under New Plan

Miss Shoup Inaugurates Method By Which Amount of Work Is Made Less For Each Helper.

The proteges of Miss Emma Shoup, the library workers, are to begin work under an NRA planned by Miss Shoup herself. The new plan has been worked out so that each person has to labor three times each week, rather than whenever he or she feels like it.

Every assistant will work once behind the desk, once at the work assigned by Miss Shoup and once during the mad rush after school. This plan will do away, to a great extent, with not having enough help when needed.

The regular duties of library assistants, as set forth by Miss Shoup are as follows: (1) Be able to shelve books in their proper place; (2) Check out books according to the South Side method; (3) Take care of circulation according to rules; (4) Change dates correctly.

The qualifications for one to be accepted as a library assistant are as follows: (1) Junior or Senior classification; (2) B average in class studies; (3) Willingness to give up time for work.

The old recruits who will work again this year are Catherine Herschman, Helen Hickman, Vera Ellinger, Helen Potter, Ruth Collins, Virginia Beck, Mildred Horner, Robert Long, Richard Shannon, Max Tritch, Bryce Minier, Frank Montgomery, Eugene Holtman, James Clapper, Clayton Kilpatrick, Dick Russell, and James Sweet. The seven or eight new staff members will be announced later.

Eleanor Smeltzly Witnesses Holdup While on Vacation

Miss Eleanor Smeltzly, social science teacher, accompanied by her sister, Miss Mary Catherine of Central High School, made an extensive tour of Northern United States and Canada.

After visiting the Century of Progress at Chicago, they continued on to the Dells of Wisconsin and to Lake Geneva. Miss Smeltzly said that in beauty Lake Geneva compared to the lakes of Switzerland and Italy. They also visited Minneapolis, St. Paul, and Duluth.

From there they took a lake trip on Lake Superior, continuing to the Pigeon River and then into Canada.

Upon returning they motored by the way of Oshkosh and Milwaukee. While waiting for the bus in the bus terminal at Chicago, they encountered the unusual experience of being witnesses to the robbing of that terminal. The bandits ordered everyone to hold up his hands; then they looted the ticket office of eight hundred dollars. In leaving the station, the bandits dropped part of the money. Miss Smeltzly stated, and many of the people rushed to get it; but upon the arrival of the police were forced to return it.

Along with this trip Miss Smeltzly spent a week in the country and also visited the State Park at Lake James.

P. G. Classes To Gaze At Celestial Bodies

Several interesting plans have been made for the out-of-class activities of the physical geography classes this year. Usually the advanced classes make topographical maps of the stadium, lawn, or some other region near the school. During evenings after school the classes will make trips to collect the various kinds of rocks to be studied.

An excursion to the Weather Bureau has been planned in order that the instruments and methods used to forecast weather may be observed by the students. Also, star-gazing trips will be made at night to identify the different stars and constellations. Besides these activities, the classes will go outside to study cloud formations during class periods.

The classes will also study the altitude of the sun twice each semester.

Pupils Display Work

An annual fashion show and manual arts exhibit was held by the Gary High School, Gary, West Virginia. The school orchestra furnished the music, and the girls showed dresses made by themselves. The articles made by the boys were on display in the gymnasium.

Opinions of New Freshmen Show They Like South Side

Freshmen think South Side is "swell." At least, that's what they all said when asked what they thought of their new alma mater. Most of them thought it was big and that it is very easy to get lost in its winding passages.

The following are direct notations from the new inhabitants of South Side:

Frances Craig: "It's pretty swell."

Julia Crabbill: "It's okay, but I get sorta twisted."

Oscar Eggers: "I thought it would be swell and it's better than I thought it would be."

Raymond Racine: "I like the school; I like the paper; and I like the teachers."

Grace Collins: "It's quite the stuff."

Ralph Dearing: "It's all right."

Helen Fleischer: "It couldn't be better."

Valeria Martin: "Pretty good school."

Helen Potocka: "I think it's a lot different from grade school."

Pat Russ: "It's pretty snazzy, even if I did get lost."

Nathelle Cour: "I'm crazy about it."

Allen Garrison: "I think it's all right, only I wish some one would find my program card."

Donald Wharton: "The best high school I ever attended."

Paul Urey: "It's a pretty good school."

Freshmen Initiated By Principal, Dean, Physical Director

"For the benefit of you 9B's, I will endeavor to give you some advice that will be useful to you during your high school career in South Side," stated R. Nelson Snider at the freshman meeting in the study hall after the seventh period Wednesday. Mr. Snider told the freshmen about our school regulations, as to tardiness, absence, hall traffic, parking of bicycles, and the lost and found department.

Manuel Rothberg, who was introduced by Mr. Snider as an industrious worker for The Times, said that the best bargain in South Side was The Times. He told about the good features of The Times and invited all freshmen to come and look over The Times "plant."

"Your happiness in South Side will depend upon your own actions," remarked Miss Fitzgerald, who was also introduced by Mr. Snider. She talked about the extra-curricular activities in South Side and stressed the point that school work comes before club work.

Miss Alice Patterson, girls' physical education instructor, gave the dates of gym meetings for both boys and girls. She listed the intramural activities for the boys and girls and told about the bulletin boards.

The meeting was adjourned when Manuel Rothberg and Bryce Minier passed out the Green Books.

To Teach Here

Mr. Alvaro Ferlini, a graduate of Notre Dame University, has come to South Side to teach in the mathematics department temporarily.

Mr. Ferlini is taking the place of Miss George Anne Hodgson, who was taken ill during the summer. He will teach algebra 1, geometry 2, and commercial arithmetic.

While at Notre Dame he was elected a member of the Academy of Science, honorary society. He was also interested in the musical life of the school, having parts in the Glee Club and playing clarinet in the band.

In speaking of his first day in South Side, he said, "The first morning gave me an impression of perfect management on the part of the faculty and co-operation of the students."

Mark Gross Wins Swarthmore Award

Scholarship Is Worth $1,200; Is Granted on Outstanding Record in High School Work.

Mark Gross, '34, has been awarded a $1,200 scholarship to Swarthmore College, Swarthmore, Pennsylvania, on the basis of high school achievements.

In addition to this scholarship, he has received offers of two $900 scholarships at Drake University, and at Northwestern University in recognition of his journalistic work in high school. A $1,000 offer was made by Earlham College.

During his high school career, Mark was general manager of the South Side Times; editor of the Green Book, school handbook; and vice-president of the sophomore class. He was outstanding in club activities, belonging to Student Players, Art, Wranglers, Chess and Checker, 1500, Intramural Lettermen's and Math-Science.

Besides being on the four-year honor roll, he also was elected a member of the National Honor Society and the Quill and Scroll, international high school journalistic society.

Gross placed first in the Interscholastic High School Press Association interview and news story contest in Indiana, first in the East Central states in the Quill and Scroll editorial contest, second in the East Central States sports writing contest, and was awarded honorable mention in another East Central States editorial contest. During his junior year he served as South Side High School correspondent for The News-Sentinel.

At the annual Recognition Day ceremonies held at South Side, Miss Rowena Harvey, faculty adviser of school publications, paid great honor to Mark Gross in referring to him as "doing probably the finest high school news and editorial writing in the United States."

600 Pupils Added in 7 Years; Faculty Shrinks

Today South Side High School has 600 more pupils and a smaller faculty than seven years ago. In the fall of 1927 there were sixty teachers and two librarians to instruct 1,263 pupils; while, in the fall of 1934 South Side has sixty and one-half teachers and one librarian to teach approximately 1,863 students. Thus, with a gain of six hundred students, there is a decrease of one-half teacher.

First U. S. A. Meeting Will Be Held Thursday

A very interesting program is planned for the first meeting of the U. S. A., which will be next Thursday. The meetings are held every other Thursday in the Greeley Room. Miss Elizabeth Kelly and Miss Grace Mellen are the advisers.

The officers for this semester are president, Ruth Garrison; vice-president, Virginia Fathauer; treasurer, G. Dannenfelt; and secretary, Evelyn Kruse.

Students Who Drive Must Have Permits

Students who drive automobiles to school are again required to have driving permits. The blanks for these permits may be secured from Miss Dorothy Alderidge in the office for the students' parents to sign. Permits are also required of students who ride with those who drive. The punishment for not having them is a ninety-day suspension from school.

“Youth Served or Denied” Is Topic of Talk By M. J. Abbott

Mr. Alvaro Ferlini

"If our program for the education of youth is to be successful, we must guide them," Superintendent Merle J. Abbott said Tuesday morning in speaking before the annual organization meeting of the Fort Wayne public school teachers, principals, and supervisors at Central Public High School auditorium on the subject of "Youth Served or Denied."

"This resolution," he stated, "sometimes results in high-sounding phrases and fifty-cent words. We must work earnestly and put forth interest in our work; we must provide a program; we may direct the vehicle, wherein all other kindred agencies with just as true purpose will lend their good, unselfish offices."

Mr. Abbott continued, "We have watched and conversed with these young people coming from our institutions, having concluded their training there. They return to us in respectful manner to ask the answer to the question they observe, which to them has been richly colored and they discover does not for the present hold the future they had planned. The great group that has gone into industry in other days have for the most part performed in a manner acceptable to those in charge; they have lived by the rules of the game; they have saved; they have shared; but they find themselves without an opportunity to continue what was begun as the basis of a useful life."

"The leadership that must be provided today may be the result of far-seeing individuals bringing a rich experience and common sense to bear upon the problems involved. It may be the combination of both and the helpful result of each; but whatever the condition, this leadership must be developed along fundamental lines that are sound, substantial and enduring. There are certain principals that, if followed, will lead pupils to that realm and, if violated, will result adversely."

Times Again Wins Contest For Papers

For 8th Consecutive Time Publication Places First In High School Contest.

Winning Papers At State Fair

Again The South Side Times placed first in the first division of the eighth annual Indiana high school newspaper contest. This is the eighth consecutive time The Times has received this award among many other honors to its favor. For several years it had been judged "The Best High School Paper in The United States" before the system of rating was changed; and since then, it has achieved the highest national award of All-American.

The Times was entered in the division of newspapers of seven columns or more, the first division. The contest was sponsored by the Indiana University Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity. The winning papers, with their certificates presented by Sigma Delta Chi and the blue ribbons, were displayed this week in the Indiana University Exhibit Building at the State Fair.

In the second division, consisting of papers of from four to six columns, The Centralian, of Central High School, Evansville, was given premier honors over twenty-one other competing papers. The winner of the blue ribbon in the third division, papers of three columns or under, was The Arsenal Cannon, Arsenal Tech School of Indianapolis, winner of the second division the year before.

The paper which received the ribbon and certificate for the most improvement shown during the past year is The Comet, publication of the Bluffton High School.

Judging in the contest was based on news-writing, ability, use of English, make-up, use of type faces, and the improvement shown over the previous year. There were forty-one papers entered from high schools in this year's contest.

Judges of the contest were: Prof. J. A. Wright, I. U. journalism department chairman; Frank R. Elliott, I. U. director of publicity; Paul Peltus, editor and publisher of the Bloomington Star and a member of the Indiana University Board of Trustees; Prof. Arthur Leible, I. U. English department; and Robert A. Cook, Bloomington, president of Sigma Delta Chi.

French Club Meeting To Be September 13

The first meeting of the French Club of this semester is scheduled for next Thursday, September 13, in the Voorhees Room. This meeting will consist mainly of organizing the club for this year and discussing what is to be studied at future meetings.

Last spring at the picnic held on Thursday, June 7, the members of the French Club elected officers for the coming year. The officers elected are president, Clarabelle Chenoweth; vice-president, Lloyd Grodrian; secretary and treasurer, Betty English; and Inter-Club Congress, Alice Hulse. These officers will be installed at a future meeting.

Junior-Math Club Has Initial Meeting Sept. 11

An interesting program has been arranged for the initial meeting of the Junior-Math Club which is to be September 11. Meetings are held every other Tuesday in the new recreation room, the Voorhees Room. Miss Mary Paxton is the club adviser. The primary purpose of the club is to further student interest in mathematics. Membership in the club is open to any 9B, 9A, or 10B boy or girl who is interested in mathematics.

A number of last year's graduates were fortunate in receiving scholarships to various colleges and universities. Edgar Moring and Glen Ellenwood have been awarded scholarships to the Fort Wayne Art-School. Ray Hagens was given the new Rev. Philip Wambsgans Memorial Scholarship to Valparaiso University. This award is for one year. John Brown was offered a year's scholarship to Duke University, but he later accepted one to Indiana. Howard Smith's award is to Lake Forrest College.

Brenton Wise, Raymond Nelson, and Edwin Goldberg of Woodrow Wilson High School, Dallas, Texas, have been doing some trick photography. They have taken one picture with the head of one person and the body of another. Another which they call their ghost picture shows one person double, making him look like twins.

Instructions Given To Room Agents

Subscription Chasers Told That First Three Issues Will Be Given Free To Every Student.

A week ago Wednesday, August 29, a room agents' meeting was held in Room 18. Rosemary Chappell, circulation manager, instructed the agents in their work for the following semester. The instructions were as follows:

"The first three or four issues of The Times will be given free to everyone in the building. After that only the persons who have subscribed will receive the paper unless they pay a dime for the issue they desire. The members of your class who have subscribed will receive their papers each week from you."

"The papers will be rolled into bundles by the assistants and laid on the desks. When you come into the room in the mornings to get them, all you have to do is look for the number of your home room."

"Another meeting will be held Wednesday after the staff meeting for the benefit of the agents who are not here this evening. If anyone present cares to come, it is permissible."

Miss Harvey spoke a few words and added a few points to what had been said. At the conclusion of the meeting, the introduction of the assistant circulation managers, Ina Claire Chappell, Helen Doenges, Helen Kelsey, Pauline Crabbill, and John Bex, whose place has since been taken by Max Tritch, took place.

First Art Club Meeting Will Be Wednesday

Bernita McIntosh, elected president of the Art Club in the spring, will call the first meeting of the semester to order Wednesday afternoon after school.

Last winter the club was under the supervision of Miss Erma Dochterman. During that time the club was financially successful. At the end of the spring semester, the members voted to use the money remaining in the treasury to buy supplies, such as china, which will be used by the various clubs in the building for teas and other activities.

Miss Lay, the supervisor of the club for this winter, hopes to have one of the largest memberships ever attained by that club. She also hopes to make the club as successful financially and socially this semester as it proved to be last semester. The members do not have to be art students, and all students are invited to join.

Heads of Philo Club Make Plans At Meeting

The new Philaethian officers held a meeting in room 68 September 6, to discuss plans for the coming semester. These officers are Alice Hulse, president; Dorothy Fathauer, vice-president; Betty Medaris, treasurer; Harriet Yapp, secretary; Mary Martha Hobroke, sergeant-at-arms; Edythe Thornton, program chairman; Betty English, pianist; Charlene Davis, publicity chairman.

Philo is a literary society composed of girls who wish to develop an interest in good literature and who want to promote friendship and high ideals. All 10A, junior and senior girls who make a grade of B or above in English and are passing in all other subjects are eligible for membership.

'Bliterate Bluffton Blightingly.

Off with a bang! Well, at least off.

Summer vacations, and some are not.

Even a drought can't change the color of a freshman!

Smile: As downcast as Bluffton after South Side's first football game.

A new slant on egotism: freshmen who are proud of their "greenness."

Another simile: As original as a liner who doesn't make a pun on Times.

"A stitch in Times will save the sheet." Sew subscribe now! Stich! Stich!

"Everybody's crazy over me," said the girl on the first floor of the insane asylum.

Roosevelt has been starting the money circulation, circulating. Wish he would do something about the Times circulation.

And now South Side has music appreciation assemblies. Appreciation has been assured by charging fifteen cents per. But it's for the band.

Something too good to pass up: "My boy," a father advised his son, "treat everybody with politeness, even those who are rude to you. And remember that you show courtesy to others not because they are gentlemen, but because you are one."

A Helpful Bargain

Everyone wants to make a good bargain. Well here is your opportunity to make one by purchasing a season ticket which will admit one to every football, basketball, and track events at this school during the coming year. The season ticket is a wise investment, inasmuch as it offers the games to a student at a much reduced cost, and also allows a sufficient amount of time in which to pay for it. These tickets are sold either on the installment plan or for cash. The money received from the sale of these tickets is used for the support of the team and for the purchase of equipment. Consequently, in order to give our athletic department the proper financial support, it is almost necessary to make every possible effort to secure one of these tickets, for you will not only have an interesting and worthwhile season of sports, but also will give our teams staunch backing.

A Thief Is a Thief

Henry Van Dyke once said that "we measure success by accumulation," but he did not mean the accumulation of posters; and, even if he did, he went on to say that "the measure is false." The signs that are seen throughout school are for our benefit, and they would not be here without a purpose. At the beginning of a term the freshmen need all the help we can give them, and signs do help here, but they certainly do not in someone's already-cluttered-up room. It may seem just a harmless form of amusement, but the signs do cost money and usually are needed where they are placed.

Besides being useful, the signs that we have add to the appearance of our school. They are made by the art department and do their duties in attractive, original, and amusing ways. Gratitude for this outstanding work should make one think twice before he selfishly hides them in a place where no one but he and a few of his friends can see them.

Extra-Curricular Activities

As extra-curricular activities have not been neglected, there are many opportunities for students to take advantage of them here in South Side High School. Although some schools do not approve of such outside interests, South Side is one that believes in both work and pleasure. However, the old saying, "Work while you work and play while you play," applies here. The many difficulties which have arisen concerning the clubs have been overpowered and the latter have come out on top.

South Side has more than thirty clubs which have been organized entirely for the students. These clubs, which provide wholesome recreation for the pupils in their leisure time, are supervised by members of the faculty who understand the importance of having extra-curricular activities for high school boys and girls.

Much more good will be gotten from one's high school education if one has taken part in the activities that begin after school is started. The best students are usually those who have taken advantage of these extra-curricular opportunities.

Why delay? Start the new term by joining one or two of the clubs organized here at South Side.

School Days Again

"School days, school days! Readin', 'ritin', 'nd 'rithmetic!" Seems good to be coming back, yes!

The majority of us have given our mental functions a much needed rest for about three months, while we have been exercising by playing golf, tennis, and endeavoring to perfect that cannon-ball dive. Now, since we are all rested and "feeling fit as a fiddle," let us tackle our work with such vim and vigor that the teachers will not have to do so much complaining. "But do not fall down after the first couple weeks of good work! Keep it up!"

When we come back let us not forget the organizations which comprise the extra-curricular activities. There is no one who can not receive some benefit from these outside activities, that is—if one is interested. Do not join a club if you are doing it just because you think that it would be complimentary to you, to say that you belong to four or five clubs. Become a member because you are interested in that particular activity and would like to help make it a successful organization. Remember—the more you put into whatever you are doing, the more you get out of it!

Let us all bear in mind as we enter into this new school year that we are going to keep on making South Side High School finer, and ourselves better citizens.

We Live in a Community

Very often questions concerning rules bob up in the minds of individuals. Why should we be guided in our actions by seemingly unimportant and unnecessary rules and laws? Why should our freedom be hampered by prohibitory acts? Can we not do just about as we please? We feel that we should not be prevented from doing many things we would like to do. But think of the mess things would be in if everybody had his own way. There are many people who have learned to control themselves so far that they do not harm others in the things that they do; but unfortunately there are also many people who have little regard for the rights and liberties of others. It is for the latter class that laws are made, although we all have to be guided to a certain extent in our actions; but this should become less and less as we learn to discipline our actions.

That discipline is necessary is evident if one considers for a moment how disorganized a school would be without it. Imagine a school where everyone could do just about as he pleased. Some students doing just as they please would harm in various ways the conscientious student who, having learned to discipline himself, tries to act as he should.

Life, in general, would be unbearably disorganized if human nature were not in some measure disciplined. And one will get along much better in life if he learns early in it to discipline his actions.

Who's the Guilty Person?

Often we hear our fellow students, or possibly even ourselves, condemning our teachers for an undue reason such as not explaining the lesson clearly. Possibly the teachers are sometimes in the wrong but "to err is human." Can you not remember the time when you attempted to do your lesson and you just couldn't remember being assigned any on the previous day? Going to class unprepared the next day, you are promptly reminded that a lesson had definitely been assigned. But consider—can you remember on the previous day how many notes you had written during class, or how far your mind had wandered from class while the teacher was carefully explaining the lesson.

The reason for the doubt of the assignment was of course lack of attention. After all, the teacher is placed in her particular place because she is talented in that line or is skilled in that art. Therefore, she deserves your consideration and respect, and in return she will attempt to give you a little of her superior knowledge. Every teacher is willing to do a little extra explaining if she is asked politely. In case the teacher feels that she is spending too much time on one particular pupil she may suggest that he see her at a later time. Many teachers give extra help during the ninth period. This is an excellent idea, for it gives the teacher an opportunity to give personal help.

Another plan of great value is for the student to arrange to get extra help during his study period. Consequently, if you are in doubt about your lessons, don't put them off or forget them; arrange to consult with the teacher.

The Tiny Times

Parvagraphs

He's so dumb that he thinks that the Al-ham-bra is just another kind of sandwich.

We have discovered that even a few writers sometimes "Scott" the "Dickens" for their poor stories.

Even yet you find girls who invite the boy friend for a Sunday night repast with the family.

And then there are some people who think that the dime store is just another "ten-cent" affair.

It seems to be the rule. The more vacations we have, the less enthusiasm we have to return to school again.

Pest No. 18. The person who has the radio going full blast during the night keeping the neighbors awake.

The Library Table

ENCHANTED GROUND
By Temple Bailey

Peter Ferry, having settled in Florida in the time of prosperity, finds his reckless spending has resulted in the loss of all his possessions except his big house on the gulf. Into his life comes lovely Mary Hamilton, who asks him for aid after her father had shot himself, and Peter (after one glance) finds himself desperately in love with her. He tells her of his fondness for her, but their romance is soon wrecked by Lou Gorman, who tells Mary of her life-long love for Peter, who has left her to place his love at another person's feet. [Of course, the other person is Mary.] This blow shatters Mary's faith in Peter, and she marries Boone Musgrave, who has managed to stay wealthy in spite of the depression. Life with Boone is one endless dream for Mary until she finds out that he, like a robber baron of old, has caused sorrow for many people, including Peter, whom she still loves. Her supposed love for Boone turns to utter hate, but she stays with him until death, resulting from a hurricane, which leaves the path of happiness open for Peter and Mary.

This story, the most recent of Miss Bailey's romances, is a narration of today—the battle of love against a depression. She has not only treated the subject with true understanding and sympathy, but also has drawn clear and sharper character pictures, with the result—a truly magnificent novel. A tragic story, setting forth the tragedy of this era.

Popular Personages

This is a column in which special attention is brought to officers of clubs and other good workers in extra-curricular activities.

As the years go by, the seniors graduate, the new freshmen come in—all of them doing their own special work. But it becomes easier as the students grow older to select those who are worth their weight in gold, from the others who barely get through "by the skin of their teeth."

Three years have passed, and a rather quiet, unassuming senior comes into our midst. He doesn't attempt spectacular things. It isn't publicity and praise he wants, but the feeling of self-respect that comes into his heart when he realizes that he has been a good pusher for South Side.

During his time in our school, he has been treasurer of Art Club, make-up editor on the Times, is an Eagle Scout, and belongs to the Sea Scouts. Another asset is his studiousness, for his name has been chalked up on the Honor Roll every time. In the coming year he is assuming the difficult role of Totem editor.

When asked what he wanted to do after graduation, he replied, "I have not the slightest idea, but there is one thing certain—I don't want to be a doctor." Maybe he's afraid of the nurses. You see, he isn't especially interested in the petite damsels who go floating promiscuously around our halls.

He has blonde hair, blue eyes, wears glasses, and he is the president of that extraordinary club, Wranglers. Yes, it's William J. Hockett, Jr.

Magna Cum Laude

Books, rubber stamps, varnish, new shelves, lists and a sea of confusion everywhere! There are five hundred new books to be arranged, catalogued, numbered and listed. There are old books to be varnished after they are returned from the bindery. There are new shelves to be set in place and for which room must be made. There are old shelves to be dusted and cleaned.

Such is the work that faced three loyal members of the Library Club. Quietly and unostentatiously they set to work to bring order from the chaos. They varnished the rejuvenated books. They rearranged the shelves to make room for the new books which they arranged according to subject matter and classification. They cleaned the old shelves, catalogued the new books, listed them, numbered them, and arranged them on the shelves.

Hours and hours they spent working in the library, bending over and lifting heavy books, dusting dirty corners, and making out tedious lists. In quietly determined silence each worked at her appointed task, so that the library might be in perfect order by the time the 1900 careless students returned from an idle vacation.

They have done a wonderful job. They have made five hundred more books accessible to the students of South Side. They have made it more convenient for the students. They have made it a more attractive place in which to study. All these things they have done for the student body of South Side, and the student body should know and appreciate the long hours they have spent for its benefit. The three students to whom we owe our thanks are Catherine Hirschman, Dick Russell, and Clayton Kilpatrick. Under the direction of Miss Emma Shoup they have made the library even more worthwhile and interesting than it was last year.

Opinions

Beginning with the next issue of the Times, a new feature, "Opinions," will be printed weekly in the paper. It will be a new kind of feature on the editorial page, and one which has never before been attempted in this way.

The column will be filled entirely by contributions from members of the student body and teachers. Each week there will be a complete discussion of some thing in our daily life, social customs, our school, our nation, our habits, etc., which could be changed for the better. Each contribution must contain a complete discussion in outline or essay form, except when questions on any subject are asked. These will be answered and discussed, if possible. All questions and discussions must be serious. No unsound or radical questions will be taken up. Teachers are asked to express their opinions.

Contributions to this column will be placed in sealed envelopes and addressed to, "Opinions," and placed in the mailbox at the entrance to the study hall. This box will be opened at a time when no one except the person in charge of the editing of the column is present. No names will be published, and nothing of a personal nature will be printed. In order that no names may be attached to articles by "gossipers," articles will not be published in the order in which they are received. The Times reserves the right to edit all work.

The purpose of this column is to find out just what the problems and dislikes of the young people of today are, and, in cases where it is at all possible, remedy them. It is our most sincere hope that this column will prove to be interesting and a very great success. In case that contributions cease, the column will be discontinued immediately.

Freshman Fantasy

On the Freshness of Freshmen!

Call us "Freshmen"! We like it! Yea Bo!

What's in a name? A rose by any other name smells just as sweet!

A freshman by any other name is just as green. Of course we're fresh. It's true we're green. But we admit it, and that is the difference between us and the sophomores. It seems that as you grow in wisdom and stature, you are supposed to lose in freshness and greenness. Who do you suppose thought that one up? It sounds like the brain wave of a senior.

How about the freshness of the morning? What of the freshness of the daisy? Doesn't that derbier our buxom freshettes? (the little honeys!) Fresh water—fresh air—fresh eggs—what other kind do you want? Isn't "freshness" the berries? All of you old timers were fresh once, but look at you now! "The glory that was Rome hath departed."

But cast hither your envious orbs. Here we stand, the greenest freshmen in the land (poet—didn't know it), with dew drops dripping from our ears and luscious blushes on our cheeks. (nope—no poet)—Here we are the South Side debuters—wimerous—wimerous—and witalitous—as yet unspoiled by the contaminating influences to which we are certain to be subjected.

And friend—what would happen to South Side if there were no freshmen this year? Well—there would be no one for the sophomores to pick on!

Next year there would be no sophomores (that would help some!) Three years from now, there would be no seniors and therefore no Presidential Timber (two Ugh's!!). Without this year's influx of freshness and greenness, what an arid spot this place would be! What a desert!—"SNIDER'S SOUTH SIDE SAHARA"—the people would call it.

Fresh and green?—of course we are! Who wants dry bread? Who likes brown grass? What about those last year's eggs? What good would a stale freshman do anyway?

Pedagogue to Parents

What is Civics I? Who must take it? Who may take it? What benefits are to be derived from studying Civics I?

By Mr. Wilbur Wilson

Civics I is a study of national, state, and local government in the United States. Every pupil, in order to graduate from high school, must take either the freshman course in Citizenship and Occupations or the senior course in American Government. Pupils electing Citizenship and Occupations will not receive credit for taking Civics I, and vice versa. Pupils taking the college preparatory course should elect Civics I in preference to the freshman course in Citizenship. The work is advanced and only the stronger students are advised to enter Civics I. This subject is primarily a senior subject although underclassmen are sometimes granted special permission, by the office, to take it.

The course will, it is hoped, benefit the pupil in the following ways among others:

First, it will stimulate a personal interest in the government. The pupil will not merely learn the fundamental facts of government, but will appreciate their significance as they concern his personal welfare and that of his community.

Second, it will teach the pupil to be jealous of his civil liberties at the same time that it shows him the necessity of cooperation for social advancement.

Archer's Chances For Grid Season Are Considered Fair

Heavy Losses By Graduation Weaken Team

Squad Handicapped by Excessive Weight, Lack of Speed; Line Looks Good.

Backfield Posts Hardest To Fill

Chet Ensley and Don Powell Will Be Missed; Harrison Simon Likely Quarterback

Prospects for the coming football season for the South Side gridgers are just fair, according to Lundy Welborn, coach of the Archers. "The team will be greatly handicapped by too much weight and the consequent loss of speed. We have lost about the usual number of varsity players by graduation, but our chances are not as good as they were last year," he said recently.

This year the players lost to the team were the big guns in last season's squad and they will no doubt be sorely missed. In the line both first string ends, Don Powell, all-state end, and Gene Reiff have graduated. All the guards of the previous season, Bob Robinette, Dave Roop, Aliland, and Miller, will be unavailable. Bob Eligh, who was injured early last fall at the center post, is also on the graduate list. Chet Ensley, star fullback, will be missed the most from the backfield. Fyock is lost to the quarterback position.

In spite of the losses in the line, that department is expected to be heavy and should prove a hard one to crack. Ostermeyer will be back to continue in his old capacity of pivot man. Both Straley and Ellenwood are ready to continue as tackles, and these three should form a bulwark in the line. At guard, Adams, Bill Wilson, Earl Roop, Eschoff, Ky Trout, and Fred Nye look good. Brower George will be back to take care of one of the end positions, while the other probably will be filled by Nelson, Fowler, Jackson, or North.

The backfield will be the big riddle for Coach Welborn to solve, due chiefly to the loss of Chet Ensley. The prospects for these positions are nearly all light but rather fast. Harrison Simon looks like a sure bet for the quarterback post with Fred Meyers, a sophomore, his most likely-looking understudy. Bud Lee thus far has looked good in practice and should occupy one half-back post much of the time. Bob Willson furnishes the backfield with an abundant supply of speed, but he, too, is quite light. He and Ginn are the best men for the other half position, while Gordon Parmalee looks as though, with a little experience he may develop into a valuable player. Jack Snyder appears to be a capable man to fill Ensley's shoes as much as possible as a full-back. Fred Lentz, who saw some action at full last year, has not as yet reported for practice.

The squad which traveled to Camp Croseley returned last Thursday and began serious practice and scrimmages almost immediately. It is still much too early in the season to attempt a prediction whether the Archers can hang onto their city crown another year, but with a lot of practice they will at least make it a tough assignment for anyone to wrest the title from them. The Green will not see action until a week from Saturday, when they stack up against Bluffton, and by that time should be in good condition to meet the Tigers.

Six Capable Leaders Will Make Students Give Pep to Team

Come on now, yell! Make it big! These words will soon ring out in the stadium in the near future. In other words, the yell leaders will have again loosened up their vocal cords and regained their old spirit. Rex Knorr, captain of the yell leaders, has announced that this year's squad will consist of six members. They are "Phil" Green, "Bud" Schrom, "Bud" Mahurin, "Bud" Jones, and Donald Basinette. Rex also announced that Green, Schrom, Jones, and he will lead the yells at the Bluffton tilt on September 15.

Mr. Heine, biology instructor, will be in charge of the squad; and any suggestions for new yells will be very much appreciated by him.

Irish Gridgers Begin Season Here Tomorrow

Jack Murray, Jim Aggenbroad, Veterans of Several Seasons, To Face Decatur.

Tomorrow afternoon Central Catholic's Irish gridgers open their season with a battle against the Decatur Yellow Jackets at the South Side Stadium. In spite of Coach Bill Barrett's statement that his squad is slated for a majority of losses during the year, the Irish will enter the game as a slight favorite.

The Purple and Gold will be greatly handicapped by a lack of weight; and, light but rather fast. Harrison Simon looks like a sure bet for the quarterback post with Fred Meyers, a sophomore, his most likely-looking understudy. Bud Lee thus far has looked good in practice and should occupy one half-back post much of the time. Bob Willson furnishes the backfield with an abundant supply of speed, but he, too, is quite light. He and Ginn are the best men for the other half position, while Gordon Parmalee looks as though, with a little experience he may develop into a valuable player. Jack Snyder appears to be a capable man to fill Ensley's shoes as much as possible as a full-back. Fred Lentz, who saw some action at full last year, has not as yet reported for practice.

The squad which traveled to Camp Croseley returned last Thursday and began serious practice and scrimmages almost immediately. The Green will not see action until a week from Saturday, when they stack up against Bluffton, and by that time should be in good condition to meet the Tigers.

List Probable Lineup

The probable starting lineup for tomorrow's game will consist of: Jack Murray, a last year's regular, sure bet at quarterback; Romary, a senior who saw a little action last year, and Flannery, a junior, will be at the half positions; Louis Sorg, 190 pound sophomore, will be at full. Jim Aggenbroad is a fixture at center and should prove to be the backbone of the line. Walsh, a senior and last season's regular, and Sordet will be at guard although there is plenty of competition for the latter's post. Grant and Morrison are tackle prospects with Morrison's somewhat in doubt; both ends are still open, but Schott, who has shown the same ability at snaring passes, and Lester Hoch look best here.

Sale of Season Tickets For $2 Ends Today

"The $2 bargain price for season tickets will prevail only on Thursday and Friday of this week," stated Mr. Ora Davis in response to the reporter's inquiry about the sale of season tickets. After this week they will cost $2.50.

The season tickets will include tickets to all the home games played by the Archers in both football and basketball and also all track meets. Starting next week the season tickets will be sold in the home rooms. Adult season passes will be sold for the same price as the student passes, and a book for the first half of the basketball season will be sold for $1.

Archers Bring Camp Croseley Honors Home

Welborn's New Schedule Builds Up Team So They Place in Field Events.

"Bring home the bacon" seems to be the slogan which the Archers have adopted even before the grid season gets underway. This, at least, seems to be quite evident if one is to judge by the honors which were heaped upon the fifty-eight youths who represented our school at Camp Croseley. Not only did the boys get in first-class condition, but they also showed up favorably with the other teams at the camp.

The Archers not only carried off several camping honors, but they also did very well in the field meet which was held during the latter part of the camp period. Ed Ginn, one of South Side's best athletes, was named honor camper from the entire group of campers, comprised of fellows from seven other high schools. Ed also took third place in the passing event.

Fred Ostermeyer, veteran center of the Archers, was high point man in the field meet; and, as a result, he will be given possession of the Purdue trophy for the coming year. Fred annexed first places in the center competition and in the 50-yard dash for linemen. Tom Conway took second place in the center event. It looks as though our team is well supplied as far as centers are concerned.

Jim Dern and Earl Roop captured second and third places respectively in the linemen's crawl. Bob Willson placed third in the one-hundred yard dash for backs and Gordon Straley took fifth place in the tackling contest. Bud Lee was fourth in the punting contest. The South Side nine also won the diamond title in the baseball league conducted in connection with the camp.

Coach Lundy Welborn instituted a new schedule for his team at camp by which the team practiced twice a day instead of only once as in former years. This change was made necessary because Lundy could not get a true conception of each player's ability in just one practice a day due to the large increase in the number of candidates present. He was pleased by the showing of the veterans and he also uncovered a number of new prospects.

The following is the schedule generally followed by the campers:
6:20—Arise and take dip.
7:00—Breakfast followed by the cleaning up of the camp.
8:00—Inspection.
8:15—Chapel.
8:50—Preparation for practice.
9:00—Practice.
11:00—General swim.
12:00—Dinner followed by free period.
2:30—Practice.
4:30—General swim followed by free period.
6:00—Supper.
6:30—Indoor games.
8:00—Meeting in the lodge.
9:00—Conclusion of meeting.
9:15—Lights out.

A total of fifty-eight fellows attended the camp from South Side. They are as follows:

Showers After Gym Class Are Required By School's Rule

Rules for the girls' gym classes were announced by the girls' gym instructors as follows:

1. Each girl must have a green gym suit, white gym shoes and green and white socks. There are a few second-hand suits in the gym office. These must be cleaned once a month for inspection.
2. Showers are required at the end of each class. The girl must furnish her own towel, washcloth and soap.
3. Classes meet every other day. See schedule in office. Class is called on floor five minutes after the last bell rings at the beginning of the period. Class is dismissed ten minutes before the first bell rings at the end of the class, to provide for dressing and showers.
4. Locks may be purchased during gym classes only, for one dollar. They are placed on baskets assigned with each lock, when all clothes are placed in them after class. When you dress for gym, take basket and lock into dressing room where there are lockers. Undress and put basket and street clothes and books into locker, to remain there during gym class. After you have had your shower and are dressed put gym clothes into basket and lock into rack in basket room.
5. The first gym season will be out-of-doors, so a sweater or sweat shirt should be brought from home and left in locker for use in gym work.
6. Twenty girls from each class will be permitted to take dancing. The first twenty to register will be given dancing.
7. No one is to go on the gym floor with street shoes on.

G. A. A. Flashes

Dorothy Aldridge spent two weeks at Clear Lake during vacation. She had a pretty good time.

Virginia Gross did quite a bit of skating last summer. It's too bad she couldn't get any points for it.

The Ruhl twins had a lot of fun. They went to Colorado and climbed the mountains. Margaret even beat Miss Veda Stevens, city champ, a "love set" in tennis.

Virginia Baumgartner did some running around during vacation. The strange part is that she always ran to the lake. What was the attraction?

Vera Fremion and Marge Cartwright were at the lake practically all summer. Did they ever swim while up there? You ask them.

Helen Kelsey went in for riding surf boards. She said she never fell off, but how did she stay on when she broke the rope? That's the question.

Speaking of lakes, Mildred Hoff camped at Big Long Lake. She looks none the worse for it.

Ruth Eysenberg wasn't content with the city all during vacation, so she spent some of her time in the country near Decatur.

As years go on, the G. A. A. grows. A new member by the name of Goldie Reinhard just came from Ossian and joined. She is a junior and promises to be a good member.

Marjorie Meyer has been playing lots of tennis this summer. Her opponents in the coming tournament better watch out.

Dolly Scheele was heard to say that she has become a very good diver during the summer. It would be rather nice if she showed someone.

Jane Loomis said she had been doing "nothing and everything" this summer, but it is known that she was skating.

Of all the people that played tennis, it seems that there should be a pretty good tournament.

GOAL DUST

By Dick Helm

Having participated in their first light practice session, the four city high school squads are now beginning to beat down and are making strenuous efforts to get in good condition for their initial encounters of the season. The Archers led the parade as far as practice was concerned. They are in fine shape after their ten-day period at Camp Croseley, and the practice sessions held in the stadium since they returned home last Thursday.

Have you noticed our gridiron warriors going through their paces out in the stadium the last few days? The boys are all busy warming up, punting, passing, calling signals, blocking, receiving instructions from Lundy, etc. All of them have one goal in mind, that of becoming a member of the varsity squad. At present, no positions are permanently secured; and there are several interesting battles among the candidates to see who will win the coveted position.

Ed Ginn seems still to possess that famed educated toe. If he is able to obtain points with the same accuracy that he did last season, he will be an important cog in the southern gridiron machine.

Harrison Simon is one of the outstanding candidates for the quarterback position on the varsity eleven. If Simon puts as much fight in the team as he did while he was captain of the reserve squad, he will be an important factor in making the Archer grid season a successful one.

Bob Willson, diminutive track star, will attempt to fill the position vacated by Chet Ensley, former Archer speed demon. To fill Chet's shoes will be a big job; but Bob has had experience at making those wide and sweeps that net many yards; and he seems to be capable of aiding quite a lot in offsetting the loss of Ensley.

Fred Ostermeyer and Jim Ellenwood seem to be the candidates to fill the large gap left by graduation of Powell, All-State lineman. Both of these boys are about as big as Powell and weigh as much as he did. To replace Don will be a difficult task, however. The player seeking to substitute for him must be a magnificent blocker and must be able to open a hole in the line of the opposition. He must also be able to hit hard when tackling. Let's hope that these boys are successful in their endeavor.

Straley and Trout are probably the boys who will be messing up quite a few of the opposing lines, and their blocking will be largely responsible for the success of the team this season.

One of the major weaknesses of the team is its lack of passers. Perhaps Harrison Simon will be the answer to Lundy's plea for a player to fill this weak spot. His showing in passing at Camp Croseley was very inspiring to Lundy. Gordon Parmalee also has shown promises as a passer; and, if he combines his passing and running abilities, he will be the key man on deceptive plays.

Bronko Nagurski, bone-crushing terror of the professional football ranks, visited Camp Croseley while the Archers were there. He gave our gridsters an idea of what makes the opposing linemen hesitate before they get in front of his 235 pounds of brawn when he attempts one of his famous line plunges.

The Archers were also able to get

The installment plan is run in such a manner that 50 cents must be paid when receiving the ticket and the balance paid before January 16, 1935.

Archer Gridgers Get New Supplies

Athletic Department Purchases Equipment, Spending Total Sum of One Thousand Dollars.

Due to expenditures of over one thousand dollars, the most spent for equipment in several years by the athletic department, the Archer gridgers will have a large supply of excellent equipment for use this season. An outlay of about $800 was used for new equipment while over $200 went for repairing old material.

Fifteen new dark-green wool sweaters were purchased for use in the games played in cold weather. They have white numerals instead of the old style black numbers. This should make it much easier to identify players. The orange jerseys still will be in use for night games and for warm weather contests. The athletic department also secured forty-eight new wool practice shirts, one dozen each of gray, red, green, and blue. Eighteen white cotton practice shirts also have been received. Six high quality game balls, one for each home contest, and ten cheaper practice footballs will be used by the Archers. Twenty-four new helmets, twenty pairs of pants, and twenty pairs of new shoes were purchased, along with several other minor items.

Forty-one shoulder pads, thirty-two football pads, and forty-one orange and green jerseys were the major items on the repair list. Twenty-two new black numerals were placed on some of the shirts. Nineteen pairs of shoes were repaired and outfitted with new sets of cleats, and eighteen helmets were rebuilt. All these items were so thoroughly repaired that much of the equipment is good as new.

The cafeteria at South Side employs student help which assists with the serving of food at the counter. There are about thirteen students who help each period. Three cooks work in the kitchen. Miss Mellen, the head of the cafeteria, gives preference to those students that have had experience in this line of work.

During the school year about one hundred thousand meals are served in the cafeteria. This, however, does not include the sandwich lunches.

Miss Mellen does the ordering for the kitchen. She orders in large quantities for economy.

Order, Cleanliness, First in Importance In Cafeteria Rules

If everyone co-operates with the staff of the cafeteria when eating there, it will be appreciated very much by both the staff and other patrons.

Here are some good rules to follow:

1. Quiet and order should be maintained in cafeteria, so all who eat there can enjoy peace.
2. Appear neat and clean, so that all can eat among clean people. In connection, the cafeteria asks everyone to comb hair before entering the dining room.
3. The cafeteria requests that no one turn down the chairs, because the cafeteria is to serve the public.
4. The cafeteria expects nice table manners. Each one should therefore conduct himself properly, using silver correctly and handling food properly.
5. Leave chairs properly placed.

Nearly 200 Eat Daily in Cafeteria

Average Cost of Each Student's Meal Is 14 Cents; Twenty-Four Pupils, Three Cooks Help

Do you realize that about 200 people eat at our cafeteria each day?

Many students, you see, take advantage of our clean, well-managed cafeteria.

Included in this approximate figure of 200 are about 100 students who bring their lunch; about 125 students who buy counter lunch and about twenty-five who buy plate lunches.

Besides the students who make use of the cafeteria, there are also about thirty teachers who eat there.

The patrons of the cafeteria are served by a staff of three general cooks and twenty-four students. This staff is supervised by Miss Lucy Mellen, who also teaches home economics at this school.

Cafeteria Provides Profit For Several Fort Wayne Firms

Several Fort Wayne concerns profit from the patronage of South Side's cafeteria. Eggs, butter, and cheese are purchased from the F. H. George Co.; meats from Daniel Bros.; and celery and winter vegetables from the George Sweet farms and the Maderia market. The Perfection Biscuit company furnishes South Side appetites with bread, crackers, and cookies.

Cake flour is procured from the Mayflower Mills; milk from Baby Brand; and canned goods and coffee from Bursley's. The two favorite desserts, gelatin and ice cream, are obtained from Koehlinger's and the Furnas Ice Cream Company respectively. Potato chips are purchased from Bacon's, and candy from Miller's Candy Company. The Wayne Company, and an independent dealer, Mr. Hower.

Guarantee Fee Is Required by Cafe

Anyone desiring use of the cafeteria must sign up with Miss Mellen and deposit one dollar for small parties and five dollars for large parties. This money is returned if there has been no financial loss to the cafeteria. If the organization needs help from the labor staff, it may be had at thirty-five cents per hour. The management requires that one member of labor staff be present when cafeteria is in use.

Anyone desiring to borrow equipment must sign loan slip with Miss Mellen and stand any loss.

The purpose of the above Miss Mellen stated, is to prevent misunderstanding and financial loss.

Cafeteria Benefits Many of Students

Well-Balanced Meals Obtained In School Institution for Those Pupils Who Stay at Noon.

South Side invites the general public to visit its cafeteria. This year the cafeteria has been redecorated and is a very attractive place.

The cafeteria serves enough dishes to round out a balanced healthful meal. The counter offered by the cafeteria is equivalent to any counter offered by a cafeteria. The menu consists of soup, meat, starches and green vegetables, meat substitutes, three to four fruits and vegetables, salads, hot and cold desserts, breads, and beverages. In addition to the plate lunch, a sandwich and candy counter is maintained. "The cafeteria," Miss Lucy Mellen stated, "is run on a financial basis to furnish food for students and yet make the cafeteria pay for itself." The cafeteria pays for the equipment, food, and labor, which includes kitchen and student help.

The student help is used only for serving. A 15c lunch is allowed all the student help. The actual working time of a student in the cafeteria is about forty minutes a day.

Miss Mellen stated that she feels much benefit is derived by the students who help in the cafeteria.

As head of the cafeteria, Miss Mellen takes care of the buying, planning meals, hiring help, and student discipline in cafeteria.

Speech Contest Rendered In English Classes

Freshman, Sophomore Winners To Receive Aid To Be Given by Student Coaches

Extemp Contest Is To Be Next Activity

Speakers for Clubs, Radio
Talks May Be Furnished States Miss D. W. Benner.

All freshmen and sophomores should be interested in the first scholastic public speaking event of this year which is the freshman and sophomore speaking contest. Any student taking English 1, 2, 3, or 4 is eligible for entrance.

The first elimination will be held in the English class itself. Then, the room winners will be taken in charge by student coaches consisting of those students who have had previous experience in public speaking. They will instruct the contestants not only as to mechanics of the speech but also delivery.

Those who survive the next elimination will be given personal instruction by Miss Benner, public speaking instructor. Having survived the semi-finals, the students will be given a real workout before the finals, which will take place in the study hall. A freshman winner and a sophomore winner will be selected; they will receive their awards at the annual Wranglers' banquet.

The next activity, one in which every student of South Side should be interested, is the extemporaneous contest. There will be one each semester in which there will be four subjects listed as usual. The contestants draw for their subjects an hour before they give their speeches. The contest is open to any student of South Side.

The school winners will represent South Side in a city-wide extemporaneous contest next spring. Last year, the representatives were Howard Smith and Bob Klopfenstein. Howard took a close second and Bob tied for third. The winners get their names engraved on two cups and also get awards at the Wranglers' banquet.

The State Discussion Contest is next in line; anyone is eligible. Howard Smith won last year in the school and took second in the county. After the county contest, comes the district, then the state finals.

Miss Benner stated that the department hopes to furnish speakers for school and city clubs and for radio talks. Any club wishing to obtain a student speaker should see Miss Benner.

Philo To Hold Reception Monday

New Members To Be Entertained; "Literary Houses"
Theme for This Semester.

Philo will hold a reception for new members on Monday, September 17 in the Greeley Room. All freshmen, junior and senior girls who are eligible should have a written application to Miss Demaree in room 68.

"Literary Houses" will be the program theme for the year it was decided by the officers in a meeting last Monday. In these programs, books such as "House of Seven Gables," "Dove Cote," and "Sherwood" will be featured. Particular emphasis will be placed on the locations of the "houses" together with information on the authors and the general content of the book.

The Philo dance will be held on Friday, November 9. The following Monday is the tentative date set for a theatre party. The alumni tea and the musicale will probably be held sometime during mid-semester vacation and before the Christmas holidays.

Back-To-School Night Is Set For October 1

October 1 has been set for the annual Back-To-School Night. A meeting of the heads and committee-women of the Parent-Teachers Association will be held in a week.

An issue of the Tiny Times will be passed out at this occasion.

Scout Troop for Older Boys To Be Formed at South Side

Designed to appeal to the older boys who have lost interest in the Boy Scout movement, an advanced troop for older boys is being organized at South Side this fall by Mr. Orien M. Spaid, scoutmaster of Troop 12.

The purpose of the troop is to revive the interests of older boys who have outgrown the movement and been dropped from the membership rolls of their troops. These boys have more advanced interests than just "roughing it" and enjoying nature. The program will be based on more modern and practical things, directly touching the boys' daily life.

"We are not going to disturb troop interests, but dropped and disinterested scouts are the ones that can transfer to this troop," Mr. Spaid stated.

Contrary to popular belief, the auto-mobiling will be a minor incident. The troop will have a series of trailers to take in every need for a long trip of several hundred miles.

With all the talent of the South Siders who are possibilities for the troop, it is possible that a show lasting for several hours could be staged, the proceeds of which could be used to defray the expenses of a long trip.

To Swarthmore

Mark Gross, former general manager of the Times, will leave next Monday for Swarthmore, Pa., where he was awarded a scholarship.

Favorite Pastimes Decided on List

Reading, Athletics Head Others; Shows Dancing, Swimming, Athletic Games Liked.

Reading and athletic games were found to be the two best-liked leisure time activities among South Side students in the questionnaire circulated last spring by the faculty committee on leisure time activities, headed by Mr. Paul Sidell.

The questionnaire consisted of three parts. The first showed the students' choice of activities for one or two weeks, and the third for leisure activities in later life. The purpose of the questionnaire, as stated by Mr. Sidell, was to ascertain from the students themselves the activities in which they are most interested and thereby to plan more wisely their extra-curricular activities.

French Club To Meet For First Time Today

The first meeting of the French Club will be held this afternoon in the Voorhees Room. Since this is the first meeting of this semester, it will consist of the reorganization of the club, appointing committees, and making the program plans for the coming year.

The new officers who were elected last semester at a picnic June 7, are: Clarabelle Chenoweth, president; Lloyd Grodrian, vice-president; Betty English, secretary and treasurer; Alice Hulst, inter-club congress.

These officers will be installed at a further meeting.

Senior Hi-Y's First Meeting To Be Tonight

Dwight Shirely, Who Belonged to First Hi-Y of City, To Be Club Adviser.

Senior Hi-Y's will hold their first weekly meeting tonight at the Y. M. C. A. at 7:15 o'clock. Any senior boy who wishes to join should come to this meeting in order to get into full swing of the semester. The short business meeting will be followed by a social hour in which everyone will be able to get acquainted.

Pleasure combined with business are the two outstanding phases to be featured in the Senior Hi-Y programs this semester. The program will be educational as well. The executive committee composing of Duncan McLeish, president; John Bremer, vice-president; Uewell Kellogg, secretary; and Paul Randall, treasurer, held a meeting last Friday.

Lloyd Grodrian was chosen as program chairman. At present his committee has not been announced. The executive committee then planned the first eight meetings so as to have a program for the incoming members. A skating party is being planned. In the middle of October, on a date to be announced in the near future, a party is to be held in collaboration with the Girl Reserves.

"The purpose of the Hi-Y Club is to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian character." The slogan is "Clean Speech, Clean Sports, Clean Scholarship, Clean Living."

This year the club wishes to deal with service projects for the school. Last semester, those present members of the Senior Hi-Y, at that time members of the Junior Hi-Y, sponsored the Shady-side book campaign. Due to its success the Senior Hi-Y hopes to do the same this year.

This summer two members of the Hi-Y clubs of Fort Wayne, Charles Machres of Central and Bob Klopfenstein of South Side, were selected to go to Camp Miniwanka, Michigan. They were sent through the Kiwanis Club, and it is hoped that they will inspire the club with their experiences. Both boys are very enthusiastic about the camp and, having obtained ideas from Hi-Y boys all over the United States, they should be able to contribute much knowledge to the various Hi-Y members.

This semester the Senior Hi-Y has been fortunate in obtaining as their new adviser, Mr. Dwight Shirely, who was a member of the first Hi-Y club of Fort Wayne. Mr. Shirely is very interested in the Hi-Y and, because of his enjoyable personality, will no doubt lead the club into one of its most successful years.

Strange Coin Lost By Unknown Boy; Found by Teacher

A mysteriously lost coin and valuable book he had purchased from her. He was very much concerned about it when Miss Miller was unable to find his treasure in the change she had received in payment for books. Wednesday evening the coin was found in the wastepaper basket beside the teacher's desk, where it had evidently been accidentally dropped.

Miss Miller has embarrassed herself and several boys whom she thought resembled the owner of the coin. The boys all look at her rather strangely and deny ownership of the coin.

The owner of this valuable coin may receive it by going to Miss Miller in room 8 and asking for it.

Booster Club Holds First Meeting of Year

The Booster Club held a meeting in Room 16 after school Tuesday at which plans were discussed for the activity of the club during September.

Among the subjects brought up at the meeting were those of new uniforms for yell leaders, signs to be made and put on the stadium bill boards, and also the choosing of student assistants by the faculty advisers.

Miss Dorothy Benner, who is a new member of the club, was put in charge of the speakers' bureau, which will give talks to boost school activities.

Other faculty advisers are Miss Mary Helen Ley, Mr. A. W. Heine, Miss Nelle Covatt, Miss Gertrude Oppelt, and Miss Rowena Harvey. These teachers will choose their own assistants.

Students Invited To Hear Speaker From India

The Leaders' Club of Plymouth Congregational Church will hold its first fall meeting Sunday evening at 7:00 o'clock.

Mr. Sunder L. Joshi, of India, will be the special guest speaker to open up a year of splendid programs. Mr. Joshi traces his ancestry back to a long line of high caste Brahmin ministers of the Hindu faith. He is a graduate of the University of Bombay, has studied at the Universities of Oxford and London, took special language work in Switzerland, secured his M.A. degree in Harvard, and is now working for his P.H.D. in the University of Chicago.

Refreshments, sing, and a social hour will be a part of the evening, to which all High School young people are cordially invited.

Many Students Of Dramatics Attend Meeting

Student Players Club Holds Initial Session To Make Plans for Drama Classes.

Arrangements were made at the first meeting of the Student Players Club, which was held in the Greeley Room last Friday, for the members to take dramatics during the fourth and fifth periods on Mondays and the third and fifth periods on Fridays of this semester.

"The meeting was unusually well attended" stated Miss Marjorie Suter, instructor and faculty adviser of the club. They must be passing in all of their previous semester's work, however."

There are sixty-nine student players members this term. This is the largest number that the club has ever had since it was organized in South Side. Of course, not all of these people expect to be in plays, but they take drama because they realize the value of it. Out of these sixty-nine members, practically all are taking dramatics.

Those who have signed up for the beginners class on Monday during the third period are the following: Mary Smith, Jean Creighton, Dorothy Aldridge, and Forestone Valentine.

School and Radio Talks To Feature Constitution Week

School programs and radio talks will make up the greater part of the Constitution Educational Society's observance of Constitution Week, September 17-22. Plans for the observance were announced following a meeting of the organization Wednesday night at the Chamber of Commerce.

Judge Sol Wood, president, was in charge of the meeting.

Waldemar Eickhoff has been named chairman of the committee to secure radio speakers.

Adele Weber, who is in charge of the school arrangements, reported an eagerness on the part of the schools to have programs. This society will not participate as an organization in the activities marking the 140th anniversary of the coming of General Anthony Wayne into the territory surrounding Fort Wayne, which is also to be celebrated that week; but it will co-operate with other organizations celebrating the same event.

Mrs. George W. Jacobs is the general chairman of the program for Constitution Week. Final plans about programs will be announced Wednesday night at the Chamber of Commerce.

Student Body Urged To Use Times Box

At the west entrance to the study hall The Times has placed a mail box for the use of the entire student body. Anyone wishing to give social items, scandal items, personal items, or suggestions to The Times may do so by placing them in the mail box.

New City Flag To Be Shown At Celebration

140th Anniversary of Coming of Anthony Wayne Is Object of Observance.

Dedication of a new city flag, a big parade, a sham battle, and a Mardi Gras are included in Fort Wayne's jubilated celebration of Constitution Week and the 140th anniversary of General Anthony Wayne's entry into what is now Allen County. Observances of the occasion will start Monday, September 17, at 10 o'clock in the morning with the dedication of the new City Flag at Three Rivers Park with Mayor Hosoy, the city council, and civic leaders officiating. Plans for the dedication are in charge of Mary Hosoy.

On Monday afternoon there will be a big parade with floats, and soldiers with major Leonard Wood as drum major. Fifteen bands under the direction of Herman Durbin and John L. Verweire are scheduled to play. Then for the military men present there will be a Military Ball Monday evening in the Armory, with Major Harle Bradley making arrangements.

Throughout the week like celebrations will be held, including a Historical Pageant at the Palace Theatre, under the command of Mrs. Frank Roberts. The week will be given a rousing finish Saturday, with a Sham Battle in the afternoon in Swinney Park, planned by Captain John Hawk and George Keller, of the Independent Order of Red Men. The Mardi Gras mass ball will be that evening in the Armory.

In charge of general arrangements is an executive committee of seven men, headed by Claude Davies and including J. Oscar Clem, Arthur Seibold, B. F. Geyer, Charles Biedewold, Michael H. Burns, and Harry Hogan.

So-Si-Y Club Has Business Meeting

Committees Announced, Reports
On Conferences at Y. W. C. A.
Camp Given at First Meeting.

The first meeting of So-Si-Y for this semester was held Tuesday, September 11, in the Greeley Room. The president, Mary O'Brien, was in charge of the meeting, and Violet Wittmer read the devotion. The membership chairman, Violet Wittmer, announced her committee composed of Margaret Ames, Evelyn Ertel, Helen Hickman, and Virginia Beck. Betty Rison, Irene Becker, and Helen Bossman volunteered to see that the room is in good condition after each meeting.

As Martha Baumgartner, the service chairman, is now in the hospital with a broken back, the club decided to send a gift and each member is to write her a letter.

Betty Medaris sang a solo with Eileen South accompanying her on the piano. Reports on the conferences held at Camp Yarnelle for all the officers of the Y. W. C. A. of Fort Wayne were made by Elfrida Erhard and Arleth Carvin. Many good suggestions for raising money, collecting dues, original parties, hikes, and dances were brought from camp to the members of So-Si-Y.

At the conclusion of the meeting, all the members of the club united in singing a number of club songs. Betty Medaris led the singing and Eileen South played the piano.

The next meeting of So-Si-Y will be a party for all girls who have paid their dues.

Freshmen Learn How to Use Library

The new "Freshies" must have their day, so dear Miss Shoup closed the library to the upper classmen. Then all freshmen were invited into a conference to which the chief speaker was Miss Shoup.

She explained to these "little tots" the rules and regulations of the library. The chief rules which she set forth were (1) admission to library; (2) conduct in the library; (3) exit from library; (4) how to borrow books; (5) how to locate freshman books, and (6) how to care for books and magazines when taken from the library. After this lecture the freshmen were allowed to make a thorough inspection of the library and, if desired, to take out books.

Another note of importance concerning the library is the naming of the new members of the staff. They are: Maxine Borchert, George Anna Martin, Jo Ann Smith, Martha Franz, Violet Wittmer, and Bill Fries.

Still another note of importance—the newly-formed library club has as its officers for the coming semester: Frank Montgomery, president; Helen Hickman, vice-president; Catherine Hirschman, secretary; Clayton Kilpatrick, sergeant-at-arms; and Virginia Beck, Inter-Club Congress delegate.

Math-Science Program Committee, Heads Meet

The program committee and the officers of Math-Science Club held a meeting last night to plan programs for the coming semester.

The officers of the club are Wayne Bender, president; Ursula Morton, vice-president; Garland Eickmeyer, treasurer; and Arleth Carvin, secretary.

The program committee consist of Dick Helm, Arleth Carvin, and Lois Magley, with Ursula Morton, vice-president, as chairman.

Mr. Elma Gould, Miss Adelaide Fiedler, Mr. Algaro Ferlini, and Mr. Lloyd Whelan are the advisers for the club.

Membership in Math-Science is open to any 10A who has had a year of science or mathematics. The first meeting will be held September 28 at 7:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room.

Math Instructor At Mayo Clinic

Miss George Anna Hodgson
Being Treated at Hospital;
Alvaro Ferlini Takes Place.

The student body was very sorry to hear that Miss George Anna Hodgson, mathematics teacher, was taken ill with intestinal trouble during the summer. She was given treatment at a hospital in Winchester, Indiana; but she is now being treated at the Mayo Brothers Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota.

This clinic is known as one of the best of its kind in the country. Nothing as yet has been said about her condition at the clinic.

Miss Hodgson is a popular member of the South Side faculty and is very well liked by her pupils. She is an adviser of the Math-Science Club. Mr. Alvaro Ferlini is substituting during Miss Hodgson's illness.

Miss Hodgson will be very glad to receive letters from South Side students. Address them to: Room 402, The Martin, Rochester, Minnesota.

Everyone is wishing her the best of luck and hope that she will soon return to South Side.

Picnic To Be Held By Faculty Members

This year, as in previous years, the faculty of South Side will hold a picnic. This year the picnic will be held on September 20. Mr. Delvan Parkes, a teacher in the commercial department, is in charge of the plans. Aside from naming the date, no preparations has yet been made.

Lordly Juniors, Seniors Have Tribulations Due To Freshmen

By Gwen Horn

I entered the portals of our dear old Alma Mater with a quiet dignity befitting an elderly junior, which station in life I compliment my cronies and myself as having accomplished. I had quite forgotten, not having seen such things for a long while, that there were freshmen. These green, young innocents—oh well, I had forgotten.

I made my stateliest way past room 18 and was proceeding down the front hall when I tripped over an obstacle in my pathway. With a great deal of embarrassment, I picked myself up and looked at my offender. It was an infant with his head under one of the lockers and his feet, which had caused my downfall, sticking out behind him. After much groveling, etc., he managed to extricate himself from below and with much hemming and hawing explained that he had dropped a nickel and it had rolled under the locker. Di mi,—and he was a freshman! I! didn't think they knew the value of money so well.

Little Georgie Du Waldt, "Dewey" for short, is certainly going to slay the women. He was seen tracking through the girls' locker room this morning. What a man!

George Kempf (another freshee) was seen being led to his classes by the hand of that big, burly, grown up sophomore, Jerry Zehr. At least some of the sophomores take an interest in our new inmates.

It seems as if our upper classmen are getting more civilized. Why, much to my disappointment, I didn't see even one freshman sitting in the drinking fountain! Probably because it is almost impossible, with the new type of fountain.

Julia Crabbill, a freshman room agent, and Anna Brumbaugh, senior room agent, are close seconds with twelve subscriptions in rooms 4 and 14, respectively. The teachers of these rooms are Miss Hazel Miller, Mr. Elma Gould, Mr. Herbert Voorhees, and Miss Mary McCloskey, respectively.

All room agents were given further instructions at a room agents' meeting held in room 24 Monday after school. At this time the agents listened to a talk given by Miss Rowena Harvey.

This issue of The Times is the last paper to be given free. Hereafter only subscribers will receive the papers.

A change has been made this semester in the payment on promissory notes. All students must pay twenty-five cents at the time of subscription and five cents weekly after that until the entire subscription is paid. Each week the money will be collected by the room agents.

Blithely Best Bluffton's Boys!

From a freshman: Where's the study hall?

Similie: Going as fast as a Freshman hurrying to class.

Puns are the lowest form of humor. They are the base.

What would The Times do without some freshmen to write about?

One thing that never needs a campaign to put it over—season tickets.

Just in case—you haven't heard this before: Subscribe to The Times!

You can lead a student to the study hall, but you can't make him study.

Then there was the polite society girl who went under water to yawn.

"Bow legs may not be few, but they're certainly far between!" By Bill (not Shakespeare).

But remember—school isn't all hard work. Break down once in a while and have some fun!

The depression is surely over, the way these scholarships are being turned down by graduates!

Teeth chatter, bones rattle, shivers run up and down our spine. Not a ghost story. Just public speaking class.

Trying to write liners without puns is worse than trying to translate Cicero with most of the first two years forgotten.

"All work and no play, makes Jack a dull boy." So, the faculty holds a picnic. Why not have it indoors and charge admission?

What price glory? Freshmen have even asked upperclassmen to throw their shoes on the gym floor so they can walk out there!

The end of the first grade period is only seventeen school days away! Come on out of that daze, stay out of the haze, and your grades raise!

The Archers cleaned house in the football, basketball, and sectional track championships last year. Turn out to watch them repeat.

Headline—"The Times Wins Again." Just an old Spanish custom. How about a headline like that above a circulation campaign story. (Note to room agents: Do you suppose it would do any good if you cust-om?)

They Never Get Results

It is indeed unfortunate when a student cannot appreciate and utilize a period in the study hall, instead of gazing idly about to discover how other people spend their time. It would prove advantageous to the pupil if he concentrated on his own task. It would be a revelation to many to discover how much can be accomplished in an hour of serious application to an assigned lesson. Some will never know. Those who do know have learned a lesson of major importance, that of concentration. They realize that by using their time for intensive study, they are benefiting not only themselves, but those around them. They are the people whose names you see on the roster of honor. They are the ones who know how and when to study.

You're More Than One Side

There are people who forget that there is a social as well as an intellectual life included in the daily program of high school life. These people develop their mental powers constantly and always can be seen studying. But, when it comes to participating in any club or an extracurricular organization, these same people are not to be found.

When their four years are passed and gone, they find that they aren't quite fitted to go out into the world. They do not know anything about maintaining a friendly conversation with people whom they meet. Nor do they have many friends because they are rather quiet and withdrawn.

Certainly this is not the life we want to lead after we graduate. It is very fortunate that we have these opportunities to develop our mind, mentally and also socially. So let us make use of these opportunities while we can.

Freshman Fantasy

A Freshman's Freshest Day

Ye days of days. Yowsah! When first these cold gray stones (concrete to the sophs; marble to us) upheld our shaking quaking knees, we thought we could learn something from the sophs (weren't we poor saps!). But what could they tell us of the physical and intellectual terrors that lay beyond these portly portals? How knew they of what lay within? They had spent their time without. Without what? Without knowing that tracks are no evidence that a street-car has passed. Without knowing that the inhabitants of Moscow are called Mosquitos. Without knowing that a cyclone is nothing but a little breeze that's in a hurry (this auto be good). But enough of this; we've been without too long. And within (after much meandering atwixt the distances hither and thither and yon) we can tell the sophs (not much, though) by the hungry looks upon their faces (looking for fresh men). Ah! fain would we satiate their supple appetites.

We turn from their knitting (of brows) and throw our anxious orbs at the temple of physical prowess (gym, sophs). On allowing our steps to enter us therein, we see our greenness reflected in the newly polished floor (our pallor likewise)....Green and White! Rah! South Side! Whata sight! Now our glances bounce from the floor to where the files are arranged alphabetically (A, B, C's to you, sophs). We procure our sentences of torture (schedules, sophs) and depart (that means we go out, sophs).

Classes pass. To the adventurous gymnasium again. As we sit all disconsolate, a couple of thugs (sophs, sophs) approach and remove our shoes (what a dirty trick!) and heave them into the center of the gym—and great is the heavence thereof. Later we make slinkance thereunto and effect rescuance of the outer habiliments of our nether extremities.

Thus are metamorphosed the Freshest of Freshman days into subdued and chastened souls! but our titanic spirits are yet smouldering within. Rule Titania! Maxine Swansoria Sophomoria. Wotta day! Yowsah!

Magna Cum Laude

It has often been said that there are three primary essentials to life: food, shelter, and clothing. And the first of these is food. To us at South Side, "food" means the cafeteria. In our cafeteria there are always deliciously prepared, carefully planned meals. They are served with speed and competence. These meals are moderately priced. Every consideration is given to our wants and preferences.

This cheerful, excellent service does not come without much hard work on the part of some unappreciated persons. It is the result of long hours of training and practice. It is the result of much thought and care. There is a certain group of students which is responsible for this excellence. In many cases they are unknown to the general student body and unappreciated by the pupils who eat in the cafeteria and are served by them. In a few cases they are treated rudely and without the common consideration and decency which they more than deserve.

In return for their services and help, they receive their luncheon. But such compensation is out of all proportion. It would repay for only a little of the work done by these helpers. Not only do they do the job that is assigned to them, but they help in any other position where help is needed. They wash dishes after their regular task is done. They sometimes spend the entire period standing tiresomely behind the steam table or the counter. They perform the apparently hopeless task of trying to keep the tables clean. They try vainly to satisfy the insatiable demands of the howling throng that demands hamburgs and sandwiches. They assist the cooks with the actual preparation of the food.

All these jobs are ones that take unusual perseverance and strength. They are ones that take skill and training. They are ones that demand patience and courtesy. In the case of the manager, the job is one that necessitates hours and hours of planning, thought, and worry. These are the characteristics that we should all be able to recognize and appreciate in the cafeteria helpers. They are ones for which we should be thankful and grateful. Not only should we appreciate them more, but we should show our appreciation in some practical way by being more considerate of their feelings and by being less demanding and more understanding of the difficulties they encounter in serving us speedily.

The difficult task of buying, planning, supervising, and managing the cafeteria is performed most capably by Miss Lucy Mellen, and to her we owe our thanks for the delicious meals that the cafeteria offers. She is assisted by the following hard workers: Delores Crumrine, Suzanne Crumrine, Ned Hackney, Thelma Howenstein, Elsie Koch, Kathleen Moore, Clara Thompson, Harriett Walling, Virginia Walling, Mary Lou Wilkins, Violet Wittmer, Margaret Green, Wilson Beyer, William Criel, Lois Daugherty, Candace Hardesty, Jeannette Hardesty, Catherine Hirschman, Ruth Keller, Judith Schneider, Marjorie Funderburg, and Amy Wilson.

The Harvesting Is On

Opinions

(Editor's Note: Due to an unusually large number of requests to have a column expressing the students' viewpoint on the same subject, we have decided to make this subject the topic of our first column. (These opinions are not those of The South Side Times, but those of the students.)

Until last year, it was a custom at South Side for the "dignified" seniors to present themselves at school dressed in foolish garb of a child. "Kid Day," as it was called, was held every year at the end of the spring term. It became an event which was always eagerly awaited, because of the great fun it afforded everyone. It became so popular, in fact, that the idea spread into the grade schools surrounding South Side.

When this practice was stopped last year, it was stopped on the grounds that it was an unbecoming act to a senior, that it was not sufficiently dignified, and that a few students took such liberties with the custom as to make it undesirable to the school in general.

There is no one in South Side..... no understanding, honest person, who does not admit the truth of these statements—that in some cases, it was taken to extremes. But "Kid Day" is something that is keenly felt in every senior's heart.....Something which they will remember and look back on with real enjoyment as their days of carefree school days, and so forget some of the darker experiences, which no longer matter.

The seniors of 1935 realize this too.....and they realize that a mistake can be rectified, and hope that a "Kid Day" can be again observed in South Side this year. Again, it is their hope that through the proper use of this privilege this year, and in years to come, it may be continued throughout South Side's history.

Around the School

By the Rounder, Jr.

"When we were freshmen we used to wonder why all the columns in the paper continually commented on the statements of Mr. Murphy, Miss Kieffer, Mr. Voorhees, and Miss McCloskey. Now that we are seniors and have these illustrious instructors we realize that the remarks of aforementioned are so exasperatingly funny that it is impossible to refrain from quoting them.

This week Miss Keifer occupies the place of honor. It is rumored that while correcting themes the other day, she asked a well known boy the meaning of the word carousing. The answer, "Staying up till midnight and having a good time," did not please her and she shook her head, murmuring, "No, that's trenchmouth."

What prominent alumnus is trying to pay off his debts by renting a bike he rented from the "Rent-A-Bike" Club for a nickel every seven minutes? He even offers to ride the girls home for the aforementioned nickel. Delving into the old sales talk, he informs us that it's the only bike for rent at the club. We no longer wonder how he wangled his Swarthmore scholarship.

One of our shining lights needed a specific example to develop a theme written in class. On the spur of the moment she invented a story about a man who split his pants at a banquet. As she got the theme back the teacher remarked that she enjoyed the theme immensely. It seems McIntosh has quite a sense of humor when it comes to proving that a "stitch in time saves nine."

Our favorite embarrassing moment for this week is the moment recently enjoyed by one of our most bashful boys to rest decoratively upon the white T of a certain Sea Scout sweat-shirt. We wonder what has been resting upon the manly chest.

Mr. Null thinks Silas Mariner didn't know what he was getting into when he took his boy friend with him on his Sunday night dates. Take heed, ye fellows who possess a Sunday night date.

We wonder (idly) how the lipstick came to rest decoratively upon the white T of a certain Sea Scout sweat-shirt. We wonder what has been resting upon the manly chest.

"In the wine of the land" we drink the health of Rosemary Chappell who both manages to keep her O. A. O. and to keep him from going away to school. She ought to hold classes so the rest of us could learn how.

Death Rides The Mesa

By Tom Gill

Craig Ringland, shot at from ambush by a mysterious Night Rider while hunting for a friend, in Mexico, is rescued by lovely Kay Thorne and is taken to the hacienda of Cornelius Thorne, Kay's guardian. On the night after his arrival, Devon, a young scientist, is found dead with a poison dart in his throat. To add to the mystery of Devon's death, it is made known to the members of the party that the dart which pierced Devon's throat is one of several taken, together with a platinum bottle of poison and a blow gun, from an ancient Aztec temple, which Cornelius Thorne and his party are excavating.

Young Craig immediately connects the Night Rider with this murder and rides forth daily in hope of meeting this strange, black-hooded person. Meanwhile his search for Wilson is fruitless, so one night he takes a trip to the celebrated Aztec Temple hoping he may find a clue there, as Wilson had spoken about this temple in his frequent letters to Craig. In the dim light of the temple, he comes upon the Pool of the Virgins, and his suspicions aroused, dives into the pool. There he finds Wilson's gun, knife, and spurs. This ends his search for Wilson, the lost friend, but the mystery of Devon's death is still unsolved. I'll leave the unravelling of the mystery and the ending of the story for the reader to find out. It is truly captivating the way the story comes to an end at the hand of Tom Gill, the master of western fiction.

Read this novel for its entertainment and gorgeous descriptions of Mexico, not for its literary value.

Archer Atrocities

For the benefit of all ye green freshmen who intend to spend four (or more) years inside the portals of South Side, we shall endeavor to explain in our quaint way what this column will be about. In the first place it will be about ten inches long and one column wide. It will contain all of the latest dirt from the keyhole. Anyone who has a desire to get a special bit of dirt in this column will please do the following: Write your material legibly on a piece of paper. Drop this paper in the mailbox which you will find in the hall on the west side of the study hall.

John Bex is so popular with the girls that they ask him if he will walk home with them. Come on, John, loosen up and give the girls a break....We hope that Bob Storm has found a new source of jokes and puns this year. Last year his fund of funny cracks was derived from "Best Jokes of 1926"....Harold Myers has a taste for royalty. Just ask him how he and Lois King are getting along....Garland Eickmeyer amuses himself and his neighbors by composing little love ditties to Virginia Greiner....Of course, it's natural for freshmen to attract freshmen, but when a freshman attracts seventh graders, it is unusual. Watch out, Bob Ream, or you will get a superiority complex....The "case" of Andy Wallace and Marjorie Dancer is what you would call "climaxed." And can they though!....Linda Lou Shultz has it all over on Dave Jones. Dave has to open his own locker and Linda has Kenneth Scott to help her....We hope that this year Dorothy cuts off her beard. Last year it was always getting into Erv Smith's way....When Herb Cramer shows Dorothy his stamp collection she simply Foltz up in his arms....It seems that Harriet Storm, Jean Kraz, and Pauline Crabill must have defective eyesight because they mistook Limerlost for a girls' camp and had to sleep overnight there. We'll wager that they had it all planned out....Well, Norman Buck ought to know better than to court Helen Kelsey for his bicycle was stolen while he was busy "sparking"....Bill Knoke must have been bored when Helen Flaig hung around his bunk at Camp Wainwright....Everytime that Wanda Jones and Wilbur Arnold tried to "say" goodnight, "Mama" Kelson would turn on the porch lights....Berry Brennan still carries the torch for Elizabeth Snook....Joan Bonisb's heart is all adutter since she got love ditty from Jackie Pagot....Just to show how feminine opinion differs, Marjorie Glass thinks that Dick Swan is just "too cute" and Maxine Morton thinks that he is terribly stuck-up.

Pedagogue to Parents

When are the tea dances held? Who is in charge? What is the purpose of tea dances?
 By Gertrude Oppelt

Ten tea dances, sponsored by the Booster Club, an organization comprised of members of the faculty and students who promote scholarship and boost the activities undertaken by the school, are held during the school year and are open to all students of the school with the admission price at ten cents. These dances are given Friday afternoons after school, one each month. During the fall and spring months, they begin at 3:30 and end at 5 o'clock. They end a half hour earlier in the winter to allow students to get home before dark.

A member of the faculty, with other members taking turns in helping and with the student committee comprised of a representative of each of the four classes, has charge of the dances. Each member of the committee is a responsible person and aids materially in making the dance a success. The purpose of the tea dance is twofold: First, it is one of the means by which several or more activities of the school are financed; second, it provides wholesome recreation for the students in their leisure time and affords a real source of pleasure. The importance of recreation in the development of the student, and the necessity of providing everybody with some wholesome means of relaxation and recreation is today widely recognized. Anything that affords a fresh source of pleasure is a genuine addition to the life of the student. Too often recreation has been classed with amusement by people who have little respect for the great value of wholesome and refreshing amusement. But recreation is something larger than amusement. At its best it is a genuine recreation, a relaxation of nervous tension, a freshening of interest and energy, a restoration of depleted powers. That is what the dance may mean to the boys and girls at South Side.

Popular Personages

Personality plus, pep, vim, and vigor, are her first, last, and middle names. Imagine a person with brains like an Emerson, Mussolini's leadership, and Cleopatra's comely look! That's what Art Club has for its new president. This prominent senior has also been vice-president and secretary of Wranglers, and the program chairman of Art Club. Other clubs with which she is affiliated are Student Players, Times, Travel, French, Philo, 1500 Club, and Totem.

Her desire is to go to a very good college, which she will probably succeed in doing. Her eyes are sort of a "greenish blue," she says; and she has brown hair.

"Have you been showering any special attention on a certain man?" she was asked.

"Goodness, no," she replied; "but I am looking for a new one."

Can you imagine "Beans" searching for an escort, when there are a mere dozen or so waiting for the chance? "Yes, it's 'Beanie,' Berneta McIntosh.

Parvagraphs

Happy thought! Give students more vacations, and the cost of running the schools will be decreased.

"Mary Will Talk with Douglas," headline. Reconciliations are quite fashionable again this season in Hollywood.

Klub Kharacters

Parlez-vous Francais? Do you or do you not? That is the question. In fact, it is the leading question in the life of the president of French Club for this year. She is quite petite, weighing only one hundred two pounds and being merely five feet and one fourth inch in height. Other clubs to which she belongs besides French are Philo, Student Players, and Glee Club. She is quite musically inclined.

"One of my pet hobbies," she stated, "is playing the saxophone." She had the leading part in last year's operetta, also.

Her ambition is to take a teachers' course at Indiana and become a teacher. As her father is the principal of Franklin School and both of her sisters are teachers also, this ambition will undoubtedly be realized.

None of our many eligible boys around South Side seems to suit her, so she picks a college-bred man from Indiana. Do you suppose that could be the reason she wants to attend that school so badly? It's not a bad idea, anyway. Nevertheless, she has a secret passion for tall and handsome blondes, so you boys take notice.

"Where did you spend your vacation?" was the next question.

"Oh, I was all over," she replied. "First I went to Bloomington, then Madison, Indiana, then Kentucky; and I spent three weeks at Lake Webster, too. I played golf and tennis, and brushed up on my swimming."

Clarabelle has blue eyes and brown hair. Yes, it's Clarabelle Chenoweth!

Archer Grid Squad To Take On Bluffton Here Saturday

School Eleven In First Battle Of '34 Season

South Side Team Scheduled To Play Eight Contests; Four Frays Are At Home.

Starting Lineup Is Still Undecided

Backfield Posts Difficult To Fill; Line Average Is Heaviest In Many Years.

Swinging off on an eight-game schedule, four of which will be home tilts, the South Side football squad will inaugurate their season in a tilt with the Bluffton Tigers Saturday in the southern stadium starting at 2 o'clock. The Archerites are in exceptionally fine condition after a ten-day preparation period at Camp Crosley followed by almost two weeks of intensive practice in the stadium. The Kelly Klads are, of course, the favorites, and the game should give Coach Lundy Welborn an opportunity to test the strength of his reserve players.

The Bluffton Tigers will have a slight advantage if this season's game experience is to be counted. They opened their schedule with a clash against the Garrett eleven Monday night on their own gridiron. The Bluffton squad spent a week at Epworth Forest on Lake Winona where a football training camp was conducted.

Coach Welborn has been giving his charges a workout every afternoon that the weather permits. On these days when the weather is too inclement to permit practice, Lundy has been holding blackboard drill sessions on plays and giving instructions on various departments of the game. He has become much more optimistic because of the excellent showing of his team in practice, but still is unsatisfied with the lack of weight in the backfield which has been making itself so apparent. However, the backfield will possess a wealth of speed and a fairly good amount of shiftness.

The weight on the line this year is perhaps the brightest prospect that Lundy has. The line average is the highest in many years, and the forward wall will probably be the strongest in the city. Lundy is as yet undecided upon his starting lineup, but the line will probably be made up of Fred Ostermeyer at center, and Jim Ellenwood and Gordon Straley at the tackle positions.

The guard positions are the objects of six candidates, Earl Roop, John Eschoff, and Kye Trout heading the list. Brower George seems to have one of the end positions tied up while the other position will be filled by either Nelson or Fowler.

The starting lineup in the backfield as a whole is a mystery. Harrison Simon and Fred Meyers are the prospects for the quarterback post. Simon, however, will probably see the most action this season. At the half-back positions there is an interesting contest for the positions with four candidates showing great promise. Bud Lee, who smashes the line plenty hard, will probably start at left half. Bob Wilson and Ed Ginn are the leading contenders for the right half back position. Bob's main handicap is his lack of weight but his exceptional speed and shiftness mark him as a back whom the opposition must watch all the time.

Ginn will alternate with Lee and Wilson. His speed and ability at line smashes make him a real backfield threat. He also is very valuable because of his ability to add the extra point after touchdown with his accurate kicking toe. Jack Snyder seems to have the fullback position for the season and his speed and bucking ability are needed. Fred Lantz is another contender for this post. Macklin, Chatterton, and Geller will officiate at the game.

Archers Defend Cup

Last Saturday, during the annual Northeastern Indiana Conference meeting, South Side was officially presented with the N. E. I. C. football cup, which it will defend this year. This is the second consecutive year that South Side has won it. Murray Mendenhall, Central coach, was named president of the conference. The members of the N. E. I. C. are Auburn, Decatur, Bluffton, Garrett, North Side, Central, Columbia City, and South Side.

G. A. A. Flashes

The excitement in the G. A. A. office is about the tennis matches. Three singles matches that promise to be close are Dorothy Scheele vs. Betty Harnish; Evelyn Clauser vs. Marjorie Hower; Eleanor Cupp vs. Jerry Henline.

Wonder what the big attraction is at Central. Anyway Ruth Seigl, one of our loyal G. A. A. members, deserted South Side for Central this year.

Do you have any dirt about G. A. A. members? If you can dig any up please put a little note in the little green and white box in the athletic office.

Freshmen were initiated into G. A. A. with speedball practice Monday evening. They were having a fine time picking up the ball with their feet. It looked good to see so many out. Keep it up, freshmen!

Marge Cartwright, Marnie Hoberg, Donna Lyman, and Mary Betty Wilkerson are among the proud displays of new letters. We suppose they will start working to get their names on the placque.

Alice Siebold defeated Dick Coffee in a game of tennis this summer. That is something.

Ask Ruth Rose, June Haeger, and Virginia Greiner how it feels to be out on Lake Michigan and have a storm come up and blow water in the boat.

Miss Patterson ought to have some new points on hockey this term because she witnessed a real hockey game at the camp in New Jersey where she stayed this summer.

Nomination Committee Chosen for Rifle Club

An organization meeting of the Girls' Rifle Club will be held September 19. The officers of the previous semester will preside.

A nomination committee will be selected to nominate officers for this semester.

Instruction booklets will be given to the new girls. Contained in these are the different degrees of marksmanship and other information concerning shooting.

The meeting will be held in room 92. Miss Rosemary Delancey is the adviser of the Rifle Club, which now belongs to the National Rifle Association.

Cross Country Men May Still Report; Golf, Tennis Will Start Next Week.

With the 1934 intramural athletic season finally under way, we find that cross country aspirants are working out after school several days each week. Boys who desire to go out for this running sport may still do so by reporting to Mr. Louis Briner.

Several tag football teams worked out this week, and league play will start next Monday if possible. All tag football entries must be in by Friday, September 14. Under 115 pounds is the lightweight division and over 115 pounds is the heavyweight division.

Intramural golf and tennis will get under way next week. Entries for the golf and tennis tournaments will be received until Friday, September 14.

Due to the fact that the number of intramural points required for an intramural letter were raised and the point system remained the same, it will take a lot of effort on a boy's part to be able to wear an intramural letter this year.

Mr. Briner announced the following point system for this year:

Goal Dust

With the entire gridiron squad in tip-top physical condition, the Archer griders are awaiting the whistle for their opening tilt with the Bluffton Tigers Saturday. All pre-season dope seems to point to a successful campaign for our team, and hopes of retaining the city championship and the N. E. I. C. crown are bright.

The forward wall will be of considerable bulk and its strength should be a deciding factor this year.

With the speed and shiftness that is present in the backfield, the team should find the Tigers of the Parlor City rather easy; and the reserves are all hopeful of getting in the fray.

The Decatur Yellow Jackets buzzed into Fort Wayne long enough Saturday to administer a 7-0-6 defeat to the Irish of Central Catholic. This victory establishes Decatur as a real contender in this vicinity due to the fact that the majority of the Decatur squad are inexperienced and several are underclassmen with at least one more season before them.

A good deal of dissension has been noted among coaches and players as to the merits of the new football which is to be used this season. The diameter of the ball has been decreased almost one inch thus making it narrower and sharper. The kickers are claiming that they cannot control their kicks when the new ball and other players declare that the ball is even more difficult to capture, when it is bouncing around, than the ball used last season.

The new law governing the extended time-out periods due to substitution of players will undoubtedly halt the practice which several coaches in this vicinity have used in the past few seasons. One time-out would be called for substitution. Near the conclusion of this time-out another substitute would come into the game thus necessitating extension of the time-out period. Sometimes these time-out periods would consume several minutes with no intervening play. This gave the team a rest and was used as a strategic move by many coaches. This year an extended time-out will result in a five-yard penalty.

500 Students Purchase Season Tickets Early

Mr. Davis, the athletic manager of South Side, has announced that 500 students took advantage of the extremely low price of $2 for the season ticket Thursday and Friday of last week. The sale of the tickets took place on the west side of the gym. Mr. Davis was assisted by Mr. McClure, Mr. Fields, and Mr. Briner. For the rest of the semester the price of the tickets will be $2.50. The ticket includes five football, eleven basketball, and three track admissions.

Miss Smith Calls Girls For Speedball Practice

All freshman girls are invited to sign up for speedball as quickly as possible, as the first practice will be held Monday night after school.

This is a sport which requires a lot of kicking, along with a few throws and catches. Speedball requires eleven players, namely, center fielders, left and right inner, left and right end, full back, left and right halfback, left and right guards and goal-keeper. Everyone of these positions is very important and it is very essential that each player plays and keeps his own position.

The objective of speedball is to get the ball down at your own goal post and make a goal which counts three points. A touchdown is throwing the ball from one player to another until the end zone is reached, the player with the ball touches it to the ground, making a score of two points.

A ball drop-kicked through the goal posts gives one point. The ball is allowed only in the hands while it is in the air, that is, a player must not touch it with the hands while it is on the ground or being kicked by another player.

Miss Smith has charge of the freshman sports and is willing to help the girls at all times. She is ably assisted by volunteer student leaders. If in doubt about speedball, either ask Miss Smith or one of the student leaders who can be recognized always, by their black ties and whistles.

and Betty Harnish, Margery Ruhl and Winifred Locker drew a bye.

Juniors: Hazel Kutler and Barbara Uran vs. Rowena Bevington and Aldena Disler, Rose Ann Certia and Norma Clauser vs. Nona Fiske and Martha Lyman, Lorraine Meyer and Betty Lindenber vs. Beatrice Schieber and Doris Rindchen.

Seniors: Dolores Dammeier and Madelyn Blauvelt vs. Alice Mae Seibold and Eleanor Cupp, Virginia Beck and Emily Gardner vs. Jean Kirby and Dot Frazell.

Now being that the drawings are all made, let everybody pray for good tennis weather.

Central Catholic Loses to Decatur

Fighting Irish Expect Tough Battle With Portland; Team Crippled by Loss of Players.

Central Catholic's Fighting Irish team will still be after their first win of the year when they run up against Portland next Saturday. Coach Barrett is attempting to find some capable men to take the place of Romary, who had his nose broken and will be out of action for a few weeks, and Sorg, who was also injured in the Decatur fray.

Barrett is also gunning for some new end material which he obviously needs badly. Portland, always tough for the Irish, will be even tougher this year as the result of the unforeseen injuries to Sorg and Romary.

Central Catholic lost a heartbreaking game Saturday when, after pushing over a touchdown on two stellar passes late in the last quarter, Decatur duplicated the Irish's performance and added the extra point to cop a game that was close and hard-fought from start to finish.

Both teams battled fruitlessly through the first three quarters and midway through the last before either team scored. Central Catholic scored first when they stopped a Decatur march and took the ball on downs near their own 25-yard line. Decatur, seemingly befuddled by the Irish passing attack, watched two passes, one good for 55 yards and the other for a touchdown, sail over their heads into the arms of Romary and Murray, the latter squirming across the last white line. Groat missed a place-kick which seemed of little importance at this late stage of the game but which later proved momentous.

Decatur scored in the same spectacular fashion, only a very few minutes later, when Schultz, the Decatur star who played a great game Saturday, tossed a pass into the arms of Sheets, a substitute quarterback, who executed a beautiful piece of open-field running; and, aided by some timely blocking by his mates, he crossed the line to tie the score. Decatur then used the prize strategy of the day, when after sending in a special drop-kicker to attempt the point that meant the game, Butler plunged over the line from a fake kick-formation. Hurst, short, stocky center of the Decatur team, was outstanding in his great defensive work. He seemingly was in on every play.

Class Room News

The Latin pupils in room 36 have decided that the summer vacation is hard on declensions. They have been amazed at how many forms they have forgotten. The class has been playing the game of the Latin nouns for which the knowledge of declensions is essential.

Helen Anderson donated six pictures last year to the health classes. They are now framed and hang in room 32. The pictures are of Hyperates, Harvey, Pasteur, Roentgen, Walter Reed, and Lord Lister, who aided in furthering the knowledge of medical science.

The first semester commercial students are beginning to learn the keys on typewriters in Mr. Windmiller's classes.

Sewing 1 pupils in Miss Rehner's room are beginning to make dresses for children, and sewing 2 classes are starting their silk dresses.

Miss Mabel Thorne has several new pupils in her home room, including Margaret Murphy, Maynard Murphy, Dorothea Nance, and Alice Jane Garbison.

For the purpose of demonstrating their first theorem, Miss Mabel Thorne's solid geometry class is making cardboard figures.

Donald Strohmeyer and Donald Viter are the only two new pupils in Miss Emma Kiefer's home room.

Miss Kiefer is teaching two freshmen classes, two junior classes, and one senior class in English.

In Miss Beulah Rinehart's English classes, the freshmen are studying "Ivanhoe," the sophomores, "Treasure Island," and the seniors, "Silas Marner."

Two new pupils in Miss Rinehart's classes came from New York City and Detroit.

Elections were held Thursday in Miss Crissie Mott's senior home room. Gordon Straley was elected president and Walter Stone, secretary. There have been new students added to this room. They are Isobel Sereeton, Robert Schweiger, Richard O'Connor, and Wilbur Springer.

Ruth Stoner was elected chairman in her home room which is room 90 last Friday. Anita Scharling was added to the enrollment of this group. Miss Olive Perkins is the home room teacher.

Redskins To Tangle With Lima Saturday

Opening their 1934 football schedule, the North Side Redskins will tangle with the South High of Lima, at Lima next Saturday. The linemen, averaging 173 pounds, will be expected to keep off the opposing eleven.

When the Redskins line up against their opponents this year, they may be depended upon as fighting and good blocking linemen produced by Mr. Nulf.

Mr. Nulf might say too, that with his heavy line and fast backfield, that a promising football year for the Redskins is in sight.

Jean Fisk, Mary Betty Wilkerson, Betty Jane McGinley, Elizabeth Emily, Dorothy Butz, Jo Allen, Virginia Bangert, Helen Calison, Donna Lyman, Dorothy Mertz, and Doris McGinley were together one day last summer and had a picnic at Foster Park.

Mr. Tom Berry Is Prominent in Music Life in Fort Wayne

"Good instruments are needed to make good musicians," stated Mr. Tom Berry of the Tom Berry Music Company of 213 West Wayne Street. Before Mr. Berry came to this city, he was employed by the C. G. Conn Company of Elkhart for four years. During this time, he managed stores in New Orleans and Chicago. He is personally acquainted with all the national high school directors, having attended several of the national contests.

He is a member of the American Federation of Musicians. Mr. Berry has been in the music business for over ten years. Mr. Berry says "music is a wonderful training for any boy or girl and an asset to the school."

"We will help you start a band or orchestra and furnish all instruments at a small rental fee each month. You can have a playing band in sixty days," stated Mr. Berry, while telling about his rental system.

Travel Club To Meet First Time Wednesday

The first meeting of the Travel Club will be held September 19. It will be open to all who wish to attend. Any person is eligible to join and is especially invited to attend the first meeting. The different persons on the committee are especially invited to attend.

The president is Robert Klopfenstein. The executive committee met Monday night and will meet again Thursday. The theme for this fall is "A Trip Around the World." The first stop is Washington, D. C., which will be in charge of Ruth Greiner. It will be a Red Cross meeting of which Ruth Greiner and Eileen Branning were delegates last year.

Two events have been planned for the fall. An evening party is expected to be held November 3. A skating party will be held the Thursday between semesters.

Lack of Courtesy Shown in Cafeteria

During the rainy days of last week, the cafeteria was very crowded. It was noticed that many students did not show the proper courtesy. Certainly the students of South Side High School can display as much courtesy in our school cafeteria as in any other public place.

It will be very much appreciated by both cafeteria staff and other patrons if these rules will be carefully observed:

1. There should be no crowding in line.
2. Seats should not be held for particular groups.
3. All dishes, paper, trays, and so forth must be deposited in their proper places. The tables should be left clean.
4. Conduct in the cafeteria should be such as to be suitable for any person's dining room.

Prominent Attorney Speaks At Assembly

"In the movement of the people, whatever path you choose you will be confronted with ideas," stated Dan Flanagan in his address to the assembly on September 10. "Examine the pathway of experiment with the lamp of experience," said Mr. Flanagan, a prominent Fort Wayne attorney, who was introduced by R. Nelson Snider, principal.

Mr. Flanagan made a comparison between the game of basketball and the game of life. The speaker emphasized the fact that it is not through the last goal scored that the game is won but that mass movements transpiring throughout the whole game lead to the victory. The speech dealt with the entry of Anthony Wayne into Allen County 140 years ago and was in commemoration of this event which is being celebrated in Fort Wayne during the third week of September.

"History is made by the masses and not by the individual," continued Mr. Flanagan. In his speech he also stipulated that the students of South Side would make history for future generations. In the speech it was also brought out that the students would either form into a group that was for a dictatorship type of government or into a group who would be against a dictatorial form of government.

Three Boys Subscribe To the Totem Already

At least we have a few early birds in South Side. The very first week of school, Louis Bonis, Lloyd Grodripan, and John Worline paid their Totem subscription in full. Bill Hockett, Totem editor, was of course shocked but not too surprised to take their money. A fourth party came up to Bill and wanted to take out a subscription, but he was unable to make change for a five-dollar bill. If there is anyone else who wishes to get their Totem subscription in early, see Bill Hockett in the Totem office.

A short business and organization meeting was held Wednesday afternoon in room 64 to announce the program committees and to announce the winners of the awards given for high points. The winners were: Bob Adams, James Sweet, Bob Blomker, and Homer Miller. A year's subscription to "Stamps" was awarded to Bob Adams and James Sweet. A six-month subscription to "Linn's" was awarded to Bob Blomker and Homer Miller.

Central Tigers Meet Columbia City Team

Officially opening their nine-game schedule for the coming gridiron season, the Central Tigers will encounter Columbia City's eleven this Saturday at the North Side gridiron. The line, as a whole, will be rather light, averaging in the neighborhood of 160 pounds. The Centralites are heavy favorites to capture this opening game, and Coach Mendenhall should have a chance to see what his reserves can do under fire.

Coach Murray Mendenhall, displaying his usual pessimism when looking at his team's prospects, declares that due to a lack of players to fill the end positions, the chances for a prosperous season are slim. Only two regulars from last year's team return, Gene Seals, one of the returning men, is not showing up as well as expected and will probably be put on the second string. Harry Rhoades, the other returning regular, will again fill his position at the guard post. However, Murray generally turns out a good team, no matter how much material he lacks, and this year will probably be no exception.

Teachers Spend Summer Vacation in Various Ways

The teachers found leisure time this summer outside of study, for vacationing in northern Michigan; Asheville, North Carolina; and camping and fishing here and there. Among some of those who did these things are the following: Mr. J. Henry Chappell went to southern Indiana and found great work in caring for his garden.

Miss Dorothy Benner went to northern Michigan, made a few week-end trips to many different lakes and found time to be at home.

Misses Mary Crowe and Edith Crowe toured to Asheville, North Carolina, and went even as far as Washington, D. C.

Miss Clara Schmidt spent eight weeks in Asheville, North Carolina, and this last week-end in Brown County, Indiana.

Mr. Herbert Voorhees stayed at home and worked with his chemistry, which was of great interest.

Mr. Herman Makey stayed at home and tried to keep cool during the summer vacation.

Mr. C. A. Bex attended Carnegie Institute of Technology, taking courses in metal work.

Miss Mary McCloskey attended the National Education Association in Washington, D. C., and then toured through New York. In Indiana, she visited the state parks.

Mr. E. S. Gould tended to his garden and yard and went to northern Michigan for a while.

At Blue Lake Marge Cartwright spent her summer vacation swimming at her grandparents' cottage at Blue Lake.

Motors in Mountain Region Hildegarde Bahde spent the first three weeks of July motoring through the hills of Southern Ohio and the the Virginia Mountains.

Friday will end the circulation campaign. Hereafter only subscribers will receive the issues.

Pauline Crabill in room 76 heads the room agents with 57 percent. Mr. Elna Gould is the home room teacher. In 77, Miss Emma Doenges, home room, Louis Bonsib has 54 percent. Joan Bonsib is third with 45 percent in room 66. The teacher of this room is Miss Beulah Rhinehart.

At the end of last week five hundred ninety-four subscriptions were obtained. The goal of one thousand subscriptions is yet to be reached. Four hundred six subscriptions must be acquired by the end of this week.

Radio Club Holds Its First Meeting Today

The Radio Club of South Side High, organized last year, will hold its first meeting this Thursday in room 96, under the direction of Mr. Paul Sidel. It will be held in order that new officers may be elected for the coming term. Plans will be discussed for building a club transmitter and receiver.

Entire City Joins Celebration In Honor of Anthony Wayne

Governor Paul V. McNutt was on hand at Fort Wayne's seven-day observance of the 140th anniversary of the arrival here of General Anthony Wayne, which got under way Monday, Sept. 17.

Featured on the opening program was a magnificent parade, which was held on Monday afternoon in which beautiful floats depicted the historical significance of the occasion.

Also seen in the line of march were National Guard units from Warsaw, Portland, Marion, Muncie, and Fort Wayne. There were also four musical organizations in the colorful parade. There were more than 25,000 persons viewing the procession.

Governor McNutt came here from Indianapolis in a National Guard plane. The governor officially opened the observance.

The governor was greeted by a seven-gun salute from off the top of the Chamber of Commerce building. He was later entertained at a reception given by the Woman's Club and visited the Democratic headquarters before departing for the state capital. Monday evening a military ball was held at the National Guard Armory, Clinton Street, from Columbia to Lewis streets, is lined with historical

Win I. U. Scholarships

Virginia Kincaid

Rachel Magley and Virginia Kincaid, two prominent '34 South Side graduates, have been honored by receiving the two scholarships offered to two persons in each of the city schools to Indiana University Extension.

These scholarships are awarded annually on the basis of scholarship and character, and are worth one hundred dollars each. The winners are recommended by the principal and members of the faculty from the school which the candidates attended.

Miss Magley and Martha Suter were the first to be named from South Side. Martha, however, was unable to accept the scholarship offer; and Virginia Kincaid was named in her place.

During her time at South Side, Rachel was honored by being made a member of Quill and Scroll International Honor Society for high school journalists, and National Honor Society. She was a member of Philo, Meterites, Societas Romana, Math-Science, Travel, 1500, and Student Players clubs, Times and Totem staffs, and four year honor roll.

(Virginia was a member of National Honor Society, together with Social Science, So-Si-Y, Travel, and Math-Science clubs.)

Senior Hi-Y Skating Party Is October 13

Junior and Senior To Have Joint Meeting Tonight; Invite All Prospective.

A skating fracas will be sponsored by the Senior Hi-Y club on October 13. All South Siders should be there for an evening of enjoyment and good time as plans are being made to have an entirely different program. The tickets will be twenty-five cents; the rink will furnish skates as usual. The committee in charge is Dick Reincke, chairman; Jack Dawson, and Bob Klopstein.

Last Thursday the South Side Senior Hi-Y held its first meeting with Duncan McLeish, president, as presiding officer. At this meeting Mr. Dwight Shirley, new adviser, was first introduced to the club. Mr. Shirley then talked to the club concerning the first Hi-Y club formed in Fort Wayne, of which he was president. He explained that at that time Central, the only high school of Fort Wayne, graduated 218 students of which 60 were members of the Hi-Y. This was the best percentage ever obtained by a Hi-Y organization.

Club Is Inspired
The situation which faced boys then are practically the same as those which face boys today," Mr. Shirley stated. The club was inspired by Mr. Shirley's talk and is going to attempt to bring their percentage up to that of the first Hi-Y organization of Fort Wayne, which means that about 50 percent of the boys in the senior class will have to be a member before the year is finished.

Another important subject which was brought up was the Hi-Y Girl Reserve all-city party which will probably be held on October 20. All Hi-Y and Girl Reserve members should be on the lookout for further dates, as the program committee will undoubtedly announce their plans in the near future.

Committees Are Selected
The committees were selected for this semester's program. The program committee is Lloyd Grodrian, chairman; James Roth, and Elgin Stump. The booster committee is Frank Montgomery, chairman; Arnold Mettsch, and Ellis Lockner. The service committee is Bob Klopstein, chairman; Fred Forbing, and Dick Russell, who was also selected representative to Inter-Club Congress.

As the first project under the club's service program, ten boys, Wayne Bender, Lloyd Grodrian, Dick Russell, Paul Randall, Bob Klopstein, Frank Montgomery, Jim Roth, Jack Dawson, Dick Reincke, and John Bremer, are to help Mr. Ora Davis at the football games. John Bremer is in charge of the group.

The program for tonight will be a joint meeting of Junior and Senior Hi-Y. All old members and those who wish to join, should come. Bob Klopstein is going to relate his experiences at Camp Miniwanea.

Halloween Party
To Be U.S.A. Theme
Date for Membership Meeting
As Halloween Affair Is Not Yet Definitely Decided Upon.

The membership meeting of the U. S. A. will be held in the form of a Halloween party on a date to be decided later.

The club will hem towels at one of the future meetings.

At the first meeting, which was held September 13, the president, Ruth Garrison, told the meaning of the club's name, which stands for Unity, Service, and Appreciation. She also announced that the club would sell school stationery.

Emily Lepper, who is social chairman, laid a backward spelling match. A guessing game was also enjoyed by the club.

Louise Gerding played the piano, while the refreshments were served. Some of the selections which she played were: "Dark Eyes," "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes," "Flying Down To Rio," and "The Merry Widow."

Second-Hand Books
Are Selling in Office

The sale of second-hand books this year was not as large as that of previous years. The books were sold in the classrooms until last Friday when they were moved to the office. Any one wishing to buy second-hand books may do so at the office. The school adds five cents to the price of every book.

There will be an official uniform which will consist of corduroy trousers, khaki shirt and hat. Arrangements are being made with the manufacturers to have a special color for the uniform. Only the troop members will wear the particular shade.

The purpose of the troop or caravan is to regain the interest of the older boys who have dropped out of other troops because they have lost interest.

This is an opportunity not to be missed. All boys from the 9B to 10A are urged to join the Caravan. Any one wishing to join see Mr. Snider.

First Meeting of Model Airplane Club Held

Thursday, the Model Airplane Club held their first meeting, its purpose being to organize the club for the rest of the season. The business of ordering supplies was discussed, and the dues set at 25 cents.

Garland Eickmeyer reported on two national contests that he entered, one at Indianapolis which was sponsored by the American Legion and the other at Akron, Ohio, sponsored by the National Aviation Association. In these two contests he won ten places.

It was decided to have a meeting every other week, the first meeting being Thursday, September 20.

First Grade Period Ends on October 5

Beware, students! October the fifth is the end of the first grading period. At this time the satisfactory or unsatisfactory marks are put on the cards. The student's work must be all in at this time or he will receive an unsatisfactory mark. For the benefit of freshmen, a U does not necessarily mean you are going to fail. It simply means you are behind, and you should work harder.

So take care and do not fall behind in your work.

"The Golden Gate" Given This Week

Pageant Is Dramatized for Observance of Anniversary of General Anthony Wayne.

This week marks the 140th anniversary of the founding of Fort Wayne by General Anthony Wayne. The city observes this date by various celebrations sponsored by the Fort Wayne Chamber of Commerce. One of the most interesting of these observances is the dramatization of a pageant, "The Golden Gate," by Bessie K. Roberts, a well-known civic dramatist.

This production is the re-enactment of the highlights of Fort Wayne's history, including many of General Wayne's engagements with the Indians, showing both his diplomacy and his warlike activities on behalf of the settlement here.

Many prominent girls throughout the city are rendering their services to this pageant by ushering. The girls from South Side are Vera Ellinger, Gwen Horn, Dorothy Golden, Ruth Stoner, Berneta McIntosh, Lou Sheets, Betty Dickmeyer, Eileen Hall, Edythe Thornton, Sally Rea, Jean Kranz, Vera Crise, and Virginia Noble.

Speakers' Bureau
Members to Talk

Will Co-operate With Booster Club To Present Activities To Home Rooms;

An honorary organization, to be known as the Speakers' Bureau, was formed last Friday evening in room 178 by Miss Dorothy Benner, public speaking instructor, in order that the Booster Club and public speaking department might co-operate in presenting various activities to home rooms in the best possible fashion.

The majority of these students, belonging to the bureau, have had at least two semesters of public speaking, but there are a few members taking their second semester at the present time. The work accomplished by the participants will be considered as outside activity in public speaking, and for this reason, the members will be honored by Wranglers at their annual banquet.

Philo Installation Is Held Tuesday

Club Receives Invitation To Go
To Farm; Eleanor Capps, Betty
Lehman Are Committee Heads

Philo members held their first meeting Tuesday afternoon in room 75. One of the outstanding features of the meeting was the installation of officers which, after a false start, proceeded according to schedule. Betty Medaris, treasurer, warned the girls to pay their dues before the fourth meeting or the amount would be doubled; and Clavell Chenoweth asked all girls interested in singing to sign up to make tryouts for the Philo quartet. All other officers said a few words also.

Three new members were introduced to the club. They were Helen Anderson, Margaret Crankshaw and Jean Creighton.

An invitation from Miss Pittenger to visit her farm on October 6 was discussed. Eleanor Capps was appointed in charge of the cars and Betty Rose Lehman was appointed as chairman of the food committee. As the farm is said to be sixty miles in distance, there is some discussion as to the possibility of accepting for the entire club but as many members as possible are planning to go.

Eleanor Capps gave a reading entitled "The Bride and Grocer" as part of the program, and an intelligence game was played. As a fitting end, refreshments were served.

Latin Club To Have Organization Meeting

An organization meeting of the Latin Club will be held Thursday in the Voohees Room.

Plans for the present semester will be announced and discussed. Presiding at this meeting will be Dick Shannon, the president. Aileen Branning, vice-president and program chairman, has planned many interesting meetings for this semester.

Thursday, October 4, is the date of the first regular meeting of this club. The theme of this first meeting will be "An invitation to the Muses," in which the nine muses will appear in person. Contests, games, and refreshments will also be a part of the program.

All 9A's and above, who have had a grade of B- or higher at the end of last semester are eligible.

School Paper Gets International Award; Almost Perfect Score

Boys Riding Bikes Must Be Registered

Mr. A. Verne Flint, who has charge of all boys who ride bicycles to school, requires that they register with him. They receive a registration card which they may be called upon to show at any time. Nearly two hundred boys have registered with Mr. Flint.

"The purpose of this system," says Mr. Flint, "is to prevent boys stealing bicycles and to maintain a form of order."

Travel Club Visits Capitol Buildings

Ruth Greiner, Aileen Branning
Lead Members To First Stop
On Round-the-World Journey.

Washington and Lincoln memorials, the famed cherry tree avenue, the new government postoffice, Congress library, the capitol, and the White House were some of the sights which were seen on the first stop of the Travel Club tour around the world.

Washington, D. C., was the first destination, where the above sights were seen, and the meeting place was in the Greeley Room Wednesday evening after school. Red Cross work was the basis of this first Travel Club meeting, at which Ruth Greiner, chairman, and Aileen Branning conducted the members on the tour through use of the slide machine. Ruth and Aileen went to the Red Cross convention at Washington last spring as representatives of the Travel Club, appointed last year as the South Side Red Cross Club.

A business meeting was called to order by Bob Klopstein, president; and the secretary's and treasurer's reports were read. A motion was brought up to reduce the cost of the club pin from $1.00 to 75 cents; and it was passed. Program committees were then chosen, after which the members filled out cards for Miss Pittenger. The program was then presented.

This semester the club is touring the world. Europe will be the destination of the next meeting, after which the club hopes to go to Moscow, Russia.

One of the aims of the club is to increase membership of the boys, which has fallen down considerably. Anyone is eligible for membership; and, since this is the first world trip, everyone who finds it possible should come. The next meeting will be Wednesday, October 3.

Impromptu Plays To Feature Party

Wranglers' Annual Weiner Bake
To Be on Vesey Lot Monday;
Varied Program Is Arranged.

Monday, September 24, is the date set for the Wrangler's annual weiner bake to be held on the Vesey lot. Much amusement is planned for the evening. Games, songs, eats, and plays will provide merriment.

One of the features of the evening will be a group of impromptu plays. Those attending will be divided into groups and each group will present an impromptu skit. The group giving the best play will be awarded a prize.

The committee in charge of the program for the weiner bake is: Lou Sheets, Vera Ellinger, Shirley Sykes, Dave Stoger, and Paul Randall. Those on the publicity committee are Vera Ellinger, Gwen Horn, Bob Klopstein, Virginia Vesey, and Dorothy Tobianski.

The Wrangler's Club was again reorganized under the advisement of Miss Dorothy Brenner, public speaking teacher. The following committees were chosen for the following semester: the constitution committee, with Dick Shannon as chairman, will be composed of Gerry Platt and Betty Dickmeyer; the finance committee are Gwen Horn, Hilda Spangle, Dick Helm, and Virginia Shiffet.

Gives Tea Saturday
Miss Phyllis Graham, entertained with a tea for Miss Libby Evans, who is entering Ward Belmont this fall, Saturday afternoon.

North East Corner of Grounds
Decorated by Large Boulders

Twenty-four large boulders have been placed on the northeast corner of our school grounds. There is one of almost every variety to be found in the Middle West. Mr. Lloyd Whelan, one of South

Side's physical geography teachers, was given the job of selecting the stones. The great variety of the collection has proven very valuable to P. G. classes.

Fifteen of the boulders were discovered on the Roebuck farm north of the city, near the spot where the grave of "Johnnie Applesseed" is believed to be located. The rocks were found by the Messrs. Lloyd Whelan, E. V. Gould and Fred Breeze, a teacher at North Side, while hiking along the St. Joe River several summers ago. This summer, when Mr. Gould and Mr. Flint decided to ornament the northeast lawn, they called on Mr. Roebuck and gained his permission to take some of the boulders.

On the evening of the first day of school Mr. Flint, Mr. Gould, and Mr. Whelan drove to the Roebuck farm where they were met by Mr. Schoof. All 9A's and above, who have had a grade of B- or higher at the end of last semester are eligible.

When they stopped at the house to thank Mr. Roebuck for his kindness, he told them they might also have a large Jasper Conglomerate stone, which lay on his front lawn, to add to their collection. They were especially delighted with this gift as large rocks of this kind are very difficult to find. Mr. Roebuck had moved this treasure from St. Joseph's Island, thirty-five miles east of the Canadian Sea, several years ago.

The next Friday Mr. Gould, Mr. Flint, and Mr. Whelan, with the help of Ellis Lockner, James Roth, and Frederick Pange, all of whom are members of Pebble Pups, set the rocks in the school lawn. The stones are set deeply into the ground so they can't possibly be moved around. Eight rocks which were taken from Meneef's gravel pit were added to the collection, which includes granites, basaltic a diorite, gabbro, a peridotite, gneiss, quartzites, conglomerates, and a fossiliferous limestone.

South Side Times Annexes Unusual "International Honor Award" in Contest.

Scores 980 Points
Of Possible 1000

Good Variety of Stories, Attractive Typography,
Excellent Writing Lauded

The distinctive and unusual "International Honor Award" has been presented to the South Side Times by the Quill and Scroll Society, International Honorary Society for High School Journalists, by reason of the score of 980 points out of a possible 1000, the highest number of points ever recorded by the Quill and Scroll, awarded to the Times by the Board of Judges.

In a letter written to Miss Rowena Jarvey last Tuesday, Edward Nell, executive secretary of the organization, stated in part, "Please let me add my commendations to those of the judges and congratulate you and your staff upon the International Honor Award and the almost perfect score of 980 received by the South Side Times."

Much Is Praised
"The attractive typography of the Times, its excellent writing, good variety of news material, editorial accomplishments, and many interesting innovations all tend to justify the opinion of the judges in summarizing it as 'A remarkable paper from all angles.'"

Every department of the paper was rated as perfect except the circulation and two minor points. Throughout the rating card, the judges added notes. Among their remarks were, "A remarkable paper from all angles," "Congratulations!" "Typography is excellent!" In regard to selection of material they remarked, "Alertness shown," "Excellent editorial page from every standpoint," and made numerous other notes of the same nature.

Almost Perfect Say Judges
The fact that the Times received 980 points out of a possible 1000 is hailed as a great accomplishment, not only because of the all-time record for high school newspapers which it established, but because of the fact that with the exception of three minor points, the South Side Times is a perfect high school newspaper.

These prize-winning publications were published under the able direction of Paul Deal, Elinor Sieber, Patsy Beall, Mark Gross, Byron Spiegel, Frances Clymer, and Marie Butler, general managers of last year's paper.

This contest is the second of its kind that has been sponsored by the Quill and Scroll, and the Times has received the International Honor Award in both.

The Quill and Scroll is an honorary organization for high school seniors who have been outstanding in journalistic work. All of the general managers before mentioned are members of the society. It has been the practice in the past to sponsor contests only for individual work, but last year a contest was started for publications as a whole.

Pebble Pup Officers Elected At Meeting

The first meeting of the Pebble Pups was held Thursday, September 13, with Mary Snider presiding.

A program committee was planned for the coming semester. Those persons on the committee are Goldie Bruick, Ellis Lockner, and Fred Prange. As yet the committee has not been able to plan the program for the meetings to follow.

Because many of the members belong to the French Club, it was planned that the club should meet on Thursdays, alternating with the French Club. The next meeting will be September 20.

The program for the evening was a talk on Fluorescence, with illustrations given by Fred Prange.

Officers for this semester are Mary Snider, president; Catherine Hirschman, vice-president; Rosalind Enz, secretary; and Hubert McEwen, Inter-Club Congress representative.

Defy Decatur Derisively!

For the Times, the subscription campaign is fair.

A new cheer for the musical comedy movie: "Raw! Raw! Raw!"

Nobody does something for nothing any more, everyone's trying to do as little as possible for something.

When you get ready to roll over and take a nap...remember that's not what they call the Honor Roll.

Students! Who said you don't have to thank Anthony Wayne for anything! Remember—he gave you a half a day off!

Headline—"3,492 People Killed By Gas Last Year—45 inhaled it, 47 touched a lighted match to it, and 3,400 stepped on it."

When we old South Side football team gets through Saturday, Decatur's team will look like something "De-cat-ur dog drug in."

And then there is the well-known faculty member who said about anonymous letters: "They're stupid! I read them, but I never answer them."

Get ready for a big year ahead of you! With all the big social events coming on, if someone says, "I'm going to that picnic!" Just pipe-up, "So-cial I!"

The faculty didn't seem to like the idea we offered...holding their picnic inside and charging admission. As soon as they saw it they changed the date behind our backs!

Some celebration, wasn't it? Yes, we mean the new Fort Wayne flag celebration, the parade, the Midway, the holiday. But it's not half over. Don't miss the sham battle Saturday. Wonder what Churubusco will do!

It surely gives you a peculiar feeling to think that if Anthony Wayne hadn't captured the fort here a hundred and forty years ago, you wouldn't be reading this—you wouldn't be going to South Side High School—you might be French, English, or almost anything else—and you might not be here at all!

Praise

Much praise is due the English department for the success it has had in inaugurating the new class system.

In every group of students there are those who progress more rapidly than others. This is the first movement here in South Side in presenting such a student with an opportunity to do so.

Heretofore the students who had the ability to progress more rapidly were held back. The new method of study is an advantage for them, as they will be able to finish several months' work in a short time.

This system will also be an advantage to the other students, for they can take all the time they need to understand thoroughly their lessons.

The students should also receive praise for their splendid co-operation in backing the new study system.

Get Acquainted

When we speak of getting acquainted, we usually think of the new freshmen just beginning their career in high school. But this time we are speaking of all students in South Side when we say that it is time to get acquainted.

By getting acquainted, we do not mean only getting to know and like your classmates, but also making friends of your teachers. Teachers are not at all the bugaboos that they are often pictured, as many of you probably have found out; but they are very human human beings. You have a good chance to find this out in the classrooms, but you cannot know all of them nor know them well enough. Many of the ways of doing this are joining clubs, writing and working on the school publications, and taking an active part in the school affairs instead of just looking on.

So we say, not only to the freshmen but to all of the students of South Side, get acquainted with your teachers. They can and will help you in anything and everything.

Courtesy

Wherever there are great numbers of people, there is some form of government. For the whole United States there is the national government; for the county, the county government; for the city, the city government; and for our high school, there also is a government. We do not give it that name; we call it regulation.

There are now 1,883 students plus the sixty and a half teachers within the portals of South Side. Such a great number of people necessitates a bit of consideration on the part of everyone. You know how you feel when there are a couple of girls leisurely walking along in front of you with their arms interlocked, and people are coming from the opposite direction just when you are hurrying to get to your next class. Did you ever stop to think that you probably have been guilty of some similar action, such as sunning in the halls or carrying on a conversation with someone while standing in the middle of the corridor?

These regulations have not been formulated just because a "bunch of old meanies" (that is the title which some bestow on the governing body) want to oppress you with many rules, but because they see that it is for your own benefit and safety.

Magna Cum Laude

While home rooms enjoy parties, talks, and a variety of programs or a precious fifteen minutes of much-needed study, two boys, moving silently and swiftly from door to door, collect the absence slips. When the slips aren't out on the door they have the embarrassing duty of interrupting the class and asking for the slip. If too much time is expended in entering rooms in quest of the slips, the boys are late to class with the resultant loss of explanation or assignment. On sub-zero mornings when many students stay home with "colds," these boys must be on the job. When others, feeling slightly under par, stay home for the morning or so, these two drag themselves out of bed and go to school to fulfill their assigned task.

One other boy devotes the better part of a perfectly good study period to the same job. He, unassisted, collects the slips from all over the building. When he might be doing something else in preparation for the morning's classes, he helps Miss Virginia Montgomery.

The three of them, Lloyd Grodrian and Duncan McLeish of the morning collection, and Elgin Stump, the collector during the seventh period, should be appreciated for the assistance they give to a little lady who is the proud possessor of a very big and complicated job. They more than do their bit in helping to lighten her labor. For this chivalrous attitude toward a lady in distress, they deserve our praise and thanks.

Freshman Fantasy

Why The Sophomore?

Why the sophomore? Why, indeed? Why the flea, the nit and the louse? Why snakes and barbed-wire and measles? Why B. O.? Why obnoxious types of all kinds?

Perhaps there is a reason. Perhaps there may be even two. Let's scrape the old brain for something to say in favor of the sophomore. Our labor will be not only because we love the sophomore (indeed we do), but also because next year we ourselves will find ourselves in that horrific state. If we can but find a single reason for sophomoreism, it will be a ray of hope to light us through that murky depth, that gloomy slough of despair, that valley of the shadow.

Why then the sophomore? Well, if it were not for him there would be no savings for freshmen on second-hand books. Thus does he unselfishly teach thrift and encourage education.

Then again the sophomore wears the varnish off various seats and desks, scrapes numerous floors and marts not a few walls. Thus in due time a refinisher is required, who, were it not for the sophomore, would be unemployed. Jobless also would be the teachers who are required to subdue and control him during school hours.

Further, sophomoric attentiveness swell the tax money to which the school is entitled, and thus assist in providing better equipment and facilities for the more desirable students,—such as freshmen, juniors, et cetera.

Finally, the sophomore, being of the uttermost depths, being, so to speak, the bottom of collegiary, provides a standard from which all heights, even little heights, can be measured.

There have been a number of very good plans for eradicating the sophomores altogether. For instance, one suggests that they be taken into the middle of the ocean and dumped overboard. This method would do the job very well, but it would be too expensive. You see, the ocean is far away, and even with reduced freight rates they just aren't worth the money. Another scheme would throw them into the Grand Canyon, fill up the big hole and grow potatoes; but that would destroy a really beautiful bit of scenery.

Perhaps the best way is simply to turn them over to the Society for Dumb Animals. They would then feel quite at home and would be put out of their misery painlessly. Even a sophomore deserves that much. Under any of these plans the freshmen would next year become juniors without any painful intermediate stage.

The Tiny Times

Opinions

(Editor's Note: This is a student-written opinion. Choose your subject and drop not in the Times mail box at the west entrance to the Study Hall.)

"Congestion of the traffic in the halls of South Side is known to both the pupils and teachers. One pupil was heard to remark in the crowd in front of one of the locker rooms, 'Gosh, this is worse than it was trying to get under cover during the rain at the game Saturday.' We all are familiar with this problem.

"However, there seems to be no solution. There has been talk of lengthening the time between classes from five to ten minutes. This would mean going to school until a quarter of four in the evening. The students and I dare say the teachers would not care for this. But, something must be done.

My plan is to ask the cooperation of all the students, but they themselves will reap the harvest. When school starts in the morning, I would have the students all get their books out of their lockers. The pupils that have lockers facing the south could go after periods 1 and 3, and at lunch hour if they haven't the fourth off. They could go again after the 5th and 7th. Pupils whose lockers face the north could go to them before school and again after the 2nd and 4th periods or after the 3rd if they have the 4th as a lunch hour. They could go again after the 6th. This would mean nothing more than carrying books for two classes instead of one.

"This plan would remedy the situation all morning and all afternoon. Of course, the confusion at the lunch hour would be there, but this too could be avoided. Ten minutes could be taken between the third and fourth hour. Having the fourth period of the regular length, it would necessitate taking five minutes from the fifth hour. This however, does not seem very serious, as there are but three fifth hour classes.

This is our problem, fellow students, therefore, we ought to help solve it. If you don't agree with me, send in your plan and maybe we can get a solution."

Around the School

By the Rounder, Jr.

It seems that the school work at South Side is rather difficult and tiring to our new commercial teacher. In fact, yesterday he was so tired that he had the alarm clock set so in case he went to sleep it would wake him up for lunch. The excuse of the dignified teacher was, "I was just trying it to see how it worked!"

Excuses? Here is an excellent one for you girls which is explained in full by our most beloved public speaking teacher. When she used to have dates (we're not so sure those days are over) and grew tired of one individual, she told him she was engaged to marry the Ambassador to Brazil. If you wish to put this alibi in circulation, we are positive that you will have little trouble in receiving permission from the copyright owner. By the way, we hope the Ambassador doesn't look quite like Miss Benner pictures him when she says, "He probably looks like some piece of antiquity that is ready to crumble to pieces."

Did our popular G. M. have a bright rouge on the seventh period or what was the trouble? In chemistry class she answered a question correctly and was thereby accused of glancing at the chart which was in the other room. In order to see said chart, it would be necessary for the young lady to extend that part of the body between the head and body a goodly distance. Without thinking, she replied, "What kind of a neck do you think I have?" Well, we wonder!

Julia Crabill certainly must have been anxious to be initiated when she entered the portals of our dear old school. The truth of the matter is that before anyone took a hand in this certain task (certainly not an unpleasant one) she showed us the professional technique of sliding down the steps in the gym. We believe you are entitled to full membership after that, Julie.

One of our football heroes (a line-man) certainly believes in keeping training. He went to a nearby eating house, collected all the left-over bread from the booths, ordered some water and proceeded to dine. You believe in economy, don't you, G. S.?

SONS OF FORTUNE

By Vingie E. Roe

Cymbaline, a mysterious beauty of a gambling house in Sacramento, is operating it because of the death of her uncle, who was killed by a stray bullet. Here in this town she is the idol of all men, but is shunned by the women, who think her a bad example for all concerned. To make matters worse, John Spurlock, a young evangelist, rebukes the lovely Cymbaline because of her uncle's death, who loves Cymbaline so much that he killed one of her admirers who had molested her. Matters go from bad to worse until finally Cymbaline gets her revenge on Spurlock by making love openly to him. This causes trouble between Sancho and Spurlock meet in the Calico Shroud to shoot it out. The two men are saved by Cymbaline, who discloses her plan for revenge and asks Sancho to marry her. This he does and takes her to a happy life on the Santa Rita, their ranch.

Vingie E. Roe, a novelist of distinction, has contributed to all of the best American and English magazines, but this work, "Sons of Fortune," is the best that has come from her pen. The novel setting and the vivid characters seem to make this particular novel unusually outstanding. A story of the gay 50's, it is not to be overlooked.

Pedagogue to Parents

To whom it may concern:

Here are a few things I should like to know about South Side's public speaking course before my son elects that subject.

1. Is the subject of public speaking limited to students of exceptional ability?

2. Do you have any speeches other than debates?

3. What opportunities does South Side offer to use public speaking outside of class?

4. Is there any special time when a student should take the course?

I would greatly appreciate having these questions answered for me.

A South Side Parent.

By Miss Dorothy Benner

The public speaking course at South Side is built to fit the need of every student. Those who have a special talent in speaking will find every opportunity to develop that talent. Others who have little or no ability are given just as much attention and consideration. These students are often pleasantly surprised at the speaking ability which they are able to cultivate in so short a time. At the very best, they lose their fear of appearing before an audience and develop the confidence and ease needed in good speaking.

Many people have the idea that a public speaking course consists of debating only. This is not true at South Side. During the year we cover almost every type of speech that an American citizen may be called upon to give. Sales speeches, political speeches, reports, convincing speeches, contest speeches, and debates are only a few of the types we assign. Our students even receive instruction as to how to gain an interview and then have the actual experience of interviewing some important personage. You may hear some rather strange reports of things we do in public speaking. We do not deny those reports. We merely ask you to keep in mind that no assignment is ever given without the intention of developing a certain type of speech or a certain quality in speaking.

There are several outside activities in connection with this department which give students an opportunity to use what they have learned in class. The Wranglers Club, whose purpose it is to back public speaking in South Side, consists of students who are interested in that activity. Besides giving the members themselves an opportunity to use their speech instruction, it brings in outside speakers of ability so that its members may observe examples of good public speaking. The yearly contests consist of the extemporaneous speaking and the State Discussion Contests, which are open to all students and from which winners are selected to represent South Side in inter-scholastic competition. There is also the freshman-sophomore contest, in which any freshman or sophomore may enter.

The Speakers Bureau provides the speakers who will appear in home rooms to boost the various important activities of the school. This bureau has just been revived this year and is an honorary organization.

Besides furnishing speakers for South Sides' clubs and activities, our students are found speaking over the radio and before church, social and business organizations.

The earlier a student takes his course in public speaking, the greater opportunity he is going to have in putting into effect what he has learned and further developing his talent by taking part in the activities which South Side provides.

Archer Atrocities

from the mailbox

In searching for our good deed to do today we came upon some of our very choicest tidbits. It seems that the inimitable Dorothy Golden draws the lion's share of our readers' attention this week. Several of our most Winchellish snoopers inform us gleefully that the beautiful-but-dumb miss is a wee bit mixed up in her program. It seems she really doesn't belong in study hall the first period. One petite femme who really does belong in study the first seems to be making the most of her opportunities. Some one shows real concern over the attention Janet Fisher bestows upon Thomas Conway. In fact, several somebodies inform us of the interesting-if-true fact.

Girls, new hunting grounds are promised to you! In fact, the material is at hand and we hear that some of our most up-and-coming have already opened the season. There's a new (self-styled) Tarzan in our midst! Personally we haven't met him, so we can't give him our personal recommendation, but we hear that he answers promptly to the name of Harold Roberts. And yet another willing-to-be-a-suppressed-desire comes into our midst. Instead of the virile Ape-man, we hear he's a polished New Yorker who knows his onions (not too well, we hope). We are informed by the most reliable of sources that he is a "knew" reporter on the invaluable news sheet. Last week this fair-haired lad, Glenn Pressler, was surrounded by the feminine contingent in the Times room. A hint to the wise, girls, "Sign up early!" Another freshman takes her toll! Don Fox is headed for the "Last Round-up" with that little freshman, Betty McGinley.

How would we know if Elizabeth Faulkner is serious about Harry Von Gunten? Ask her yourself, we have other irons in the fire. But it seems to be a right smart idea. Besides, Margaret Ann Ruchek thinks Paul McConnell is the cutest paper boy she ever saw. (You should see our new one!) Helen, how did you happen to break your tooth? We've had so many inquiring that even our languishing curiosity is reviving.

Although the janitor is about to put us out we can't resist adding one teenyweeny comment about a couple of Helens who don't speak this year because of a certain John! We wonder if it's worth it after all. They're pushing us off the air so I must bid you a superspecially fond farewell.

Klub Kharacters

When a happy, friendly-looking blonde comes breezing into the Times room everybody had better get busy, because "Here comes the boss!" Yes, she's the general manager of the paper and she really knows her business!

Her affiliations with clubs are many. She is the Inter-Club Congress representative for G. A. A., the vice-president of a Math Science, and belongs to So-Si-Y, Student Players, Boosters, and the Writer's Club, which is a new club organized by Mr. Makey. In the past she was the Meterite's poet and president of U. S. A.

"What are you going to do when you finish high school?" was yelled to her over the noise of the typewriters in the Times room.

"Who, me?" she shouted back! "Oh, I don't know, but I hope I'm not in any more bedlams like this!"

Remember the big fox at Central, who won the athletic blanket? Yes, girls, that's her big moment!

One of her main rules is "Stay at home on school nights and study." That wouldn't be a bad rule for all of us to follow. When she isn't studying, she likes to read novels. Athletics are her main recreation, and she puts all her energy into them just as she does her work.

She is a decided blonde and quite tall. The new president of 1500 Club is Ursula Morton!

Archers To Play Decatur Yellow Jackets Here Saturday

Opponents To Have Eight Vets Back On Squad

Welbornites Show Promise Despite Bad Weather in Bluffton Game Saturday.

South Side Shows Offensive Power

Decatur Appears Strong; Defeat Auburn for First Time in Eleven Seasons.

With their first game of the season marked up on the win column, the South Side Archers will tackle the Decatur Yellowjackets at the southern gridiron this Saturday at 3 o'clock. The Archers are now holding strenuous practice sessions daily, and defects which showed up in the opener with Bluffton are being ironed out. The offensive strength of the Archers was not really tested in their opening tilt with the Parlor City due to the condition of the field, and Coach Welborn is looking forward to an encounter with the Yellowjackets in which he hopes that he will have the opportunity of seeing what his charges can do on a dry field.

Decatur Looks Powerful
Decatur, with eight lettermen returning from last year's squad, has won both of its games so far this year. They opened their season against Central Catholic and eked out a 7-to-6 decision in a thrilling fourth quarter rally. Last week-end, the Yellowjackets won their first victory in eleven years over the gridiron warriors of Auburn by the score of 13 to 6. The combination of Schultz and Sheets in the backfield has been poison to the opponents of the Yellowjackets, and our gridder will have to bottle these two men up especially well. The Decatur line is the heaviest that it has been in several years and should give our line a real battle.

The early portion of the game with Bluffton indicated clearly that the Archer forward wall is one of the best in recent years. The line worked in unison and put plenty of fight in every play throughout the game. The backfield, as a whole, showed up very well. Due to the condition of the field, the Archers were unable to pull some of their trick plays which are generally attempted in the opening game. As a result, the Archers had to depend on a few plays and were not given the opportunity to show their ability in executing spinners, fakes, lateral passing, or wide-end runs. They fumbled the slippery ball several times. Nelson and George played great games at the end positions and seem to have permanently ended the opinion of many fans that the end positions were the weak spots of the line. Eshoff and Ellenwood also played very good on the line. In the backfield both Harrison Simon and Fred Meyers called the plays very well and seemed to assure Lundy that the quarterback position will be capably filled for the season, barring injuries. Gordon Parmelee got away a couple of nice passes and undoubtedly will develop into a real backfield threat. Snyder and Lohman hit the line hard all the time and were outstanding in opening holes for the ball carriers. Lee and Lentz also showed that the team will have a lot of driving power. Lentz made several long gains on his drives through the line. One of these gains resulted in the second touchdown of the game. Ginn, during the short period he played, indicated that he still can hit that line hard.

Injuries Start Early
Injuries and ineligibility have already made their appearance in the Archer camp. Ed Ginn, first-string backfield performer, received a severe jolt to his shoulder, which he injured last year, and this injury may keep him from playing throughout the season. Bob Willson, one of the fastest men in the backfield, has been declared ineligible for play this season. Bob was enrolled in a California prep school for twenty days before he returned to Fort Wayne to enter his freshman year at South Side. According to the rules of the I. H. S. A. A., a student who is enrolled for twenty days or more for four times between September 1 and December 1 is ineligible for further participation in high school football. Bob was enrolled twice during his freshman year for twenty-day periods, these counting as two years of opportunity for participation in football. He participated during his sophomore and junior years thus completing his allotted years of play. His loss will be keenly felt due to the fact that his speed was one of the much-needed requisites for this season's backfield.

If we may judge by the practice games, which started last week, the upperclassmen will have some pretty good hockey games in the tournament.

Leona Menze and Margaret Ruhl defeated their opponents Jane McElwain and Ailene Hauck in the tennis matches last week.

It seems that Lu Wanda and Mary Rose defied the rules of Oakwood assembly at Lake Wawasee this summer by staying up all night and going in swimming at 4 o'clock in the morning.

A warning to the hockey players on team Senior 1, Ursula swings a mean hockey club.

We wonder why all but three speedballs were down one morning after Leona Menze had stayed till 4 o'clock the night before to pump them up.

Why haven't more freshmen signed up for speedball? Come on, girls, give Miss Smith a chance to show you what a swell game speedball really is.

Athletic Numbers Are Announced

Among the new equipment purchased this season for the Archer football squad are fifteen new jerseys for use in the varsity games. These shirts are equipped with large white numerals, which will prove a boon to the spectators by easier, quicker identification of the players on the field.

A number of older jerseys also were provided with new black numerals. For the benefit of the rooters who do not know the team well, the following list has been compiled of those players who are most likely to see action in the contests this fall. Those numerals below 85 are of the black variety, the others are white.

Municipal Golf Course Is Scene of Matches

Fort Wayne's Municipal golf course has been chosen as the scene of South Side's 1934 Intramural Golf tournament. This course was selected by the boys who attended the golf meeting held last Wednesday evening.

For the first time in intramural golf history, the intramural championship will be decided by medal play. In previous years the winners were always decided by match play. Medal play was decided on in order to save the players time and money.

There will be no weight divisions in the golf tournament this year due to the small number of players entered. Scores turned in so far were: Schmidt—44-42—36. Von Gunten—47-43—90. Bergel—41-43—84.

All Loyal Archers Urged to Cooperate To Support School

"Life began at three-forty." That is, the life and spirit of the game. We are referring to South Side's first game played last Saturday. As far as most of the students attending were concerned, the game was a washout. A vicious cloud rapidly approaching from the West, heralded an onslaught of rain, during which a human stampede for the gates occurred.

When the dust, created by the hoofs of the thundering herd, had settled, a few loyal and courageous students had remained to cheer the team on to victory. Try as it would the said rain could not dampen the spirits of those who had remained to get their money's worth. There was an overwhelming call for wet paint signs by girls who had moistened little faces.

As the water rose in the field it seemed to carry those few loyal voices with it. The cheers that rose from these few far surpassed those of the preceding efforts of the entire crowd. Blame can hardly be placed on those who left for shelter but can be placed upon them for letting such a small group show them up when it comes to supporting the team. This incident brings out the possibilities that would result if the student body would cooperate. In other words, Let's Support Our School.

How did you like the rain during the game Saturday? The players think it's fun playing, but oh! what groaning when they put on their wet suits for practice Monday.

Our boys were surely on their toes in the game. They blocked two punts and recovered two fumbles, the first of which led to our first touchdown.

It looks as though South Side will have another good passing attack, from the way they hit them in the game Saturday. The first pass, Parmelee to Simon, put the ball on their one-yard line.

Fred Lentz really ripped up Bluffton's line during the third and fourth quarters. Good work, Fred, and keep it up.

What about giving the team a big hand. They played a good game and deserved to win.

Ed Ginn, the drop-kick expert, missed a drop-kick in the game, but it won't count against his record because Bluffton was off-side, and on the next play he passed to Simon for the extra point.

Hail! the new captain! None other than Gordon Straley. Gordon was all-city tackle last year. His weight and ability will be a bright spot in the Archer forward wall. Good luck, Gordon.

The boys are getting tough now. After each practice they are divided into groups according to their position, and each group runs a race which is 440 yards long. After a hard practice this is really tough.

Bo McMillin, Indiana University head football coach, who talked to our team at Camp Crosley, does not allow any swearing whatsoever among his players.

During practice, the boys get in their Saturday night tackling practice. Hey what, Ostermeyer?
How do you like the new green jerseys? The players think they're pretty hot. If you noticed the shirts were a little dirty, it was because the team wore them in practice last Thursday and Friday.

Alas, the poor players on the day of a game! They must eat at least four hours before game time. Some of the little darlings can't even have their milk. What about it, Jackson and Conway?

South Side Defeats Bluffton In First Tilt of Grid Season

Battling a fighting Bluffton squad and hampered greatly by a miniature cloudburst and a soggy field, the South Side Green Wave inaugurated their 1934 grid season with a 14-to-0 victory over the Tigers last Saturday afternoon. By the end of the first quarter, however, the outcome of the contest was no longer in doubt and the Green reserves saw considerable action.

Shortly after the second quarter began, the rain came down in sheets and sent the crowd running for cover. The downpour kept the teams from really opening up and prevented Coach Welborn from getting a good idea of what his boys could do under fire.

The Kellyklads presented something rather different in their style of play, introducing more of a kicking game. On several occasions they punted early in their downs keeping the Tigers well away from the Green goal line.

Late in the first quarter after the teams had been exchanging punts in midfield and playing without much advantage for either team, Brower George recovered a Bluffton fumble on the Tiger twenty-five yard line. Almost immediately Gord Parmelee, promising junior halfback, uncorked a neat pass to Harry Simon, who was brought down on the one-yard line. On the next play Jack Snyder plunged over the line for the touchdown. After one attempt by Ed Ginn, who was inserted for Snyder, to convert the point with a drop-kick when Bluffton was off-sides, he tossed a pass which was also snared by Simon for the extra marker, making the score 7 to 0.

Although Bluffton secured more first downs in this period than the Green, they lacked the power to keep going at the critical moments.
Their biggest threat of the game came in the second period when, after a steady march down the field, against

Rev. J. M. Wheatley Speaks at Assembly On Constitution Day

"Each of us, regardless of race, color, or creed, are equal in the sight of God," Rev. Jason McNeal, D. D., stated in his talk at the assembly Monday on Constitution Day.

In speaking of liberty, the Rev. Mr. Wheatley, who was introduced by Mr. A. Verne Flint, said, "Jealousy we must be to guard it, zealots we must be to safeguard it." He also told of the courage of the pioneers who formulated the 4,000 or so words of the document which has withstood trying and troubled times for 147 years. He emphasized the need for the children of today, the men and women of tomorrow, to keep the country going as far as the Constitution is concerned.

Selections played by the band under the able direction of Mr. Jack Wainwright were "Supreme Triumph," "El Capitane" by Sousa, "Grand American Fantasy," and "Iowa Brigade," both by Julie.

North Side Redskins To Play Goshen Saturday

Out for the second game of the season the North Side Redskins will tackle Goshen next Saturday at the North Side Athletic field. After winning their first game, Saturday against Lima, the Redskins have more confidence for their second game. Coach Bob Nulf and the team have been working very hard to perfect their line and backfield.

The Redskins swamped South of Lima 27 to 0 last Saturday in the opening game of the season for both North Side and South of Lima. The Redskins scored in each quarter and made three extra points by place and drop kicks.

South Side Enrollment Greatest in History

The enrollment this year is the greatest in the history of South Side. Many graduates are taking post-grad work. Also, some entered from other schools and cities. The enrollment last semester at the end of the year was eighteen hundred thirty-three. This year it is eighteen hundred ninety-five. Because of the larger enrollment, students must observe more carefully the rules and regulations.

Term's Program Planned for Club

Pebble Pups Get Acquainted at First Meeting; Members Will Visit Koehl's Monument Co.

To enable members to get acquainted was the main purpose of the Pebble Pup's meeting which was held after school last Thursday in room 52.

The members were given slips of paper on which they wrote certain data concerning themselves. The slips were then passed to a person sitting nearby who, using the material given, introduced to the club the person whose slip he had. This enabled each member to become better acquainted with the others and also proved to be very entertaining.

Following that, Ellis Lochner gave a talk on quartz in its various forms. It was announced during the meeting that the program committee, which consisted of Goldie Bruoit, Ellis Lochner, Fredrick Prange, and Mary Snider, president, acting as chairman, had met on the preceding Tuesday with Miss Mabel Thorne and Mr. Lloyd Whelan and planned the program for the semester.

At the next meeting, which is to be held October 4, the members will visit Koehl's Monument Works at 114 East William Street. Dale Busse is to be in charge of this meeting.

Latin Club Plans Semester's Work

Old Members Meet; "Invocation
Of the Muses" To Be Theme
Of Gathering on October 4.

Organization and plans of the Latin Club for the coming semester were discussed at the first meeting held in the Voorhees Room Thursday. This meeting was for old members only. Suggestions for programs were given on paper by all the members, and cards for Miss Pittenger were also filled out.

Each one present was requested to bring at least one new member to the next meeting, which will be held October 4. The theme of this meeting will be "Invocation to the Muses," in which the nine Muses will appear in person. Helen Sinish will furnish the musical part of the program. There will be games, and refreshments will be served.

Latin Club invites all boys and girls who have had at least one semester of Latin. Those who have taken Latin are not asking it at the present time also invited. Latin Club meets the first Thursday of every month. The dues are twenty-five cents a semester.

Have Traffic Squad
In the Wilmington High School, Wilmington, Delaware, a traffic squad of 150 students is selected each year to aid in the enforcement of traffic regulations around the school.

Mr. Windmiller Likes System And Students of South Side

Don't mistake a certain young gentleman that you may have seen strolling through the halls for a student. You may be greatly surprised to learn that he is Mr. Harold Windmiller, the new typing and bookkeeping teacher, recently added to the brilliant faculty of South Side. When asked, "What do you think of South Side High School?" Mr. Windmiller raised his eyebrows and answered with a gleam of delight in his eyes, "I haven't been to a place that I like better! The school is exceptionally fine. It has a remarkable system and a splendid group of students. Everyone has been extremely fine to me; why, it seems as if I've been here for quite some time." He stopped thinking about his next statement, and then suddenly burst out with the following:

"I'm somewhat similar to a freshman myself. I consider myself very fortunate in getting the position that

Aids With Dance

Virginia Vesey

Bud Goldman's orchestra is playing the peppy tunes for the first tea dance to be held this Friday in the cafeteria from 3:20 to 5 o'clock.

A special feature will be given by Virginia MacNamara who will give an acrobatic dance. She will be accompanied by Georgianna Jones on the accordion. Virginia, who is a 9B freshman from James Smart, will leave directly after her performance for Chicago where she will dance in the Court of States on Saturday.

Miss Adelaide Fiedler will chaperone the tea dance. The dance committee consists of Harriet Yapp, Virginia Vesey, Bernadette Dygert, and Pauline Crabill.

Torch Club Hears Fingerprint Expert

Mr. Ernest Frankfather Speaks;
Boys Selected To Learn Art;
Detective Scheduled to Talk.

Mr. Ernest Frankfather of the Fort Wayne Police Department, Bureau of Identification, spoke Monday evening to the members of the Torch Club on the club's topic this year, "Crime Prevention."

Mr. Frankfather told of the beginning of the science of fingerprinting, which discovery we owe to Sir E. R. Henry of England. According to Mr. Frankfather's figures, it is possible only once in every septillion years for any two fingerprints to be exactly alike. The beginning of the police was discussed also in detail by Mr. Frankfather.

He also emphatically pointed out that we, the citizens of tomorrow, should see that the police are scientifically equipped to combat criminals, who at this time are much better equipped for the gun warfare they carry on than ever the police.

Holden Ruppon and Bob Hall were appointed to go to police headquarters to learn the method of fingerprinting, and, if possible, to duplicate the performance for their fellow club members. This seemed an exceedingly popular errand, and it was only after much discussion that these two boys were picked.

Mr. Jack Clark, the youngest detective on the Fort Wayne force, will speak at the next meeting on Monday, October 8. All freshmen and sophomore boys are invited to join.

Model Airplane Club Plans Year's Program

The Model Airplane Club held its regular meeting Friday, September 21, in room 56. This meeting was mainly to organize for this year.

It was announced that the members would meet every other Friday in the Voorhees Room. Dues must be paid by October 19, or one is no longer a member.

At present there is no city contest planned, but the club has decided to stage a contest among themselves. A committee was appointed to see Mr. Snider about getting the gym after supper once or twice a month.

In a general discussion the club decided not to build a wind tunnel for testing airplanes because it could not be done accurately.

The next meeting is a week from Friday. Prospective members are invited.

Season Tickets For Concerts Will Be Sold

Sale To Open Monday;
Events Are Once a Month;
Cost Is Seventy-five Cents.

First Program Is Friday, October 5

Bob Wedertz To Give Magic Performance; Students
Excused for Premiere.

Next Monday the music department will put on sale the season tickets for the musical concerts to be given by Mr. Jack W. Wainwright and the different parts of the musical department. These concerts will be held once every month except in March, including seven concerts for which a person may buy a season ticket for seventy-five cents, or he may pay fifteen cents for each time he wishes to attend.

The first concert will be held on Friday, October 5. It will be elaborate, and a very interesting program has been arranged. The new instruments will be displayed, and many new and beautiful numbers have been prepared. This concert will last the first two periods of the morning, for which students will be excused from classes by the purchase of their concert tickets.

A special feature will be given at each concert, and as the special feature for the coming concert Bob Wedertz, a magician, will perform many interesting magic tricks. His act will require about twenty minutes during an intermission of the musicians. Mr. Wedertz was formerly a member of South Side.

The main purpose for giving these concerts is to make money for the music department to help them pay for the uniforms and required material. This point is to be stressed upon the students, since it may be done by their co-operation.

Wo-Ho-Ma Club Names Committees

Rowena Bevington, President, Explains Point System to New Members; Dean Gives Talk.

The members of the Wo-Ho-Ma Club held their first meeting Thursday, September 20, in the Greeley Room. The business meeting was called to order by Rowena Bevington, president; and the secretary's and treasurer's reports were read. Several committees were announced. Mary Ann Park was selected as chairman of the program committee; she is assisted by Clara Jefferies and Ruth June Higgins. Roselma Disler, Dorothy Hagerman, and Elinor Warun were chosen as the room committee. Beatrice Schieber was appointed as the bulletin reporter for the semester.

The president then explained the club's point system to the many new members. Miss Pearl Rebst, faculty adviser, told the girls they should pay their semester's dues as soon as possible.

During the program which was presented at the conclusion of the business meeting, Miss Martha Pittenger gave an interesting talk to the members. The girls also enjoyed a get-acquainted game at which Geraldine Dush won the prize for identifying the largest number of girls present.

The next meeting of the club will be held October 4, in the Greeley Room.

New Point System For Room Agents

A new point system for room agents has recently been worked out. Ten points will be given to the room agents whose home room average is sixty percent or above for individual subscriptions. If the room agents are early birds and get their subscriptions the first week of school, they will get their reward by having their points doubled. The first room agent to get 100 percent will be given 300 points.

If the 100 percent goal is reached before the end of the third week of the campaign, the home room agent will receive 200 points. After the third week the room agents reaching the 100 percent mark will be rewarded with fifty points. A deduction of fifty points will be made for all unpaid promissory notes.

Plan Frolic
Students are making plans for a fourth all-school frolic in the Marion High School, Marion, Indiana. The purpose is to raise funds for the school publications.

No Parking Allowed On Gumpner Avenue

Students should not park their cars on Gumpner Avenue between Calhoun and Clinton Streets during school hours. Because of the parked cars on this street, students can not see passing cars clearly, and may get hit when running across the street to the playground. While playing ball in the playground, the students might accidentally knock the ball into the window of one of the parked cars and break it. No cars should be parked on any school house curb.

Rotogravure Section To Start In Times

Next Month, after the fashion of the largest and best city newspapers, a rotogravure section will be issued with The Times.

Assistance will be procured by the High School Advertising Service in getting this "brown" section. It will be distributed to a number of schools besides our own each month for use as a supplement to their regular publication. The Northern of North Side has procured this supplement for three years; and, if it proves to be of interest, the order will continue indefinitely.

This rotogravure section will be an ideal supplement, every bit of which has a direct bearing upon the educational field. The geographical distribution of the photographs will be reasonably equal; town and country will share alike. This is to be a unique publication; a pictorial representation of secondary school activities from their best angles.

Math-Science Club To Hear Talks Friday

Louie Hull To Give Demonstration of Electricity;
Robert Lehman To Speak.

Math-Science Club will hold its initial meeting of the year, Friday evening at 7:30 in the Greeley Room. Mr. Louie Hull, physics teacher, will give a demonstration of the passage of electricity through rarefied gases and air. The life of Sir Isaac Newton will be given by Robert Lehman. The meeting will be concluded by playing games, after which refreshments will be served to all.

The purposes of the Math-Science Club are to bring about worthy and intelligent use of leisure time, creation of an interest in the practical way in which this time may be used in living, knowledge of the great work which has been done by the different men as these subjects have been developed during each generation, and friendship between the teachers and the students through this common interest.

The club meets once each month on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The programs offered by Math-Science cover a wide range of topics in both mathematics and science. There are two social meetings held during the year. One is a Halloween party and the other is a picnic held in the spring.

The eligibility rules of the club are that any student who is a 10A or the equivalent, may become a member. The dues charged are twenty-five cents per semester. The boys and girls who attend the meetings of the club are interested in increasing their knowledge. The programs are carefully worked out by committees of students working under faculty supervision. Occasionally a teacher from either department speaks, and about once each term an outside speaker is obtained.

Installation of officers will take place at this meeting and will be done by Ernie Williams, past president; Mr. Gould and Miss Fiedler, faculty advisers. The programs for the following semester will be under the supervision of Ursula Morton, chairman; Dick Helm, Bob Lehman, and Lois Magley.

Faculty Goes Native At Its Picnic Held At Franke Park

The faculty held a picnic Thursday, September 20, following school hours, in Franke Park. A baseball game was played in which the men and boys participated. It was followed by a few games of horse-shoe after which supper took place at 6 o'clock.

After supper "charade" and various other games were played. Following the games, the initiation of the new members of the faculty, H. L. Windmiller and Alvaro Ferlini, took place.

Delivan Parks, chairman, Lloyd Whelan, Mary McCloskey, Crissie Mott, Eleanor Smeltzly, and Lucy Meller helped on the food committee. Nellie Covatt was in charge of the serving committee. The entertainment committee consisted of Dorothy Magley, Erma Dochterman, Wilbur Wilson, and Louis Briner. In charge of transportation were R. L. Furst, C. A. Bex, J. H. Chappell, E. S. Gould, E. H. Murch, Earl E. Sterner, and H. L. Windmiller.

To Present Play
Dramatic students of the South High School, Omaha, Nebraska, will present a mystery drama, "Seven Keys to Baldpate." All members of the cast are associated with the Dramatic Art Club of that school.

Radio Club Members Have First Meeting

Thursday evening the newly organized Radio Club of South Side, held its first meeting in room 96. The meeting was taken charge of by Mr. Sidell, the faculty adviser. Election of officers was held and the results were as follows: President, Robert Schriever; vice-president, Bob Long; secretary, Edgar Ringenbush.

After the election of the new officers, the eighteen boys present told of their experiences in radio during the summer. Plans were made concerning a club transmitter and receiver.

Times Is Honored By News-Sentinel

The Times was again honored when the news of 'The Times' and 'The Northern's' winning international rating in the Quill and Scroll contest was sent over the Associated Press wires by Arthur K. Rummel, editor of The Fort Wayne News-Sentinel. The Times received a letter from Mr. Rummel in which he congratulated The Times on its high rating in the contest and also revealed the fact that the story was forwarded on the Associated Press wires by him.

Senior Hi-Y Skate Party Postponed

Will Be Held at Bell's Rink on Thanksgiving Eve; Railroad Man Will Speak Tonight.

Postponement of the Senior Hi-Y skating party was announced by Dick Reinecke, committee chairman. It seems that there was a conflict between the Central and South Side Hi-Y, and the South Side club took November 28, Thanksgiving evening.

Frank Montgomery, booster committee chairman, with the help of his committee, has started a membership campaign. The effect was immediately felt for the membership increased about 20 percent. Any senior boy who wishes to join the club but is unable to get transportation to the Y. M. C. A. on Thursday evenings, should see Frank, for the club is willing to provide it.

"Mr. Ernest M. Christie, supervising agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad, will talk on 'The Value of Railroads' tonight at 7:30 at the Y. M. C. A.," stated Lloyd Grodian, program chairman. Next Thursday the feature of the program will be a swim.

As a program for the service committee, the club hopes to form a Hi-Y club in Monroeville, where the club dropped out of existence several years ago. Also, exchange speakers with Huntington Hi-Y is to be an outstanding feature in the oncoming meetings.

At the last meeting it was decided that the Father and Son banquet would be held on October 25. The committee in charge is to be selected at the meeting tonight. Bob Klopffenstein then gave a short talk on his experiences at Camp Miniwanka this summer.

Tonight's meeting is full of interest so all senior boys should come.

Philo Holds Business Meeting Next Monday

Philo will hold a short but important business meeting Monday, October 1. Plans will be completed for the Philo Fun Frolic to be held Saturday, October 6, at Miss Pittenger's farm near Muncie. Anyone able to drive her car is requested to tell Eleanor Cupp, who is in charge of the transportation. All those intending to go please sign up in room 68.

Mr. Alvaro Ferlini Dislikes Leaving South Side Portals

When a flash of pearly white teeth and a broad smile comes from a good looking young teacher, you know that you are in room 80. When we asked the occupant of this room, Mr. Alvaro

Ferlini, if he would be glad to leave South Side since Miss George Anna Hodgson is returning, the smile immediately died from his lips, and he answered, "Indeed I am not! I've only been here a short time, but I have become attached to the place. Of course, I'm glad that Miss Hodgson is coming back."

Mr. Ferlini stated that he preferred teaching to all other things.

"I have another position when I am through out here," he continued, "but I would prefer to go on teaching. The pupils are so enthusiastic to do their best and to learn what they are taught. And every one is so kind and friendly to every one else. Oh, well, maybe I shall be permitted to return later," he concluded.

Immediately, he returned to the smiling happy self that South Side knows.

What You Wish for It.

October 1 marks the sixth annual "Back-to-School Night," sponsored by the Parent-Teacher's Association of the South Side High School. Yearly, there is a time in the fall when parents are especially invited to visit South Side, meet the teachers, and inspect the work done here.

The parents will bring with them copies of their sons' and daughters' programs which they will follow the same as the students do. The idea of having a night when fathers and mothers may attend school was first originated by this school. Since then schools all over the United States have used it and have found it to be a huge success.

Invitations Sent
Letters have been sent to 1,655 parents containing an invitation to attend "Back-to-School Night." It contained a program for the evening's events and a card giving the dates of all the important affairs of the year.

In the home rooms, there will be women who will take dues of members of the P-T. A. and also a representative of The Times to take subscriptions. From the home room the parents will go to the first period classes of their children and from then on will follow out the program. A lunch of ice cream and cookies will be served in the cafeteria the fourth and fifth periods.

To Publish Times

The Tiny Times, a paper edited on every "Back-to-School Night," is being published through the efforts of Virginia Vesey, editor, and Bob Storm, assistant editor, aided by their staff of reporters. Many students are coming to school Monday night to sell these diminutive copies of the full sized Times. They will be sold for whatever the purchaser wishes to give.

Plans for Monday night were formulated by Mrs. David S. Vesey, general chairman, assisted by her many committees, which were appointed at the executive board several weeks ago.

They are as follows: Membership, Mrs. Graham Russell; hospitality, Mrs. Harry Kelsey; ways and means, Mrs. Henry Chappell; program, Mrs. Noah Zehry; and publicity, Mrs. George Knudson.

Committees Appointed

Committees appointed for the respective classes are as follows: Freshman, general chairman, Mrs. L. R. Hull; membership, Mrs. R. Fudge; hospitality, Mrs. A. R. Mutilate Mishawaka Mercilessly!

Most puns should be spelled p-u-n-k.

Some Times subscription campaigns go over and then some times, they don't.

These picnics have all been a great success—with a substantial increase in the family doctor bills.

South Side now has a "conglomeration" of stones... thanks to the P. G. department. And they're stones with a pedigree, too!

An old saying goes, "While there's life... there's hope!" The grading period will be "dead" on October 5. Can you take a hint?

Someone told us that if South Side's football team loses Saturday, they will have to walk back. We can see where the team will "Mishawauk."

When you see a dog leading a man, you know that that man is blind; but when you see a man leading a dog, you know that that man is leading a dog's life.

Simile: As good as the Times. Pretty soon these contests will cede all their prizes to South Side. Either that or the other schools will quit sending in their papers!

Anthony Wayne must have turned over a couple of Times (the temptation was great, too) in his grave last week when they let school out for him—"An-thony might not have!"

Some fun! These faculty picnics! This one had the extremely "West-ern" name of "The 1934 Streamlined Faculty Picnic." Seems as if the "streamlined" modifies the wrong word.

"Back to the mines, boys!" All of you one-time scouts should join South Side's new scout troop. It's a new deal in scouting! If you like to shoot, play an instrument, ride, act, travel, or just have a good time... join it!

My! What a "hick-town" impression strangers must have gotten when they saw the merry-go-rounds, ferris wheels, etc., etc., etc., etc., that Fort Wayne was infested with last week... dizzy, isn't it?... but then—such is life on a merry-go-round!

Sports Versus Scholarship

One of the most common difficulties connected with school life is the idea of sports and studies not going together. The explanation is that one cannot be an athlete and a good student.

Athletics are a help to the schoolboy; not a hindrance, provided he practices the old saying, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." The interpretation of this proverbial saying is that there should be a limited amount of each, balancing both work and play. Neither one should be overdone.

Many of the greatest men have participated in athletics at one time or other. Andrew Carnegie, pioneer of steel industry; James Hull, railroad magnate; U. S. Grant; Abraham Lincoln; and Johnson distributed their time between athletics and studies.

We have no need of going back to the historical records to prove that sports and studies do "go together." Some of the most enviable scholastic records are possessed by some of our leading athletes.

Not All Is Done

Did you ever bemoan the fact that everything big and important has already been accomplished? Did you ever say to yourself, "How can I ever hope to become famous when all the world's problems have been solved? There aren't any new continents left to discover. The country itself seems to be able to run itself without me. There aren't any more buffalo or hostile Indians or covered wagons."

Well, a few months ago we read a letter written by a boy. "I might as well be dead," he complained. "Every great deed has already been performed. Also, there is nothing new and important left to do." The boy was a Chinese scholar. He lived about 2,200 B.C. Four thousand years ago! All Europe was undreamed of. There had been no Washington, Columbus, or Edison. Yet this boy was all ready to fold up and quit, because everything worthwhile had already been accomplished.

The situation remains the same today. New opportunities await beyond the next corner! Are you, as an individual, going to seek that corner or wish yourself dead because of no future?

Let Them Know

Although cheering at a football game seems foolish to some individuals, it has been proved time after time that cheering the members of an athletic team urges them on to the enemy's goal and instills in them a fighting spirit that enables them to overcome difficult odds confronting them. During the past couple of years two major league baseball teams that were at first considered anything but champions rose to the pinnacle of success. Much of their success is due to the fighting spirit they have shown. Refusal to quit when victory seems impossible is a great secret to their success, and it can be the secret to the success of our team. By cheering we will be helping to create a spirit in the team that will be inimitable. It is said that Lincoln never realized how great an inspiration his "Gettysburg Address" created because the audience did not respond. Although we may not realize it, we will help create a fighting spirit among the members of our football team by joining in the cheering whether the team is winning or the score is against them.

Magna Cum Laude

School is supposed to be over at 3:15, but for some of the more industrious students, school is not over until around 5 o'clock every afternoon. Five girls, all of whom make high grades and have been outstanding in other activities, work every night after the rest of the heedless pupils have wended their careless way homeward. These girls find time to help Mr. Davis perform his many duties as Athletic Manager. They type letters, file letters help with the sale of season tickets, deposit money, keep the books of the athletic department, and keep all the books and files in order. In their spare time they do odd jobs!

When the sale of tickets started they arranged the tickets for the home room and kept those accounts straight. They took the tickets to the teachers and kept the records of the sales in each home room and the money returned by the teachers. Unappreciated and unthanked, these girls devote two hours every night to the good of the athletic department. They alleviate much of the work that falls upon the capable shoulders of Mr. Davis.

Night after night they say "No" to invitations to go with their friends and enjoy themselves in forgetting school for a few hours. For this self-denial and for the work they do in relieving Mr. Davis, the entire student body should recognize and appreciate their efforts. These girls, Dorothy Fathauer, Alma Nitzsche, Helen Hughes, Alwita Tarney, and Flo Rose Whitmer, are in a large part responsible for the financial success of the athletic department. We should be most grateful for the work they do.

Freshman Fantasy

A Freshman Views the Juniors

There they are! Look 'em over! They clog the doorways; they infest the laboratories; they impede hall passage; in fact, they clutter up the whole place. There are several kinds of them.

First there is the student type. Puny, pallid, pasty pursuers of pedantry! Brows aknit, forehead wrinkled, cranium bulging! Sallow, silent, serious, spectacled specimens of scholarship-seeking pseudo-savants, fit for a funeral at fifteen. You'll know them by the handful of pencils and the load of books.

What is to be done about it? How about the freshman room idea of our youth, with cod-liver oil and vitamins? Also some gentle exercise such as tiddlywinks out in the sun? Perhaps the skulls might be tapped and the excess pressure stored for exam time, or better, distributed by a pipe line system to the sophomore vacua (Hey, Junior, is that the right way to spell the plural of vacuum?) much to the benefit of all concerned.

Then there are the strutters. They are those who are newly conscious, yea super-conscious of the dizzy heights of scholastic accomplishment that is juniordom. They are the men and women of the future. They have put away childish things. They are sophisticated. They are superior beings. Notice the erect head, the jutting chest, the eyes straight forward. Note the brisk knee action and the firm non-skid tread. They breathe through the nose.

Don't shoot! Don't shoot! Somebody loves them; and, anyway, ammunition is expensive!

Then there are the manicured! OOOH La La! They are those who would be devastating! You can recognize the breed by the hair oil and the perfume and the fancy handkerchief and the permanent wave and the crimson finger nails and the high French heels!

There is absolutely nothing to be done about these. They are like head colds and depressions and such like—you just have to put up with them until they get over it—or don't get over it as the case may be!

Hoity—Toity—'Tis a funny world!

The Tiny Times

Around the School

By The Rounder, Jr.

Mistakes are frequent in this day and age. The other day a chemistry teacher handed out C-1 and C-2 outlines. When he recalled the C-2 outlines, Wayne Bart in a low bass voice replied, "If I see one C-1, I'll see to C-2 it."

Mimicking teachers doesn't go over so good, does it, John Bremer? The other day in the Times room, John, trying to imitate one of our pedagogues, fell over backwards in a swivel chair.

And then there is the "big" football hero who insists on explaining the game to his fourth period teacher and class.

Kye Trout will surely have to have that tooth repaired. This morning while walking down the hall he was heard talking in his own inimitable country brogue, "I guess I'll have to get this here tooth fixed, I couldn't even eat a roll for breakfast this morning." Too bad, Trout!

Garland Eickmeyer believes in sticking to his arguments. Every time one of our chemistry teachers turns around, there is Garland trying to prove that oxygen will not displace water.

The Library Table

PRINCESS BY PROXY

By Roland Pertween

Genial, portly Fanny Potts has risen from the Gaiety Chorus to the position of wife to Grand Duke Stephan of Morocco—only to be cast aside when Stephan ascends to the throne. Influenced by the Duke of Yardi, Fanny and Melora, her daughter, together with Ruprecht Diniston, a daring young Englishman, set out for Morocco to assert their rights at the palace.

When the three enter the medieval kingdom, they are swept into a whirl of adventures. Ruprecht fights a duel with Captain of the Guards Colmar; Melora masquerades as the king's daughter instead of Heloise, who is insane; King Stephan is killed by Andre, a poor, helpless deaf mute, in a battle which ensues after an attempt has been made on Heloise's life; Lola Varanne, the king's mistress, carries off the Prince of Therrania to Paris as her husband; and Ruprecht gets Melora for his blushing bride, whom he carries back to love and happiness in England.

If you like love, adventure, duels, comedy, pathos, thrills, and everything that goes with the olden days of chivalry, take time out and read this novel.

Klub Kharacters

Beautiful, but dumb wouldn't be correct in a case like this. There is usually a time when old slogans, sayings, and adages are a little off, and this is one of those times. The character in the spotlight now is a tall, slim junior. She has red hair with a distinct goldish caste and hazel eyes. Her height is five feet nine inches and her weight is one hundred thirty pounds. Enough for the first part of that saying, now for the part that isn't right. She is very brilliant, also. She has been on the honor roll every time since her high school career began. Besides her scholarly tendencies she is quite interested in club work. As the sergeant-at-arms of Philo, her success is quite expected. She attends the Student Players and G. A. A., too. Last year she was the president of Meteries.

This semester, her classes are Art, Dramatics, United States History, Physics, and Health. She is very interested in drawing. Basketball is one of her most important hobbies. Hockey and swimming come second.

Boys don't mean so very much to her, but there is a certain type to which she is quite drawn. They are men around six feet six inches in height with coal black hair. You'd better start stretching!

Mary Martha is the new treasurer of German Club; Mary Martha Hbrook!

"He who laughs last, laughs best." Ha, ha, big joke—Yes, he put another one over on them. As usual always Johnny on the spot with his wisecracks. He not only knows the questions, but the answers as well, and he certainly has a vocabulary! Among them are seventy-five words, such as "transubstantiationableness!" Yes, it is a word!

This well-known senior has a varied stock of things in which he is interested. Everything from making model airplanes to analyzing certain species of a flower. Music and things connected with journalism are a few of his other interests. When this senior graduates, he wants to work on a newspaper.

"What are your subjects this semester?" he was asked.
 "My subjects are Civics, Chemistry, General History, and English," was his reply.

Of course, clubwork is one of his main hobbies. He is the co-managing editor of the Times, belongs to Math-Science, Model Airplane, Senior Hi-Y, 1500, and Glee Clubs.

This character has brown hair, blue eyes, and is five feet eleven inches tall. You will be sure to know him by the big smile adorning his countenance.

Math-Science Club is certain to be a huge success this year with Wayne Bender as the president!

Pedagogue to Parents

By E. S. Gould

In botany we study seeds but aim not to be seedy; we study verdure but try not to be verdant; we study stems but endeavor not to be sticks.

Every boy who likes to fish or swim or tramp the woods is in love with nature, and every girl who enjoys flowers or likes to watch the beauty of a sunset is a lover of nature. All of us whether we realize it or not are born with more or less of this interest within us. Should there be some who do not apparently have this interest, it can be and is developed in our high school course. When we remind them that our lives depend entirely on plants, that all of our food and clothing come directly or indirectly from plants, that our homes and their furnishings are nearly 100 percent from plants, that their surroundings in the yard and garden are made attractive by plants, and that in winter they are made comfortable by the burning of wood, coal, or gas, (all of which come from plants), their interest at once is quickened.

The general objectives of the course may be stated as follows:

1. To develop greater power and skill in accurate observation of one's plant environment.
2. To gain facility in coming to correct conclusions from observed facts.
3. To form the habit of the scientific approach to all problems.
4. To better appreciate the beauties of nature.
5. To help to orient the pupil in the scheme of nature of which he, himself, is a part.
6. To form the foundation for the development of interesting, educational hobbies for leisure time.

As to the practical value of a course in botany, we believe that few, if any, other subjects offer more. It is the foundation of scientific agriculture, and agriculture is the foundational occupation of the human race. We aim throughout the whole course to emphasize the practical applications of each subject studied. When we see that the sciences of Bacteriology, Forestry, Pomology, Horticulture, and Agriculture are based on the fundamentals of botany, we can come to some appreciation of the practical value of this subject. Plant life is one of the big things in the world in which we live.

In addition to the practical value of a knowledge of plants, there is an aesthetic value. This knowledge makes the world a more interesting place in which to live. We enjoy being among the first to greet the wildflowers each spring as they return. We gain that which makes us see in a grove of trees something more than so many board feet of lumber or cords of wood. This something is often called, "An appreciation of nature," and this is one big element in increasing the joy of living.

We study about plants in two ways, from text book and teacher, and from the plants themselves. The former method is a timesaver, but when used too excess will lead the student to lean too heavily on such sources. The latter method teaches the pupil self-reliance, keenness of observation, and the ability of coming to correct conclusions from observed facts. Both methods are used in our work.

During the first semester we study about the roots, stems, leaves, flowers, fruits, and seeds of our common plants. We become familiar with the names and habits of some of these plants. During the second semester, each student uses the microscope and with it studies the cell and some simple plants such as bacteria, yeasts, molds, pond scum, mosses, and ferns.

If, at the close of the course the student has a keener interest in plant life and a better understanding about all life, we feel that the course has been a success.

Gassy Guzzle

Howdy folks, the old maestro speaking. Well, now that we've all gotten back into the swing of school, I suppose you all feel "Bored of Education."

A member of the Times staff went to collect a bill long-overdue at a local bakery not long ago. He asked the manager if they ever paid their bills at this place. "No, we knead the dough before we can," was the prompt reply.

A sign above the cash register in a restaurant reads, "Don't say charge it. This isn't a battery shop." Those boys are really clever.

Our football players certainly have to use their heads for skull practice.

Virginia Vesey was heard to accuse another of having a very bad habit of trying to be clever. The answer was "O. K., habit your own way, but I think I really am." Such wit! Wit out it we would rest in peace.

See you Samoo next week.

"College Days" To Be Subject Of Discussion

Mr. A. V. Flint Will Speak On Higher Education To Junior Hi-Y at Meeting.

Officially opening its activities for this semester, the Junior Hi-Y Club will meet at the Y. M. C. A. on Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. The theme of the meetings for this year will be "College Days."

Mr. A. V. Flint will be the initial speaker on this subject. He will relate many of his college experiences and will advise the club members on several important points concerning college education. Mr. Flint is well versed in dealing with boys and is a very interesting speaker.

The Junior Hi-Y has always been recognized as one of the leading boys' clubs at South Side. It brings a great many speakers before the club members. The subject of a college education will be approached from all of its various standpoints. College sports and extra-curricular activities will also be discussed, and it is hoped that a college coach will be available as a speaker.

All junior boys are eligible to membership in this club and are invited to attend its meetings. The officers of the club are Dick Helm, president; Robert Adams, vice-president; Herman Makey, secretary; Morgan Harrison, treasurer; and Clifford Schrom, chaplain.

Three South Side Boy Scouts Serve At Summer Camp

Three South Side students, Bob Rinehart, Bob Storm, and Max Tritch, worked at Camp Limerlost during the summer camping season. The camp is located at Rome City, Indiana, on Lake Sylvan and is supported by the Anthony Wayne Area Council. Mr. Lee Lane was camp director this year, making his fourth consecutive year as guide of the Limerlost camps for Boy Scouts.

Bob Rinehart, a graduate of South Side, was in complete charge of the nature study. He instructed the scouts in all handicraft related to nature. Leaf casts were made and many colorful prints of different objects in nature were made up and are now on exhibit at Scout Headquarters.

Bob Storm, an up and coming sophomore, was office clerk. At the beginning of each period, Bob would be seen laboring away trying to get each boy checked in and located for his stay at camp. Also included in Storm's duties were the keeping of many important files.

Max Tritch, a senior, piloted an eccentric truck with all its worries, as he was camp trucker. His duties were to go to Kendallville every morning and get groceries, ice, coal, and any other article that was obtainable in Kendallville. Also many things had to be bought in Fort Wayne, and if the truck would start, Max made the trip.

All leaders at camp this year were expected to report for life guard duty. But, excluding all trouble and worries, everyone enjoyed themselves.

U. S. A. To Discuss Plans for Meeting

At the next meeting of the U. S. A. Club to be held September 27, the future meetings, as well as the kind of devotions to be read, will be discussed. The committee in charge of this meeting is Evelyn Kruse, chairman; Claudine Wells, Barbara Von Gunten, and Martha Ann Bacon.

It has been decided that the Needlework Guild will meet on October 11. At this meeting, which is the service meeting of the semester, towels will be hemmed by the members. Plans for the annual membership party this year, are being made. This party will be held on October 25.

E. K. Ackerman, Boys' Secretary Leaves Y.M.C.A. For Studies

Probably one of the best-liked and most successful assistant boys-work secretary in the Fort Wayne Young Men's Christian Association resigned a week ago last Monday in order that he might take up boys' work more extensively in Chicago. He is of a rather small stature, but of pleasing personality; for, during his reign of four and one-half years, the Hi-Y Club, the organization which he devoted a great deal of time, increased from three to eight clubs. This individual, whose name is Edmund K. Ackerman, has been able to get more co-operation from high school boys than one would think possible.

Mr. Ackerman has worked very hard to get the older boys' Hi-Y Conference at Fort Wayne, finally succeeding this year, only to find that he had a chance to do the very thing for which he had been planning two years, that of furthering his education. Mr. Ackerman was offered a chance to continue his schooling at the George Williams College in Chicago and at the same time, was given the opportunity to be associated with the Englewood Branch of the Y. M. C. A. in that city. Having carefully considered the offer, Mr. Ackerman decided to take it up; he handed in his resignation, much to the surprise and regret of Fort Wayne Y. M. C. A. staff and Hi-Y members. He will take a special course in boys' work at the college and then will continue his work at Chicago. The resignation came so suddenly that Mr. John Slater, boys' secretary, said no one was being considered for the position as yet.

Mr. Ackerman came from Youngstown, Ohio, where he had been associated with the Y. M. C. A. for two years. During the four and one-half years he has been in Fort Wayne, he has formed ten model airplane clubs in the public schools, each of which has an extensive program. During the summer, rifle and historical clubs were likewise organized; the high school forums were reorganized, giving better results than had ever before been obtained.

To Mr. Ackerman goes the credit,

Social Science Is Open To Eighteen

There Is Room for Several New Members for Group; Manuel Rothberg Is Program Head.

It was announced at the first meeting of the Social Science Club, which was held last Friday night in the Greeley Room, that there is still time for eighteen students to join this club. Any person who is a junior or a senior, who has an average grade of B in history, and who does not belong to more than two other clubs, is eligible to join.

This term several of the meetings will be devoted to the discussion of the Labor and Capital problems. These will be led by appointed people. Also, there will be a number of social meetings at which entertainment such as outside speakers and various other things of interest will be presented. Manuel Rothberg has been appointed by the president of the club to take charge of the programs of all the meetings for this semester.

At the last meeting the members of Social Science all agreed to lend their services, in any possible way, to the Historical Society of our city in putting on the celebration of the one hundred fortieth anniversary of the founding of Fort Wayne.

largely, for the success of the Hi-Y clubs and high school forums of this city. The South Side Hi-Y members (it feels sure that the members of the other schools will do likewise) wish to express their sincere appreciation for the manner in which Mr. Ackerman has stood by them, offering suggestions when needed, but most of all, giving an inspiration and challenge to all the boys who were associated with him, to live fine, clean, Christian lives.

Dean's Assistants Have Various Office Duties

The girls working for Miss Martha Pittenger this semester do many small time jobs for her. They check all the health cards, run errands to the rooms in the school building, and answer the telephone and take messages. They meet the people that come into the office and find out their various needs. Those working for her are: Claudia Bowlby, Mary Wolf, Harriet Storm, Eleanor Cupp, Mary Osborn, Dorothea Nance, and Lois Magley.

Miss Pittenger finds the girls a great help and appreciates their services.

Works on Newspaper

Miss Rowena Harvey, adviser for the Times and Journalism teacher, has spent most of her time this summer working on the News-Sentinel staff. During this short period of time, she has filled vacancies. She was state editor a week, telegraph editor for two weeks, copy editor for a week, a reporter covering the Federal building for three weeks, in addition to other work. Upon asking Miss Harvey what the advantages were in doing this work, she said, "As far as education goes, I learned more than I would have in a semester of college, and I got paid besides."

In addition to the activities on the News-Sentinel staff, Miss Harvey was at the offices of the South Side and North Side papers in the evenings.

Study Hall Mistress Enjoys Her Work As Well As Students

By Harriet Yapp

As I hurried down the hall toward my destination, the study hall, I pondered on what would be the outcome of my errand and what new facts I would discover. Upon arriving, the first thing that met my eyes was a group of students gathered around Miss Montgomery's desk. She seemed very busy, so I waited a while before her attention was turned toward me.

Immediately becoming business-like, I asked her these questions, "How do you like your new work, Miss Montgomery, and won't you tell me some interesting facts about it?"

She replied thus, "I do like it very much, but I haven't had a chance to find out what it is really like because I've been so busy straightening out the seat numbers and the seats for every one who has them mixed." I laughed at this reply, for I knew what she had to contend with.

Continuing she said, "This work is much harder than the work I used to do, but I like it much better because I get to know all of the pupils and come in contact with them much more than I did working in the office."

I then asked her if she had had any funny experiences, and she replied, "Yes, some very funny ones. One day I had to drag a dog out three times before I succeeded in keeping him out. The students thought it a big joke. However, I expect things to happen like this, but the better the students act about these things, the more privileges I shall be able to give them; and I have enough confidence in them to think that they will have very good conduct in the future. I think that's all I have to say."

I thanked her for her attention and walked down the hall toward room 18 thinking how splendid it would be to have everyone carry out her wishes.

Rubber Mats Needed On School Inclines-Betty Wainwright

"I think there should be rubber mats on all the inclines," stated Betty Evelyn Wainwright, petite daughter of Jack Wainwright, South Side's music director. She has been a student at South Side since the beginning of the semester.

Betty likes our school better than the one at LaGrange because it is bigger and offers more opportunities. Her first impressions of South Side were very favorable. All her teachers are all right. She expected that she would have a hard time getting acquainted but soon discovered that it was an easy and not at all unpleasant task. As is usual with newcomers to South Side, she got lost, and occasionally felt conspicuously atomic.

Her birthday is December 6 and she is now fifteen years old. She is blonde, weighs 110 pounds, and is five feet, one inch in height. Betty is musically inclined; she plays the harp and the piano beautifully and is a talented dancer. She is now organizing a harp ensemble, and needs more harpists. It is easy work and she finds that the players she now has like playing the harp. She is a member of Student Players Club and is interested in Wranglers.

Times Display Shows Range Of Interests Covered in Pages

A portion of the recent honors awarded to the South Side Times along with many of the outstanding features of the paper are represented in a display in the covered bulletin board for the purpose of acquainting the pupils of South Side with the merits of the Times.

A placard shows that the Times has almost a perfect rating, having acquired 980 out of a possible 1000 points. Because of this our school paper is recognized as being a remarkably good paper.

A picture of the issue of the Times that won first place at the Indiana State Fair and was on display there is also displayed in the hall.

Cups being shown are the two cups of the All-American C. I. P. A. awarded for first place in the United States and a cup presented by Mr. and Mrs. William C. Rastetter to the Times for winning first place in the United States for the first time in 1923.

The displayed medals are for winning the first place in the contest by The Columbia Scholastic Press Association for the years of 1928, 1929, 1930, and 1934. Not all medals are shown.

The Indiana High School Press Association awarded certificates to the Times for the best front page makeup for a seven column paper on September 1, 1933, first place in best reporting of a single event, for winning first place in a news writing contest for the general quality of writing, first place in editorial writing contest for quality of all editorials, first place in reporting contest for general quality of reporting.

Examples of stories containing news for parents, girls' sports, boys' sports, scandals, editorials, general information, club activities and advertisements are also exhibited in the bulletin board.

Sunshine Club To Hear Miss Martha Pittenger

A meeting of the Sunshine Club will be held on October 2 in the Voorhees Room. An interesting program has been planned for the meeting. Miss Pittenger is going to give a talk on service.

Many new members are urged to come to this meeting. The members of the U. S. A. and So-Si-Y clubs are not eligible for membership. The dues per semester are only fifteen cents.

Mr. Snider Speaks To Room Agents

Importance of Times Campaign Is Brought Out by Principal; Analysis Sheets Distributed.

"I think that it is impossible for a student to get information without the Times," Mr. Snider told the students at the room agents' meeting. "The Times tells of the club meetings and also of the activities of the school. Do not talk of school loyalty to the pupils in your home room, as it is a matter of their own improvement. Go and talk to each pupil about subscribing, but do not embarrass those who can not afford to subscribe. There should be at least 1500 subscriptions for the Times."

Miss Harvey, at the end of the meeting, gave out analysis sheets to the room agents. They are to get each person's reason for not subscribing, but are not to pass the sheet around to each pupil. Miss Harvey said that if a room agent was afraid to approach a person about subscribing, he should call the person up.

She showed the room agents a picture of the Times at the State Fair. She also showed them a letter from the Quill and Scroll, which said that out of a possible 1,000 points, the Times had made 980 points in a contest.

Before the meeting adjourned, the roll call was taken; and those present received candy bars.

North Side To Tackle Auburn Friday Night

North Side's vaunted Redskins will encounter the Auburn Red Devils on the North Side gridiron this Friday. North Side is expected to win this clash, but it is certain that they will have plenty of opposition. So far this season the Redskins have won one game and tied one. They won their opening game with South of Lima, Ohio, by the score of 27 to 0. Their second game with Goshen ended in a 19 to 19 tie. The Red Devils have already tasted defeat. They fell before the onslaughts of the powerful Decatur Yellow Jackets by a score of 13 to 6.

The Redskins clinched a 19 to 19 tie with the Goshen near-veteran eleven under the North Side gridiron floodlights Friday night. North Side presented plenty of offensive power but weakened under the Goshen line, which averages about 170 pounds, in several critical moments of the game. Part of the game was played in a drizzling rain. The fans had plenty of thrills in the last half of the game when five of the six touchdowns of the game were scored.

North Side's schedule in football for the rest of the season follows:

- October 5—Central Catholic.
- October 13—Central.
- October 17—Decatur.
- October 27—South Side.
- November 3—Columbia City.

William Kozma Heads Tennis Tournament

Under the supervision of William Kozma, South Side's annual intramural fall tennis tournament got under way last Thursday evening at Weisser Park. Bill has had charge of several intramural tennis tournaments and is expected to run this one off in fine shape, if the weather permits. Mr. Louis Briner has reserved three courts at Weisser Park for Thursday and Friday evenings of this week and hopes to have the tournament finished by Friday evening.

Last year's fall heavyweight champion, Bob Dent, has graduated; so a new champ will be crowned this year. Hubert Klopfenstein, who won the lightweight championship last fall, is still in school and will endeavor to win his second straight tournament.

South Side Archers Are Held To Scoreless Tie by Decatur

Inability of the Archers to click in the pinches and the excellent kicking on the part of Walther of Decatur were the biggest factors which kept the Green Wave from crossing the Yellow Jacket goal line in their scoreless battle last Saturday at the South Side field.

Fumbles at the critical points of the game and several big penalties broke up sustained Archer drives from their own territory. No less than five great opportunities to score were thrown to the winds in the course of the game. Although the Green Wave scored a total of twelve first downs, they lacked the drive and the teamwork to break through the stubborn Decatur defence when yards meant scores.

Whenever the Kelly Klads were lacking a number of yards for a first down but were too deep in Decatur territory to punt, they resorted to their much-heralded passing attack. Although this was successful in mid-field, the attack was a failure against the opponents' defense deep in their territory. The Green literally filled the air with passes, tossing sixteen of them in their desperate attempts to score. Of these, six were completed, and one more was declared complete because of Decatur interference, giving the Green one of their scoring chances. However, Decatur intercepted four tosses when they needed possession of the ball badly.

Decatur Is Tough
Decatur appears to have one of the toughest teams in the history of the school, with a heavy line and a good defensive backfield. Saturday was the first time in the long competition between the two schools that a Decatur squad was able to even so much as tie a South Side team.

Coach Welborn started a mixture of his first and second string players, apparently not expecting such stiff competition from the opponents. With time forced back to their own eighteen yard line on a southern punt, after Walther had been hurried into a poor punt a few minutes earlier. Later in the first period, Walther got off another poor punt which sailed only to his own thirty-yard stripe. At this point several more of the first string were inserted into the lineup, and the Green immediately began a march which was ended by a fumble recovered by the Purple and Gold on their 47-yard line. The quarter ended with Decatur having fourth down and one yard to go in South Side territory.

Kessler Makes Gains
To start the second period, the Yellow Jackets failed to make first down on a plunge through the line. South Side took the ball and immediately opened up a wide hole in the line through which Kessler raced, then turned down the right side lines, and was finally brought down on the Decatur thirty-three by the last man in his path to a touchdown. He soon scored another first down for the Green and then topped off his sudden burst by uncorking a pass to Lee on the twelve-yard mark for the third straight down. The Yellow Jackets took the ball on downs on their own three-yard line and punted out of danger. Shortly after, Simon tossed a pass to Lee to put the leather close to the opposition's goal. However, a fumble spoiled the opportunity; and the half ended a few minutes later with the Green in possession of the ball on the ten-yard stripe.

Fred Lentz was the individual star for the Archers in the second half. He repeatedly tore through the line for sizeable gains and a good many first downs. However, it was not until near the end of the period that the Kelly Klads got another real scoring opportunity. A South Side pass was called complete when Decatur interfered with the receiver. This put the ball on the seven-yard stripe. But the Green was set back fifteen yards on the next play for having men in motion before the ball was flipped from center. Just before the quarter ended, Simon tossed a pass to George, who was nailed on the 9-yard line.

Walther Again Stars

However, Decatur took the ball on downs and Walther again saved the day for his team by punting out of danger immediately after the start of the final quarter. Near the close of the game, the Green got off a nice kick and the receiver was nailed near his own goal. The Archers rushed the punt by the Purple and Gold, and it went only to the 17-yard mark.

At this point Ed Ginn was inserted into the game to try a drop-kick as a last resort. He dropped back to the twenty-five yard line and bounced the ball off the goal post on the outside; however, Decatur was offside on the play and Ginn got another chance five yards closer. Bad luck again dogged the Archers, and the kick went wide.

Simon, however, had another good shot left in his bag for a final assault on the goal. The Green a little later uncorked a long pass to Fowler at left end. The ball slipped through his outstretched fingers and the last chance was gone. Had Fowler been able to stretch a little farther, he probably would have scored.

Excitement At Close
Excitement was provided in plenty until the very last as Lohman passed to Kessler, who was stopped on the forty-yard line as the gun went off. Although not trying to make excuses, it seems that hard luck had a lot to do with the outcome of the game for the Welbornites.

Starting lineup and summary follows:

Roop	LG.....Meyers

Purpose of Physical Examination Is Cited

Physical examinations are given every student in South Side each year. The purpose of these examinations is to make students realize the importance of a yearly check-up on their health. It is hoped by our school doctor that, when pupils are out of school, they will visit their family physician each year thereby saving themselves much trouble and grief. Dr. Werner Duemling is the school doctor in South Side.

The two functions of the school doctor are: To exclude from school all students who have a contagious disease and to give a yearly examination to each student in the school. Those students participating in competitive athletics are given a more comprehensive examination than others. Marvelous results have been seen from the repeated calling of attention to defects. Some students receive as many as twelve of these valuable examinations a year.

The school doctor may not prescribe for a student. He may only offer his opinion and suggest that the student should see his family doctor.

Goal Dust
Several skull practices have been held by the team after dinner to clear up any points that need to be clarified.

Due to the great number of fumbles Saturday, the backs are spending quite a lot of time in practicing handling the ball.

Last Sunday eighteen members of the team, including Lundy, went to Detroit to witness the opening game of the National Professional League. The Detroit Lions and the New York Giants were playing. Detroit won 9 to 0. Several members of the Detroit team were at Camp Croswley with South Side's team. The Detroit team wore blue jerseys and socks, with white satin pants. The New York team wore red and white suits. The feature of the game was Harry Newman's 50-yard run on the kickoff.

Last Wednesday, the first and second teams split up into two equal teams. The team led by Fred Myers, midget quarterback, won 13-6.

The team is spending quite a bit of practice on forward pass defense. Because of the new rules, many passes will be thrown. Ed Ginn came within an ace of making his drop-kick good, which would have won the game for South Side. Tough luck, Ed.

During the game, South Side accumulated penalties amounting to fifty-five yards and fumbled five times. Let's get together, team.

Fred Meyers, diminutive Archer quarterback, received an injured leg in the game, Saturday. Too bad, Freddie.

Coach Lundy Welborn is going to make a few changes in his lineup in order to speed up its offense.

South Side is mighty tough on defense. Decatur didn't threaten the goal. Let's get just as tough on offense, Gang.

Operators Obtain Licenses
In South Side there are three licensed amateur radio operators. Their names are Robert Schriefer, Paul Reynolds, and Lowell Hagan. They operate short wave stations W9SKA, W9SKE, and W9PWP respectively. To obtain an amateur license, one must pass a very intricate test on his knowledge of radio and the continental code.

G.A.A. Expects To Have Good Games Friday

Present Tilts Will Have To Be Considered for Tournament Because Season Is Too Short.

"The games we are playing now are really only practice games; but because the season is short, we shall have to use them in the tournament. The first games look pretty good so we expect to have an exceptionally good season," stated Miss Alice Patterson when she was asked about the hockey games.

Miss Margaret Speigle, a former South Side student, who is a graduate from Ohio Wesleyan University, is acting as an assistant to Miss Patterson on the hockey field.

The sophomore girls were under a disadvantage as these are the first hockey games they have played; but while none of them made any scores they played good defensive games.

The Senior 2 team defeated the Sophomore 4 team 6 to 0. Vera Fremion was very active for the senior team and scored four goals for them. B. Rhinehold made two goals for the senior team also.

The Junior 2 defeated the Sophomore 2. B. Rison the captain of Junior 2 made two goals in the first half and one in the second half. M. Hobbcock scored one goal for the Juniors in the first half making the score 4-0 for the Juniors.

Although the Sophomore 2 team headed by M. Hoff played a very good game, B. Rison of the Junior 2 team succeeded in getting a goal making the score 1 to 0 in favor of Junior 2.

Dorothy Crabill was the outstanding player in the game between the Junior 3 and Sophomore 1. Dorothy made two goals for the Junior 3 team, and C. Klenke made one goal making the score 3-0 for Junior 3 team.

The score was 2-0 in a hard game between the Junior 4 and Soph 1. J. Park and M. J. Redding each made a goal in the first half, but both teams failed to score in the second half.

The Senior 1 team defeated the Junior 1 team 3-1. R. Disler, supported by the Senior 1 team, scored two goals and E. Cupp made one goal. M. Hower made one goal for the Junior 1 team.

Central Will Play Central Catholic

Tigers, Having Won Both Games This Season, Are Favorites In Initial City Series Battle.

Central's Tigers and Central Catholic's Fighting Irish will tangle in the season's first city series engagement next Saturday afternoon at the North Side athletic field. Both teams have shown plenty of power already this year, and the game should turn out to be a battle from start to finish.

Although the Irish have won only one game in their three attempts, they have given their opponents plenty to worry about before the final gun. In the first battle against Decatur, they scored a touchdown in the final quarter but failed on the point, only to have the Yellow Jackets come back to score a touchdown and a point before the close of the game. They defeated Portland the following week, however, and last week held the St. Hedwidge team of South Bend to a scoreless tie. Due to the timekeeper's error the first quarter lasted fifty minutes instead of the regulation fifteen. The official took time out all the while the ball was not in actual motion. The Barrettmen threatened to score in this quarter but were stopped within inches of the goal.

The Tigers have met with better luck so far, scoring a win over Columbia City two weeks ago and administering a decisive 13-6 victory over the powerful Elkhart aggregation last Saturday evening at Elkhart. The Bengals pushed over two touchdowns in the second period in rapid succession and were pressing hard for another score at the final gun.

On the other hand Central Catholic will be out to avenge a 20-12 defeat at the hands of the Tigers last year. The Irish probably will resort to their formidable passing attack which bothered the Bengals so much in their last engagement. Although Mendenhall's men have a decided advantage in weight, the Irish should give the Tigers all they can handle and may even emerge with a victory.

Archers To Inaugurate Games On Road With Mishawaka

Maroons Show Strong Team For This Year

Opponent's Gridders Made Up of Many Veterans; Have Good Aerial Attack.

Welbornites Are Drilling On Faults

Lundy Strives Especially To Improve Offense; George Displays Punting Ability.

Inaugurating their first road trip of this season, the South Side gridders will travel to Mishawaka this Saturday to tackle the always strong Maroons of that city.

The Mishawaka team, according to advance information, is plenty tough, as usual. Their first team is made up almost entirely of veterans with two or three years' experience. Their line is of about the same average weight as the Archer forward wall, and their backfield is exceedingly fast and powerful. They have also shown evidence this season of possessing a powerful aerial attack and our team will have won a well deserved victory if they come out on the long end of the score. In the encounter between these teams last season they battled through a hard-fought tilt to a 6 to 6 tie.

The Archerites are hard at work this week in preparation for this tilt with the Maroons, who will probably put up some of the toughest opposition that the Green Wave will go up against this season. Lundy Welborn has been holding long practice sessions daily, and a few black-board sessions are also in store for the Kelly Klads.

Lundy Works on Defense

Lundy is working especially hard on his offense after its failure to score against the Decatur Yellow Jackets last Saturday. Several times the Archers were within the ten yard line, but tumbles and penalties prevented a score. Lundy is also attempting to improve the aerial attack. This department of the offensive failed dismally Saturday and calls for a lot of improvement. The tilt with Decatur marks only the second game in three seasons that the Archers have failed to score while employing the Notre Dame system.

Several new prospects were discovered in the Decatur game. The feature of these is Brower George, whose magnificent punting kept the Green out of danger throughout the game. George should develop into an excellent punter. His appearance in this role seems to fill one of the most apparent weaknesses of the team. The center of the line proved its ability under fire when they held the powerful Decatur forward wall throughout the game.

Bill Wilson, second string guard, also showed promise during the time he was in action Saturday, and he will probably be playing quite often during the remainder of the season. Fred Lenz played his usual game, but his mates were unable to open holes for him in the Decatur line. Harrison Simon ran back the Decatur punts very well; and without these dashes by our quarterback the team would have probably found themselves with their backs to their goal in several occasions.

Starting Lineup Uncertain

The starting lineup against Mishawaka is very uncertain. Lundy was disappointed with the showing of the team against Decatur and has threatened a general change in his entire lineup. George, Straley, Ostermeyer, and Ellenwood will probably retain their positions on the line. The guard as yet unfilled. The changes will be made mostly in the backfield. Lenz and Simon are fairly certain to see action at their regular posts during most of the game. The players who will fill the half-back positions seem to be the biggest question. Fowler, Lee, Parmalee, and Ginn, however, are almost certain to see action.

After the encounter with the powerful Mishawaka squad, the Archerites will encounter the elevens of Peru and Culver on their extended road trip. Peru will be just as powerful as usual and will probably be a little too tough for our team. The Circus City eleven is comprised mostly of veterans, and they will put up plenty of opposition for the Green. Culver is a new opponent on the Green Wave's schedule. The academy always put out a good eleven, and they have registered several defeats against other Fort Wayne teams in the past few seasons.

Boys Help Mr. Davis During Football Season

During football season a number of boys help Mr. Davis. Some boys record the score on the scoreboard, while other boys keep track of the downs and yards. Other boys flash the yardage and downs, to the boys on the scoreboard. The boys working are Donald Armstrong, John Edwards, Robert Funderburg, Bill Geyer, Robert Lehman, Miller Makey, Eugene McKay, Louis Rhoads, Sam Rea, Aaron Schoenefeld, Doyle Springer, and Jerry Zehr. The boys working for Mr. Davis are admitted free of charge to the game.

Educating the Toes

Ed Ginn, whose educated toe has furnished many a point for the Archer gridders, is shown giving some pointers on his art to Harrison Simon, first string quarterback, kneeling, and Bud Lee and Bob Lohman, standing behind Simon. All four have been doing a lot of kicking practice and adding greatly to the scoring ability of the Green Wave.

Booster Club Aides Decorate Stadium

Railing on West Side of Wall Being Painted Green and White to Eliminate Wrapping.

Many people have noticed the improvements in the Stadium which have been the result of the efforts and hard work of the Booster Club. The students on the decoration committee of the Booster Club have been working very hard during the past week painting the rail on the West side of the stadium.

The reason for the Booster Club's sudden desire to paint the rail is that on Saturday morning it takes about one hour to wrap them with crepe paper. Then as soon as the gates are open some energetic people who desire to add their artistic touch to the decorations destroy the hard work of the decorators. In painting the rails there will be a permanent finish of green and white alternating so as to give a striped appearance.

The sign on the southwest corner of the stadium is to be painted, also the janitors are intending to paint the railing on the other side of the stadium.

The Booster Club would appreciate if the students would help keep the stadium looking attractive after the improvements have been made. It would also be appreciated if the students would leave the decorations up until after the game.

The people to whom the credit is due are as follows: Edythe Thornton, Berneta McIntosh, Eleanor Cupp, Clarice Fyock, Marie Wolf, Miller Makey, and Jim Clapper.

Lettermen's Club Plans To Hold Weiner Bake

The Lettermen's Club held its first meeting of the year last Friday with Gordon Straley presiding. Members present were Gordon Straley, Fred Ostermeyer, Bob Willson, Chuck Stone, Jack Snyder, Harrison Simon, Ed Ginn, and Jim Ellenwood.

The club discussed plans and means to raise money for the treasury. One suggestion was to sell the Archer stamp for automobile windows, which was selected as the best plan.

Also the club discussed what would be done at future meetings. It was decided to have the various members give talks on interesting football games or players.

The club also decided to have a weiner bake sometime after the Mishawaka game. Again the Lettermen's Club will carry on its useful plans of beautifying the school and school lawn.

If it isn't one Ruhl, it's the other. Last week Margery Ruhl and Winifred Locker were to play Edna Disler and Betty Harnish in tennis. Winnie couldn't play, so they played without her. Margery then proceeded to take the match 2-6, 6-2, 6-2. Some girl!

Mary Snyder is an industrious person. She is knitting a sweater for her letter. We'll be watching for it, Mary.

Ursula Morton and Alice Mae Siebold had a hard time in tennis. Ursula beat Alice Mae the first set 8-6, and then they stopped. The next time the set score was 7-7, and it got too dark to play. Better luck next time, girls.

The Student Leaders certainly had a fine time on their picnic up at Rome City. They played Hare and Hound, swam, hiked, rowed, and, of course, had a grand feast.

Well, the hockey tournament is under way. So far there have been some pretty good games. Maybe they were even as good as some seen by Miss Patterson during vacation. Who knows?

The G. A. A. has cause for great rejoicing; it's president, Martha Baumgartner, is back in school. Congratulations, Marty, for your rapid recovery.

Vivian Hickman stretched her limbs last Sunday and went swimming at Lake James. She said that, although the water was cold, she had a grand time.

The freshman doubles tennis tournament is over. Mary Ellen Blauvelt and Charlotte Krimmel were defeated by Marcia Roop, whose partner didn't play. It must have been some match. Score was 3-6, 6-2, 8-6.

Betty Harnish and Lorraine Heuer surely were early birds last week. They played tennis at 7 a. m. Harnish won 6-2, 6-0.

Betty Rison played a splendid game of hockey last Friday. Her opponents just melted when she went after them. Some girl!

New Grid Rulings Make Smaller Ball

Circumference Less, But Length Same; Five-Yard Penalty for Incomplete Passes Eliminated.

Two new rules have been given to football this year. One concerns the size of the ball; the other, passing. Both were designed to open up the game, which means more passing and scoring. The move was made to please the spectators and players alike.

The new ball is the same length as the old one, but it is an inch smaller in circumference. It is supposed to be easier to pass than the old "pigskin."

The new passing rule makes it possible to pass any number of times without the five-yard penalty for two incomplete passes as formerly. Last year a team lost possession of the ball if it missed a pass over the goal line. This fall a team doesn't lose the "pigskin" until the second incomplete pass falls over the opponents' goal line.

Girls' Rifle Club Meets For Election of Officers

Election of officers featured the meeting of the Girls Rifle Club held on Wednesday, September 19th. Betty Rayl was elected secretary and Helen Anderson, treasurer. Other officers elected to offices were Maxine Borchert, range officer, and Rosanne Certia, Inter Club Congress representative.

Clarice Rudy joined the Girls' Rifle Club this semester. Several other girls present at the meeting are interested in joining the club. The present members of the club showed the new girls the rifle range and explained about the dues to them. The dues for the first semester are fifty cents. Twenty-five cents of this goes to the National Junior Rifle Association as dues. The dues for the second semester is twenty-five cents.

The club will hold its next meeting on October 3. The girls will shoot at this meeting. Miss Rosemary Delaney is the faculty adviser of the Girls' Rifle Club.

Jack Torrance, 280-pound Louisiana State shotputter, who is now keeping the International Amateur Athletic Federation busy accepting his record-breaking marks around the 58-foot point, was defeated in his first varsity competition by a man who tossed the shot only 39 feet.

Perhaps I shall be stoned, tarred, and feathered as a heretic, but it seems that the manner in which the members of the Pro-All-Star football teams are selected is extremely unfair to the professionals. The present method brings the pick of the nation's amateurs against the winning team in the money players' league. It would be much fairer to pit the winner of the Rose Bowl game against the best pro team or the pick of the amateurs against the best individuals in the National Football League's ranks.

No doubt you've all heard of the Dean boys, Jerome and Paul (Dizzy and Slightly Dizzy) on the St. Louis Cardinal baseball team. But there is another Dean working at Sportsman Park, "Elmer the Great" by name. Elmer once had a tryout in organized baseball, but decided he would make a much better "goober" salesman. He has now reached the heights of success in the peanut-butter business, that of working a big-league park.

One likely reason for the teamwork of the league-leading Detroit Tigers is that ten of the squad formerly played with the same minor league organization, Beaumont of the Texas League. Carl Hubbell of the New York Giants may face "Schoolboy" Rowe in the World's Series. Both are from Beaumont. This leaves only two other major leaguers who claim Texas as their home.

Another sports fanatic. While with Commander Peary's north pole expedition in 1909, Major A. P. Simmonds, famous tennis umpire, became the only man to play this major sport within the Arctic Circle. He used a snowshoe as a racquet to hit tennis balls against an igloo. And I thought I was slightly daffy over the game!

Plugs Defeated By Cats In First Intramural Tilt

Opening the 1934 Intramural tag football season last Friday, the Cats defeated the Plugs, 13-6. Lahrman passed to Wiley for the first Cat touchdown. Wiley passed to Nussbaum for their second touchdown. Lahrman scored the extra Cat point by a drop kick. Rastetter passed to Strader for the only Plug score.

In the second game of the evening, the Red Devils won over the Bears by the same score as the previous game, 13-6. Running back the opening kickoff for a touchdown, Garrett tallied the first Red Devil score. Taking the ball for a thirty-five yard end run, Kreider scored the second touchdown for the winners. Leija passed to Feichter for the extra point.

Did you hear about the Scotchman who poured hot water down his chickens' throats, so they would lay hard-boiled eggs.

Senior Doubles Champs Named In Tennis Tilts

Ida Mae Frazell and Jean Kirby Win; Freshman Is Winner Without Partner.

Ida Mae Frazell and Jean Kirby are the tennis champions in the senior doubles divisions. Aldena Disler and Rowena Bevington claim the junior championship having defeated Rosanne Certia and Evelyn Clauser 3-6, 6-3, 7-5; and Lorraine Meyer and Betty Lindenborg 6-0, 6-4 in the semi-finals and finals, respectively.

The sophomore championship stands between Leona Menze, Margaret Ruhl and Marjorie Ruhl and Winifred Locker. In the freshman tournament, an unusual occurrence happened when Marcella Roop won a match single-handed with the scores of 6-3, 6-2, 6-8.

Singles Are Starting
In the singles, the tournament is not quite as far along. The winner for the seniors stands between Sue Cameron and Ursula Morton. Aldena Disler and Dorothy Crabill will battle it out for the junior championship.

The sophomores have left yet Marjorie and Margaret Ruhl, Leona Menze and Betty Harnish. Mary Ellen Blauvelt, Charlotte Krimmel and Betty Cross will decide the freshman championship.

Most of the matches this season have been very well played. The student leaders have been umpiring the games, which should be appreciated by all the girls participating in the tournament.

Freshmen Learning Speedball

Although the freshmen are still busy learning the fundamentals of speedball and the various positions on the field, the tournament promises to be a very interesting one. Team 2, captained by Barbara Raymond, defeated team 1 with a score of 1-0. In the second game between team 3 and team 4, both teams failed to score. The members of the teams are:

- Team 1—Betty Eisenbacker, Redding, Crumm, Gross, Steinbarger, Rentschen, Horst, Blum, Schneider, Persing, Ellenwood.
- Team 2—Barbara Raymond, Forker, Afollder, Beck, Buesking, Coats, Esler, Garton, Rarrick, Roop, Walker.
- Team 3—Mary Ellen Blauvelt, Kennedy, Fries, Shepler, Krimmel, Koller, Phillips, Requinot, Slaten, Koop, Kern.
- Team 4—Katherine Moring, Winters, Welkart, Peters, Telly, Roe, McAtee, High, Morrison, Meese, Hartman.

So-Si-Y Member To Serve On Committees

Club Divided Into Groups For Programs; Chairmen Chosen for Each Meeting.

The So-Si-Y meeting held Tuesday was followed by a party for all paid members. Martha Baumgartner announced the members of her service committee. They are Betty Medaris, Mary Schaefer, Evelyn Clauser, Betty Rison, Faye Bechtold, and Ruth Reitz. The whole club was divided into six committees, one for each coming meeting; and each committee chose a chairman. These chairmen are Pat Tarney, Martha Baumgartner, Emily Gardner, Mary Schaefer, Virginia Beck, and Dorothea Nance. They, along with the executive committee of the club, will meet Tuesday in Miss Rinehart's room, to plan the Faculty Halloween Tea to be held October 23.

The committee in charge of the next meeting will meet October 2 in Miss Smeltzley's room to plan the program. This committee is composed of Pauline Crabb, Mary Anne Park, Martha Franz, Mildred Hoerner, Catherine Hirschman, Audrey Fels, Justine Crum, Harriet Basford, Arleth Carvin, Helen Heikowsky, June Haeger, and Irene Becker, with Dorothea Nance as chairman.

Jack Beemer, accompanied by Jane Kimble at the piano, sang for the club. The executive committee of all Y. W. C. A. clubs in the city will hold a pot-luck October 4, at the Y. W. C. A. These executive committees are composed of all the club officers.

In order to decorate the Y. W. C. A. for the Community Chest Drive, all girls were asked to take flowers there yesterday and today.

The next meeting of the So-Si-Y will be held October 9 in the Greeley Room. The theme of the meeting is "Servicing Our Plane."

French Provinces Club Theme Today

Alsace and Lorraine To Be Discussed by French Club; Pins To Be Awarded Best Workers.

The next meeting of the French Club will be held this afternoon in the Greeley Room. The program will consist of two talks, one will be given by Betty Medaris about the province of Lorraine and the other will be given by Ruth Jones about the province of Alsace.

A committee met in Miss Perkins' room Thursday, September 21, to arrange a point system for the members of the French Club, whereby points will be given to any of the members who do work for the club. At the end of the year a certain percentage having the highest number of points will receive a French Club pin.

On this committee are the following: Carabelle Chenoweth, Alice Hulse, Betty Brothers, Phyllis Graham, Eleanor Cupp, Charlene Davis, Margaret Sowers, Albert Bidelot, Lloyd Grodrian, Frank Montgomery, Jack Dawson, John Bremer, and Dick Rienke.

R. Nelson Snider Emphasizes Efficient Care of Club Rooms

"Clubs convening in the various meeting rooms must be responsible for the general appearance of the club-room and of the furniture with which it is equipped," stated R. Nelson Snider, principal. "Each extra-curricular organization should have a committee that will work after the meeting to put things in order," he continued.

"There should be no more furniture than is needed in the rooms at any time. If extra equipment is used during the meeting, this should be put away as soon as the club has adjourned," said Mr. Snider. He emphatically stated that equipment cannot be taken from the club rooms without special permission from him. Mr. Snider also said club members make too much noise in the halls before the meeting begins. He declared this noise disturbed many people and, therefore, would have to be stopped.

Phil Green: "Why are North Side halls bigger than ours?"
Bud Schrom: "I'll bite."
Phil Green: "Because there are more feet in them."

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

Mr. Furst's bookkeeping 2 classes are studying cash discount on purchases and sales and the columnar cash book.

Miss Rehorst's home room class elected Henry Brandt, chairman; and Doris Bennett, secretary.

Constance Haag was the first one in Miss Woodward's 10B class to report on a collateral reading book. The one she read and reported on was "The City of Seven Hills."

Miss Van Gorder's fourth period history class had a program in honor of Constitution Day. The committee consisted of Marjorie Paetz, Kenneth Secht, Dale Shupe, and Rosemary Shea.

Miss Kiefer's English 8 class has finished the study of English literature from the Anglo-Saxon to the Elizabethan period. This week they begin the study of Milton. Her English 6 classes have just finished outlining the essay "The Evolution of a Gentleman," and will write original essays on the gentleman of today.

A test in geometry 1 was given by Miss Thorne on construction work.

Dorothea Nance, Margaret Murphy, John Gerding, and Bill Geyer are members of the Speakers Bureau in Miss Thorne's home room.

Miss Dochterman is quite enthusiastic about the work of the first three weeks. She says that she has never received such a quantity of unusual work in the first three weeks of school before.

In Miss Mott's home room, Max Triteh told about his trip with the Sea Scouts into Canada. While there, he participated in a canoeing trip down the Whitefish River.

The mathematics department had a departmental test over unit 1 in algebra 1 on Tuesday.

The 9B's in Mr. Bex's classes polished different kinds of wood. The wood must be sanded well, filled, shellacked, resanded, varnished, sanded, and then polished by hand. Oak, mahogany, cypress, cedar, poplar, and various other types of wood are being used. Each wood needs a different type of finish.

Mr. Bex's classes of 10B's are working in the general metal shop. There is machine shop work, forge shop work, sheet metal work, cold metal work (bending, twisting, and forging), plumbing, and foundry work.

Four pupils have been added to Mr. Flint's home room. They are Helen Coomler, Richard Pett, John Siberell, and Rose Mary Shea.

In Miss Magley's English classes three people have finished at last fifteen points in outside reading. They are Virginia Fathauer, Paul Sutterlin, and Constance Haag.

Miss Paxton's class in college algebra contains 30 pupils, one of the largest she has ever had. There are five boys named Robert in this class and only two girls.

In a recent test in college algebra given by Miss Paxton, James Coffee, Garland Eickmeyer, and Lloyd Grodrian got A's.

Miss Paxton's algebra 1 classes are completing their work in factoring.

The pupils in Miss Fiedler's algebra 1 classes had the opportunity to make 142 points in assignments during the week. Lenor Stephenson was the only one to make a perfect score. Lillian Gunzenhauser, Katherine Simminger, and Mariette Walburn made 141 points; Byron Findley, Norman Stoller, and Dorwin Stanley made 140 points; and 139 points were made by Helen Cox, Richard Woehr, and Joan Bonsib.

The five civics classes of Mr. Wilson are making haste slowly in their study of the Constitution; but it seems that it is beginning to penetrate some of the pupils' craniums. A test covering this work will be given soon.

On Friday, 180 students in Miss Smeltzley's general history 1 classes are to hand in their World maps.

Mr. Voorhees' botany classes are collecting and learning from fifteen to thirty weeds. This week they will have a test on them. The weeds will be mounted, and the pupils will have to name them.

The students in Miss Smeltzley's general history 1 classes have completed two pre-test exams.

In Miss Smeltzley's general history 1 classes, Don Sparkman made a drawing of the Early Egyptian home and the modern American home. It has been posted on the bulletin board in room 6.

Hot Dog 'Burn' Held By the German Club Members Last Night

"Now look what you did! How can I eat that with all those ashes on there," cried a fair young lady last evening about 5 o'clock.

"Mine's burnt like charcoal!," exclaimed a hungry young gentleman, as he placed this "charcoal" between two pieces of baked substance (in other words, a bun). Then spreading a spoonful of spicy mustard on it, took a big bite with complete satisfaction.

These quotations were heard at the German Club's wiener bake held last evening at Foster Park. Several games were played before and after the actual bake. There was plenty of food for everyone. Food consisted of wieners and buns, pickles and olives, bananas and apples, and everything that goes with a good wiener bake.

Miss Clara Schmidt, the sponsor of the club, and Miss Pittenger, dean of the girls, acted as chaperones.

Notices To Be Run Twice in Bulletins

Club notices may be run in the bulletin not more than twice a week. All club notices are run in the bulletin on Monday and in addition club meets. The notice may be written by anybody in the club, but it must be signed by the faculty adviser. Mr. Snider said they might run the notices as they did last year.

Junior-Math To Have Pot-luck for Halloween

Miss Paxton, in the place of Mr. Alvaro Ferlini, talked on the mathematics of the Romans to the Junior-Math Club at the meeting held Tuesday in the Voorhees Room.

Mathematics of the Oriental Indians will be discussed in the meeting of October 9. The initiation will also be on that date. This meeting will be planned by the old members of the club.

The pot-luck will be in the form of a Halloween party on October 23. Maxine Rippe appointed Charles Thorne, chairman, and N. M. Bradberry and M. Clayton to take care of the plans for the party.

Maxine Rippe appointed R. Morton chairman, H. Meyer and B. Horstmeier for the membership committee. The publicity committee is made up of P. Gerding, chairman; E. Wallace, and C. Haag.

Lost Coin Claimed

Fred Beelby was very much relieved when he learned his valuable coin had been found. This senior boy had evidently dropped his treasure in Miss Hazel Miller's wastepaper basket when paying for a textbook he had purchased. The coin, which he had kept as a token of good luck, was found later that day by a janitor. Miss Miller had asked several boys if they were the owner of the rare coin but was unable to find its owner until Fred read the last week's Times and claimed it.

Student Players Club Election To Be Friday

Faculty Adviser To Play in "Biography," To Be Given Soon by Old Fort Players.

Election of officers for the Student Players' Club for this semester is to be held during the second, third, fourth, and fifth periods tomorrow. Those who do not take dramatics during these periods will have to vote in between the periods. All members must vote.

The regular meeting for the club will be held on Friday, October 26. The program committee which has been chosen for this term consists of the following: Betty Erick, program chairman; Clayton Kilpatrick, Ann Abbott and Bob Blomker.

Miss Marjorie Suter, faculty adviser, was awarded a wrist watch for turning in the largest amount of cash for the tickets sold by the Old Fort Players. These season tickets are still on sale for two dollars and fifty cents. There are nine tickets included in the book, and Miss Suter says that two people may go together in buying the season ticket in order to save money.

Miss Suter will be in a play given by the Old Fort Players on September 28, 29, and 30, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday nights respectively. The curtain rises at 8:30 o'clock. Reservations for this play will be made on Wednesday evening. The title of the play is "Biography" written by S. H. Burham. Miss Suter plays the part of "Minnie," the German Maid. The people on the cast are the following: Frances Hall, who played for 37 years with Wright Company Players and is the wife of Arthur Kohl; Marjorie Suter; Juliette Wilson, who played in "A Prince There Was"; Howard Crise, who graduated from South Side; James Stouder; Charles Buckmaster; and Mr. Gray. Mr. Herbert Butterfield is directing.

Meterites Assemble For Unique Program

Miss Suzanne Peck, faculty adviser of the Meterite Club, explained to the new members the purpose of the club. She also told of a skating party at Bell's Rink to be scheduled for the near future.

The program was turned over to Virginia Fathauer and Mary Jane Waggoner. Beatrice Fudge gave a biography of a famous dancer, Ann Pavlova. Mary Louise Helms gave a biography of Madam Schumann Heink. Julia Crabb spoke on Marian Tally, a famous singer. After the talks, Jacqueline Hench gave a tap dance. She was dressed as a soldier. She was accompanied by Eleanor White. Following the dance, games were played.

Late Col. D. N. Foster Active In Business and Civic World

One of Fort Wayne's most prominent citizens, Colonel D. N. Foster, died Thursday, September 15, at 5 p. m.

Having attained the age of 93, this civic leader and Civil War officer died at his home, 902 West Rudisill Boulevard, after being ill three weeks.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at the residence, and at the First Presbyterian Church. Burial was at the Lindenwood Cemetery.

Mr. Foster was born April 24, 1841, in Coldenham, Orange County, New York. At the age of 14, he ventured to New York City and obtained a job as bundle boy in a dry goods store. When he was 18 years old, he formed the retail dry goods firm of Foster Brothers in New York City in partnership with his brother, Scott.

In Civil War
At the outbreak of the Civil War, Colonel Foster was the first man to enlist in the Union army from Orange County. He became a private in the Ninth New York State Militia, and later was advanced to corporal, sergeant, and lieutenant. He was captain at the time of his discharge from the army, due to wounds, after three years of active service.

In 1877, Mr. Foster went to Grand Rapids, Michigan, where he established a newspaper known as the Saturday Evening Post. Foster Brothers Dry Goods Store had established a branch at Fort Wayne, so he sold his paper and settled in Fort Wayne, which then had a population of 16,500 people.

Colonel Foster did much in aiding Fort Wayne's expansion. In 1891 he organized the Fort Wayne Land and Improvement Company, which converted a historic old apple orchard into the residential section of Lakeside. Mr. Foster aided in the organization of the Tri-State Loan & Trust Company, Wayne Knitting Mills, Lincoln National Bank, Lincoln Trust Company, Fort Wayne Hotel Company, and the Commercial Improvement Company, which developed the city's west side into an industrial section. He also was president of the Fort Wayne & Erie Railroad.

Colonel Foster was an active supporter of hospital work as well as the Better Business Bureau, Fort Wayne Art School and Isaac Walton League. He also aided in the movement to build the present Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. buildings.

Supporter of Hospitals
Colonel Foster's acceptance of the presidency of the Allen County-Fort Wayne Historical Society is considered one of his outstanding civic services during more recent years. Largely through his influence and efforts, this society obtained permanent quarters in the former Thomas W. Swinney homestead in Swinney Park.

Archers To Tackle Peru Under Floodlights Friday Night

Green's Team Hopes To Win In Easy Battle

South Siders Expect To Come Out of Slump by Beating Weak Opponent.

Circus City Eleven Is Unimpressive

Welbornite Squad Continues To Work for Improvement in Offensive Dept.

Hoping to come out of their present slump, South Side's Archers will go to Peru this Friday night to tackle the Peru Gridders under the flood lights there. South Side is favored to win this tilt against what is considered to be one of the poorest teams that Peru has had for several seasons.

Peru has been defeated several times already this season. Technical of Indianapolis ran up over 50 points against them, and they also suffered a decisive defeat at the hands of Warsaw.

Peru Is Light

The team is exceptionally light and inexperienced.

South Side's gridders showed that they still possess plenty of power in their encounter with Mishawaka. They played a fair defensive game, but once again their weakness in the offense was the deciding factor in the determining of the winner of the fray. Coach Welborn is continuing his work on the offensive this week, and he hopes to get it clicking as it should. The passing attack has been the most consistent ground gainer for the Archers this season, and this department of the game is being given plenty of practice this week. George, the fleet left end, has been the best receiver on the aerial attack.

Lineup Is Uncertain

Th lineup for the South Side gridders in the game with the Circus City eleven is very uncertain. Coach Welborn has indicated that he will probably make several changes in his lineup in an attempt to get a combination that will click both offensively and defensively. Brower George, who has been playing a great game at left end, will probably retain this position. Ellenwood will undoubtedly hold down the left tackle position. The guard for this side of the line is uncertain although Roop will probably get the call. Either Conway or Ostermeyer will be in at center. The guard and tackle positions on the right side of the line are uncertain. Echhoff and Wilson will probably be in the guard position with Straley taking care of tackle. Nelson may get the call at end. At quarterback, Simon will be in there calling signals. In the half positions a group of fellows consisting of Lee, Ginn, and Parmelee will see action. Either Lohman, Snyder, or Lenz will be in as fullback for the former holding the position if he recovers from his leg injury.

C. Catholic, Central Play To Scoreless Tie

Central Catholic's Fighting Irish held the powerful Central Tigers to a scoreless tie Saturday afternoon at the North Side gridiron, and thereby gave the Bengal's City Title hopes a rude jolt. The game was the first city battle of the season.

Even more surprising was the fact that the Irish made but little use of their well-known passing attack and displayed a strong running attack to be watched carefully by the Archers and Redskins in their coming battles. The Barretmen kept the Blue's running attack well bottled up and had the Tigers on the defensive a large part of the time.

Central was close to a touchdown on two different occasions. Murray broke up the first of these by intercepting a pass on his own five-yard line, and the Blue lost the ball on downs in their only other real opportunity, late in the final period.

This was the first time thus far this season that Central has been so much as tied, whereas the Irish have been beaten once and tied once before.

Lettermen Daub Signs For Stadium Board

During their meeting last Friday the members of the Lettermen's Club painted cardboard for the scoreboard in the stadium. A very interesting time was had in painting these cards. The members were also shown examples of different stamps for automobiles by a salesman from Chicago. After the painting was finished refreshments were served. The members present were: Bob Fowler, Tom Conway, Fred Ostermeyer, Bob Lohman, "Red" Stone, Jack Snyder, Bob Willson, Gordon Straley, Harrison Simon, Bob Nelson, Brower George, Fred Lenz, and Jim Ellenwood.

Hockey Games Run Smoothly; Cards Signed

Frays Played on Monday, Wednesday, Friday Each Week; Enjoyed by All.

Hockey for girls seems to be well on its way at present, with nearly everyone enjoying each game more and more. The games are played on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday nights at 3:30.

Each girl participating is required to have a card signed by her parents stating that it is all right for the pupil to remain in school until her game is played. This is done to save Miss Smith and Miss Patterson much embarrassment. The games played Wednesday night are as follows:

3:30—Junior 3 defeated Sophomore 2 by a score of 2-0. Helen Anderson and Bernadette Dygert chalked up the points for the winners. Edna Disler and Millie Hoff for Sophomore 2 showed up very well on the defense.

3:55—Sophomore 1 lost the game to Junior 4 by a score of 3-0. Points in this game were made by Mary Jane Redding and Mary Ann Park.

4:20—A very good brand of hockey was displayed in the game between Senior 1 and Junior 2 with the Seniors coming out on top with 3-1. Roselma Disler and Eleanor Cupp scored for the Seniors, and Betty Rison marked one up for the Juniors.

4:45—Senior 2 won over Junior 1 by a score of 2-0. Vera Fremion chalked up the score for the winners. Marjorie Hower and Sue Cameron played very good games.

On Friday night the weather was a little cool, so the girls had to work that much harder to keep warm. The games are as follows:

3:30—Junior 4 and Sophomore 2 played a tight game with the score ending at 1-0, the Juniors being on top.

3:55—Junior 3 defeated Sophomore 3 by a score of 2-0. Celeste Klenke and Helen Smith played best for both teams.

4:20—Sophomore 1 defeated Sophomore 4 by a score of 3-0. Leona Menze scored three points for her team.

4:45—Senior 1 defeated Junior 3 by a score of 4-2. Roselma Disler, Eleanor Cupp, and Anna Brumbaugh scored for the Seniors with Bernadette Dygert and Kuttler scoring for the Juniors.

Intramural Gossip

In the fall a young man's fancy turns to football. This year there will be two football leagues. There will be a heavyweight league for boys over 115 pounds in weight and a lightweight league for boys under that mark.

Last year the championships were won by the Hoosiers and the Punks. Members of the championship Hoosiers lightweight team were as follows: Stump, McBride, Gronauer, Chohico, Griffin, Habig, Feichter, McCormick, and Dutterer. Members of the heavyweight winners were as follows: Close, Klaffenstein, Schriefer, Moore, Dent, Stalter, Nolan, and Parmelee. All team entries must be in by Friday.

About thirty boys reported at the cross-country meeting held last Monday. Regular workout days were set by Mr. Borer, who, of course, has charge of this annual fall sport. Jim Meyers won the lightweight race last year, followed by Eugene Wyss and Stewart Trulock. Robert Moore won the heavyweight race with Harvey Weikel, second, and Aronn Schoenfeldt, third.

Goal Dust

Mishawaka presented a team which boasted a 220-pound tackle, a 200-pound tackle and a six-foot, four-inch end.

Fred Lenz threw a pass in the game that traveled sixty-five yards. Too bad the pass was incomplete. Lenz suffered a badly injured leg in the third quarter of the game.

Ed Ginn, who did some nice punting and carrying of the ball in the game last week, was injured in the third quarter.

Simon surely threw a nice pass to George in the second quarter. George caught it and scored for the Archers' lone touchdown.

The Archers will be out for revenge on Peru. The Archers beat them last year and have high hopes of repeating their victory this year.

Earl Roop was afraid to come into the back of the bus on the way home. What is the matter, Earl; did your perfume run out?

The team played by far the best game of the season Saturday. That's the way, gang, keep it up. We are with you.

Every time our team has worn green jerseys this season it has rained. Last Saturday it rained part of the third quarter.

Fast Freights Win From Cats' Team
Bob Schelper, Halfback, Leads Teammates To Victory Over Intramural Football Squad.

Led by Bob Schelper, sensational halfback, the Fast Freights won their second intramural tag football game of the season from the Cats, 20-0. Schelper scored the first Fast Freight touchdown by intercepting a Cat pass on their own 25-yard line and running it across their goal line. Cochran scored the extra point on a run around right end. He scored the second touchdown by again intercepting a pass, but this time he ran it back sixty yards to make the score 13-0.

Unable to get their offense clicking, the Cats were never past the winner's twenty-five yard line. Filling the air with passes on most every play, the Cats tried vainly to score; but the Fast Freight backfield broke up most every pass play. In the latter part of the last quarter, Schelper returned one of the Cats' punts for a touchdown. Russell passed to Cochran for the extra point.

Proving that their name means nothing, the Chumps trimmed the Rattlers 18-6. Voight was the outstanding player for the winners, passing two passes which scored touchdowns. In the first quarter, Voight passed to Lepper for a touchdown. Intercepting a Chump pass, Ewing raced forty-five yards for the Rattlers only score. At the beginning of the second half, Budde, Chump halfback, ran fifty-five yards around left end to make the score 12-6. Voight passed to Seewald late in the last quarter to score the third Chump touchdown.

Mishawaka Defeats South Side In Final Quarter Comeback

Due largely to injuries sustained by three of their first string backfield men, South Side's Green Wave was defeated by the Mishawaka Cavemen 13 to 7 in the Archers' initial out-of-town engagement of the season Saturday afternoon.

The Kelly Klags presented a determined offensive in the second period that netted them a touchdown; and it appeared for a while that the Green was headed for victory; but the Maroon and White staged a comeback which turned the tables in their favor.

Both the Green and their opposition scored seven first downs, the Archers chalked up five of theirs in their second quarter drive, while Mishawaka made most of their first downs at various times in the second half, resulting in their two touchdowns. However, the Welbornites, after only a short warm-up period, were greatly aided in the first period by several large penalties against the Mishawakans. South Side resorted to comparatively few passes but did score their one touchdown by this means.

Archers Score First

In the opening period the Archers scored less than fifteen yards from scrimmage, but two penalties in the more critical moments, one for clipping and the other for having their backfield in motion on a play, kept the Maroon well away from the Archer goal posts.

Shortly after the second quarter started, things began happening thick and fast. Young got off a punt to the Green 25-yard stripe, where it touched Fred Lenz on the back while he was trying to get out of the way, and an alert Mishawaka player grabbed the ball and scampered over the goal. However, the play was called back, and the Maroon was given possession of the ball at the 25-yard mark. They then continued to the 17-yard marker where Earl Roop recovered a fumble. From then on until the end of the half the Kelly Klags had everything their way as they started an eighty-yard march which was ended only in a touchdown less than two minutes before the gun when Simon tossed a pass to Brower George, who ran the remaining few yards to the goal line. Bud Lee then put a place-kick squarely between the crossbars, making the score 7 to 0. Ostermeyer then kicked off to the Maroon, who promptly threw a scare into the Archers by completing a long pass; but the receiver was downed immediately, and the half ended with Mishawaka in possession of the fall in their own territory.

Lenz Is Injured

On the opening kick-off of the second half, Fred Lenz suffered a wrenched knee while being block out. However, he continued playing for a while but had to be removed later in the quarter, shortly after the Cavemen made their first score. In the middle of the period Young blocked a

The officers for home room 24 are Job Lohman, chairman, and Bob Long, secretary.

In recent tests given by Miss Mellen in Latin 3, Vera Hilgeman and Virginia Fathauer made the highest grades, 94, 96 and 98, 99 respectively.

In Miss Paxton's Algebra 2 class, period 2, Ina Claire Chappell, June Close, Waldemar Fortreide, Beatrice Fudge, Catherine Hause, John Helres, Jean Manwaring, and Bryce Miner made grades of 95 or above in a recent test.

Robert Shader, Helen Kelsey, Clarence Greider, and Mary Jo Allen made grades of 95 or above in a recent test given by Miss Paxton in algebra 2, period 6.

Elsie Koch was the only one in Miss Paxton's Algebra 2 class, period 7, who made a grade over 95 percent.

Miss Crowe's United States history 1 classes are making maps of phases of colonial history.

Eleanor Crosby in Mr. Sterner's English 4 class had all of her home reading finished on September 14.

In Mr. Sterner's English 2 classes three boys have finished their outside reading. They are Bill Bundy, Gordon Erickson, and Robert Rehm.

In Miss Kiefer's English 8 class, a test was given on the early history of English literature. The highest grades were received by Clarabelle Chenoweth, Berneta McIntosh, Mary Osborn, Betty Ann Pettit, Edythe Thornton, and Edward Turner.

Norman Buck, Elmer Cochran, Wayne Staley, and Robert Shookman received above 90 percent in a solid geometry test given by Miss Thorne.

Miss Van Gorder's home room enjoyed a weiner bake at the home of Bob Augsburg.

The fourth period U. S. history class had the opportunity to hear Miss Lucy Mellen tell of her two years' experience in Porto Rico. Miss Mellen's talk was especially interesting to the students because they are studying Spanish colonization.

In Miss Demaree's English 7 class, Geraldine Smith received an A+ in a Burke test. All except three pupils in her English classes have completed their one required book report for the first grading period.

Jane Bradley was elected president of Miss Rinehart's freshman home room.

Ruth Glaze, Alvina Greber, Ronald McPherson, and Jane Van Wey received the highest grades in Miss Rinehart's English 7 class over Silas Marner.

to give an oral book report. Edith Mae Persing has also given a report. Richard read "With the Eagles," Edith Mae, "The Unwilling Vestal."

The pupils of Mr. Wilson's civics 1 classes were given a general review on the Constitution of the United States last week. Those making the best grades are: Charles Hursh, Jud Melton, Robert Archer, Harrison Simon, and Alice Mae Seabold. After having reviewed the Constitution, the pupils are now studying citizenship.

After the notice has been read, or other things about the school has been discussed, the 9B pupils of Mr. Wilson's home room are making good use of their spare time. They are being drilled on parliamentary procedure so they will learn how to preside at club meetings. Besides being valuable to them, it is also a great deal of fun.

In Mr. Gould's home room, Jack Dawson was elected program chairman. On his committee he appointed Glenn Pressler, Wayne Decker, Harriet Schaefer and Charlene Davis. They have planned to have two programs a week, Tuesday and Friday, leaving Monday and Wednesday for study and Thursday for The Times. With this in mind, they have drawn up a partial calendar for this semester.

Mr. Whelan's P. G. classes made observations of the sun at different times of the day. The approximate altitude of the sun, temperature in the sun, and temperature in the shade were some of the data which was reckoned. At 1 p. m. the temperature was 112 degrees in the sun and 77 degrees in the shade. Later, graphs will be made of this data.

Mr. Wilson's civics classes devote Friday to current events.

Senior Hi-Y's Swim Tonight In Y. M. Pool

Splash Party Will Be Held At Y. M. at 7:15; The Rev. R. Vincent Next Speaker.

Splash is the password at the Senior Hi-Y meeting tonight at 7 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. and all senior boys who wish to visit the club tonight are going to take a dip in the pool from 7:15 till 8 o'clock. Lloyd Grodrian, program chairman, and his committee have arranged for the privilege of the swim, and afterwards the members will assemble in the boys lobby for a short but important business meeting.

Lloyd announced that next week the Rev. R. N. Vincent, of the Third Presbyterian Church, will speak and that the executive committee would announce the program theme for the semester.

Mr. E. M. Christie spoke to the club last week on the value of railroads to the community. The basis of Mr. Christie's talk was that the railroads should be looked upon as an industry rather than a method of transportation. Mr. Shirey, adviser, stated that the talk was very educational and very interesting. He also said that it was his hope that the program committee could keep the programs on as high a standard as that one.

Frank Montgomery, booster chairman, presented a plan for obtaining new members and gave a report on progress along that line. The club was visited by five new boys.

Organization of a Hi-Y at Monroeville is being planned by a committee with Bob Klopfenstein, chairman; and Earl Sharff, Dick Russel, Howard Fairweather, and William Kozma. The committee has received permission to start a club from the principal of the high school. During the next week a meeting will be scheduled at which the committee will present the Monroeville boys with a new charter.

A club had been organized there, but it dropped out of existence several years ago. However, before Mr. E. A. Ackerman left, he expressed a desire for the club to organize this Monroeville club. It is due to this fact that the Senior Hi-Y of South Side is going to build up an organization in Monroeville.

Senior Picture Drive Is Now Well On Way

Study Hall Monitors Chosen To Sign Up Upperclassmen for Totem Photos.

Editor Announces Final Major Staff

Co-Business Managers To Be Berneta McIntosh, L. Grodrian; Popular Pupils.

Picture Schedule

Wednesday—1, 2, 3 periods.
Thursday—6, 7 periods and after school until 4:30 p. m.
Friday—1, 2, 3 periods.

With the selection of major staff positions and the launching of the senior picture drive yesterday, work on the 1935 Totem has begun with vigor.

Final selection of the major staff was made a week ago. Those persons chosen are: Co-business managers, Berneta McIntosh and Lloyd Grodrian; circulation manager, Martha Baumgartner; and copy editors, Dorothy Rathauer and Ellis Lochner. Paul Reynolds, who proved invaluable in putting out last year's annual, was re-appointed to assume the responsibilities of staff photographer. Enthusiasm has been displayed by each member of the staff, who expects to make the 1935 yearbook the best ever published.

Yesterday, the photographer for the students, Cleve Briscoe Graae, began taking the senior pictures. Mrs. Graae was contracted because of her exceptional fine work in photography. She has consented to take the pictures at school, for which purpose the room at the east side of the south entrance of the gym has been set aside. The entrance is plainly marked. In order that the procedure of taking pictures be carried out as efficiently as possible, monitors have been appointed in the Study Hall each period to sign up twenty seniors to be photographed each hour. This will allow about two weeks for the senior picture drive. Seniors in first, second, and third study periods will have their pictures taken on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays. Those who have study periods the sixth and seventh periods can have their pictures taken on Tuesdays and Thursdays, on which days the photographer will remain after school until 4:30 o'clock. Seniors wishing to go to the Cleve Briscoe Graae studio to have their pictures taken may do so by appointment after having paid their dollar into the Totem office.

Halloween Party For Math-Science

October 17 Will Be Date for Mathematician's Fracas To Be Held for Members Only.

Math-Science Club will hold its annual Halloween party October 17, at 7:30 in the Greeley Room.

This party is the club's outstanding meeting of the year. An unusually entertaining program is being arranged for the party by Eleanor Cupp, entertainment committee chairman, and Charlene Davis, Wayne Decker, and Clayton Kilpatrick.

Anyone who plans to attend the party must have the twenty-five cent dues paid on or before the day of the party. Dues may be paid in rooms 76 and 80.

Tickets will be given those who have paid their dues, and these are to be presented at the door at the party. These may be secured in rooms 76 and 80 next week.

South Side Scholars Judge System of Class Elections

The passing of another class election makes us think about the present system of choosing our officers; some students are satisfied, some have ideas for small changes, and some think the entire system should be revised. The following are the opinions of a number of South Side's upperclassmen:

Martha Morgan—It is not a bad plan, although a system should be made so all the pupils of South Side could recognize and know the class officers.

Georgetta McIntire—I think we should have a committee for nominating the persons best fitted for the office, then introduce them to us. Many students do not know the persons on the ballot.

Betty Kiene—I think the present system is satisfactory, but after the final elections I think the officers should be introduced to their class so that we will know them.

Max Tritch—The present system seems to be O.K. It is unusually hard to reach a better system in a school the size of South Side.

Dick Dochterman—I think we should have representatives from each home room. These represent the persons who were elected for the office. The votes could be counted after the representative had recorded them.

Wilma Bleke—There are too many pupils in one class, which makes it very difficult to choose the best ones.

Dick Strasser—It suits me. It's similar to the way the President of the United States is elected; so I guess it's good enough for us.

Bob Ingham—Being new to Fort Wayne this year, I knew no one fitted for the office and consequently my vote stood for nothing. It seems

Bud Goldman Will Play at Tea Dance

Bud Goldman's orchestra consisting of ten pieces will play for the tea dance this Friday. The orchestra consists of a trombone played by Richard Hickman; a guitar, played by Robert Stone; a piano, by Paul Lentz; first saxophone by Harry Johnson; second saxophone by Charles Outh; traps by Bud Jones; third saxophone by Richard Murray; first trumpet by Norwood Dalman, second trumpet by Donald Hickman, and double bass by William Knoke.

The dance takes place from 3:20 to 5 o'clock. At 4:15 o'clock a special feature consisting of a tap dance by Gwendolyn Horn will be given. Gwen has given a similar entertainment at a last year's tea dance.

Miss Emma Kiefer and Miss Martha Pittenger will chaperone.

Philo's Annual Autumn Frolic Held Saturday

Adventure, Exploration, and Food Are Feature Events On Day's Full Program.

About twenty-five girls congregated at South Side last Saturday preparatory to starting on a one and a half hour drive to Miss Pittenger's farm. These were all Philo girls out for their annual Fall Frolic. The list included Phyllis Graham, Jean Kranz, Pauline and Dorothy Crabill, Helen Anderson, Jean Creighton, Betty Medaris, Betty Brothers, Dorothea Nance, Edythe Thornton, Betty Dickmeyer, Marjorie Cartwright, Shirley Sykes, Larabell Chenoweth, Mary Martha Hobrook, Margaret Murphy, Harriet Yapp, Alice Hulise, Miss Pittenger, and Miss Demaree.

Shortly after arriving, preparations for dinner were under way. The menu consisted of baked beans, wieners, juns, pumpkin pie, marshmallows, cider and apples. The wieners and marshmallows were roasted and toasted in an outdoor fireplace, and the meal was served in an informal picnic style. As one girl put it, "There was just oodles and gobs of food." You can imagine what an appetite the girls had after the long ride in the invigorating air. It is sufficient to say that the "eats" disappeared in a swift but satisfactory manner.

Group Explores Farm

The next thing on the program was exploration. It was found that the Pittenger farm had a barn, several cows and chickens, and one horse. It also had a stream running through it, of which you will hear more later.

Of course, everyone had to ride on Dick the horse. After chasing over sixty-three acres for an hour, as one girl extravagantly put it, Dick was finally caught. Everyone got on and took a ride, one by one, of course. This is probably what a number of stiff muscles on Sunday morning could be attributed to. Did I say everyone? Well, one girl tried very hard, so hard, in fact, that she climbed up on one side and promptly slid off on the other.

Next, someone got the bright idea of wading in the river. No sooner said than done. Shoes and stockings were hung hither and yon, and a number of dignified Philanthropean members were seen wading gingerly into the water. Everything was going fine until someone spied a crab. One crab—no, literally hundreds of them. There was a mad scramble for the shore, and all our brave waders were found perched safely and demurely on the bank.

After this alarming episode, all the girls trooped happily back to the cars to depart for civilization and a soda. Did they have a good time? Well, now we wonder.

Talk On China To Be Heard By Wranglers

Mr. Glenn Fuller, Federated Relief Agencies Head, Is Speaker; Music Program.

Wranglers will assemble October 22, for one of those interesting programs which are characteristic of that club. Mr. Glenn Fuller, present head of the Federal Relief Agencies, will speak on "China." This is anticipated to be a very unusual and interesting speech as Mr. Fuller is well versed on his subject, having spent some time in China. He has gleaned his information from this source which should prove to be effective in adding much knowledge to that already possessed by the student. Later in the program, a harp solo will be given by Betty Wainwright. Also, there will probably be a student speaker who is a member of the club.

The organization met last Monday after school, opening its activities of the day with a business meeting. Ann Abbott opened the program for the evening with a humorous speech which enumerated the various methods and reasons for acquiring a sun tan. Marjorie Dancer gave the vocal renditions of "I'll Be Tired of You" and "I Only Have Eyes for You." The old members of the club introduced the new members.

The outside speaker for the meeting was Mr. Harry Hogan from the Dime Savings Bank, who spoke on "How to Apply Yourself in School." His speech completed the program and the meeting was then adjourned.

Airplane Builders Have Club Meeting

Scale Model Planes Are Shown; Committee Chosen To Decide Rules for Coming Contest.

A showing of scale model airplanes by Dale Cutler, Lowell Beatty, and John Jackson featured the meeting of the Model Airplane Club held last Friday in the Voorhees Room.

Instead of making the members come to the hall bulletin boards to see when a meeting is scheduled, they may find the information on a special bulletin board in the industrial arts section.

A committee to decide the rules for the coming contest was appointed, the members being Quentin Briggs, Eugene Fletcher, and Hubert McEwen.

Mr. C. A. Bex announced that on November 2, the club would hold its meeting at Central. He also told the members that they would be allowed to use the display case. The date for bringing planes will be announced in a bulletin.

Winners in a previous city contest were presented with certificates. The rest of the meeting the members filled out their club cards. Members who did this are: Quentin Briggs, Donald Walker, Dale Cutler, John Jackson, Lowell Beatty, Jack Rosenberger, Walter Kayser, Eugene Fletcher, Fred Sunding, James Kelso, John De Young, Evan Case, James Roth, Walter Stone, Frederick Clements, Hubert McEwen, and Pack Rehner.

Because there is no school Thursday or Friday of next week, the meeting has been moved up to Wednesday, October 17. Anyone interested is invited to attend the meetings.

Pebble Pups Visit Monument Works

Method of Cutting Inscriptions Shown to Mr. Lloyd Whelan And Members of Rock Club.

An interesting trip through Jacob Koehl's Monuments Works was the outcome of the meeting of Pebble Pups, which was held after school on Thursday, October 4.

The guide told the members the process of making monuments. The stone is first cut to the proper size and then polished. The design and inscription pattern is made and transferred onto the monument. The stone is covered with a special composition which resembles glue or soft rubber. Only the places which are to be cut are left bare. The monument is put into the sand-blasting room where coarse grains of quartz sand are blown against the rock. This sand bounces off of the rubber-like composition but cuts the stone where it is not covered, thus making the inscription.

Most monuments are made of granite because of its hardness. They were formerly made of marble, which is a soft metamorphic rock; but it was discovered that in several years the stone would no longer be readable. So they began using granite, which has great durability.

The members collected chips of the various kinds of granite and were given pieces of white Vermont marble and Kentucky pink marble.

Mr. Lloyd Whelan, faculty adviser, of the club, accompanied the members who are: Catherine Hirschman, Madelyn Blauvelt, Rosalind and Elfrida Enz, Mary Snider, Dale and Louis Busse, Jack Rherer, Hubert McEwen, Wayne Larson, Howard Kutsch, Richard Staron, John Buch, and Fredrick Prange.

Refunds Are Effectuated On All Concert Tickets

Sixty-five cents will be refunded on the concert tickets which were purchased for the series of concerts to be given by the music department under the direction of Mr. Wainwright. The refunds will be made in Mr. Snider's office. After the refunds have been made, the concert tickets will not be used for the rest of the concerts.

At each concert, every student will pay five cents for a ticket for one concert.

Wo-Ho-Ma Hears Talk On Travels

Mrs. Velkoff Talks on Foreign Foods Seen in Travels; Shows Collection Gathered in Europe

Mrs. M. Velkoff was the guest speaker at the Wo-Ho-Ma meeting held Thursday, October 4, in the Greeley Room. Mrs. Velkoff gave a very interesting talk on the foods eaten in the different foreign countries she has visited. At the conclusion of the talk, she displayed her collection of laces, silks, linens, and other things she has gathered in her many travels through France, Italy, Switzerland, Bulgaria, Germany, Russia, and Czechoslovakia.

After Mrs. Velkoff's talk, the business meeting was held. Rowena Bevington stated that all girls who paid their dues before the third meeting would receive points. She also announced that Fay Bechtold had been selected as Inter-Club Congress representative.

Miss Rehstorf announced that the club had received an invitation to go to Elmhurst High School to install the Wo-Ho-Ma group in that school. After the business meeting, the remainder of the program was presented. Roselma Disler gave a reading called "Old Goldmine in the Photograph Gallery." The program was concluded with Beatrice Schieber's piano selection entitled "Prelude in C Minor."

The next meeting, which is to be held on Thursday, October 18, will be in the form of a wieners bake. At this meeting, formal installation of officers and initiation of new members will be held. All girls are asked to sign up in room 38 if they are planning to attend this meeting.

The committee in charge of this meeting is composed of Helen Clark, Geraldine Dush, and Mildred Keller.

Mr. Alvaro Ferlini Talks To Jr. Math

Hindu Mathematics Is Discussed By Former Teacher; Gives Many Facts About Indians.

"Hindu Mathematics" was the title of the talk given by Mr. Alvaro Ferlini at the meeting of the Junior Math Club held Tuesday in the Voorhees Room. Mr. Ferlini stated that the mathematics of the Oriental Indian dwelt mainly with the problems of arithmetic and algebra. He also stated that our present method of notation was invented by them. "However," he continued, "until recently, it was firmly believed that our present numeral system was wholly of Hindu origin, but discoveries have shown that the Babylonians used the sexagesimal system and symbol for zero."

He continued to give the history of Indian mathematics and algebra. One of the most interesting points in the talk was the statement that Indian arithmetic operations are nearly as perfect as our own.

The initiation was also a part of the program. Those initiated were Beulah Horstmeier, Marjorie Clayton, Nora Mae Bradberry, Marion Roehrs, Mary Louise Helms, Constance Haug, Edward Wallace, Helen Meyer, Elvera Koop, Robert Meyer, Ina Claire Chappell, Raymond Racere, Dorothy Richter, and Clarence Teims.

The committee for the pot-luck, which will be held on October 26, is Charles Thorne, chairman; Charles Hart, Nora Mae Bradberry, and Marjorie Clayton.

Radio Club Meeting Held Thursday Evening

Radio Club held its bi-weekly meeting in room 96 last Thursday. A committee consisting of Bob Long, Duncan McLeish, and Bill Hebermehl, which was appointed to pick out several books for the club, gave its report. The magazine ST, The Radio Amateur's Handbook, The Amateur's License Manual, and How to Operate an Amateur Radio Station, were the essential books on radio that the club needed.

Robert Schriever gave the list of parts needed for the construction of the club's short wave receiver. All these parts will be donated by members of the organization.

The meeting was closed after the members present held a discussion on troubles encountered during the construction of their apparatus.

Outdoor Theatre Constructed

Federal funds were granted the Senior High School of Dubuque, Iowa, for construction of an outdoor theatre. When completed, the amphitheatre will seat two thousand persons. The stage will have a capacity of one thousand.

Sunshine Club Has Assembly At So. Whitley

Convention of Organization Held at Nearby Town Is Well Attended From Here

Another annual convention of the Sunshine Society is over. It proved to be a grand success. It was held in South Whitley on October 6. Two cars were driven down. One by Miss Mary Crowe and the other by one of the member's mothers. The girls met in front of the Rialto Theatre at 9:15. They arrived in South Whitley at about 10 o'clock. Registration took place from 8 o'clock to 10 o'clock. The assembly started at 10 o'clock. It took place in the high school gymnasium. The first thing on the program was the devotion by the Society Octette. After the devotional services, words of welcome were heard from Mr. Lee, the principal of the school at South Whitley, Mrs. Harry Hensel, the president of the Woman's Club, and Mr. Donald Jordan, a business man of South Whitley.

Held Business Session

Then came the business session at which Miss Hazel Cage, the chairman of District No. 2, officiated. The program continued with a word from the State which was given by Mrs. Sandefur, the state president. Next on the program the different chapter representatives gave talks on the social gatherings and functions, entertainment and programs, and money-making, all of which took place during the preceding semester. The following schools were represented:

Artesia, Atlanta, Bluffton, Concord Township, Converse, Cicero, Chubbuck, Fulton, Fort Wayne, Gas City, Goshen, Huntington, Hempton, Larwill, Millersburg, New Haven, New Paris, North Manchester, Prairie Township, Sharpville, South Whitley, Tipton, Wabash, Warren, Windfall, Washington Center, and Van Buren.

At 12:30 the luncheon grace was held by the Huntington Chapter. The luncheon boxes were distributed and everyone ate. During the luncheon period, stunts were given by the Atlanta and Huntington chapters. After the luncheon period, there was a free period at which time the girls could do anything they wished.

Dramatic Program Given

Then came the afternoon session which began at 2 o'clock. The first thing on the afternoon program was the Sunshine Song, which was led by Ethel Bolinger. Next came a dramatic program by Catherine Cooper Graham, well-known dramatist of Kokomo, Indiana. She gave many of her own versions of famous actresses.

To end the day's activities, everyone repeated the Sunshine Club Creed.

Several people went from Fort Wayne. They are: Miss Mary Crowe, Miss Edith Crowe, Hazel Noll, Thelma Ervin, Edith Paulisch, Iona Shuler, Betty Eric, Georgianna Jacobs, Caroline Dirmeyer, and Margaret Foellinger. Hazel Noll gave a talk on the activities of the club during this last year.

Up to and including this year, the convention was held only once a year; but next year there will be two, one in Goshen in the spring and the other in Fort Wayne in the fall.

New Library Club Members Initiated

Recruits Have To Jump Chasm; Obstacle Race Run Later; Peculiar Costumes Are Worn.

The new members of the Library Club were roughly and formally initiated at the meeting on October 2. These persons made a unique picture when they appeared in full costume. Violet Witmer came as a negro maid with a basket filled with newspapers. Joanne Smith came as an old woman with a tall feather in her hat, wheeling a baby buggy in which Georgeanne Martin reclined. She wore a nightgown and carried an alarm clock. The genial Bill Fries came as a little boy with a pacifier in his mouth. The last initiate, Martha Franz, came as a housewife with her apron on backwards. She carried a pan, nail broom, and mop to signify her station in life.

The initiation service then followed. Each person was made to jump a narrow chasm formed by the separation of two tables. After this they were made to rub their heads, pat their stomachs, and sing a song at the same time. Then the would-be-members were made to take an airplane ride, finishing with a parachute jump. After an obstacle race had been participated in by the new members, Frank Montgomery brought the meeting to a close by requesting the members to sign the pledge after reading the Constitution. Refreshments, consisting of ice cream and wafers, were then served.

May Get Stadium

The FEPA may provide Manchester College, North Manchester, Indiana, with a new stadium to be completed in two years if the plans being considered are accepted.

100 Percent In Subscriptions Is Attained By Ursula Morton

Ursula Morton, general manager of The Times, has attained the goal of one hundred percent in room 8. Miss Hazel Miller is the home room teacher. Ursula has secured this percentage by means of the members of the room and several outside subscriptions. Each morning during the home room period she saw each person in the room individually. Ursula stated that much of her success was due to the help of Miss Miller.

Nine hundred forty-seven now stands as the total subscriptions secured during the first five weeks of school. Forty-seven of these have come in during the past week. Only fifty-three subscriptions are now needed to reach the goal of one thousand subscriptions. From past experience, it can be assumed that the goal will be reached next week with the co-operation of all room agents.

Times Hour Speaker

Superintendent Merle J. Abbott will give the introductory speech on the first of the series of radio programs to start Monday evening over station WGL at 7 p. m.

So-Si-Y Makes Plans For Tea For Teachers

Three Triangle Degrees Are Explained; Songs Given By Quartet of Members.

So-Si-Y held a meeting Tuesday, October 9, in the Greeley Room. The theme of the meeting was Service Plans for the faculty tea which will be held October 21, were discussed, and the list of teachers will be in Miss Kinnart's room, room 66, Thursday and Friday. Members are to sign up there and pay ten cents.

The three triangle degrees of So-Si-Y were explained by Betty Rison, Mary Schaffer, and Fay Bechtol. To acquire the first degree, one must be a member of So-Si-Y for at least a term, attend at least five meetings, and pay her dues. For the second degree, one must be a member for at least two terms, pay dues, attend at least five meetings each term, take part in two community projects, do a service for the school and a service for the club. To gain the third degree, one must be a member for at least three semesters, perform all the duties required to obtain the second degree, and do a World's Fellowship project.

Irene Becker gave the devotion; and Arleth Carvin was in charge of a quartet composed of Betty Medaris, Susanne Meyers, Martha Baumgartner, and herself. Betty Medaris led So-Si-Y in singing a song which will be sung at the Faculty Tea. Various talks were given by different members of the committee in charge of the meeting. Arleth Carvin spoke on the Neighborhood House; Mary Ann Park on Wheatley Center; Catherine Hirschman on the Piquette Relief; Dorothea Nance on the State School, and Miss Smeltzley on the County Infirmary. One told interesting things they learned on a recent visit.

The committee in charge of this meeting was composed of a chairman, Dorothea Nance; Catherine Hirschman, Harriet Basford, Mary Anne Park, Pauline Crabill, Arleth Carvin, Irene Becker, Martha Frenz, Mildred Becker, Audrey Fels, Justine C. M., Helen Heikowsky, and June Haeger.

Torch Club Holds Its Third Meeting

The Next Meeting Will Include Speaker From Police Dept.; Father-Son Banquet Nov. 5.

The third meeting of the Torch Club was held in the Voorhees Room Monday, October 8; and it was a little disappointing to the forty members who were assembled, many of them being new. The speaker for the day was scheduled to be Jack Roth, detective on the local police force, but at the last minute, Mr. Roth phoned and stated that he was unable to come. As a consequence, there was no program; and the meeting was adjourned after business of the club was disposed of. The program committee was to put forth a special effort to insure the speaking of Mr. Roth at some future date.

Holden Rupnow and Bob Hall went through the finger printing department at police headquarters last week, and have announced that they will be ready to take the fingerprints of the club members as soon as cards are prepared. No doubt these fingerprints will be of great use in the future.

The father and son banquet which is held by the Torch Club annually, is to be on November 5. Everyone is invited.

Times Presents Radio Program Every Monday

School Publication Staff Arranges for Half Hour's Broadcast Each Monday.

South Side Band To Give Program

Mr. Ora Davis, Mr. Lundy Welborn To Be Interviewed; Mr. Abbott To Talk.

Opening the first program at 7 o'clock next Monday evening over radio station WGL, The South Side Times will bring to readers, parents, and friends during the coming year, a weekly half-hour's program of news of South Side High School. Bob Zeig, prominent junior at South Side, will act as Master of Ceremonies during the coming series of programs, and will formulate the programs with Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal of South Side.

The South Side Times hour will feature, this week, an address of introduction and greetings by Merle J. Abbott, superintendent of the Fort Wayne Public Schools.

To Tell of Sports

As an added feature, Ora M. Davis, South Side athletic manager, and Lundy Welborn, South Side football and track coach, will be interviewed by Dick Helm, sports editor of the South Side Times. This interview will include their views of high school sports, and their hopes for the future.

Each week, a different activity of South Side High School will be included on the program. Many different clubs, classes, and other organizations will be discussed in this way. The activity for this week's program will be the South Side Times, and the discussion will be carried on by means of an interview with some member of the Times staff.

A special 20-piece band, directed by Jack Wainwright, South Side bandmaster, will add musically to the program, furnishing selections at the commencement and closing of the programs throughout the year.

From 7 p. m. to 7:30 p. m. is the time allotted to this program each Monday night. This time may be changed later, if absolutely necessary.

To Inform Public

This radio program is to acquaint parents and friends of South Side High School students with the many and varied activities of the school. It will bring the lovers of sports additional news about the school's team; and those interested in clubs, news and information about these clubs. It is an excellent method of publicizing the important work that the high school is doing, and is brought to them as another service of the South Side Times, and through the co-operation of the management of radio station WGL.

Mr. Snider has been taking care of the arrangement of the programs with the help of assistants appointed for the duties.

In future programs, the broadcast may be made from South Side's band room which was remodeled this year for radio programs.

Moscow, Russia Is Travel Club Subject

Helen Flaig Is Program Chairman; Party Group Appointed; Paris Visited by Conversation.

Moscow, Russia, is the meeting place for all travelers and visitors next Wednesday after school. Any individual interested should come to the Greeley Room at that time; and, after having assembled, all will be taken on an interesting and startling trip through Russia with the help of Helen Flaig, program chairman; assisted by Margaret Rose, Annabelle Pollock, Ann Peters, Vera Mosel, Clara Jefferes, Helen Hycowsky, and Ida May Frazell. Featured on the program will be Mrs. Alice Foster McCulloch, who has spent several years studying in Russia. After the program refreshments will be served.

Club Visits France

Paris was the site visited at the last meeting, during which Faye Bechtol, program chairman, and her committee presented French life through well-planned and interesting conversation. Those present were very greatly amused by the styles and cuts of the clothes which were presented to the members in style books, obtained through the courtesy of Miss Rehstorf. Co-operation with the Senior Hi-Y on a service project for Thanksgiving and Christmas was discussed during the business meeting but didn't meet with approval of the club. It seemed to be the general opinion of the club that each club could accomplish more if it attempted the similar objective as a separate club. However, it was decided to drop the subject for the present, but to bring it up again the next meeting for a definite decision.

Party Committee Announced

The party committee was announced with Frank Montgomery as chairman, assisted by Wayne Christie, Violet Wittmer, Rosemary Lehman, and Margaret Crankshaw. Virginia Greiner was appointed publicity chairman by the executive committee and her duties were duly explained. Eliza Bess Lucas, treasurer, took in over five dollars in dues and stated that most members were paying up well. Only those who have paid their dues will be admitted to the evening party to be held November 3. In the absence of Morgan Harrison, Paul Randall acted as sergeant-at-arms.

The Travel Club cordially invites all students interested in traveling to come to the meetings and become a member.

Carelessness Never Pays

The time has once again come to observe Fire Prevention Week. A week is set aside each year during which time the importance of fire prevention is stressed upon the minds of all Americans.

Every year thousands of human beings are killed and millions of dollars worth of property are destroyed because of carelessness.

If every person in the United States practiced the prevention of fire every day, and not just during the week set aside for it, the loss from fire would be greatly reduced.

See that all fire hazards in your home are destroyed; that no flammable chemicals are used indoors. Learn how to use a fire-alarm box so you will be ready if you should have to report a fire.

Be careful, and the number of fires in the United States will be decreased.

On Your Honor

What are your reactions when you are put on your word of honor? Does it not make you want to live up to it, because you think, "Why, he has confidence in me!" In this day there seems to be quite a few young people who do not know what "on your word of honor" means. They say that they will do something, "Really and truly I will," but is the work ever accomplished? No!

Do you know that every one of you are on your honor here at South Side High School? One-fourth of the semester is gone. As yet, there is no eighth period teacher, and there does not seem to be prospects of one. Is not that a compliment to you, that the governing body does not deem it necessary that you should have a policeman over you just to make you do what you should? Since they have such belief in us, can we not prove to them that their faith in us is not unfounded?

The Band Plays

Last week the pupils of South Side were offered a most excellent opportunity. Each and every student was given the opportunity of attending a musical concert of the best high school band in the state of Indiana. In addition to being the best, it has more instruments than any other band. This is a wonderful privilege of which we as pupils should take advantage.

We are all interested in the appearance of our band at the football and basketball games. Then as good citizens of South Side, we should do our part in helping to pay for the band uniforms. By attending these concerts we will be killing two birds with one stone—first, we will derive much personal entertainment and satisfaction from the music. Second, we will be adding our bit in paying the present debt for the uniforms.

Mr. Wainwright has already gained the wholehearted approval of all South Side students by his present type of assemblies. In addition to the regular program, he will add many combinations of instruments, such as a harp ensemble, in these concerts. Let us seriously consider these programs, and let more of us attend these monthly musicales.

Magna Cum Laude

Much has been said about the girls who are employed by Miss Pittenger's office. But too much praise cannot be given to them. Most students seem to have the mistaken idea that these girls simply sit up in the office and get their lessons while they sit on comfortable chairs, surrounded by their friends. This is an entirely erroneous idea.

Like most assistants the world over, they work hard to keep their jobs. When we were freshmen, we thought that the girls had a good time, they had permanent hall passes for one period and they got to run around the halls and get other students out of classes. Now we know that this is only a small part of their task. Besides running the necessary errands, they perform many tedious jobs in Miss Pittenger's office. The first period, Claudia Bowlby, who helps that period, goes on errands and arranges the cards for the health examination. The second period, Harriet Storm and Mary Wolfe assist the doctor by arranging the health exams and bring the students to the office. The third, Eleanor Cupp finishes up the work on the examinations and starts the next day's examinations. The fourth period, Mary Osborn has full charge of the office while Miss Pittenger teaches a class. She takes care of any emergencies that arise; and, as nearly as possible, solves the problems that are brought to Miss Pittenger that period. During the last period Dorothea Nance and Lois Magley help wind up all the problems, errands, and the numerous details that accumulate at the end of every day.

These girls work hard and deserve not only the thanks they do get, but a great deal more appreciation and thanks, besides.

Freshman Fantasy

All together, now! PORTO, PORTAS, PORTAT, PORTAMUS, PORTATIS, PORTANT! Did you ever hear that, Mr. pink-slipped hall roamer? If so, you have witnessed the modern and pedagogically correct method of introducing to the freshman the classical study of Latin. But the method that is snappy today may be a dud tomorrow. So, in the interests of progress, let us suggest some improvements. Why not combine Latin-learning and rooting practice? For instance:

Teacher slowly waves twice to lower left: Make voices low, solemn, chanting—POR—TO. Teacher extends hands upward, head thrown back, mixed voices a little faster—POR—TAS. Teacher flings closed fists smartly to upper right. Freshettes, sharp and decisive—POR—TAT. Teacher jumps up and down, then jiggles frantically, finally writhes on floor. Everybody faster and faster—staccato—furioso—shrill—PORTAMUS, PORTATUS, PORTANT. Repeat ad lib, substituting—MONSTRO, LOCO, ETCETERA.

Of what use is Latin? It must have some value, else those wise mentors intrusted with the responsibility of our budding intellects would not have included it among our studies. Let's see if we can find something good to say of it.

Were it not for Latin, we would have missed entirely the quaint and charming adventures of Galba, Cornelia, Marcus, and all, in their pulchritudinous white weath. What a loss that would have been! However, dear brother and sister freshmen, be not too nauseated at our overly dainty diet. If the sophs, juniors and seniors are not lying again, we shall get tougher meat later on.

We are told we cannot thoroughly understand and effectively use our mother tongue if we do not know Latin, since English is based upon it to a great extent. That's what we're told, take it or leave it.

Then some wise twerp claims the floor and makes address to the effect that it is not so much a knowledge of Latin that is valuable, but rather what the learning of Latin does to the brain. If he's right, we're strong for Latin because we know a number of brains that badly need something done. We were thinking of using a baseball bat, but perhaps we ought to be patient and sing to them the porta, portas, portat, song.

How many generations have sung that song? Perhaps millions know it only too well. The whole universe must be pretty well filled up with it. When life's last day has closed, and we are ferrying across the Styx (not cord-wood, you dumb cluck!) perchance we may hear that sonorous unison wafted from out the murky gloom. If so, we will feel right at home, we will know our cue, we will join in the chorus—PORTO, PORTAS, PORTAT, PORTAMUS, PORTATUS, PORTANT.

The Tiny Times

Pedagogue to Parents

"What does the art course of South Side do for the student?"

By Erna Dochterman

The Art Course in South Side High School is broad, free, and up-to-date. It is designed not for the talented alone, but for every student who wishes to cultivate his sense of beauty. It satisfies that innate desire for artistic expression through creation or appreciation. This desire lives in everybody and at all times.

The demand for art knowledge and appreciation is steadily increasing. Everywhere the importance of art as an element in the life of our own time and our own country has been recognized in this field. It is the basic subject that builds character, makes better citizens and home-makers, and stimulates a desire to live on a higher plane of culture.

No longer is art a privilege for a limited group—a luxury for a talented few who aspire to an art career, but art is the foundation of every phase of human activity. It has a cash value in manufacturing and merchandising; it has cultural value in the home and community, and greater still, is the powerful influence of inestimable magnitude that art exerts in the lives of high school youths who study it. It not only develops originality, but it engenders love for the beautiful. It increases the power of observation and helps them to see beauty in even the common things of life. It develops creative ability and affords the joy that comes to anyone who produces a thing of beauty—a thing all his very own. That joy of self expression many people crave and never satisfy.

Moreover, the art course in high school furnishes a hobby that provides a most worthy use of leisure time for present, and for those future years when our youth of today will need more avocations and hobbies to fill the greater leisure time.

All could not be artists—nor would we have it so—but all are consumers. It is for those that our plans are designed especially. This is "Art for life." Through our diversified course in art, a student has the opportunity to study any phase of art.

A few of the courses taught are the fundamental principles of composition, design and color, the whole subject of home planning including floor plans, elevations, interior arrangement and color, home furnishings and landscape design, architecture, dress design, painting, drawing, the commercial arts including printing and advertising, graphic arts, illustrations, fashion drawing, cartooning, pottery, sculpture and crafts. Through these courses the student is offered a wide experience that is most worthwhile in any walk of life, especially as home-maker and citizen.

The use of various media and the learning of various techniques give a valuable art experience. He has experience with water color, oil tempera, ink, pastels and crayons, charcoals, clay, and wood. A student may learn the fundamentals of all these techniques—or he may work along one line intensively over an extended period to attain greater achievement. Our plan is to fit the work to the student's needs and desires—and to stimulate him to cultivate that sense of beauty that makes his life richer and more complete.

The good taste which he develops is an eternal joy to him as a consumer. He learns to discriminate between the good and the poor in design, color combination, texture, and arrangement. A sense of values is gained that gives him as a consumer an assurance in all selections, whether home furnishings, clothes, utensils or stationery.

Art is such a big factor today in selling that no student planning a business career can afford to ignore training in color harmony, proportion, and arrangement. Art is indispensable now in advertising and display. It is the background for successful merchandising and display, and every up-to-date shop keeper employs his art knowledge daily. This style of art can be learned by any intelligent student. It requires no great amount of ability to draw. Some students have become practical enough to provide for themselves a little financial help in furthering their study.

Craft work, too, is offered. Many attractive things are made, and here we do again afford leisure time hobbies.

The art course then as designed, is a most beneficial provision for a well rounded education, a spiritual uplift for the student, community, and nation today, and an assurance of a rich heritage for the generations of our nation's tomorrow.

Taking a blast at a teacher for trying to prevent a student from getting into the habit of cheating on an exam seems to be the way one person has adopted for "getting even."

If the student had written the truth concerning the matter discussed in the "Opinions" column, there would be nothing for the writers of this letter to discuss.

The real truth of the matter is this: The teacher who gave this test explained before the test began that inasmuch as students were getting information as to the nature of the test from those who had taken it during an earlier period, and because those who took the test in the afternoon would have a far greater opportunity than those in the morning classes, an increasing number of points would be deducted as the day progressed.

This was only fair, for a person in the last class in the day could learn the answers to nearly all the questions during the course of the day.

Also, the students were put on their honor to tell whether or not they had talked with anyone about the test before class.

The person who is dishonest enough to attempt to get information in an underhanded way should expect to be penalized for it.

Does the shoe fit the foot of last week's "Opinion" writer?

Klub Kharacters

When it comes to looking like a he-man, he has all the requirements! He is very tall and has blue eyes and brown, wavy hair. His square shoulders help to accentuate his burliness; his height is six feet one inch and he weighs one hundred eighty-five pounds.

This well-liked senior is quite busy. He is an assistant circulation manager of the Times and is a member of Senior Hi-Y, Latin, Library, Math, Science, and Social Science Clubs.

Last summer he was the official truck driver and garbage collector at Boy Scout Camp. Of course, those were only his minor jobs. His main job was athletic instructor. He said, "I had a swell time, and I hope to go back next year."

He didn't say anything concerning his interest in Pauline Crabill, but we notice that these two assistant circulation managers have to find an excuse to help each other every afternoon in the Times room. Well, you know, the old saying goes—"Two heads are better than one."

When he graduates, he wants to go to college and study medicine. He undoubtedly would make a very good doctor.

Max Tritch is one of the new aids in South Side's latest formed organization, the Boy Scout Troop!

Theme of the Week

TWO ROADS

Betty English—English 7

Teacher—Miss Peck

The pleasure loving youth of today is forced to make many decisions. One of these occurs when he must choose between his "crowd," which urges him to come with them and be "a good sport," and his parents, which symbolize high ideals. These two things involve two roads which lead in opposite directions.

Being "a good sport" generally includes those things that prevent the young man from becoming a success or doing things that are worth while. This road is easy to travel, for it includes no work. It is one of sensuous pleasures and indolent cravings. In choosing this path he not only is responsible for his own safety, but is responsible for that of millions of others. The responsibility on this road is ten times harder than that of the other.

This way is one that embraces not only forgetfulness, but also weakness, carelessness, and ignorance of the best things life can offer. If firmly lodged on the path, he does all these things disregarding or unthinking of the reward at the end. This he is sure to reap, unless he retraces his steps and takes the other way.

The reward, which is sure to come to the adherent of wrong doing, is dishonor or death. On the other side, his parents' side, the road is hard and steep. He can not climb unless he is strong and untiring, and has his eyes fixed firmly at the top. Hard work, self-denials, and always a thoughtfulness for others are a part of his code. He must be firm, reliable, and just in all his efforts and trials. He has responsibilities, too; but they are lightened by the knowledge of being on the right road. If he does all these things; the reward will come, bringing with it life, honor, and love.

And then there's the story of the absent minded jeweler who forgot his watch and then took it out to see if he had enough time to go back after it.

Around the School

By The Rounder, Jr.

Oh, Muse, at this late date come to our aid and let someone do something that they shouldn't have done! The hour approacheth the dead line and still no errs in department from our stately students. In fact not even errs from our undignified students! Unless you call the fish that Max Tritch presented to Eleanor Cupp an err. It seems that her delicate nose regarded it as not only a social err but one worthy of ostracism. (Look it up, we had to.)

One of our fondest dreams has finally come true! The secretary-treasurer of one of our better-known language clubs signed her report "Respectably submitted." And it may be at that. At least it's a novel idea.

One of our better known critics wants to know who hit the sour note on the piccolo last Friday in the music concert. Your guess is as good as ours, but that's not saying much.

Since when does Henline run errands for one of our popular, young, male advertising managers? Wouldn't it be superswell if we all had a little errand girl?

Dame rumor hath it that the Latin Club name of its president, Richard Schannen, is Cupid. Well, we can't think of anything more fitting; but he surely isn't dressed for the part. Send in your applications to him, girls and boys.

Cadets Have Experience And Weight Advantage; Has Parsons of Plymouth.

Coming into the home stretch for a quartet of the toughest games on their 1934 schedule, South Side's Archers will tackle Culver Military Academy Saturday afternoon in the last of the season's games on the road. The Green should give their opponents a battle but will do good to emerge with a victory.

Little is known about this year's Culver squad, but they will no doubt have the advantage of weight and experience. As the Academy is a prep school for various colleges, the players are mostly high school graduates. This makes the members of the Maroon squad on an average of one year older than the Archer squad and gives them their consequent advantage in weight and experience.

The Green Wave will have to keep a wary eye out for the performance of Parsons, halfback on the military team. He is a graduate of Plymouth High School and has a reputation as a very dangerous player. He has plenty of speed, is a track star at Culver, and has one year's experience behind him.

Lundy Welborn is still somewhat uncertain about his starting lineup but probably will use much the same squad to start as saw action against Peru. Ostermeyer, veteran center, will be at the pivot position. Roop and Eschoff will probably work at guard, and Ellenwood and Straley are quite likely to get the call for the tackle posts. Brower George, pass snarer for the Green, will be at one end, and Jackson may start at the other end of the line. Bob Fowler, however, will also see some action at Jackson's position. The backfield is somewhat more uncertain. However, Simon will surely be calling the signals. Bob Nelson, who has been converted from an end, looked plenty good at Peru and will share the half-back duties with Bud Lee. Ed Ginn and Bob Lohman probably will also play halfback part of the time. Unless Fred Lenz's injured knee heals more rapidly than is expected, Jack Snyder is slated to take care of the fullback post.

Chumps Lose 7-0 In Football Game

Lightfeet Win Contest in One Of Hardest Fought Battles Of Year; Hoosiers Triumph.

Playing in one of the hardest fought tag football games of the season, the Lightfeet defeated the Chumps, 7-0. Encountering tougher opposition than they expected, the winners had all they could do to push their lone touchdown over the goal line. It was expected by most observers that the Lightfeet, with such players as Geyer, Wilson, Noan, and North, would have no trouble with the Chumps; but the Chumps played inspired ball and held the winners to seven points. Geyer scored the lone touchdown on a pass from the 15-yard line. Lohse dropped-kicked the extra point.

In the first lightweight tag football game of the season, the Hoosiers trimmed the Tornados 18-9. Walt Stone scored the first Hoosier touchdown, plunging the ball over from the 1-yard line. He also figured in the next score, passing to Bridges for the second touchdown. Cruse intercepted a Tornado pass and ran it back thirty-five yards to make the final score 18-0.

Featured by Bob Wilson's 35-yard run-back of the opening kickoff for a touchdown, the Lightfeet won their second heavyweight tag football contest of the season from the Rattlers 18-0. Punting from their own goal line, the Rattlers got off a poor kick, which Henry Miller caught and ran back fifteen yards to make the score 12-0 in favor of the Lightfeet. Bill Geyer passed thirty-five yards to Jim Hilgeman for the third score. Ewing and Geyer looked best for the losers.

G. A. A. Flashes

Sue Cameron is quite a character, especially in hockey. It seems that she just can't keep on her feet. It is not known what she does before games to make her this way.

What is the matter with some of the G. A. A. members? Here is an experience that a member had last week. Ruth Berning was sitting very innocently in the gym, when a sweet little girl came along and ask her if she was a freshman. It's all right, Ruth, you may look like a sophomore someday in the future.

The time-keepers for the hockey games should have no trouble in keeping time. One was seen to have as many as four watches at one time.

Evelyn Clauser is a good hockey player, only once in a while she makes a mistake. Last week her mistake was to hit her foot instead of the ball. That's all right, Evelyn, you know mistakes will happen.

Edna Disler certainly has the grit. She took a nose dive under Anna Marie Baumgartner's feet. Nobody knew that she was hurt until after the game, when it became known that she was pretty well done up.

Mary Jane Burhenn, a former G. A. A. member, is having a fine time. She is in San Bernardino, California, picking oranges, viewing mountains, going to ranches, and doing everything in general. Many will want to hear about your adventures when you come back, Mary Jane.

South Side Whips Peru Team By Score of 26-6 Friday Night

Making perhaps their best showing so far this season, South Side's powerful Archers trimmed Peru's inexperienced eleven by the score of 26 to 6 on the Circus City gridiron under the floodlights last Friday night. With the running attack clicking very well behind its powerful forward wall, the Archers made numerous long marches down the field and were continually in Peru's territory. The Archers would have probably run up a much larger score if Kelly, Peru kicker, had not given such an excellent display of punting. Bud Lee paced the Kelly Klad aggregation with two touchdowns to his credit.

Early in the first quarter, the Archers obtained possession of the ball on Peru's 46-yard line as a result of a short punt by Peru. Lee clipped off sixteen yards on the first play, and then carried it ten more on his second attempt. Nelson then toted it from the 20-yard line to the seven, and on the next play Lee dashed through the line to score his first touchdown of the game. His attempted place-kick for the extra point was wide. Lee kicked off to Peru, and the remainder of the quarter was spent in a series of punts after which South Side finally advanced to Peru's 47-yard line as the initial quarter concluded.

As the second period began, Simon's pass to Snyder advanced the ball to Peru's 20-yard line. Here the Peru gridders held and obtained the ball on downs. On their first play Atkinson, the fleet Circus City quarterback, went to the 33-yard line, and then stepped off to the 44- on the next play. Here South Side held the Peru eleven for three downs.

Peru kicked after being set back to their 35-yard line by a penalty, and Simon returned their punt almost fifty yards to the Peru 25-yard line. On the first down Simon tossed a pass to Jackson who was finally brought down on the two-yard line. On the first play Simon delayed his pass too long and was set back to the 17-yard line. Lee returned the ball to the 12 on the next down.

At this point Ed Ginn, Kelly Klad dropkick artist, entered the game and tried for a field goal. His attempt was slightly short, however. On Peru's first down on the 20-yard line, Ellenwood went in fast and spilled the ball-carrier for a 9-yard loss. Peru kicked, and South Side returned the pigskin to the 33-yard line. After an incomplete pass, Lee and Nelson alternated in carrying the ball in four downs to the 18-yard line. Here Simon passed to Nelson; and the Archers had possession of the ball on the 9-yard line, when Peru's backfield interfered with Nelson as he attempted to catch Simon's pass. On a line plunge Nelson advanced the ball to the 6-yard line, and Lee culminated the long march down the field when he crashed over the goal for his second score of the evening on an off-tackle play. His attempt for the extra point was blocked. The half ended soon after Lohman kicked off to Peru.

At the beginning of the second half a quick kick by Lee after the kickoff set Peru on its 16-yard line. On their second down Alinson, Peru's speed demon, swept around his left end 27 yards advancing the ball to the 43-yard line. After an exchange of punts, Peru obtained the ball on its own 44. After a crack at the line, Alberts threw a short pass to Atkinson, who outdistanced the opposing backfield and scored on a spectacular 50-yard dash after receiving the pass. Their attempt for the extra point by placekick failed when the pass from center was too high. Lohman returned Peru's kickoff to his own 23-yard line. Lee and Nelson advanced the ball to the 38 in two plays, and then Lee kicked to Peru's 43-yard line after South Side was set back to its own 30-yard line. A fumble by Peru on their first down was recovered by a South Side player on the midfield stripe. Nelson and Lee once more carried the ball forward to the 38-yard line, and then Lohman twisted through to the 8-yard line with very good interference by his mates. Lee gained another yard as the quarter ended.

On the first play of the concluding quarter, Lee carried the ball to the 3-yard line and then Snyder, diminutive fullback, scored on a line plunge. Ginn entered the game long enough to make a beautiful dropkick, and the score stood at 19 to 6 in favor of the Archers.

Lee kicked off to Peru, and they advanced the ball to their own 33 from where a quick kick on the second down put the ball on South Side's 13-yard line. Two consecutive losses put the ball back to the 6-yard line and Lee punted out to his own 38. Peru completed a long pass near the sidelines, and the receiver dashed up over the goal line. However, the ball was called back by the decision of the officials that the receiver was outside when he caught the pass.

Lohman intercepted a Peru pass soon after this, and South Side had possession of the ball near its own 40-yard line. Two plays netted no gain. Then Bob Lohman, sturdy fullback, swept around his left end and evaded all his would-be tacklers as he made a spectacular dash of almost 70 yards for a touchdown. Ginn converted on his place-kick, and the Kelly Klads were out in front by the score of 26 to 6. The game ended shortly after with Peru in possession of the ball on its own 40-yard line after an exchange of punts.

Bob Nelson is South Side's one man team. In the game last week Bob played halfback, fullback, and end. Keep it up, Bob.

Bud Lee really looked good in the game Friday. Besides scoring two touchdowns, Bud did some nice blocking and tackling.

Ed Ginn's educated toe was working. Friday night, as he made two points after touchdowns.

This week the team goes to Culver. This is expected to be one of the best teams ever to be played by South Side.

Last Saturday about 25 boys went to South Bend to watch Notre Dame play, while about 14 others went to watch Purdue.

What a collection of ties! South Side tied Decatur 0-0; Central tied Decatur 0-0; Central Catholic tied Central 0-0; and Central Catholic tied North Side 13-13.

The team surely played a great game last week. Everything was clicking in perfect order. That is the way, team, now let's take Culver.

Lundy has discovered a new speed merchant in Bob Lohman. Bob went off left tackle last Friday and galloped 65 yards for a touchdown. That a boy, Bob.

Last week the team spent a lot of time polishing up its plays. The score of the game shows the good results obtained.

South Side's line was really rushing the Peru passers. The passers had to throw so fast they didn't throw in the right place. Hurrah for the line.

South Side's football field is so hard that there isn't any dust.

French Provinces Subjects of Talks At French Club

Very interesting talks were given about two of the provinces of France at the French Club meeting held last Thursday, September 28. The first of these talks was given by Ruth Jones on the province of Alsace. The other talk was given by Betty Medaris on the province of Lorraine.

Alsace is in the southern part of France. Its main industry is agriculture; and its most important crops are wheat, corn, barley, and hops. In Alsace, the people are also engaged in textile making and mining of iron ore. A very picturesque description was given of the peasants and old rambling inns.

Lorraine is governed as a province of France, and is located to the east of it. It is engaged mostly in raising grain. Since Germany had governed this province for about fifty years, about eighty-five percent of the people speak German.

Also, as a part of the program, Miss Perkins played some records on the phonograph, the songs being in French. One of these records was "Barcarolle."

At the business part of the meeting the point system was explained and discussed. This system was adopted on the condition that Mr. Snider approve it. The constitution of the French Club had to be amended to provide for a fifth officer, the point recorder. John Bremer was elected to this office.

Any person having completed two years of French or having had one semester of French and who has made a grade of at least B or above is invited to come. There are no dues. New members at this meeting were Mildred Fossinger, Mary Snider, La Von Price, Wanda Jones, Jean Kirby, Virginia Worden, Kathleen Kigar, and Glenn Pressler.

At the next meeting of the French Club talks will be given on the provinces of Picardy and Champagne by Frank Montgomery and Betty English.

Mothers' Gym Class Meets Monday Evening

The mothers' gym class will hold its first meeting of the semester Monday night, October 15, in the gymnasium. All women in the south part of town who are interested are invited. Mrs. J. H. Chappell and Mrs. Earl Howard will be in charge of the organization of the class. Miss Alice Patterson will be the instructor of the class. During the coming year the South Side class will meet with the Central and North Side mothers' gym classes for many interesting activities. A small charge of 50 cents will be made for the ten lessons.

len's home room has chosen Jerry Zehr as chairman and Jessie Zollars as secretary. These members have appointed a committee with Bob Storm and Lois Wynneken to plan a program for the semester.

Since so many freshmen have season tickets in Mickey Kelly's home room that do not understand football, two of the boys in the room are taking turns in explaining the details of the game.

The following pupils in Miss Scherman's 100 man 3 classes made 98 to 100 percent in recent tests: Arleth Carvin, Hubert Klopfenstein, Lucille Kneller, Elsie Koch, Ellis Lockner, Fredrick Prange, John Staley, Paula Gerding, John Gunter, Millie Kohlmeier, Eileen Meyer, Betty Muntzing, Linda Lou Schulz, Don Sparkman, and Dorothy Volz.

Tea Will Be Held For Freshmen Mothers

On October 15 the Parent Teacher Association will hold a tea for the freshmen mothers at 2:30 o'clock in the cafeteria. All freshmen mothers are cordially invited. A very interesting program has been planned by the following people: Chairman, Mrs. Louie Hull; ways and means, Mrs. George Bacon; program, Mrs. F. H. Rupnow; membership, Mrs. R. F. Fudge; hospitality, Mrs. A. R. Hall; telephone, Mrs. O. N. Cripe; publicity, Mrs. George Mone-smith.

The following program will be presented:

"Greetings"—The president of the Parent-Teacher Association, Mrs. David Vesey.

"Start the Kettle Boiling"—The orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Wainwright.

"Tea Leaves"—Furnished by the mothers.

"Behind the Scenes"—Miss Pittenger.

"In the Tea Pot"—Mr. R. Nelson Snider.

Junior Hi-Y Members Will Swim at Pool

In accordance with their program of the year, the members of the Junior Hi-Y will convene for their swim in the Y. M. C. A. pool at 7 this evening. This forty-five minute swim will be followed by a business meeting at which final plans for the club's wiener bake at Foster Park next Wednesday evening will be made. Morgan Harrison, chairman of the committee for this event, will give his report on the program.

Mr. Wilson, prominent social science instructor, was the principal speaker at the last meeting of the club, last Thursday evening. He took the club members on a word ramble through the various colleges that he has attended. He gave many instructions on conduct while attending college and on how to obtain the most out of your education. His personal descriptions of several student riots at Yale, which were given national publicity at the time of their happening, showed that the writeups were grossly exaggerated. He concluded his talk by answering questions which the club members wished to have information on. A discussion of club dues and future activities was held in the business meeting. The meeting was closed with a circle of friendship prayer led by Dick Helm.

1933 Graduate Honored
Herbert Banet, former South Side football, basketball, and track star, is a member of the varsity football team at Manchester College. In Oak Leaves, the college newspaper, he was described as being a lanky backfield man with a stride like a horse and a drive like a wild bull. While at South Side, Banet received the King trophy of sportsmanship.

Present Shakespearean Plays
The dramatic classes of Washington Park High School of Racine, Wisconsin, are going to present three Shakespearean plays at an assembly to be held in the near future. The plays will be picked from Julius Caesar, Romeo and Juliet, Merchant of Venice, Taming of the Shrew, Hamlet, and Midsummer Night's Dream.

Musical Program Very Interesting; Admission Changed

Splendid music greeted the ears of the ones who entered the gymnasium to attend the first of the series of musical concerts to be presented. When all were seated, the performance began which consisted of these selections:

Reception Overture....R. Schlepennell
Western World.....Ralph W. Price
March of the Prophets....Fred Jewell
A Military Band.....Paul Yoder
A Hunting Scene.....P. Bucalossi
French March Patrol....J. M. Fulton
Phi Kappa Emblem....W. L. Skaggs
Supreme Triumph.....Fred Jewell

At intervals various specialties were offered.

Betty Wainwright and Helen Kreischer contributed much toward the program by rendering two hard duet selections, "Dark Eyes" and "Country Gardens."

The program ceased for several minutes to present Miss Dorothy Benner who told the whys and wherefores of the concert. She stated the purpose of the band concerts, which is to help clear the debts on the various articles necessary to a band. She also stated that in order to give the whole student body the benefit of attending these concerts, the price of the remaining concerts would be only five cents each. There are six remaining concerts and the cost for all of them is only thirty cents.

The program was continued by the act of the magician, Robert Wedertz, which contributed much laughter and amusement. His acts were clever and interesting, and he proved that the hand is quicker than the eye.

The next concert is to be held November 7, and the admission is only five cents.

Article Reprinted
The article which appeared in the September 20 issue of The Times pertaining to the requirement of driving permits for South Side High School pupils was so interesting to other schools that the editors of The Coal Digger, high school paper of Gary, Indiana, and The Orange and Black, high school paper of Taconing, Maryland, had it printed in their respective high school papers.

Hi-Y And Girl Reserve Fall Frolic Saturday

Hard Times To Be Theme Of Party Sponsored by Clubs of High Schools.

Students Wearing Old Rags Admitted

During Evening, Dancing To Be Featured in Y. W. Gym; Price Fifteen Cents.

"Hard Times" is to be the theme of the Fall Frolic sponsored by the Hi-Y and Girl Reserve Clubs of the three high schools at the Y. W. C. A. at 8:30 o'clock Saturday, October 20. Suits and gowns will be tucked away for one evening as it was decided that only students in old clothes would be admitted. The majority of boys will probably wear "rags" while old skirts and jackets will be prevalent among the fair sex.

Dancing will be featured in the gym during the earlier portion of the evening to the music of Bud Goodman's orchestra. Regular routine of dancing will be broken up by tag and spotlight dances and grand marches. This recreation will be especially delightful for the gym floor has been resanded and polished. A modernistic canopy, blue and white, with a huge globe suspended from the center, will adorn the ceiling. An old fence will be placed around the sides of the gym to create a "barnish" atmosphere.

Refreshments Will Be Served

The next feature on the program will be refreshments served in the dining room. The tables will be arranged along the outside of the room cabaret style, in order that a floor show may be presented. This entertainment will consist of several acts. Dalton MacAlister will give an interpretation of Sherlock Holmes, Virginia MacNamara will give an avaricious dance, and a "good ol' fashioned melodrama" will be presented by members of the Friendship Club of Central.

After this there will be dancing until 11:30 o'clock. The South Side committee, Pauline Crabbill, Aletha Hatfield, Albert Kelso, Frank Montgomery and Bob Klopfenstein, are in charge of the orchestra and decorations. The North Side committee is in charge of the refreshments, and the Central committee is in charge of checking.

Tickets Not Sold at Door

Tickets will not be sold at the Frolic for a limited attendance is necessary. Those students wishing to secure tickets should see Pauline Crabbill or Bob Klopfenstein. These tickets, at 15 cents apiece, should be secured as soon as possible, for there are only 90 tickets allotted to South Side students.

This frolic is the first of a series of recreational programs sponsored by the combined Hi-Y and Girl Reserve groups of this city for the purpose of raising money for the high school forums to be given this winter on the ten Sundays preceding Easter. The representatives of the three schools met at the Y. W. C. A. Saturday morning. They discussed the High School Forums. Last year some students felt that the forums should continue for more than ten weeks; however, nothing definite was decided.

Since both Girl Reserve and Hi-Y clubs are based on Service, this year these recreational programs are being planned. At present the attendance is to be limited to 300 individuals. It is hoped that through these programs those students who ordinarily do nothing over the week-end will have the privilege of these entertainments.

Junior-Math Club Holds Halloween Pot-Luck

The Junior-Math Club will have a potluck in the form of a Halloween party on October 26. Maxine Rippe, president of the club, invited members to her house for the party. The Halloween party is being planned by Charles Thorne, Charles Hart, Nora Mae Bradberry, and Marjorie Clayton.

There will be a short meeting on October 23 at which the party will be planned. All members who intend to go to the Halloween party should come to the meeting of October 23.

South Side Times Program On Radio Is Huge Success

Monday's broadcast of the South Side Times went over with a huge success. Bob Zieg was the announcer for the entire program, and he opened the broadcast by introducing Mr. Jack Wainwright and the South Side Band, which played one of South Side's pep songs as their first number. Bob then introduced Mr. Merle J. Abbott, the superintendent of the city schools, who spoke on the "Success and Failure of the Schools." Mr. Abbott spoke highly of The Times as an education in itself.

After another selection from the band, Bob introduced Dick Helm, Times sports editor, who in turn introduced Mr. Lundy Welborn, the football coach, whom he interviewed. Mr. Welborn in answering Dick's questions stated that South Side's football team during the past eleven years had obtained the percentage of 73 in the games won, an excellent percentage. He gave the number of games won since 1922 as 74, those lost as 27, and those tied as 7. During the eleven years which he has been coach at South Side, he has used five different systems of playing football. In 1925 the Page system was used, in 1926-27 the Punch system, in 1928 the Single-wing Back system, in 1929-30-31 the Punch system, and in 32-33-34 the

Record-Breaking Fire Drill Held Last Friday Morning

By Bob Klopfenstein

"Fire! There's smoke in all the halls!" "The boys' locker room is burning!" "Here comes the hook-and-ladder wagon!" "Aw—it's a fake. I saw the fire engine in front of the school hours ago." These were some of the comments made during the fire drill last Friday the second period.

Never, since South Side was built, has there been a decent fire drill. That is, not until last Friday. The idea that the school building was fire-proof had been drilled into the students; for at previous fire drills, the only energy consumed was used in talking to the student who happened to be moseying along beside you. Teachers and fire drill fanatics have wondered if anything could ever force the students to walk faster and make less noise. The previous record was two minutes, although it usually took about three minutes to clear the building. Each drill was a little worse than the one before; it was plain that something radical had to be done.

All was quiet in the second period classes until about 9:30 o'clock when sirens were heard on Calhoun Street. Almost instantly the fire alarms started throughout the building. Few students connected the two happenings as a coincidence, and were glad that "just another fire drill" was happening in order to break the monotony of class. The doors to the rooms were opened and smoke could be seen and smelled in all the halls! That was a different situation. Few students said anything, but there seemed to be a general dive for the nearest door. The students were not taking their time, either. The building was cleared in one and one-half minutes, a record time.

How was the smoke screen produced? By the use of tar smudges placed in the ventilating system. The cost was estimated at $3, but it is believed the money was not wasted. Now that the students know it can be done, the forth-coming fire drills will undoubtedly be better.

Fire drills have been sponsored all over the city, since October 7 to 13 was Fire Prevention Week. According to regulations we must have one fire drill a month, and with the co-operation of the entire student body we can break all records. Every student of South Side should have enough pride to conduct himself in such a manner that South Side High School will hold the city record for public school fire drills.

Freshmen Mothers Attend P.T.A. Tea

Music and Talks by Mrs. David Vesey, Miss Pittenger, and Mr. Snider Comprise Program

A tea was held in the cafeteria Monday, October 15, for the Freshmen Mothers by the Parent-Teachers Association. Eighty freshmen mothers attended. The following committee was in charge: Mrs. Alvin Hall, president; assisted by Mrs. Woodhull, Mrs. Culver, and Mrs. Rupnow, program chairman.

Mrs. Rupnow carried out a very interesting program using the Tea Pot as a theme. The first number on the program was several selections by the South Side harp sextet, including the following: Betty Wainwright, Helen Flaig, Miriam Lickert, Wanda Jones, Joan Bonsib, and Helen Kreisher. Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony" was presented by the South Side Symphony Orchestra, which started the "kettle boiling."

Greetings were extended by Mrs. David Vesey, the president of the Parent-Teachers Association, in which she told the aims and ideals of the P.T.A. Miss Pittenger spoke on "Behind the Scenes" using the every day life of the dean as an example. The last speaker was presented by Mr. Snider, who talked on the "School Training for Future Citizenship."

South Side Teachers To Attend Convention

A State Teacher's Convention will be held in Indianapolis at the same time the Northeastern Indiana Teachers' will convene in Fort Wayne, October 18 and 19. Many Fort Wayne teachers plan to attend the state convention. Those from South Side are: Miss Crissie Mott, Miss Elizabeth Demaree, Miss Mary Helen Ley, Mr. R. Nelson Snider, Mr. George Pittenger, Miss Mary McCloskey, Miss Nelle Covalt, and Miss Harvey.

Notre Dame System. The strongest teams produced from these various systems were the teams of 1925, '27, '29, '30 and '33. Mr. Welborn also remarked that on average, 15 men were lost by graduation, but that this year an unusual number would be lost, the number being 21. This year's team is the largest in the eleven years that he has been at South Side, and the average weight is 160 pounds with a backfield average of 155 pounds. He stated the prospects for the game Saturday with Central Catholic, and in doing so he gave good comments on the opposing team, stating that it was the strongest team they had had during his work at South Side.

Interviews Ora Davis

At the end of Mr. Welborn's interview, the band played a march, after which Dick Helm interviewed Mr. Ora Davis, the faculty manager for athletics. Mr. Davis stated that he became the faculty manager in 1925 and continued so until 1930 when he became the head of the golf and tennis team.

French Club Holds Interesting Meeting

Talks Given by Betty English And Frank Montgomery Dwell On Champagne and Picardy.

Two short, interesting talks were given at the French Club meeting last Thursday. Frank Montgomery talked about Picardy, and Betty English gave a talk on Champagne.

Both Picardy and Champagne are provinces in the northeastern part of France. In Champagne are the well-known poppy fields. Rheims, said to be a twin sister of Rome, is located in this province. In Picardy, in the city of Amiens, is a world-famous Cathedral. The streets of many of the cities are very small and narrow.

During the business part of the meeting, it was decided to invite the German and Latin Clubs to a joint meeting. A committee was appointed to make some posters for the meeting room of the French Club. On the posters will be the emblem, creed, and purpose of the club. On this committee are the following: Berneta McIntosh, Shirley Sykes, Betty English, Albert Bidelot, Lloyd Grodrian, and Dick Reincke. New members at this meeting were Shirley Sykes and Paul Randall.

Future Plans Made For U. S. A. Club

Future meetings of the U. S. A. Club were discussed in the meeting of October 11. It was decided in the discussion that each member should have a secret service pal. Another subject which was discussed was to limit the club parties to two or three a semester. The other meetings will be in the form of service, education, or discussion.

After the discussion, towels were handed by the members for their Community Project. The committee in charge of this meeting was composed of a chairman, Evelyn Kruse; Claudine Wells, Barbara Von Gunten, and Martha Ann Bacon.

The membership party, which is to be in the form of a Halloween party, will be October 25. Plans for this party are being made by Emily Lepper and Lois Wyneken. Invitations will be given to those who have paid their dues.

Wo-Ho-Ma To Install Officers at Wiener Bake

A very interesting program has been planned for the Wo-Ho-Ma meeting to be held on Thursday afternoon and evening, October 18. This meeting will be in the form of a Wiener bake. Formal installation of officers and initiation of new members will also take place at this time. All girls who are planning to attend this meeting are asked to pay ten cents and sign up in room 38, Helen Clark, Geraldine Dush, and Mildred Keller are the committee in charge of the meeting.

Rotogravure Section Is Added To Times

This week an entirely new thing in the way of school papers is added to The Times. It is the much-talked-of monthly rotogravure section. In this will be found pictorial news from all over. Every bit of it will have direct bearing on educational things. Interest in town and country will share alike. Undoubtedly South Side will have a part in furnishing news for this "brown section."

South Side is not the only school that is given the benefit of this addition. North Side High School has subscribed to it for a period of three years, and if it proves satisfactory, will be taken indefinitely.

South Siders Cite Their Big Moments at Fair This Summer

Millions of people visited the Century of Progress and had the honor of rubbing elbows with some of our own South Side students who helped to make up those millions. Of course, each one there

Math-Science To Hold Frolic On October 17

Annual Halloween Party To Be Given Wednesday; Party Committee Elected.

Math-Science will hold its annual Halloween party October 17, at 7:30 in the Greeley Room.

This party is the club's outstanding meeting of the year. An unusually entertaining program has been arranged by the program committee which consists of the following: Eleanor Cupp, chairman; Clayton Kilpatrick, Charlene Davis, and Wayne Decker.

The plan of entertainment will be as follows: First there will be a vote on costumes. The votes will be cast for the most distinctive costume and the funniest costume. The two persons chosen for their distinctive or funny costumes will be given prizes. Following the voting on costumes will come the general unmasking.

Maxine Morton and Georgianna Jane Jones will play accordions for the entertainment of the members. A reading on some phase of Halloween will be given by one of the club members. The continuation of the program will feature Virginia MacNamara in a costume dance.

Following the entertainment given by individuals the members themselves will enter into the program in that they will be divided into groups, and each group will present some entertaining stunt. Games under the supervision of Wayne Decker, will be played next. Refreshments will then be served to the members and a grand variety of them is promised by the food committee under the direction of Anna Brumbaugh, chairman; Helen Sinish, and Dorothea Nance.

A fortune-telling booth will be a feature of the party wherein the students may make queries into the distant past and the dim future.

The Halloween parties in the past years have obtained a high degree of success, and the one promises this year to surpass the other years in numbers and entertainment.

Anyone who plans to attend the party must have the twenty-five cent dues paid on or before the day of the party. Dues may be paid in either room 80 or room 76.

Tickets will be given to those who have paid their dues and these are to be presented at the door at the party. These tickets also may be obtained in room 80 or 76.

Ora Davis Speaks To Exchange Club

"Directing and Managing High School Athletics" Is Subject Of Talk by Sports Manager.

Ora M. Davis, athletic manager and teacher of mathematics at South Side, was the principal speaker at the Tuesday noon luncheon meeting of the Fort Wayne Exchange Club. The president, Carl Hauk, was in charge of the meeting.

Mr. Davis spoke to the group on the subject of "Directing and Managing High School Athletics." He told why we have athletics and how the Indiana High School Athletic Association has improved and organized sports. Mr. Davis stated that before this organization came into existence, quarrels, hard feelings, and damages often resulted when schools played against each other. The I. H. S. A. A. now protects the school teams, and schedules are made so that the schools know exactly who, when, and where they are to play. Mr. Arthur L. Trester is the commissioner of athletics in the I. H. S. A. A.

The different methods in which various schools carry out their athletic program was pointed out by Ora Davis. He stated that the athletic program came from the desire within the school to engage in interscholastic athletics. The program as it exists today is a result not only as a desire within the school to engage in interscholastic athletics, but also, it is a demand from the patrons or fans.

When Mr. Davis explained how South Side carries out its athletic program, he displayed all the forms, cards, and other materials used by the athletic department. The duties of an athletic manager are to schedule all games, hire all officials, buy all equipment, work on game day, keep record of points toward boys' letters, take charge of ticket sale, be responsible for all equipment, keep an athletic history, be responsible for all equipment, and order all checks written. After stating each of his duties, Mr. Ora Davis talked more in detail and mentioned the procedure on each one.

Tea Dance Enjoyed by Many Who Attended

Gwendolyn Horn's tap dance was the outstanding feature at the tea dance held in the cafeteria last Friday. The first tap dance was danced to the song hit "I Saw Stars." The second was Gwendolyn's interpretation of a Punch and Judy show presented in a very striking manner.

The music for the dance was presented by Bud Goldman and his orchestra. The music was very peppy and enjoyed by all.

Many attended it, and all who were privileged to attend enjoyed it. We hope that more or at least just as many attend the dances in the future.

Archer Band To Be Heard At Convention

Concert Is Given at Shrine Auditorium; Will Start At Nine A. M. Thursday.

Harp Ensemble Is Program Feature

Group of Seven Harpists To Make Debut; Betty Wainwright Leads Sextet.

Next Thursday morning the South Side Band under the direction of Mr. Jack Wainwright, will present a concert to open the program for the annual convention of the Northeastern Indiana Teachers' Association. The concert will be given at the Shrine auditorium, beginning at 9 o'clock.

A greatly varied program has been planned to please the musical tastes of everyone. The first number will be Olivadote's "Hall of Fame" march. This martial tune will feature a large group of marimphone and harp players.

A novelty number, "A Military Band," by Paul Yoder, will also be presented. Also on the program will be the suite from Atlantis by Saffranek. This suite is a very beautiful and very well-worked out picture describing the last days and fall of the mighty city of Atlantis. Mr. Wainwright has worked out an arrangement of this suite for the band that presents a truly impressive and awe-inspiring spectacle, and the band has literally outdone itself in putting forth this arrangement.

One of the special features of the program will be the debut of South Side's newly formed harp ensemble. This unusual group consists of seven girls who have joined together to learn the principles of group harp playing. Betty Wainwright, daughter of Jack Wainwright, musical director in the school, has been instructing the group, so that in a short time it has become quite proficient. The harpists who make up the ensemble are Betty Wainwright, Helen Kreischer, Joan Bonsib, Helen Flaig, Wanda Jones, Miriam Lickert, and Natalie Brenner.

Concluding the program, the band will burst forth into the stirring strains of Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever." On the trio the harps and marimphones will again come to the fore. However, this time they will be augmented by a group of trombones and cornets.

Mothers Organize Years' Gym Class

Group Meets Monday to Perform Under Leadership of Miss A. J. Patterson Gym Instructor.

The mothers' gym class held their first meeting of the season in the school gymnasium on Monday night, October 15, from 7:15 to 9 o'clock. Thirty-two mothers turned out for classwork, which will be under the direction of Miss Alice Patterson, while many others are planning on joining at a future meeting.

During the first forty-five minutes the class was taken through a group of Danish gymnastics. Then they were divided into groups to prepare for stunts. In the next hour volleyball teams were organized and the class was started in their first volleyball game.

An invitation from the Central mothers' gym class was read which invited them to a party in the Central gym on October 29. Mrs. Harry Kelsey was chosen as chairman of a committee who will plan a stunt which our mothers will do at the party.

Mrs. Henry Chappell is in charge of the organization of the whole class.

Senior Class Chooses Year's Faculty Advisers

Miss Fiedler and Mr. Chappell were again chosen at the meeting of the officers of the senior class to assist the seniors during the coming year. They have advised many of the senior classes. It is for this reason that they were chosen. The meeting was held after school Tuesday with Mr. Snider. Among the other things discussed were the senior dance, the funfest, and the senior play. Other plans will be made in the future.

"Daddy Long Legs" Chosen

Final trials have been completed by senior players trying out for "Daddy Long Legs," a popular current comedy, at Roosevelt High School, Seattle, Washington.

Friday's Musical Program Receives Varying Comments

In answer to the question, "What do you think of the musical program that was given last Friday," many diverse answers were received. The answers ranged from "scrumptious" to "lousy." The following replies were given:

Margaret Foellinger: "I think it was colossal, stupendous, grand, magnificent, unfathomable, in other words, just swell."

Don Staley: "Oh, it was good enough for fifteen cents; and it was also good enough to while away two periods in."

Bill Hebermehl: "Swell, because I was in it."

Richard Schannen: "Wonderful, because I wasn't in town."

Clayton Kilpatrick: "I only heard two pieces because I didn't pay fifteen cents."

Anabelle Pollock: "I liked it very much."

Milly Hoff: "It was a very scrumptious idea."

Loretta Kraus: "I adored it."

Hazel Kuttler: "I fell asleep in the middle of it and was late for class."

Homer Miller: "I didn't go because I skipped."

Bonsilene Craig: "I think it was just swell."

Elberta Beall: "It was thrilling."

Bob Adams: "It was truly a marvelous musical work of art, reflecting much well-deserved glory to the perseverance and initiative of the director, and stuff."

"Irish" (Ye linytper of ye olde presse shoppe): "The linytper machine made a most excellent background for Bonisi's sarrusophone."

Joan Bonsib: "Superbongodiolalextranullagloorishuihackasocofide."

Central Catholic we must lick!
Lundy's boys will do the trick.
C. C.'s team will sure look sick!

Revenge is not sweet. It only adds misery to misery.

How do you like the roto-section? "Choice," isn't it?

Senior! Have you "sen-ior" Totem photograph about that picture?

Nothing lightens one's burdens like talking over the burdens of others.

There is no such thing as luck put "p" before the luck, and you have it.

A vacation in the offing! In fact tomorrow thanks to our teachers! They must convene.

The Depression Is Over! The Times came within 50 subscriptions of their goal. A really remarkable achievement!

"Talk on China To Be Heard by Wranglers,"—headline. Must be another remote control re-broadcast system again.

"Scribes Go to Franklin for Convention,"—headline. Just so you may read better stories in The Times this year—we hope.

It doesn't pay to quarrel with anyone. To wrangle with a superior is injurious; with an equal, doubtful, and with an inferior, cowardly. Keep peace a whole piece.

Did you like The Times radio program last Monday night? We did, and we certainly have a fine master of ceremonies in our midst, to say nothing of the band, a certain sports editor, general manager, and others.

Good Manners

Did you ever stop to think what good manners really are? Just grace, courtesy, and gentle consideration of other people. That's all. It's an intangible thing that we can't buy, but each one of us can cultivate the various elements that go to make up good manners, until they become a habit.

Delightful manners are a part of us—they are not taken off and put on like a coat; they are not saved just for company. They are used all of the time. Good manners are not hard to acquire. Practice and a little thoughtfulness are all that is necessary.

The school is an excellent place to use your good manners. Have good manners in the halls; in the classrooms; in the cafeteria; in the gymnasium; and every other place about the school, because good manners, kindness and a sunny smile are so far and few between these days that they are especially effective. You will find the person who has these characteristics will get more out of life and seem to enjoy it more than the one who has none of them. Let's start right now a campaign to promote good manners.

Genius vs. Hard Work

The sooner we recognize that "nine-tenths of genius is hard work," the better it will be for us. We will not waste time bemoaning the fact that we were not born with more than the ordinary amount of talent in some particular art, but we will go ahead and develop what little we have until it surpasses that of a person who has believed that his natural talent could not be improved.

If we do not use the legs we have, they will become shriveled and useless. Thus, if we do not use our brain, it will become shriveled and useless. If we use our legs, they are developed until they are strong and hardy. Hardships will leave no print upon them. Thus it is with our brains. The more we use them, the better they become and the more they will be able to do.

Demosthenes overcame his difficulties and improved the strength of his voice to such an extent that he became a remarkable orator. Day after day, down on the beach, he filled his mouth with pebbles and shouted against the roar of the sea. His naturally weak voice grew stronger and his speech impediments were overcome until he at last excelled the natural ability of his fellow orators. He accomplished what he set out to do by hard work; and we can, too.

Necessity For Good Speech

A few weeks ago we read an article commenting on the poor English used by high school students. We thought, "Does this criticism apply to our school and to our student body?" One would not need to hesitate to answer this question if he would walk down the halls of this building. At any time he can hear a senior use such expressions as these: "I'll be seein' yuh," "Sez you," "You ain't kiddin' me by that kind of bunk," and the never ceasing, "Oh yeh!"

Three excuses can be given for this situation brought about by the constant users of slang: First, slang is more forceful than good English; second, slang sounds clever; third, students are careless.

All but the last named are absolutely false. One having such a small vocabulary that slang must be used probably does not belong in high school. The excuse that slang is clever is as false as the speech the student uses.

Carelessness, the only true excuse for using slang, not only demerits the person's character but decreases the true value of his diploma. Also, decreasing the value of the diploma is degrading the students of the school. Do we want this to happen? Do we want to leave such an impression of our school? Do we want to make a diploma a piece of paper? It's because slang lowers the value of these two that it is important that only good English be used by students.

Magna Cum Laude

While passing out the plums of praise we must not forget the girls who spend their precious study periods working in Mr. Snider's office. These girls do much the same work as the girls who labor for Miss Pittenger. They take around any special bulletins, or any notes to teachers. They answer telephone calls, sort the mail and put it in the teachers' rooms. They take any packages that come by mail for the teachers and deliver them to the particular teacher to whom they are sent. They call the pupils out of class that Mr. Snider wants to see.

Each girl, of course, has her own special duties that must be done during the periods she works. Some of the girls make stencils, some do any typing that the teachers want done, and some of them lean nonchalantly on the "counter." There's something so superior and aloof in the way people lean on counters; it must be a very confidence-giving experience.

Those who work there are: First period, Anna Brumbaugh; second period, Mary Louise Stalhut; third period, Susan Meyers; fourth period, Ruth Jones; fifth period, Elizabeth Summers; sixth period, Evelyn Bullerman; seventh period, Pauline Crabill.

These girls fill a very useful position. They work hard and are deserving of recognition and praise. They are instrumental in relieving Mr. Snider of some of the many details that require so much time. For this aid to our busy principal, we thank them doubly.

Freshman Fantasy

Of Biology

Q.—When is a bug not a bug?
A.—When it's a potato bug.
Q.—When is a fly not a fly?
A.—When it's a dragon fly.
Q.—When is a toad not a toad?
A.—When it's a horned toad.
Q.—When is a damsel not a damsel?
A.—When she is a damsel fly.
And that's biology. But wait! There is still more to it. There are compounds and hydrogen and the whirling aquarium cycle and nuclei and microscopes and protoplasm and chromosomes, all in a few short weeks of a freshman's biological life.

Then there is the experiment,—a gay little comedy that ripples on like this:
Time: Any morning or afternoon.
Place: Room 91.
Characters: A bunch of hopefuls, and a good teacher. Curtain. Lights.

The scene opens on a class industriously pursuing knowledge (sez you). All is quiet save for the scraping of feet, the crackling of papers, and the furtive rustling of the whisperers.

The teacher speaks in a low voice as always, "We'll make carbon dioxide today."
Immediately the class is electrified. There is an eager scraping as chairs are turned in preparation for the next step in the drama. Hands gripping tables and chairs, (what a gripping drama) teeth clenched, eyes shining, posture alert and straining.

Suddenly there is a mad rush. Has the word been given? Are we to collect at the table? But before our minds can answer, we are caught in the maelstrom, running, pushing, colliding, elbowing, till at last we are flung against the table, as by a tidal wave. Or, if our physical prowess be less, we find ourselves ejected to the rim of the seething mass, and we run hither and thither peering between heads ahead in a vain attempt to observe.

It's all over now, and we saunter back to our places having gleaned another crumb of knowledge.

The Tiny Times

Pedagogue to Parents

What is the value of current events?

By Hazel Miller

Social science teachers have come to recognize that current events form a basis for tracing relevant and significant relationships to the past. Since current news constitutes contemporary history which cannot be found in books, newspapers and magazines must be used. Because there is no text book, the study of current events is more informal than the study of history, economics, civics, or occupations. There can be no prepared syllabus because from week to week and from year to year the content varies and frequently overlaps.

The material found in periodicals and daily papers is essential in keeping the student informed on what is going on about him. Such reading should develop an interest in public affairs. Tariff, taxation, conservation, capital and labor are continuous and recurrent topics with new situations arising from time to time which modify the view of an earlier period. The fundamental knowledge gained from text books will be adapted more easily to changing conditions if the pupil finds them in a new form in the public press. This knowledge of history in the making should promote a tolerance of different views.

To be an intelligent voter one must have a clear idea of the great issues of the day which can be gained in no other way than by the study of current events and movements. The pupils of today are the voters of tomorrow. Therefore, the habit of reading current news should be acquired before the boy or girl leaves school.

In choosing a newspaper or periodical, one should select one in which the information is trustworthy and authoritative; one that is written in a clear and definite style; and, if possible, one that is non-partisan.

News items must not be used indiscriminately, but only those that supplement the work of understanding social and political problems should be chosen. It is essential that the pupil learns to evaluate the mass of material which he finds in present day papers and magazines and to decide upon its true worth, thus preventing an acceptance of everything he reads; that he learns to distinguish between fact and opinion; that he realizes that most questions have two sides and therefore acquire the habit of considering the questions from the standpoint of reason and judgment; and that he learns to apply the material in interpreting and understanding his times.

Around the School

By The Rounder, Jr.

Julia Crabill surely is free with her lipstick. He likes lipstick, but not on that sweater, Julia!

We wonder just how Elmer Webb rated 100 in that last Chemistry 2 test?

Miss Benner certainly must have received a thrill when she was presented with that beautiful bouquet (carrots, beets, radishes, etc.) the sixth period Friday. However, the students of said class did take pity on the beloved teacher and presented her with a really beautiful one. It must be great to be popular.

Well, well, the "peanut sentence" of Mr. Null has again been correctly interpreted by Ruth Keller. In honor of the event his class celebrated with a "peanut party" Tuesday. Nice acceptance speech, Ruth.

A valiant crowd really turned out for the game at Culver. From the local crowd present most followers seemed to be girls. We wonder why?

Ursula Morton, do you know what kind of a school Culver is? One day kind of a Culver game said person was heard to remark, "Are there any girls at Culver?" That's the "pay-off," Morton.

We fear that one of the popular eating houses near Fort Wayne will be using some of South Side's talent since Saturday night; Rex Knorr and Betty Meigs provided the most excellent entertainment for the after-dance crowd by their imitable interpretation of chop-sticks.

Klub Kharacters

We find a dusky, dark-haired athlete taking her place in this column of characters for this week. She has deep gray eyes and very white teeth. She is generally attired in a letter sweater, as she is quite athletic. Her weight is one hundred four pounds, and her height is five feet three inches. "What do you enjoy most in life?" she was asked.

"Oh, I enjoy hockey, basketball, baseball, and volleyball almost better than anything else," was her reply.

"What is your main ambition?" was the next question.

"If I can get physics well enough in high school, I want to take it at Indiana. After that I want to take up aviation," she replied.

She belongs to Philo, G. A. A., Rifle, So-Si-Y, and Math-Science, for which she is the Inter-Club Congress representative. Last year she was the secretary of both the U. S. A. and Rifle Clubs.

This term's treasurer of Rifle Club is Helen Anderson!

Archer Atrocities

When Francis K. told I. May about how Clayton K. wanted to come over to her house one night, Miss May replied, "Ida slapped him, the young rascalapallion." Oh, these cavevomen.... Elizabeth M. writes us a scathing letter giving us a piece of her mind (she doesn't have very much to give) about dirt subscribers who put false things in this column. Now she's mad about what came in last week about her flame, Phil, and Mervyn G.... Jack was knocked for a Roop, when, to Elser up, he placed a cushion for her to rest on. (These fresh undergraduates!).... Lyda Mae he Stumped as to whether Elgin cares for her or not. Anyway, she is all atwitter about him.... Luella didn't know Wehr to go when Paul went after the gas instead of protecting her from the big bad mans.... Frances think that Bill Hebermehl is a sissy because he only gets romantic when Knight comes.... Bob Blomker goes in for clandestine meetings in graveyards.... Harold Roberts amuses himself by playing with hearts in health class, only they're artificial hearts.... Bud Schrom was overheard to say to Peg Kilpatrick when waiting for her near the girls' locker room, "Gee, but you're slow." (What do you mean, slow?).... Paul Ellison is still waiting for the plans to be made for the wiener bake that he and Virginia Fathauer were going to have.

Elizabeth writes in and wants to know if Bob Le Chat likes her because she likes him.... Why does a certain member of the McGinley family write in articles about herself?... P. McConnell likes to cast a Pall over Dick Frankel's attention's in Betty Williams' way.... Robert Morton doesn't exactly need a Mitten to handle Marjorie M. because she isn't so cold as you would think. You ought to see them alone some time.... The Goon wants to know the name of the big, handsome brute who carried Ruth Phipps home from the wiener bake one night.... Charles surely likes to Cram on the line when he's out with Lorraine Hueur. The same one that he hands to the rest of his "flames".... F. R.'s Fishing is very Rehr, but Ellen De Pue fell for him, hook, line, and sinker.... What's this? A stampee? Oh, it's only Anne Abbott and Joan Smith rushing to the phone in the Times room to speak to B. Tumbleston of Columbus, Ohio.... A Brothers surely goes for Bob Hull, Anne-howl!.... Jeannette is mad at Willard R. because he won't take her for a Ride-nour anything else to develop her romantic tendencies.... Marie H. always gets a Ray of light in algebra class when she looks at R. G.... You could have knocked Clara off a Logue when she saw Edmund F. for the first time.... Kathryn's goose was practically Cooked when she tried to take Bob away from Joan Bonish.... We wonder what the big attraction is in Oklahoma that keeps Dot Douglas there instead of coming back to South Side where she is so missed by the members of the fairer (?) sex.... Helen Wight surely yearned to act the part of Rosalind in English. Maybe it's because Kenneth Ross played the part of Orlando. Such adoration!... Don sure Fauxed Frances one Knight when she tried to set waves in his hair.... Who Flung Mud wants to suggest to John Bex that he tie an anchor on himself or the windbag will float away. Nothing like a little competition for Helen K. to inspire spirit.... We hear that Virginia McNamara spilled some "Lily of the Valley" perfume in the study hall. Maybe it's because she sits in seat B-O.... Vera Ellinger is blind to everything but Bob Nelson. The other day she came to the wrong class at the wrong time and with the wrong books.

My Experience As a Leader
Mary Ellen Kilpatrick
English 3 Grade A
Teacher—Miss Rinehart
I spent most of my time making plans for my position as President of the Music Club. Every evening, when I got home from school, I would plan a certain meeting. For example, one evening I would plan the Christmas party, and the next evening I would plan the Membership Campaign. I would plan how I would make everyone's mind me and do as I said. I also took much time in planning the meetings and when we would have them. I planned so much that I could have been able to rule two clubs.

After all my planning I had several disappointments. My biggest disappointment was that the girls would not agree with me. They all wanted their own ways and would not do anything I wanted to do. It seemed that no two girls ever agreed. Another disappointment was that some of the girls would come only to parties and would not attend the regular meetings. I thought it my duty to make them attend, but still they would not come.

In spite of my disappointments I accomplished much experience and received pleasure out of being at the head of this club. All the parties that I planned turned out splendidly and we had a good time at each party. I received the experience that to be a leader is no easy job. It takes work and courage to be a real honest leader.

An After School Playtime
By Betty Gross
English 2 Grade A
Teacher—Miss Rinehart

I waited with more than usual anticipation for the hands of the clock to reach three thirty this special afternoon, as we intended to have a show. It was to be a very elaborate affair, for we had a beautiful curtain. At least we thought it was. It was an old quilt lined with red satin. Oh, that color of red!

But when the time came for the curtain to rise, I was not so eager for the show to go on. Like most amateur performers because none of us was over ten—we left many things to fate. For example, we didn't know how the Godmother was going to change Cinderella into her lovely clothes. We hoped the audience wouldn't notice that the beads came off of her gown every step she took.

But it wasn't such a bad show. Our profits looked very large to us—ten cents plus a sack of candy kisses which a mother of the performers donated. And, of course, we had fun.

Opinions
(Editor's Note: This was written by a member of the varsity football team who requested that his name be omitted.)

South Side is supposed to have the best school spirit in Fort Wayne. The students have done well so far at the games, considering that we have had no pep sessions. The freshmen, probably the most enthusiastic class in the school, do not even know the yells.

We haven't had any pep sessions to install the spirit in the students. However, if the football team loses, every-one jumps on their neck when it really isn't their fault. The student body and the faculty are not backing them. There is only one pep session scheduled for the remainder of the football season. It seems from this that the football team is supposed to win only one game. However, there are four or five pep sessions for the basketball season.

South Side Team Will Tackle Central Catholic Saturday

Archers Hope For First Win In City Series

Green Is Faced With Three Of Toughest Encounters On This Year's Schedule.

Irish Have Had Successful Season

Barrettmens Are Practicing Intensively on Passing and New Line Formations.

Faced with the necessity of winning the three toughest battles on their schedule in succession, the South Side Archers will tackle the strongest team that Central Catholic has put on the gridiron in recent years. The Irish have already engaged in their other two city series encounters and have proven their strength by holding both North Side and Central to ties. South Side has shown a tendency to play with varied success this season, and they will have to be having a "good" day if they take the determined Irish squad into camp.

Central Catholic's vaunted eleven has had a very successful season, considering the tough schedule they have played. They were defeated in their opening tilt with the powerful Yellow Jackets of Decatur by one point. On the following week they gained their initial win of the season when they administered a defeat to the Portland Panthers. Following this game, they tackled the strong squad of St. Hedwige of South Bend, and the decision was a scoreless tie. On the following Saturday they repeated this same performance against Central's Tigers. In their next city series encounter they battled North Side to a much disputed 13-13 tie decision. Then they bowled over the Howe Military Academy squad here last Saturday. With North Side registering a win over Central last Saturday, it is now imperative that they take our Archers into camp if they wish to remain in the running for the city title.

With high hopes of annexing their initial win over the Archers on the gridiron, the Irish are expected to shoot the works. They have been practicing intensively on their passing attack and on new line formations. Their probable starting lineup will consist of Flannery and Hoch at ends, Morrison and Grant at the tackle positions, Sordet and Walsh at guards, and Agnew at center on the forward wall. In the backfield Murray will be quarter, Romano and Romary at halves, and Sorg in the fullback position. Sorg with his 190 pounds of bulk has been poison to the Irish opposition this season. He is fast and is an excellent blocker as well as an exceptional ball-carrier.

Jack Mure is the leading scorer for the Purple and Gold this season and is one player that must be stopped. He and Romary have been working very efficiently as a passing combination and have contributed several scores for the Irish by employing their aerial attack. Jim Agenbroad, all-city center last year, is performing very well at his position, and his 170 pounds of brawn in the middle of the Central Catholic line almost invincible.

The Archers are now hard at work in preparation for this important tilt with C. C., and Coach Welborn is holding long practice sessions each evening. With the offense still failing to click properly when the Green are in a scoring position, Coach Welborn is stressing practice on handling the ball and putting in the final punch when it is needed the most. Again in their last game the Archers fumbled or were unable to push ahead when they got in a scoring position, and thus they failed to cash in on several grand opportunities to bring home a victory. The leg injury which has been bothering Lenz seems to be cleared up, and he played a great game last Saturday. The rest of the team is in good condition, and barring practice injuries, they should be in excellent physical condition. The probable lineup will be George and Jackson on the wings, Ellenwood and Straley at tackles, Roop and Eschoff at the guard positions, and Ostermeyer at center. In the backfield Simon will hold down the quarterback posts, with Nelson and Lohman at halves, and Lenz with Snyder as an alternative at fullback.

Your writer is playing on the safe side by predicting a tie in as much as most of the city series tilts have suffered from tie-it-us.

Fred Ostermeyer

Fred Ostermeyer, South Side's gigantic center, has been the recipient of much credit for the excellent manner in which he has been taking care of his position. His play has been an important part in making the South Side forward wall one of the best defense lines in this vicinity.

Sprinters Ready For Meet Today

Intramural Aspirants For Cross Country Run Title To Meet For Final Race of Season.

Winding up an extensive training program, the intramural cross-country runners are now ready for the annual intramural cross-country meet to be held tonight.

South Side's cross-country course starts at the Clinton Street entrance of the boiler room. From here the course runs north to Packard Avenue and then around the stadium and south on Calhoun Street to Fiestkorn's Furniture Company. The course turns east here and goes alongside the furniture store and then along the Gospel Tabernacle, then north on Clinton to the boiler room entrance. Runners are required to go around the course twice, which is a little over a mile in length.

Unlike the cross-country meets of past years, this year's race will be divided into three divisions. These divisions are: lightweight, under 110 pounds; middleweight, 110-135 pounds; heavyweight, over 135 pounds. In previous years the heavyweight and lightweight runners ran together. Heavyweights will run first, middleweights second, and lightweights last.

Mr. Briner was the director of the training program followed by the cross-country aspirants. This training program consisted of calisthenics, windsprints, jogging and time trials. Most candidates have been training since the first week of school and are expected to be in good shape for the meet.

Some of the outstanding boys of this year's squad are: lightweights, Griffin, Stilwell, Gidley, Bligh, and Broderick; middleweights, Jones and Feichter; heavyweights, Schoenfeldt, Abbott, Ewing, Keyser, Hauser, and Brandt.

Margaret Ruhl Named School Tennis Champ

Soph Wins Singles Tennis Title From Sophomore; Ruhl, Menze Win Doubles.

Margaret Ruhl, a sophomore, was named singles champion of South Side after she succeeded in defeating Betty Eisenacher, a freshman, 6-0. Margaret has perfected her game by practicing during the summer at the park tennis courts. She will be given 100 additional points.

Margaret Ruhl won another victory when she and her partner, Leona Menze, won the doubles championship from C. Krimmel and M. Blauvelt by defeating them 6-0. Leona Menze is a sophomore and the manager of sports for Girls' Athletic Association. Each one of these girls will be awarded fifty points.

A large number of girls was in the tournament and a very successful tournament, possibly due to the weather and the playing generally. There is no doubt but that the interest in the city tournament in the summer does a great deal to foster their playing ability. The tournament has been interesting this year because we have new champions in class and that, of course, made a new school champion. Miss Gretchen Smith and Miss Alice Patterson are very gratified by the interest shown in the tennis tournament by the freshmen, and they most sincerely hope it will grow throughout their four years, not only in tennis, but in other sports, also. "The upperclassmen furnished a splendid example for the freshmen," stated Miss Patterson.

Ida Mae Frazell and Jean Kirby are champions in the senior doubles division; Aldena Disler and Rowena Bevington claim the junior championship; Leona Menze and Margaret Ruhl are the sophomore champions; Mary Ellen Blauvelt and Charlotte Krimmel claim the freshman doubles championship.

The student leaders have been the umpires for all of these games, which were held at the park courts and in the gym.

G. A. A. Flashes

It appears that Mary Jane Redding is trying to start a new fad, or revive an old one. She was seen wearing silk hose with her gym suit.

Ask Doris Figel or Libby Findley how to play hockey when you are in doubt. They go for it in a big way.

According to reports, Mae Persing is going places in speedball. Other players, beware!

Betty Eisenacher's team in speedball defeated Mary Ellen Blauvelt's 11-3.

Margery Ruhl, Dorothy Aldridge, Ruth Eysenberger, and Anna Marie Baumgartner hiked to New Haven last Saturday to get in some points. They wanted to be sure that they could do it in nice weather.

The speedball games are coming along in fine shape now. If Miss Smith's saying holds good, the players are even better than the freshmen were last year.

Margaret Ruhl and Leona Menze beat Aldena Disler and Rowena Bevington in tennis doubles 6-3, 6-1. These sophomores are making a powerful bid for the doubles crown this year.

Our team looked plenty tough last week, and did fine considering the fact that they were playing an older team.

Ed Ginn, Archer hard-luck man, suffered a badly injured ankle in the first quarter of the game last week. Tough luck, Ed.

South Side made six fumbles in the game. Come on, gang, let's hold on to that ball.

Simon surely threw a nice pass to George, which was good for about 35 yards in the second quarter. Nice going, Harrison and Brower.

Fred Lenz surely ripped up Culver's line last week. He made four of South Side's first downs.

South Side made nine first downs to Culver's four. That's it, gang, let's keep it up.

When the gun sounded, ending the second quarter, South Side had the ball on Culver's three-yard line after a steady march down the field. Without doubt, South Side would have scored in another minute.

This week's game with Central Catholic will be a very good one, with the outcome much in doubt. If South Side should win, it would establish South Side as the favorite for the city championship, because Central Catholic has tied both Central and North Side. Come on, let's go, Archers.

Speaking of city championships, didn't North Side put one over on Central? This year was the first time in eight years that North Side has won over Central.

Culver is surely a big place. They had at least five different football fields. The whole school is situated along a lake front.

Intramural Gossip

In intramural tag football contests to date, there have been nine points after touchdowns converted in twenty-eight attempts for a percentage of .321. This did not seem to be a very high average so the writer looked up some college contests and found that out of 28 attempts, 15 points were converted for an average of .536. The intramural games are not nearly so tough as college football games, and a larger percentage of points after touchdowns should be made.

Intramural football scoring for teams and individuals are as follows.

Hoosiers' Team Beats Red Devils

Lightweight Tag-Football Squad Wins Over Opponents, 25-7; Dutchmen Beat Chumps 13-7.

In defeating the Red Devils by the score of 25-7, the Hoosiers' lightweight tag football team, captained by Walt Stone, hung up its second successive victory of the current season last Thursday, at the south field. Dutterer scored the first touchdown of the game by snagging a pass from Stone on the 10-yard line. Stone's dropkick attempt was wide. Shortly afterward, Jim Meyers, Hoosier halfback, dashed off tackle for 22 yards and six points. Brown, diminutive end, carried the ball on a reverse spinner for the extra point.

At the start of the second quarter, Bridges received a pass from Stone on the sleeper play for the third Hoosier touchdown. An attempted pass for the extra point was incomplete.

Late in the third quarter, Wayne Lejla was inserted in the Red Devil lineup. He immediately passed to Cunningham, Red Devil captain, for their first touchdown. Lejla also passed to Bob Feichter for the point. After a frantic retaliating drive, Kruse, Hoosier halfback, dashed around left end for the final score of the game. Lineups and summary.

Schoenfeldt tied things up for the Dutchmen by taking the ball on his own 35-yard line and galloping 65 yards for a touchdown and then plunging through center for the tying point.

The Chumps were not to be denied, however, as Voight passed to Lepper for the winning touchdown. Lineup and summary:

Culver Held To Scoreless Tie By Fighting Archer Gridders

South Side turned in their second scoreless tie of the season Saturday against Culver Military Academy at that school. The Green consistently outgained their opponents but were unable to cash in on their opportunities.

The entire game was characteristic of the Archers' play thus far this year. The Green has outpassed and outrushed nearly every squad they have played, but seldom have they been able to come through in the pincush. Only once have they staged a scoring spree similar to those of the past few years. Against Peru two weeks ago, the Archers pushed over four touchdowns. In all the other games, they have made only three scores. During the period that the Notre Dame system has been in use here, Kellyklad squads have failed to score in only three contests. Two of these occurred this season, those against Decatur and Culver. The squad will have to put in a lot of work this week if they intend to improve their offensive sufficiently to score against Central Catholic's strong defense.

Again by far, the Archers were the better team as long as the ball was near midfield, but once they advanced it near the twenty-yard line, they lost their punch and the ball by fumbles or on downs. Five times, at least once in every period, the Green threatened seriously. Consequently the Maroon squad was on the defensive almost the entire game.

South Side garnered nine first downs while Culver scored four. The Green tossed nine passes, three of them being completed, five incomplete, and one intercepted. Culver's passing attack was a total failure. Of the five passes they threw, three were incomplete and two were intercepted. The military team was penalized ten yards, twice for off-sides, but the Archers were not penalized.

The fireworks started late in the initial period. Several green-shirted players fell on a fumbled ball on the Culver 35-yard stripe. A fumble lost the ball for the Archers a few minutes later on the 20-yard stripe. When the Maroon attempted to kick out of danger, Jim Ellenwood broke through the line and partly blocked the punt. The quarter ended with the Green in possession of the ball on the 24-yard marker.

After advancing the leather to within twelve yards of the goal, they lost it on an incomplete pass out of bounds. In this quarter, Culver made its only serious scoring attempt.

New Point Sheets For Times Staff

Docket Papers for Deductions;
Pupils To Be Taken to State
Press Convention Next Week.

Members of the Times staff held a meeting Wednesday afternoon after school. The principal purpose of this meeting was to instruct the members in the use of the new point sheets. There are three new ones slightly different from the ones which were formerly used. There is the sheet for the major staff members, one for the rest of the staff, and one docket sheet for deductions. These sheets have been secured for the purpose of getting more efficient work accomplished. In the docket sheets are to be written by the editors and managers of the staff an account of all work which is not finished. These docket papers will then be given to Miss Rowena Harvey, who will then deduct a number of points according to the amount of unfinished work.

A number of pupils from the Times staff will be taken to Franklin, Indiana to represent the Times at the Indiana High School Press Convention. Also a few member of the Northern staff will be taken to the convention. They will leave Thursday morning and return by a special train Saturday afternoon. The students who will go to Franklin are as follows: Ursula Morton, Bill Hockett, John Bremer, Wayne Bender, Manuel Rothberg, Bryce Minier, Ann Abbott, John Bex, Rosemary Chappell, Louis Bonisib, Lloyd Grodrian, Dick Helm, Helen Kelsey, Pauline Crabill, Margie Killen, Anna Brumbaugh, and eleven pupils from North Side.

Girls' Rifle Club Gains Eleven New Members

The Girls' Rifle Club gained six new members at their last meeting. This makes a total of eleven new members.

At this meeting the girls discussed the range ratings, which are published in the National Rifle Club manual, besides shooting at the range. Miss Rosemary Delaney, sponsor of the club, supervised the shooting.

The following officers for this semester were elected: Betty Rayl, secretary; Helen Anderson, treasurer; Maxine Borchert, range officer; and Roseanne Cortia, Inter-Club Congress Representative.

At the next meeting the members will discuss the outdoor meeting to be held the first meeting in November.

teams. In 1932 he again became the faculty manager. His job consists of being in charge of all interscholastic activities such as scheduling games, arranging transportation for the various teams, equipment, etc. Mr. Davis explained the difficulty in managing to meet expenses, stating that the receipts were $1,800 less last year than in 1931. The equipment took 20 percent of the receipts, the transportation 15 percent, the contracts 15 percent, and the other things varied from 10 percent on down.

Bob Zeig again came to the microphone introducing Ursula Morton, the general manager of The South Side Times, who related to the audience certain facts about the paper itself. She carried the history of the paper down from its beginning on October 6, 1922, before the carpenters had completed the high school building. Today the paper has one hundred to one hundred twenty-five students on the editorial staff, and ninety students on the business staff. The paper exchanges with two hundred forty-seven other schools in nineteen different states. The paper also has a large advertising section. In an average four-page paper there are one hundred sixty inches of advertising. Advertisers are benefited by their advertising in the paper, Ursula stated.

This half hour of broadcast came to a close, and farewell was said by a selection from the band, knowing that they would be back on the air at 7 o'clock next Monday evening over station WGL, promising a new and interesting program.

Since then, all club announcements and news pertaining to school organizations have been regularly posted on bulletin boards in the halls.

Each board is numbered, and a notice of the meetings will be posted on each one. Every club in the school has been given numbers as follows:

Art Club Assembles For Unique Meeting

An interesting program was given at the last Art Club meeting, held a week ago today in the Greeley Room. Betty Wainwright played two selections on the harp. These were "Sylvia" and "Mighty Lak a Rose."

Virginia MacNamara gave an acrobatic dance accompanied by Georganne Jane Jones on the accordion. Forest Stark, a member of the Fort Wayne Art School, modeled a head in clay using Gerald Walker, a member of Art Club, as the model.

The program committee, comprised of Shirley Sykes, chairman, Jean Kranz, and Edythe Thornton, met yesterday after school to plan the program for the rest of the year. The next meeting will be held next Wednesday at 3:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room.

Selling of Suede Jackets, $3.95-$4.95

Thursday and Friday will be "vacation days" and also a good time to stop in at the Suedoff & Butler Men's Wear Store, 1011 Calhoun Street, to see the hundreds of suede jackets which are priced at $3.95 and $4.95. Zipper front styles—button models—every kind of coat you might want. COMPARE—and you'll find that these coats are Fort Wayne's outstanding value.

Another special for students is the offering of shirts at $1.65 instead of $2. You'll find as you enter the store a table displaying these. Why is the price only $1.65 instead of $2? These shirts are odds and ends, some are slightly soiled. You'll have to hurry because they'll be "snapped up" in a few short days.

Students Unanimously Approve Vacation Thursday and Friday

In answer to the inquiry, "What do you think of the proposed vacation Thursday and Friday?", the majority of answers show that the student body encourages the idea. The following answers were received:

Norman Miller: I think the idea is swell because it gives me more time for wiener bakes and horsing around.

Robert Archer: It gives me more opportunity to sleep and also to get some algebra done.

Jim Bair: Pretty nice. Now I'll see more of Margaret.

Kenneth Ross: I think I will enjoy it very much.

Harold Roberts: Supersplendacious! Donald Reinker: I'll be okay doko if it doesn't rain.

Gerry Platt: Pretty smart. George Rodgers: I think the idea is pretty rotten. We should have a vacation every day of the week.

Hugh Scott: Nice.

Hazel Kuttler: I'll get a lot of school work done. (Joke.)

Margaret Murphy: Swell. Now I can sleep. (And see Jim.)

Ann Abbett, prominent junior of South Side High School and copy editor of the South Side Times, was elected secretary of the Indiana High School Press Association at the annual press convention, which was held at Franklin College, Franklin, on October 18, 19, and 20. At the same time many honors were awarded the South Side Times. The Totem, the North Side Northernner, and the Central Spotlight, The Times, The Totem, and The Legend respectively received the highest honors possible in a state convention.

As president and vice-president, George Schaffer, of Vincennes, and Robert Suckow, of Franklin, were elected in the order given. The motion of Ann Abbett, the first attempt that South Side in the history of the I. H. S. P. A. tried to hold any office. Ann's platform provided for "bigger and better" meals at the convention.

"We of South Side High School, Fort Wayne, have refrained from nominating anyone to office in the Indiana High School Press Association principally because we felt that prejudices existed in other high schools of Indiana toward us," declared Manuel Rothberg very emphatically when placing Ann's nomination before the assembly. "Today in breaking that precedent by nominating Miss Ann Abbett and trying to elect her to the office of secretary, we hope to bring about a closer relationship between the high schools of Fort Wayne and the other high schools of Indiana; and also we feel that Ann is worthy of holding this office."

Rate All-Indiana Superior
"All-Indiana Superior" ratings for class one in the high school newspaper and yearbook contest were given to the South Side Times and Totem. Many specialized awards were also received by The Times, as follows: first place for the best advance and cover stories on single sport events, Jim Menefee and Gerald Farries, best general coverage of sports, Gerald Farries; best single example of news writing, Virginia Vesey; best general reporting, best all-round editorial writing, while Mark Gross was editor; best group of constructive writings, for which South Side's entries dealt with the interpretation of schools to the public; best single cartoon, one dealing with educational theme by Eugene Craig; best all-round student art; tie with North Side Northernner for best make-up. For all-round feature writing, sports column, and advertising, second place was received; and honorable mention was received for the best feature story. All of these awards were based on the papers edited from February to June, 1934.

Travel Club stopped off in Russia at their last meeting on Wednesday. Mrs. Alice Foster McCulloch, who has traveled through Russia, guided the members through the most interesting places which she visited while on her trip. A tour was made through Moscow, Leningrad, Sebastopol, Odessa, and other cities.

Mrs. McCulloch stated that her impression of Russia was altogether different from what she imagined it would be, because of all the wild tales which had been told her about the country. She said that the people were very shabby and drab but, nevertheless, very neat. While going through Leningrad, a Russian woman said to her, "We have plenty of money, but there are not enough things to buy; so we must wait until better times come."

In passing through Moscow, the center of the cultural and political life, Mrs. McCulloch stated that the people have planned so far ahead that they have amodel of the city, showing how it will look fifty years from now. In ending, Mrs. McCulloch said, "Russia may again win a country so far off."

Parents' Day Held
One of Chattanooga High School's most important events, Parents' Day, was observed October 9 in the school at Chattanooga, Tennessee. Refreshments were served and entertainment was given by the gym classes, glee club, and various other departments.

Deep Tragedy, Gay Comedy Constitute Play Presentation

"Hurry! I bet it's starting!" "Why doesn't she come?" These were some of the many exclamations heard last Monday as one worked his way through the crowd to the study hall to see a part of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" by Shakespeare. This delightful play was directed by Miss Marjorie Suter, teacher of dramatics in the three public high schools.

The main part of the skit was a deep tragedy given by six foolish rubes who were entertaining the king and his party. It was comical to see this tragedy acted by these silly fools and was received with much laughter and applause. During the course of the play, King Oberon and Queen Titania were introduced in an amusing woodland incident. The play ended with applause.

In many cases, at first, the student's idea in going was to escape his seventh period class. However, they enjoyed the play and will probably avail themselves of the opportunity to see the coming play at the Shrine.

Mr. Glen Fuller Is Wranglers Speaker

Club Hears Missionary To China
Talk on Many and Varied Experiences While in Far Orient.

Glen Fuller, a missionary in China for six years, talked on China at the last meeting of the Wranglers' Club, held Monday in the Greeley Room with the Travel Club as guests. He told many exciting experiences which happened to him during his stay in China. He also told of the problems the Chinese face.

"Out of the 400,000,000 population in China, 370,000,000 are paupers; 380,000,000 are illiterates; and 390,000,000 are double worshippers." Mr. Fuller stated. "Many people are so poor that they sell their young boys to rug manufacturers, who teach them how to knot rugs. They pay only $36 for these boys and keep them for three years, during which time they belong to the manufacturer."

Mr. Fuller said that his best friends are Chinese. Several piano selections were given by Ira Gerig; then ice cream and cookies were served.

French Students Hold Fourth Meeting Today

Pictures of France are to be shown by Miss Perkins at the meeting of the French Club which is to be held today. These slides of picturesque France are to be presented in Room 76 instead of the usual meeting place, the Voorhees Room. This meeting is planned in the form of a Halloween celebration. The program committee has selected several games and other forms of entertainment to satisfy the many members.

The program of the last meeting of the French Club consisted of two speakers, namely, Frank Montgomery, who spoke on the French province, Champagne, and Betty English, who gave a brief talk on Picardie, another province of France. Various discussions on the skating party were had.

All French students are urged to attend the next meeting.

So-Si-Y Club Will Sell Paper in Study Hall

So-Si-Y Club is selling theme paper in the Study Hall every period of the day. The price is two sheets for one cent. This is for the benefit of the students alone, that they may write their themes without having to borrow paper or carry it with them. So-Si-Y makes no profit.

The girls who sell this paper sit in a corner back seat. They will be doing a service for the club, and, in that way, they will be performing one of the requirements for obtaining either their second or third triangle degree.

Groups Play Before Teachers
At Association Convention;
Types of Music Are Varied.

South Side's band and orchestra under the direction of Jack Wainwright, furnished part of the entertainment at the recent convention of the Northeastern Indiana Teachers' Association held in Fort Wayne.

The band gave a varied program which included classical, light novelty, and martial numbers.

The first number was Olivadete's "Hall of Fame." Featured in this selection were six marimbaphones and two accordions. Following, was the "Atlantis Suite," a vivid tone picture of the last days and the fall of a great city of Atlantis "the lost continent."

Paul Yoder's "Military Band," a light novelty piece, was the next selection on the program. Eight coach horns were used as an added attraction in playing this number. "Semper Fidelis," a march by Sousa, was then played and the program closed with Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever."

Featured during this selection were marimbas, piccolos, and a bell-lyre. The harp ensemble, made up of seven girls from South Side, also played several selections on the program. One special number was a combination of harp and vocal, the chorus consisting of members of the South Side Girls' Glee Club.

Teachers enjoyed the music of the South Side High School orchestra during the lunch hour at the Valencia Gardens. The orchestra played a number of selections, which included Mozart's "Overture," "The Unfinished Symphony" by Schubert, "Romance," by Grunfeld, and "Mlle. Modiste," by Herbert.

J. H. Chappell Is Elected To Lead Teachers

N. I. T. A. Names South Side
Industrial Arts Teacher
President at Convention.

J. H. Chappell, prominent industrial arts teacher and head of the industrial arts department of South Side High School, was elected president of the Northeastern Indiana Teachers' Association at the annual business meeting of the convention in the assembly room of the court house during Teachers' Convention last week.

A teacher in the Fort Wayne city schools for 20 years, Mr. Chappell is a highly popular man among his colleagues. His name was placed in nomination from the floor by A. Verne Flint of the South Side High School faculty. After the report of the nominating committee had been read, Mr. Chappell asked that his name be withdrawn as a candidate for vice-president. Mr. Flint then proposed that Mr. Chappell be nominated for president. The resignation of Mr. Chappell was formally accepted. When the poll was taken, a decisive vote was cast for Mr. Chappell.

After the election of the president, Burton O. Adams, principal of Bonningdale School, was chosen as vice-president. M. F. Worthman, superintendent of the Decatur schools, who died Sunday, the nominating committee's choice for secretary-treasurer, was re-elected without a dissenting vote.

D. O. McComb, Allen County superintendent of schools, was elected chairman of the executive committee for another year.

Mr. Chappell has been a teacher at South Side since its opening in 1923. During this time he has instructed classes in shop work and mechanical drawing. Mr. Chappell is a graduate of Ball State Teachers' College and Oakland City College. He has obtained his bachelor of science degree. During the past four years he and Miss Adelaide Fiedler have been faculty advisers for the senior class, and they play a large part in the preparations for the annual senior dance.

Mr. Chappell entered Fort Wayne in 1914. At that time he taught industrial arts at the Jefferson School.

Wo-Ho-Ma Will Hold Halloween Celebration

A Halloween party is to be held by the Wo-Ho-Ma Club, Saturday evening, October 27. The program chairman for this event is Clara Jefferies.

Because of weather and small attendance, the Wo-Ho-Ma meeting which had been planned for Thursday was not held. However, the winner's banquet was held at Alvina Gerber's home, 4525 South Lafayette Street. Girls present participated in out-of-door games and later enjoyed wieners and marshmallows roasted over an open fire-place in the Gerber yard.

On October 11, officers of the South Side Wo-Ho-Ma Club went to Elmhurst High School where they participated in the formal initiation for the new members of the club at that school. Following this initiation, games and an informal initiation were held after which a luncheon was enjoyed.

This meeting will be held at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Discussion of plans for a skating party in late December and an important announcement concerning the new meeting place of the club will be made.

Posters Requested For Friars' Revue

Art Departments Are Asked for Contributions; 200 Needed;
South Side Shares in Profits.

The Friar's Club, a group of civic-minded young men of Fort Wayne, will sponsor a Revue, December 14 and 15. One performance will be given especially for students. The money from this will go to the music department of South Side to buy new instruments and pay for uniforms.

In co-operation, the art departments of all three high schools have been asked to make posters. These posters are to be put in windows of stores all over the city and used for advertising purposes. First and second prizes for the best ones will be given to each school. At least two hundred are required.

If this revue is successful, next year the proceeds will go to either North Side or Central, and the next year they will go to the remaining school. Each year all the art departments will assist.

L. M. Alcott Is Topic Of Next Philo Meeting

Louisa M. Alcott's home, life, and books will be studied at the next meeting of Philo on Monday, October 29. Miss Magley will be the guest speaker and will describe Miss Alcott's home. Teachers and Pupils Give Their Opinions Of Rotogravure Page

Since last week was the first time the Rotogravure Section appeared in the Times, both pupils and teachers were asked their opinions of this page. Most of the reports were favorable, but some were not.

Peggy Kilpatrick: It's okey. It's right there.

Emily Lepper: It's fine, but it would be better if there would be more in about South Side pupils.

Dorothy Aldridge: Rotogravure? You mean brown section? Oh, I think it's okey doke.

Betty Brothers: Chocolate section? If they had some nice looking boys in it, it would be better.

Max Trith: Okey, but it ought to be pertaining to South Side.

Clayton Kilpatrick: Oh! Quite good.

Mary Louise Lankenau: Would be better if South Side had pictures in it.

Mr. Flint: I wasn't especially interested; would be better if South Side events were in it.

Miss Fiedler: Fine; fashions and everything were lovely.

Rosemary Chappell: Good, fine, super-perfect.

Dorothy Alderidge: I enjoyed it. It is a good addition to The Times.

Eleanor Cupp: It's okey.

Bonnie Craig: Fine!

Club To Stage Friars Revue To Get Funds

Music Department Will Display Talent in Programs
Dated December 14, 15.

Jack Wainwright Will Direct Show

All Proceeds Will Be Given To School To Purchase Instruments, Uniforms.

Two prizes are offered in each high school by the Friar's Club to the two students who succeed in selling the greatest number of 50-cent performance tickets for the Friar Club Revue of 1934 planned for December 14-15. The first prize is a season basketball ticket to the high school the winner attends, and the second prize is two complimentary tickets to the evening performance to the Revue.

Tickets will go on sale at the three high schools, Central, South Side, and North Side, on Monday, October 29, and they will be made available to the students through the teachers and through the home rooms. The general admission for the evening performance, which will be held at the Shrine auditorium, is fifty cents. A special matinee on December 15 will be given for the school students at 2 o'clock.

The Friar Club Revue is for the purpose of raising funds which will be donated to the department of music of South Side High School for the purchase of band instruments and uniforms for the students active in the school orchestra and band. The financial success of the Revue will also make it possible for South Side to furnish better sound facilities for music.

The show will recall to many Fort Wayne residents the old Friar Club Frolics staged for many years at the Temple Theatre, and the unusual comedy and local talent which was secured by the club in producing the shows.

At a recent business meeting of the club, a committee was selected to handle this production. The general chairman and production manager, the publicity chairman, the ticket sale chairman, the chairman in charge of rehearsals for those Friar Club members who will take part in the cast, and the chairman of the committee on arrangements for securing a theatre and ushers, were appointed.

Mr. Jack Wainwright, assisted by Mr. Cottrill, will plan acts and direct all rehearsals for the revue. All music for the show will be written by Mr. Wainwright. He is planning to use most of the musical talent of the South Side High School band and orchestra together with members of the cast to be selected from the dramatic departments of the three high schools and outside organizations interested in co-operating.

It is the intention of the Friar's Club to actively co-operate with the music departments of the three high schools in staging each year a Friar's Club revue for the purpose of making available to the young people of high school age better advantages in the way of equipment for the study of band

Nonchalantly Knock North Side Nutty.

"Even his best friend wouldn't tell him,"—so he flunked the exam.

Sign, "Slow Men At Work." Just like the government to hire slow ones.

Correct this sentence: "I wouldn't be surprised if we lost by as much as two touchdowns."

It's a long time: "Piano Playing Contest Won By Man Who Played 'The Stars and Stripes Forever.'"

Many students are like coffee—98 percent of the active ingredients have been removed from the bean.

Better sell some tickets for the Friars Club Frolics . . . you know we get the proceeds. Proceed, now to get some real proceeds.

"The Pic," the new rotagravure section recently added to the Times, is a paragraph's dream come true . . . at last we've got another pun. "Pic" 'em out, folks!

Seniors: Don't you think it's about time a few freshmen were squeaked? They seem to think they rate! Let this be a warning, freshmen, or "Whoa" be unto thou!

The British are coming! Or at least the Red Coats. Or, is it Redskins? It doesn't make any difference, now, they're skinned, cooked and eaten now, (or at least, practically).

South Side now has a president within its walls. You bet, we mean our prominent manual training instructor, the new president of the Northeastern Indiana Teachers' Association. Here's to you!

Things we could do without: The peculiar thing about music is that if you take away the first letter it makes "u-sic." (Be careful on this one, or it will make you sick.) But then—it probably will anyway.

Keep Head Standing: "The Times Wins Again." Not only walking off with first place honors in each class, but with the secretaryship of the Indiana High School Press Association, the first time a Fort Wayne High School student ever became an officer in this association. Some fun, eh what?

Do It Now!

"Don't put off till tomorrow what you can do today" is a splendid motto to follow; but you know, there are some people who change the expression to "put off till tomorrow what you don't have to do today." Are you one of the latter?

Stop and think of the times when you, leaving school Friday afternoon, have avowed that you were going to study and finish all of your lessons that evening. But—fate intervenes; the studies are pushed aside until Saturday. Maybe there is an unexpected trip downtown Saturday morning; then in the afternoon a football game; and the dance in the evening. Thus it goes, until the lessons are shoved over to Sunday evening. Just then, you receive a worthwhile invitation which you would like to accept, but—there are your school texts clamoring to be delved into.

Is it worth the price you pay not to have the stick-to-itiveness to do a thing today instead of tomorrow?

How about getting all of the outside reading accomplished during the first few weeks of the semester? It will be a load off of your mind; and in case you are unaware of the fact, the teachers are human beings and dislike just as much as you do to be weighed down with a great deal of work at the last moment.

Why?

There is a popular song of today whose verse is something like, "Oh, why do you do the things to me, you do?" Why can we not take these words from their romantic setting and apply them to our everyday life?

Why is it that people seem to think that revenge is always so sweet? It seems that if someone does something to us which we do not like, we want to get it right back at him just as soon as we can. For instance, you lend your roller skates to one of your friends; on their return you notice that the skates are rusty, the strap is slightly torn. The friend makes a flimsy excuse and goes heedlessly on his way. You borrow your friend's bicycle; you return it in a condition somewhat the worse for your use of it. You think: "Well, he did not take such good care of my skates so why should I put myself out any to take care of his bicycle?" You see a group of young people joking with one another; one boy playfully hits one of his comrades; the comrade promptly returns the blow. Thus, they jokingly exchange punches; but sometimes the blows become harder and less in fun. What do we have? Two boys who were friends a few minutes ago are now enemies, and why? Just because one had to return the blows of the other.

Why can we not adhere to the Golden Rule: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you" instead of changing it to: "Do unto others as they do unto you?"

Magna Cum Laude

In our quest for worthy recipients of our praise we stumbled upon the girls' athletic department. In answer to our timid inquiry, we were assured that there were lots of people in the department who worked hard and received little or no praise and appreciation. Since it is our privilege to introduce these girls to the unfeeling public, let us begin by telling what they do that is so little known by the very people for whom they make things easy.

There are five girls in the department who play the piano for the dancing classes. These girls get their gym credit in return for their time; but, besides the actual gym period in which they work, they spend many extra study periods in practicing or in doing the extra work that the special dances require. Whenever there is a dance presented before the assembly or for any of the musical productions or clubs, we see and appreciate the time and work put into the dance by the dancers themselves, but all too infrequently do we realize that the pianist must put in just as much work and many more hours of strenuous practice in order to perform her difficult task with the success which she does achieve.

We little realize her work in mastering the piece and perfecting each detail so that the dance may go smoothly and so that the girls may not become confused by any difference in the accompaniment. We do not appreciate her patience in repeating over and over the music which must be played exactly the same each time with no change of expression or interpretation. These girls who perform this delicate task for the benefit of the dancers are: Louise Gerding, who plays for two classes besides her practice periods; Lois Ryan, Marjorie Scheuman, Geraldine Smith, and Dorothy Richter.

Freshman Fantasy

About Gym

Can you kick a ball 68 yards, just kinda off-hand? (or rather off foot). Of course, you can't. That's why you need gym. But that's not the only reason. You need muscle and brawn to hold up your knowledge-loaded head (?). You need a strong heart to pump good blood in among the declensions, the x y z's, the bugs, and the various wars. You need a tough pair of lungs to handle lots of oxygen and carbon-dioxide to do your part in the great lung cycle.

You need big bones and mighty muscles if you are going to play football or wrestle or prize-fight after you are educated. Freshmen must have sturdy frames and manly bearings if they would shine at proms. Sweet freshmen are sweeter for a real schoolgirl complexion that can't be bought at the drug store. So let's go and "run five laps around the field."

Some people wonder why we are compelled to turn out in such scanty garments to brave the raw sweeping wind, why we must suffer chill havoc of the bone marrow and bluish-purple numbness of the digits and the rapid clashing of teeth upon teeth. Well, it is good for us. It toughens us against the cold wind. It stimulates the bone marrow to do its job better. It teaches fingers self protection, and as for chattering teeth, a little vibration ought to be good for the roots and gums and prevent pink toothbrush, perhaps.

We are divided into squads, thus teaching the value of team-work and at the same time the stimulation of competition. It also inculcates (see dictionary—it's a swell word) good sportsmanship, though we sometimes wonder when we look at the sophs. And they have had more gym than we have.

But no hard feelings. We all must take a shower. Everybody's hair must be wet. (W-a-i-t a minute—Surely the dainty freshmen are not forced to make hash of their best permanents.)

As we don our raiment in haste, the bell rings lustily. Whilst rendering our shirt in tawin in a frantic effort to get it on, we review the causes of our present distress: We were the last to get in from the field; we found the showers all occupied; the combination of our lock seemed to have gone haywire (or else we had), and why do they make those rotten shoelaces, anyway?

Oh well, out of the frying pan into the fire. From the gym we move on to the real problems of life (algebra).

The Tiny Times

Klub Kharacters

"Oh," she laughed when interviewed, "I can't begin to name all the things I like, but I'll tell you some of the things I don't like. They're not so numerous as my hobbies. I think golf and bridge are the silliest things! I can't see a bit of sense to them." (How's that for pure unadulterated originality?)

Shaking the "curl in the middle of her forehead," the diminutive grey-eyed miss confessed that she simply adored lots of things. Among them are swimming, writing poetry, making a scrapbook of short poems, authors, and clippings, eating doughnuts, (which she was doing while we tried to pry out the life history), and making some of her own clothes. The rest of the things being too numerous to name in less space than a full-fledged biography, we'll have to let that formidable list suffice though we would like to go on and tell you how versatile this talented young girl is.

All during her four years at South Side she has been quite outstanding in extra-curricular activities and regular class work. She makes the honor roll consistently and has been an officer in many clubs. At the present she works in Miss Pittenger's office, is vice-president of Travel Club, secretary of the senior class, and last but not least she is the illustrious president of So-Si-Y. Yes, you're right, we've been trying to tell you how versatile and accomplished Mary Osborn really is.

Ah, ha, there's that flashy smile again, and we have another character cornered ready for questioning. This time it is a perfectly handsome brunette. He has very curly hair, a pug nose, and a dimple in his chin. (It sounds like a movie sheik, doesn't it?) "To what clubs do you belong?" was the first question. "I attend Wranglers, Art, and Travel Clubs," was his reply. "Are you interested in any kind of sports?" was the next question. "Yes, I enjoy basketball and swimming immensely," he stated. "How much do you weigh?" "I weigh 135 pounds, and I am five feet, ten inches tall." "Where do you spend your leisure time?" "Well, ah, you know, that is, well I kind of like Oakdale Drive. You see, some of my boy friends live there." Did you say boy friends, Dick?

Last summer he spent a month at Lake George and a week at Lake James. When he returned, he was as tan as a negro. Maybe that's why he is called "Nig" for short.

He is one of our loyal subjects, who attends the tea dances. You see, he realizes what a great help he is to some forlorn and woebegone wall flower. It isn't always a wall flower with Dick, though.

"What subjects are you taking?" was the last question.

"I take English 7, chemistry 1, economics, and physical geography. The new treasurer of Wranglers Club is Dick North.

Miss Dorothy Benner Tells Reporters of Her Experiences

By Marshall Rosenthal

Since she discovered her talents as a public speaker, Miss Dorothy Benner has been participating in its activities.

As a girl Miss Benner attended Central High School and while she attended that school, she thought it the best in the state; but now her opinion differs.

Her first job was teaching English in a school in Brookings, South Dakota. She is still holding down her second job, that of teaching public speaking in South Side.

When a student, her friends advised her to take the study of law but as it is difficult for women in that field, she decided to take up teaching instead. Miss Benner would rather teach public speaking than any other subject.

She has won many awards and honors. When she attended Central, she was the first person to win permanent possession of the extemporaneous Koerber Cup. Soon after this, her father donated a cup to Central. For two years she was a member of the varsity debating team. When a senior, she won the state discussion contest in the high schools, county, district, and placed second in the state contest.

When she attended Indiana University, she was for three years a member of the varsity debate team. She won two Niezer medals of honor in debating; and she was also the first girl to be elected to the Indiana chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha, a debating fraternity. While in college, she took an active part in many university speaking contests. She was always mixed up in class politics.

Her pet aversion is late public speaking speeches and listening to the excuses of the students who fail to bring in their speeches on time. Her ambition is to use her public speaking ability to its best advantage.

Around the School

By The Rounder, Jr.

It is with a great deal of pleasure that we hear that some of our crusading has finally taken root. (Is it possible that our metaphors are a bit mixed?) That just goes to show what the power of the press really is. You hear a lot about it being abused, but when you can still feed the starving through it, it must not be in such a bad way after all.

Well, my flock, it seems that not so long ago, we called it to your attention that one extremely popular member of the football squad was getting his "spinick and vitamins" by eating the slices of bread served free over at Nick's. Realizing that this is a disgrace to our organized charity at South Side, and that charity begins at home, one of the members of the public speaking class presented the aforesaid hero a fine long loaf of the very best bread. Now, we ask you, could even the missionaries in China have gotten a bigger reward for their tiddling step in the right direction? We feel we've done ourselves proud. Haven't we fed the mighty, as it were?

One of the very best of the better accidents happened the other day. Also it illustrates that revenge is very sweet. One of our favorite big shots in the publications business is the proud possessor of a wonderful rubber stamp. Very brisk and business like she wields it. (Just like a real-for-sure-enough rubber stamp wielder with a kind of a nonchalant machine like movement that she's got down pat.) It seems that while doing some of her most debonair stamping the other day, one of her colleagues removed the papers just as she lowered the stamp with a bang and lots of ink. There, glistening blackly upon her dainty pink palm, was "Account Over Due." Horror stricken, she gazed at her hand; and then looking soulfully up into the joker's brown eyes, she carressingly laid her palm across the bridge of his nose. And there they all were with "Account Over Due" printed on their shining visages. It just goes to show that you just must never monkey with overdue accounts and that girls have no sense of humor.

Kye Trout was the innocent cause of many palpitations of the heart the other day at the assembly. As he hopped nonchalantly over the wall with the rest of the squad, several of the more foresighted wondered how he was going to get back. And with the true do-or-die spirit, he made a valiant attempt to get back the way he came. Approaching the wall on his return trip with all the self-confidence in the world, he wriggled up on his stomach. So far so good, with baited breath we see him wiggle up another inch, and another. Amid a silence that could be cut, we watch him swing a care-free leg over the top, and then, right when we least expected it, the longed hoped and watched for occurs. He slides neatly off the end of the wall and plops down by the gate. Oh, well, your lawn police in the school of hard knocks, or is it falls?

We've had so many inquiries that we've revived our jaded curiosity just enough to ask won't somebody please write in and tell us who it is that doesn't wear any socks in Mr. Murphy's sixth period economics class. Understand, this will be kept strictly under our hats if need be, but for heaven's sakes, relieve our anxiety.

We've just been talking to Christine Elliott who is thoroughly disgusted because she didn't have time to go see "Judas Priest." Who'd a thought it of Christine?

General Approval Of Last Pep Session Is Given by Students

Varying comments from students were received concerning the recent pep session held before the Central Catholic game. A few of the answers were:

Harriett Storm: I think it was just swell and that we ought to have them every day to pep the students up for the forthcoming day.

Margaret Murphy: I didn't like it because I couldn't find Jim. Otherwise it was okay.

Jim Blair: It was pretty nice. We should have a million more because I could see Margaret.

Phil Green: Ugh! Him much good. Hilda Barney: I thought it was superlatious!

Kenny Ross: The students showed more pep than in any other assembly. We should have them more often.

Harold Roberts: I think it was mediocre, caricore, and tapicore.

Jane Clark: I didn't see it because I skipped.

Carl Brandt: We should have more like it. It was the best pep assembly we have had since I was a freshman. (That was just last semester.)

Kenneth Scott: It was pretty swell. It seemed like old times again.

Gerry Platt: It was colossal, stupendous, magnanimous, ask Winchell for the rest of the adjectives.

Gerry Getty: It was peachy. I think the faculty ought to give a pep session as they do at North Side and Central.

Ed Ringenberg: It was neat, and we ought to have one at every game.

Opinions

It has been South Side's boast that it offers as much as any other high school regardless of the size. Yet there are other schools which offer features which might be greatly advantageous to our students, too. One course offered at other schools which would find favor at South Side is a course in practical library work. This course is a regular part of some school's curriculum. Credit is given for this work and so many hours a week are required.

It seems to me that such a course would be a great benefit to South Side students, as library workers here would then receive some return for their endeavors. After these workers have been graduated, they have no actual record to show for their work. If it were a regular course all the world of future employers would recognize and acknowledge the extent of work done. There would be some record of past achievement to show when applying for a position.

Many students who go to college try to work their way through. The college library offers a popular and profitable way to accomplish this. If a student has a fully accredited record to show, he has a better chance of securing a most desirable position which otherwise might go to a student who can definitely establish his efficiency. Our graduates should be able to prove in this satisfactory manner their accomplishment. We should equip them to secure any available position which would help them in the future. If credits in library work would help them, according to South Side's boast, we should offer a course in library work. Other schools, and one of the schools of Fort Wayne, do it, why can't we?

Convention Daze

Beautiful Frances Anadell Was quite a flirty little belle. It was in the makeup class Where Bender met this little lass. What she didn't have, she didn't need. So thought our Wayne lad, indeed. He took her to the dance that night; He didn't get in till morning light. The last day of that romance born Our Bender boy was romance shorn. For when the trolley car pulled out To take us on our homeward route, Little Frances was left behind, And how this troubled Bender's mind Nevermore from Bender's mouth Will sweet words of love flow out; For that gentleman, so fine, Possesses loyalty divine. Nevermore, that is, until To Bloomington he goes, by Jill; For that is where this maiden fair Washes her face and combs her hair. Each mile the clouds grew darker still As Wayne sat by the window sill. His courage broke, and then a tear Trickled down his cheek so dear. Pulling out his handkerchief, Wayne dear was heard to sniff. All unawares his bilfold dropped, Which we put our feet atop. We picked it up and opened it. To take a bill, we did see fit. Seeing his loss, he knew no bounds; He hunted for it like a hound. On right, on left, above, below, Looked around, this lad of woe. When he had turned the other way, We let it drop. (Did we feel gay?) Finding it soon, he opened it, Finding no bill, he had a fit. He questioned here; he questioned there; To look at him, we did not dare. The smiles upon our faces grew. Subsequently, we withdrew. Asking his good friend, Bryce Minier If he had spent that bill so dear, His mind disturbed, he did not know If he had spent his hard-earned dough. Of course, to keep our little joke, The truth, you see, Bryce did revoke. Our unsuspecting Bender lad, Was not so very gosh-darn glad. But when we went to Muncie flew, From our pockets the bill we drew, He gave a cheer; he gave a yell; His spirits rose; he forgot Anadell. By Bill Hockett and John Bremer.

Author's note: We do admit We stretched the truth a little bit. We really pulled the money trick, And did it make poor Bender sick; But perhaps about the lass We stretched the truth.

Tilt With North Side Scheduled For Saturday Afternoon

Archer's Team Will Make Bid For City Lead

Both Redskins, Welbornites Have One Win Chalked Up in Race for Crown

Battle Should Be Best One of Year

Nulfmen's Starting Lineup Is Uncertainly Because Some Players Are Hurt.

Having successfully hurdled its first barrier in the path to its third successive city scholastic football championship, South Side's powerful Green Wave is hard at work this week in preparation for its annual gridiron battle with the North Side Redskins at the southern stadium Saturday. The kickoff is scheduled for 2 o'clock. This game promises to be the toughest encounter for the Green this season, and the tilt is even more crucial because of the fact that its outcome will, in all probability, decide the winner of the city championship.

The Redskins will have a great advantage in that they will have almost two weeks rest before this all-important contest, whereas the Archers will have only this one week to recuperate from the pounding they received in obtaining their win over Central Catholic. The Redskins, under the tutelage of their new coach, Bob Nulf, have developed into one of North Side's greatest teams. With a line which has more than driven back all opposition and a fast-stepping backfield, the North Side squad has loomed throughout the present season as a potential threat in the city series, and they have come through their first two city series tilts with no defeats being chalked up against them. Their win over Central Catholic was one of those so-called "natural" in which anything and everything happened. The two teams battled throughout the game, and each was able to score twice. The final outcome was in doubt until the last minutes of the game when the Irish failed to convert on a place-kick thus deadlocking the score at 13-13.

Redskins Win First Tilt
The Red and White won their first victory in city competition in their tilt with Central when they came out on the long end of the 7-to-6 score. The game developed into one of the most grueling battles ever witnessed in this city's gridiron history. Only one defeat has been chalked up against the Redskins this season. Decatur's powerful squad proved to be too tough for the Redskins, and the Yellow Jackets carried off the honors with a 13-to-12 victory. This season marks the first time in local football history that a Decatur team has gone through a four-game schedule with Fort Wayne teams without suffering a defeat. The remainder of North Side's record thus far this season consists of two triumphs and a tie. In their initial game of the season the Redskins administered a 27-to-0 trouncing to South of Lima. Their next tilt with Goshen was a thriller with the final score being 19 to 19. Auburn's Red Devils also fell before the Red and White onslaught by the score of 26 to 0.

The North Side starting lineup is rather uncertain because several of the regular starters were injured in the Central game and may not be able to play the entire game. However, in all probability, the gridders who will play in the Redskins line will be West and Schlatter on the wings, Bradley and Lutz at tackles, Scott and Feichter at the guard positions, and Shipman at center. This group has formed a forward wall which has been almost impenetrable thus far this season, and it will be plenty tough for the Archers to open holes through it.

Nulfmen Are Fast
In the backfield the Redskins have the fastest offensive combination of the city teams this season. Schumm at quarterback not only calls the plays very well but is one of the best ball-carriers on the squad. Shits and Rip Poorman at the halfback positions are exceptionally good blockers and are in a large part responsible for many of the Redskins' scores this season, because of the excellent interference they provide for the ball-carrier. At fullback Forrest Cronkhite, all-city fullback of 1933, has been pacing the Redskin offense throughout the present season. He is a fine passer and an elusive runner. In every game his playing has been exceptional, and he is a constant source of worry to the Redskin opposition. His ability at broken-field running surpasses that of any backfield player in the gridiron history at North Side. In the Auburn game his 67-yard run for a touchdown was perhaps the most brilliant piece of broken-field running ever witnessed on the local gridiron. He reversed his field four times and escaped from five would-be tacklers without interference on this spectacular run. His many long runs in other contests this season have made him one of the outstanding players in this vicinity.

Archers Look Better
South Side's gridders came out of the Central Catholic game in fine shape, and their showing in that contest has greatly inspired the Archer gridiron fans. The line proved to be impenetrable to the Irish line plunges; and if it continues to perform likewise against the Red and White, the Archers will probably triumph over their foes. On the offense the forward wall made life miserable for the Irish as they made large gaps in the Central Catholic line through which the South Side backs charged for long gains time after time. In the backfield the Archerite defensive powers will probably experience a busy afternoon attempting to stop the fast-stepping Red and White backs; but if Cronkhite is kept under cover, the Archer squad should not experience any too much difficulty. On the offense it is most probable that Coach Lundy Welborn will use a new type of play. The North Side team gen-

Winners Named In Annual Race

Robert Ewing, Robert Klotz, Richard Keyser Are Victors In Cross-Country Marathon.

South Side's three intramural cross-country champions were named last Wednesday evening, at South Side's annual cross-country meet. These champs are Robert Ewing, Richard Keyser, and Robert Klotz. Although there were no records broken, the races were very interesting. A total of twenty-two boys took part in the meet.

Robert Ewing won the heavyweight race in eight minutes and forty-eight seconds. He was followed by Earl Shidler, who won second place in eight minutes, fifty-two seconds. Wilbur Houser and Richard Abbott won third and fourth places respectively, with times of eight minutes, fifty-six seconds and nine minutes. Ewing, Shidler, and Houser ran on even terms until the last two hundred yards. At this point Ewing broke into a sprint and finished fifty yards ahead of Shidler. Carl Brandt and Dick Laner won fifth and sixth places respectively.

Beating the heavyweight time by five seconds, Richard Keyser won the middleweight race in eight minutes, forty-three seconds. Second place was won by Jack Bennett in three seconds more time than the winner made the one and one-half mile course in. Third and fourth places were won by Sylvester Jones and Eugene Griffin respectively. Robert Feichter, Don Weller, Bob Nelson, Jack Piske, and Robert Stillwell finished in the order named.

First place in the lightweight race went to Robert Klotz, who ran the course in eight minutes, fifty-eight seconds. Roosevelt Blanks, Wilbur Gidley, and Fred Knight won second, third, and fourth places with times of nine minutes, five seconds; nine minutes, twenty-six seconds; and nine minutes, twenty-eight seconds respectively. Fifth and sixth places went to Robert Broderick and David Roth. The three cross-country weight divisions are: lightweight, over one hundred ten pounds; middleweight, one hundred to one hundred thirty-five pounds; heavyweight, over one hundred thirty-five pounds.

Every boy who went out for intramural cross-country and stayed out the whole season will receive ten intramural points for participation. First place winners in each weight will receive fifteen additional points. Second and third place winners will receive ten and five points respectively.

Judges for the meet were Aron Schonfeldt, Charles Baumgartner, and Mr. Briner.

Generally uses a box formation which is especially adapted for defense against a passing attack. Coach Welborn has been putting his charges through long practices this week and a few chart practices are also being held. The probable starting lineup will consist of George and Jackson at ends, Ellenwood and Straley at tackles, Rop and Eschoff at guards, Ostermeyer at center, Simon at quarterback, Lohman and Lee at the halfback positions, and Lenz or Snyder at fullback. Probably several of the reserve players will see action in this tilt.

The officials for the game will be Cleary, Macklin, and Catterton.

Goal Dust

By Jack Snyder

North Side is next, gang. Let's go out and scalp those Redskins. Let's have another pep meeting. It certainly does the student body and the team plenty of good.

Last week in practice the team spent a lot of time on their plays. The way they went through Central Catholic shows it did some good.

Fred Lenz surely did rip up Central Catholic's line. That's about, Fred. Keep it up.

Our line was rushing Central Catholic's passers. They completed only one pass in the whole game. Due to our line rushing the passer, we scored our second touchdown.

Our team did some real fierce tackling. After a few hard tackles C. C.'s ball carriers didn't run so hard.

If South Side beats North Side this week, we shall have the city championship in the bag. Even if Central would beat us, we should have two wins, which is more than any other city team has. But why talk? Central isn't going to beat us.

Purdue's "touchdown twins" finally got going last week. Carter ran 70 yards for one touchdown, and Purvis ran 80 yards for a touchdown.

Many former South Side football players are playing with the St. Joe A. C. semi-pro team. They are Bevington, Ellenwood, Robinette, Pettit, Stump, DeHaven, and McCrea.

Some of the former gridders now in college are Herb Banet, who is a star at North Manchester; Don Powell, who is on the freshman team at Purdue; and Dick Smith, who is on the varsity at Ohio Wesleyan.

Hardwood Squad Begins Practice

Coach Jake McClure Holds First Workout Monday; Football Players Will Get Later Start.

Hoping to get his charges in good condition early this season, Coach Jake McClure held his initial practice session last Monday.

The boys will first go through several weeks of shooting practice and fundamental drills; then Mr. McClure will start to bear down on the squad.

At present, there are several new boys out for the team. Among the members from last year's squad are Howard Hall, Bob Symonds, James Hilgeman, Paul Lohse, Joe Close, and Elmer Tielker. A number of last year's players will join the squad when the football season at South Side is completed.

Make Arrangements For Anderson Game

Arrangements are being made to schedule a game between South Side and Anderson on November 3, a date which both South Side and Anderson have open. Archer Team Comes Through In Win Over Central Catholic South Side's gridders came through. They defeated Central Catholic Saturday after a hard-fought battle at the southern stadium by a score of 13 to 0. The contest was the first in city series competition for the Archers this year.

Who knows what gave them the extra power to turn in their victory? Certainly, they entered the contest regarded by most experts as the underdog. Central Catholic threatened with probably the most powerful squad their school has yet produced. But the Green came through. No one man could be named as an outstanding player. Every one of them played a great game. Men who had been only fair before, helped turn in fine plays. The line displayed more power than at any other time. They sifted through the Irish forward wall repeatedly, and Central Catholic never had a chance to bring their vaunted pass attack into play.

In eight pass attempts the Irish completed two and another was called complete on interference for a total of twenty-four yards. Two others were smothered before the passer got the ball away, and one of these resulted in a touchdown for the Green. The Archers completed three out of six passes, two of them for long gains and a total of fifty-seven yards. The Archers also had the edge on the Barretmen in the other departments of play. They gained a total of ninety-nine yards through the line to their opponents' thirty-one. South Side averaged forty-one yards while the Purple made thirty-six per kick. First downs were fairly even. The Welbornites garnered eight against C. C.'s seven.

First Half Evenly Played

The first half was evenly played, each team making a serious scoring gesture, both in the second quarter. In the initial period the closest either team came to the goal was when, after a poor punt by C. C. and a return kick deep into Irish territory, Earl Rop broke through the line and threw Jack Murray for a loss on the nine-yard stripe. However the Purple kicked out of danger immediately. The Archers then started a march toward the goal, and the end of the first quarter found them in possession of the piskin on their opponents' 29-yard marker.

The Green continued to the seven-yard point where a penalty for hands-on-offense stopped their threat. Shortly after, the Irish recovered a South Side fumble on their own forty-yard stripe. Three first downs, two on long passes, placed the ball on South Side's eight-yard marker. On the next play Murray faded back and tossed a pass into the end zone. Lee interfered with the receiver and Central Catholic was awarded the ball one yard from the goal. However, the Irish could not penetrate South Side's defense and the half ended a minute later with South Side in possession of the ball on their own two-yard line.

Little happened during most of the third quarter. However near the end of the period several Green players rushed a Purple passer and downed him on his own 25-yard line. Soon after Simon tossed a 25-yard pass to George, placing the ball midway in offensive territory. The quarter ended with the ball on the twenty-three yard mark.

Lenz Scores in Final Period
Fireworks aptly came in the final period. Lenz ripped through on the first play for fifteen yards, but the Irish held for three downs, and Bud

Lee was sent in with instructions to try a field goal. However, the ball was low, and Central Catholic received possession of the ball on their twenty. Later Simon tossed a pass, and Jackson made a spectacular catch off the finger-tips of the Irish blockers for a thirty-yard gain. On the next play Fred Lenz slid off his left tackle for seventeen yards and a touchdown. Kessler's try for extra point around end was no good. Soon after the kick-off, three or four Archer linemen were in fast to block Murray's attempted pass. Fred Nye downed him before he had a chance to get the pass away. Murray fumbled, and the ball bounded into the end zone where Eschoff fell on the ball for the second touchdown. Bob Lohman placed the ball squarely between the cross-bars for the extra point.

Student Assembly To Support Squad

Bob Klopfenstein and Eleanor Cupp Speak on Team Loyalty Before Football Pep Session.

Bob Klopfenstein was christened master of ceremonies for the coming pep sessions at the assembly held Wednesday, October 17, in the gym. Clifford Schrom made a very interesting speech explaining why a master of ceremonies was needed. After this he introduced Bob Klopfenstein, who in turn introduced Eleanor Cupp. Eleanor stressed the point that the boys on the football team knew when we weren't backing them; and she also admitted that we hadn't backed them in the past, but that we intended to do so in the future.

In her speech, Eleanor mentioned that the boys on the team should play for the fun of the game, and not for individual glory. In conclusion she added her four favorite lines of poetry, which are to the effect that though the team win or lose, the Final Score takes into consideration only how the game was played. The fifty-five members of the team were then called down to the gym floor by the master of ceremonies; and Gordon Straley, the captain, was called upon for an impromptu speech. He said, "The boys have been working hard the past week, and we're going to take C. C. Saturday."

Several old yells were recalled to the students' memories. They were led by Cliff Schrom, Bud Jones, Rex Knorr, Phil Green, Don Bassinett, and Bud Mahurin.

The assembly proved that South Side has a few loyal teachers, who joined in yelling the first line of Oskey-Wow-Wow but were then downed by the laughter of the students.

Among the selections played by the band were "Skyrocket March," "Shenandoah March," "The Destruction Scene from the Atlantis Suite," which was one of the numbers played for the teachers' convention, and the school song. Young "Dynamite" Wainwright, six-year-old, forty-six-pound son of Jack Wainwright, directed the band in the playing of one of the marches. The harp sextet, consisting of Betty Wainwright, Joan Bonisib, Helen Kreischer, Miriam Lickert, Natalie Brennan, and Helen Flaig, displayed its talent by playing "Dark Eyes," and other beautiful selections.

The main topic of discussion at the meeting of the Sunshine Club Tuesday, October 15, in the Greeley Room was the convention at South Whitley, October 6. Several speeches were given by the members who attended the convention. Georgianna Jacobs gave a talk on the trip to and from South Whitley. Margaret Foellinger discussed the dramatic program given by Miss Catherine Cooper Graham of Kokomo. Caroline Dirmeyer spoke on some of the people represented at the convention.

The next meeting of the Sunshine Club will take place October 30 in the Greeley Room at 8:30 o'clock. It will be a chip-in Halloween party. Every one is to bring some food and is to sign up in room 32.

Ann E. Abbett Elected Officer

you will forget what it is all about, according to Mr. Miller. The hidden theme that followed through his speech was that not only newspaper people but everyone should bury themselves so far in what they're doing, because they love it, that they think only of others and not of themselves.

Charles A. Wells of New York, addressed the gathering twice. He is a well-known cartoonist who has traveled throughout the world. As the theme of his first cartoon, he showed a great industrial factory about which was clustered hundreds of unemployed men. The factory symbolized conditions as they now exist. In the foreground, he drew a picture of a man concealing a bomb behind his back. This man represented the radical element which would alter the present conditions by force. Standing out from all this, he drew a great gleaming cross which overshadowed all, representing love and peace, which Mr. Wells claimed was the only sensible way to change the world.

Cartoon Features Gandhi The other cartoon he drew illustrated and contrasted the ways inspired by Gandhi and the methods advocated by the bold warrior to gain control. Wells told how Gandhi, with three teeth, ruled the whole nation and stopped a whole army from crossing the country.

"The Relation of School Publications to Their Community" was discussed by A. A. Lubersky, Chicago, as a principal address of the Friday morning session.

R. E. Blackwell, former student of Franklin College, known better as Blackie, has served as executive secretary for the I. H. S. P. A. for the last thirteen years. He was one of the two to conceive the idea of forming an Interstate Press Association; this year he is resigning.

The largest single group of delegates sent from any place was from Fort Wayne. There were twenty-seven in all. Sixteen were from South Side: Bill Hockett, John Bremer, Manuel Rothberg, Wayne Bender, Bryce Minier, John Bex, Louis Bonsib, Lloyd Grodrian, Dick Helm, Ann Abbott, Ursula Morton, Rosemary Chappell, Pauline Crabill, Helen Kelsey, Marjorie Killen, and Anna Brumbaugh. A special interurban car was provided for this group.

Extra-Curricular Activities Discussed On Radio Program

Co-operation of home room classes and clubs which have information that could be profitably presented in an interview, talk, or dramatization on the South Side Times radio program is desired.

by Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal of South Side High School.

This program, which is given over radio station WGL every Monday evening from 7 to 7:30 o'clock, is designed to convey information concerning South Side High to the community.

The second program, presented last Monday evening, was given mainly to acquaint people of Fort Wayne with two phases of extra-curricular activities in South Side. The first number on the program was an accordion duet, "Cheerio," by Georgianna Jane Jones and Maxine Morton.

Then the master of ceremonies, Bob Zeig, interrogated five students, Anna Brumbaugh, William Geyer, Manuel Rothberg, Jane Brinkman, and Ann Abbott, concerning vital statistics about South Side. The questioning gave the history and location of the school; it revealed that there are thirty-one students for every teacher, a much higher ratio than several years ago. The most important extra-curricular activities are The Times, the athletic department, and the music department.

Following this, Betty Wainwright presented "Grand Arpeggio" on the concert harp.

Dick Helm, sports editor, then interviewed Gordon Starely, captain of the 1934 football team. During his freshman year, Gordon played guard; but, when South Side adopted the Notre Dame system, he was shifted to tackle. He believed that the 1933 team was the best team South Side has ever produced. He stated that although our offense is second to none, Gordon sentry to think South Side had a good chance of keeping the city football championship if we keep up our defense Saturday.

Betty Wainwright again entertained on the concert harp, this time playing "Sylvia."

Mr. A. Verne Flint was the next person to be interviewed by Bob Zeig. Mr. Flint has taught geometry and

Mothers' Gym Class Gets Central Invitation

An invitation from the Central mothers' gym class for a Halloween party was read at the first meeting of the mothers' gym class, Monday, October 15. This party, which will be given on October 29, promises to be great fun for all. The members are asked to be at the Central gym by 7 o'clock.

They should be masked, wearing gym shoes, and be ready for a good time. In acknowledgement of this good time a stunt, under the direction of Mrs. H. Kelsey, assisted by Mrs. J. H. Chappell and Jean Thiebolt will be given by the South Side gym class.

Mr. Jack Wainwright Forms Harp Ensemble

Mr. Jack Wainwright has added a harp ensemble to the growing musical department of South Side. Miss Betty Wainwright is the director. As there are only six harps and seven girls, not all can play at the same time. These girls are: Wanda Jones, Betty Kreischer, Miriam Lickert, Helen Flaig, Joan Bonsib, Natalie Brennan, and Betty Wainwright. This group has played for the concerts in the gym, the teachers' convention on three occasions, the freshman mother's tea, and the sophomore mother's tea.

Junior Mothers To Hear Students

Annual Tea Will Be Held in Cafeteria Monday; Orchestra
To Play and Pupils To Talk.

Next Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the cafeteria will be the scene of the Junior Mothers' Tea, which is held annually in honor of the mothers of juniors in South Side.

The South Side orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Jack Wainwright, will entertain the mothers with several selections.

Also on the program will be talks by three students of Miss Benner, teacher of public speaking here. These students are Pauline Crabbill, Bernadette Dygert, and Bob Klopfenstein. Pauline, in her speech, will compare education of today with that of yesterday. Bernadette will tell the mothers of the value of present day education. The last student speaker, Bob Klopfenstein, will explain what the student can do to retain the high standard of education.

Mr. Snider, Miss Pittenger, and Mrs. David Vesey will also give short talks.

Following the program, tea will be served.

Minstrel Performance Postponed Indefinitely

Because of the Friars Club Revue, the minstrel show will be postponed indefinitely.

The performance was slated for November 24 and 25, but will not be given until the music department is able to finish their plans.

Mr. Wainwright said that although he would have to give his direct attention to the Friars Club Revue, he would be gathering material and making plans for the minstrel show.

Several Home Rooms Make Short Period Entertaining

At the inauguration of our new system of supervised study, opinions seemed to vary as to the value of taking fifteen minutes or so from the class periods every day. However, it has proved to be invaluable in that program elections can be better taken care of, bulletins may be read, school problems may be discussed, and very interesting programs may be given for the entertainment of the students during the home room period. There is no time wasted or taken away from the first period classes any more, and the teachers may start immediately with the lessons.

It is interesting to know what the various home rooms are doing with their time. After reading this article, the teachers and students should endeavor to make their home rooms as interesting or even more so than some of these.

Mr. Wilburn Wilson has a system which seems to be a little different than most of the classes. His pupils conduct their first fifteen minutes of the school day according to parliamentary procedure. He stated that on Mondays and Tuesdays debates are given by the students, and on Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays they have reviews. They have been discussing, "Manners and Personality in School and Business." Jack McGraw acts as the chairman for Room 10, and Marion McAtee is the chairman of the program committee.

Mr. Russell Furst stated that his

Students Observe Education Week

Home Rooms Follow Outline Prepared by National Committee on Their Program.

This week, American Education Week, is being observed in many ways and in many schools in all parts of the country. South Side too, is observing this week by having talks and discussions during the home room period.

Some home rooms have followed the following outline prepared by the National Committee:

Monday, November 5--Planning for Tomorrow. A question should be raised in the mind of every student, "What kind of life do I want to have?"

Tuesday, November 6--Developing New Types of Schooling. This topic includes the discussion of adaption of regular school curriculum to the needs of a changing social condition.

Wednesday, November 7--Improving the Rural Schools. The discussion of this topic shows that the purpose of the rural schools is to improve country life.

Thursday, November 9--Financing Our Schools. This topic shows the increasing unity of national life requires that support for education be derived from larger areas.

Friday, November 10--Quickening the Sense of Civic Responsibility. This topic is to show the importance of good citizenship.

Added topics are: Preparing for New Kinds of Service, and Enriching Character Through Education.

Included in the rooms that followed the outline were: 74, Miss McCloskey; 62, Miss Thorne's; 32, Miss Edith Crowe's; and room 90, Miss Perkins.

Miss Perkins has appointed several students to give talks in her room. These pupils were: Sonia Velkoff, Virginia Vesey, Barbara Urran, Bob Zieg, and Marcella Tieman.

In Miss Miller's room articles concerning National Education Week were read; and in 76, Mr. Gould, the teacher, gave a talk from an article in the Journal of National Education Association.

Philo To Initiate; Then See Picture

After Taking in of Members, Club To Have Luncheon and Then Will Go To Embroid.

Rough and solemn initiation of new members will feature the next meeting of Philo on November 12. Mary Martha Hobrock, who is in charge of the initiation services, has announced the list of initiates as being composed of the following members: Helen Anderson, Ruth Roadcap, Dorothy Crabbill, Doris Rindeen, Elizabeth Simminger, Vera Mosel, Margaret Crankshaw, Thelma Leininger, Geneva Shearer, Pat Berry, Eliza Bess Lucas, Geraldine Smith, Maxine Howard, Gwendolyn Horn, Bernadette Dygert, and Jean Creighton. At this time, the gold and white bows will be given out with the stipulation that they be worn constantly for a week.

Following the initiation, a light luncheon will be served after which everyone will leave for the Embroid theatre to see "Happiness Ahead." Girls planning to go are requested to sign up in Room 68 for sandwiches or pay 10 cents to Betty Medaris.

Girl Scout Brownies Hold Halloween Party

Members of Girl Scout Troop 21 held a Halloween party at the home of Miss Betty Bohnd. The main feature of the party was a Weiner bake, held on a hill in back of the home of the hostess. The path leading to the hill was lighted by jack-o'-lanterns. Games were played and the winners were awarded unique prizes, one of which was a fox terrier puppy. Since the party was held in the country, a number of the guests were dressed as farmerettes.

507 Subscribe For Yearbook By Tuesday

Campaign Expected To Sail
Over Top Friday; Frank Montgomery Leads Drive.

Exactly 507 students had subscribed to the South Side annual, The Totem, by Tuesday evening. The goal of 800 is sure to be reached by Friday. A capable staff of assistants have been given lists of underclassmen in a last-minute effort to round up the rest of the student body. This staff, composed of 50 energetic seniors, has thus far been responsible for a large number of subscriptions.

The leading subscription getters are Frank Montgomery, Albert Bidelot, and Doris Ehlinger. Frank Montgomery is leading by virtue of having been able to get eighteen subscribers to sign on the dotted line. Albert, who has been working mainly among the faculty members, is a close second with thirteen subscriptions to his credit. Trailing these two, Doris Ehlinger holds third position by influencing six students to get Totems from her. Quite a few seniors have been able to procure a total of five subscriptions.

The final date for subscribers who wish to have their name inscribed in gold on the cover is tomorrow, November 9. This is a feature originally with this year's book. A good many more subscriptions will pour into the Totem office tonight and tomorrow because of the last-minute rush of those who would like to have their names on their yearbooks. It is fully probable that the goal of 900 will be reached by closing time Friday. Anyone who does not wish to have their name on the book may subscribe at the present time. If you do not wish your name on the book, all that is necessary is a direction to the solicitor to that effect.

As added features of the yearbook, the faculty will have individual pictures and the underclassmen will have not only individual pictures, but also classified sections according to the year in school. Novel ideas will be prominent in the 1935 yearbook. The underclassmen picture taking is scheduled to start within a very short time. Cleve Briscoe Graae will also take the underclassmen pictures. These pictures are only twenty-five cents. Because of this low price, many underclassmen will avail themselves of this opportunity to get an individual picture in the Totem.

The seniors who have thus far neglected having their pictures taken are urged to do so immediately. At the present time only about three-fourths of the seniors have signed up to get their images made for the Totem. The absolute deadline for the pictures of the upperclassmen is Friday, November 23.

Playlet Presents Greek Scientists

"Ghosts" of Ancient Mathematicians Appear Before Members of Junior-Math Club.

A play given to introduce the mathematicians of Greece, was enjoyed by the members of the Junior-Math Club November 6. This play was given in the form of a dream. Dorothy Sibal, who was the dreamer, was looking at the pictures of these men when she fell asleep. Then these mathematicians came back to life in the form of ghosts and explained about their life.

The cast was: Ina Claire Chappell, Pythagoras; Mary Louise Lankenau, Thales; Charles Thorne, Archimedes; Jane McElwain, Plato; Jerry Zehr, Euclid; Dorothy Sibal, the dreamer.

The committee in charge of this program was Charles Thorne, chairman; Jane McElwain, Mary Louise Lankenau, Dorothy Sibal, Ina Claire Chappell, and Jerry Zehr.

A theatre party is being planned by the following committee: Charles Thorne, chairman; Dorothy Sibal, and Jane McElwain.

For the meeting of November 20, the members will discuss the mathematics of the North American Indians. The committee in charge of this program are: Charles Thorne, chairman; Ray Racine, Constance Hogg, Dorothy Richter, and Clarence Helmsing.

Leader Is Honored

Merle J. Abbott

Merle J. Abbott, superintendent of Fort Wayne public schools, was honored for his educational and financial leadership of the Fort Wayne school system when the teachers presented him Wednesday night a life membership in the National Education Association. The membership was given him as a gift by the rank and file of the teachers in the city as a sincere and loving tribute to his character and notable work. The presentation was made at the North Side High School auditorium as a part of the Back-to-School Night program there.

Skating Party Will Be Given By Stamp Club

First of Season To Be Held At Bell's Rink Saturday
By Philatelic Members.

Saturday, November 10, has been set as the date for the first skating party of this season. It will be sponsored by the Philatelic Society. Skating begins at 8 o'clock and continues until 11:30. Those present will partake of the good time that has been carefully planned by the general chairman, Bob Adams.

"Tickets may be secured for twenty-five cents, one-fourth of a dollar, or two times and one nickel from any member of the society, from Miss Van Gorder in room 64, or in the hall the fourth and fifth periods on Friday. They may be also obtained at the rink Saturday evening for thirty-five cents," stated Robert Archer, who is in charge of the sale of tickets. He also added, "Any member of the club who sells five tickets and turns the money in on or before Friday at 3:30, will be awarded a special complimentary ticket."

Evelyn Ertel and Edith Knoche, committee in charge of the fairs, have planned favors that are to be a surprise to all. Transportation by bus has been arranged by Robert Blomker. The bus will be at the Rialto Theatre at 7:30 o'clock to take out any who pay their dimes for a round trip. Any one interested should see Miss Van Gorder in room 64. Helen Kelsey and John Bex, who are responsible for the publicity, have secured six very attractive posters from the art department which have been posted in the hall.

The chaperones will be Miss Pauline Van Gorder, faculty adviser of the South Side Philatelic Society; Miss Martha Pittenger, dean of girls and English teacher; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sterner, and the parents of the officers which are as follows: Bob Adams, president; Evelyn Ertel, vice-president; Marshall Rosenthal, secretary; Richard Kellogg, treasurer, and Dorothy Canada, sergeant-at-arms.

South Siders Talk At Harrison Hill

Three Public Speaking Students
Address Seventh and Eighth Grades During Present Week.

Three members of the public speaking class are speaking at the Harrison Hill School during this week. The topic of the speech is based on Education Week.

Pauline Crabbill is speaking on "The Comparison of Education of Today with Education of Yesterday." Bernadette Dygert has "The Value of Present-Day Education," as her subject.

"What We As Students Can Do To Maintain Our Present High School Standard of Education" was chosen as the topic for Robert Klopfenstein. These speeches are being given between the seventh and eighth grade at 3 o'clock during the week.

Miss Kathryn Garton To Review Chinese Book

Miss Kathryn Turney Garton, a noted book reviewer, will give a review at the Chamber of Commerce November 10, at 8:15 o'clock. Miss Garton is presented by the Boy Scouts of America, troop No. 25. The book to be reviewed by Miss Garton is "The Chinese Testament" written by Tan-Shih-Hua. The admission price is fifty cents a person.

Authoritative books dealing with the intimate life of the Chinese are few. The title of Tetrikor's work is somewhat misleading. It does not deal with biblical history as one might assume but is rather, the autobiography of a Chinese boy who was born on the banks of the Yangtze river, and who lived at a critical period of his country's history. It is beautifully told and is full of human interest.

Troop 25 will present its colors, after which Scout George DuWald, of the freshman class of South Side, will introduce Mrs. Garton.

Large Assembly Planned In Honor Of Armistice Day

Mr. Paul Goss Talks On First Aid Duties In Several Accidents

Mr. Paul Goss, a member of the Fort Wayne Red Cross, spoke to the South Side students Tuesday morning on the subject of First Aid.

He stated that everyone should be an expert swimmer for his own safety besides that of others. Many people can swim twenty feet with closed eyes and much splashing, but that isn't really swimming. When one can dive gracefully into the water and proceed for a quarter of a mile, then he is entitled to say he really swims. Mr. Goss stated a few rules about swimming. Among these are: Never go for a swim within two hours after eating, and under no conditions go swimming alone.

The speaker then told the necessity of being able to administer first aid to an injured companion. He told of an accident which happened recently in which a man was thrown through the windshield and onto the shoulder of the road. His back was broken; but not knowing this, two of his companions picked him up and took him to the nearest town. The coroner later told Mr. Goss that if the man hadn't been moved, he probably would have lived, but his companions' ignorance of first aid cost him his life. Mr. Goss then demonstrated artificial respiration with Jerry Zehr as his "victim."

Wranglers Hear World War Talk

Mr. Eugene Wells Also Discusses American Legion and Tells Four Principles of Group.

Speaking on the American Legion and his experiences in the World War, Mr. Eugene Wells, a member of the American Legion, talked before the Wranglers Club last Monday afternoon in the Greeley Room.

Mr. Wells explained that the Legion is a natural outgrowth of the World War. He said that it stands for four things: justice, freedom, democracy, and loyalty. Telling of the kindness and hospitality of some of the German people, Mr. Wells said that he received aid from them when he was ill and when hospital service could not be obtained.

Ralph Schwartz played several selections on the marimbaphone. He was accompanied on the piano by his mother. The club sang two folk songs and the national anthem. Miss Betty Peters gave a reading, and the business meeting followed.

The following activities were announced by the president, Bill Hockett: November 19--Initiation and potluck; December 13, Declaration contest; December 17, Christmas play. The committee in charge of the Christmas play includes Jean Kranz, Dick Strauss, Dave Steger, and Ruth Adler.

Ward School To Hear Public Speaking Student

Miss Emma Kiefer's Interest Lies in Her English Classes

By Marshall Rosenthal

Always fond of the study of foreign languages, Miss Emma Kiefer, unlike most people, who when they like a subject always want to impart their knowledge to others, does not desire to teach for this. First, the longer she teaches English, the more she realizes the importance of it; second, she finds that her knowledge of foreign languages was of greater usefulness as a background for English than being just subject matter to teach.

Her early ambition was not to teach school, but to be a librarian; but now she would rather teach than do anything else.

Was She Embarrassed!
Her most amusing and also embarrassing moments were when she was a teacher at Bloomington High School to a bunch of freshmen trying to learn the rudiments of French. On that day, the superintendent came to visit her class on a tour of inspection. It also happened that on that day Indiana University was having some kind of a celebration, and the University band was outside the windows of her classroom playing while the windows of her classroom were open. It is easy to see how difficult it was to keep these boys interested in French grammar when peppy marches were sounding forth from just outside the windows. Miss Kiefer struggled bravely until the scholarly visitor, who had a sense of humor, suggested that she stop trying and she didn't have to teach for the department head after all.

When she attended Central, there were no outside activities. Football, basketball, or even gymnasium work was not indulged in; but the boys did sometimes play baseball in the spring. Her first job was teaching German in Bloomington and Harmar schools in the grades from one to eight. She has also taught Latin and English.

Even after teaching in South Side for ten years, she thinks that the students are not improving in their ability. After various intervals of teaching German, Latin, and French, she was always glad to go back to teaching English. There are two reasons

South Side Quintet Will Initiate Season on Road Soon

Basketball Tilt To Be Played With Waterloo

Practice Contest Scheduled Between Archers, Wildcats Is First of Season.

Saturday Evening Is Date For Game

Opponents Already Have Victory To Credit After Fray With Pleasant Lake.

The scheduling of a practice game between the South Side Archers and the Waterloo Wildcats has been announced by Mr. Ora Davis, faculty athletic adviser at South Side. This game will be played at the Waterloo Town Hall this Saturday evening and will start at 8 o'clock. Many Archer fans are planning to witness this game to get a lineup on the team for the coming season.

Waterloo got off to an early start this season as most of the smaller town schools do and already has one decisive victory to its credit. The Wildcats ran up a total of 25 points while holding their opponents, Pleasant Lake, to a single free throw. Due to the graduation of five members of the last year's squad, Coach Bob Warring of the Wildcats has been forced to use a green team on the hardwood this season; but if his present combination can continue to click as well as it did in its opening tilt, it should be plenty tough this season. Kaiser, the Waterloo center, is a veteran from last year's team and is the big gun in the Wildcat offense.

Coach Jake McClure has had over seventy-five charges out during the first two weeks of practice and has already cut his squad down to twenty-one. The present squad will be cut again as soon as the members of the football squad start practice. The present squad consists of Hall, Hilgeman, Symonds, Close, Lohse, North, Doehrmann, Tielker, Hirschman, Wilsie, Klotz, White, Carl Hall, Kintzmillier, Eisner, Cramer, Stoner, Schelper, and Houser.

Coach McClure has decided to take a squad of ten players to Waterloo. This squad will consist of Hall, Symonds, Close, Lohse, North, Doehrmann, Tielker, Carl Hall, Hilgeman, and Schelper.

The probable starting lineups are: South Side—Lohse and Symonds, forwards; Close, center; Hilgeman and H. Hall, guards. Waterloo—V. Dunn and Rohm, forwards; Kaiser, center; B. Dunn and Harpener, guards.

W. H. Windmiller To Speak At Hi-Y

Members Are Introduced To Mr. "Ammie" Armrhein, New Boys' Secretary at Y. M. C. A.

Mr. W. H. Windmiller, commercial instructor at South Side, will be the principal speaker at the next meeting of the Junior Hi-Y Club at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday evening. His talk will concern college sports. He was connected with sports throughout his high school and college career and was coach of the Ossian Bears previous to coming to South Side.

At the last meeting of the club a discussion of the club program was held. The club was also introduced to Mr. "Ammie" Armrhein, the new boys' secretary of the "Y". Mr. Armrhein stated that he intended to continue the plans of Mr. Ackerman, who resigned as secretary a few weeks ago. He intends to introduce new ideas from time to time as it becomes necessary to do so.

Plans for a novel skating party on December 21 were discussed and a committee was appointed to take charge of all plans for this event. A membership drive was also discussed and referred to a committee.

Journalism Given Boost

The journalism students of the Edward Lee McClain High School in Greenfield, Ohio, are to write for the Greenfield newspapers under the heading of "School Notes." These will be published in the Greenfield Republican and the Wednesday issue of the Greenfield Times.

This work is part of the regular senior journalism work and will be taken over by the juniors with the beginning of the second semester.

Cantor Observes Week

Eddie Cantor, nationally famed radio and screen star, observed American Education Week a bit early last Sunday night, but the fact that the observation was a trifle premature did not detract a whit from its effectiveness.

Last week in practice the team spent a lot of time working on defense.

The Toledo game can not be held against the team, because it was obvious Coach Welborn was saving his varsity for the Central game.

The game this week will be plenty tough. North Side beat Central only by one point. Let's go, team!

South Side will have to watch Charleton, who is very fast and clever. Also they will have to watch Warfield, a very clever passer and runner.

Bob Fowler received a bad cut over his eye in the game last week. Tough luck, Bob. He played a good game at end while he was in there.

Toledo scored only once on the varsity. Nice going, team. The third team was really going to town in the game last week.

Bob Lohman, who received an injury to his leg in the North Side game, will be in tip-top shape for the game Saturday.

If South Side beats Central, they will win the N. E. I. C. championship. If Central ties us, we will be in a tie with Decatur; and if we lose, Decatur will be the champs.

Don't forget that the game is at North Side field.

Friar Club Revue Tickets Available

Teachers Have Supply on Hand For Entertainment December 14, 15; Sale Prizes Offered.

"Tickets for the Friar Club Frolic to be given on December 14 and 15, are in the hands of the teachers," Mr. R. Nelson Snider announced. The matinee performance will cost fifteen cents and the evening show may be seen for fifty cents. Fifteen thousand evening and two thousand matinee tickets have been issued. Students are requested to buy their's as soon as possible.

A prize will be given by the club to the pupil selling the greatest number of admittances. It will consist of a season basketball passbook or its equivalent. Only the fifty cent tickets will count in this competition. North Side and Central will also sell tickets; the school with the highest sale will derive the benefit of the Friar Frolic next year.

A poster contest, under the supervision of Miss Erma Dochterman, is also being sponsored.

Archers Bow Before Toledo With Decisive Score, 27 to 0

Crushing a second-string lineup with its aerial attack and its powerful plunging backfield, Woodward of Toledo shellacked the South Side eleven by a score of 27 to 0 after going on one of the most hectic first quarter scoring sprees witnessed on the southern gridiron in recent years.

The Polar Bears went into action on the first kick-off and scored twice on their first four plays. On the kick-off, Woodward returned the ball to her own 30-yard line. Here Davis caught the entire Green Wave napping and tossed a 30-yard pass to Gazywinski, who continued on down the field to South Side's 15-yard line where he was forced out of bounds. On the next play the Buckeyes plunged to the 7-yard line and scored a moment later on an off-tackle play. Hiltman, a triple-threat man, dropped the extra point.

The Archers chose to kick off again, and the Buckeyes returned the pigskin once more to their own 35-yard line. On the first play, Davis again faded back and tossed a pass to Borough on South Side's 40-yard line, and he dashed on through a clear field to score. Hiltman once more converted the extra point on a dropkick. On the kick-off, South Side stopped the Polar Bears on their 30-yard line.

Toledo Scores Again

Two plays netted the Woodward eleven only five yards and a quick kick on the third down set the Archers back on their own 25-yard line. South Side failed to gain on two line plunges, and Woodward got possession of the ball on South Side's 4-yard line when an Archer player caught the punt which had been partially blocked before it touched the ground. Three successive plunges brought the ball up to the 12-yard line, and then two line plunges and a right end run on a reverse by Gazywinski brought Toledo's third score of the quarter. Hiltman's dropkick was blocked, and the quarter ended soon after.

In the second quarter, Coach Lundy Welborn took out his second string squad in favor of his varsity eleven. This team continued to play until the start of the last quarter, and they held the Toledo aggregation in check; although they, themselves, did not open up much offensively. The 9rchers did not advance past the 30-yard line during the second quarter but were able to hold the Woodward eleven in check all the time. George's kicks repeatedly set the Buckeyes back and only their short passes and end runs on fake punt formations kept the playing in mid-field.

In the third quarter, Woodward received the ball on her own 31-yard line. Three plunges advanced the ball to the 40-yard line, and a fourth plunge for a plunge for a first down was short by inches. South Side immediately took advantage of this break; and Lee passed to Simon, who was downed on the 25-yard line. On the next play the Archers attempted to march on down the field by an aerial attack, but Simon's pass was intercepted on the 20-yard line.

Plane Contest Won By Ken Altekruse

North Side Graduate Takes Feature Event at Central; Dale Rinker Takes Third Place

Ken Altekruse, a graduate of North Side High School, won the feature event of the city model airplane contest held Tuesday evening in the Central gym under the supervision of the Fort Wayne Model Airplane League.

The program opened with a glider contest for grade school boys and was won by L. Saurbaugh of the Franklin School with a flight of 79 feet. R. Simon of James H. Smart finished second and James Doswell of Washington School placed third.

Dale Rinker of South Side finished third in the Class B, rise-off ground (R. O. G.) models, with a flight that lasted for 57.7 seconds. This event was won by Ken Altekruse with a fine flight that lasted 4 minutes, 1.4 seconds, and Burton Benninghoff, also of North Side placed second with a flight that lasted 1 minute, 52 seconds. In his event South Side didn't get the breaks. Paul Fairfield's plane had flown for over 1 1/2 minutes when it suddenly came apart, and our third entry Eugene Fletcher's plane never really got started.

This meet was sponsored by and supervised by the Fort Wayne Model Airplane League. Noel H. Whittier acted as referee, and Stanley Guenther was head timekeeper.

Voorhees Room To Be Site of S. P. C. Meeting

Miss Marjorie Suter has announced that the Student Players' meeting, which will be November 9, will be held in the Voorhees room instead of the Greeley room.

Berneta McIntosh, program chairman, has planned an interesting program. A play, "The Short Cut," written by Percival Wilde, will be presented by Bob Harruff and Frank Montgomery with Kenneth Scott aiding them. Berneta McIntosh will give a talk on Kathryn Cornell, a noted actress, and Aletha Hatfield has planned to have a musical selection. Violet Wittmer will give a talk, but the subject is not known. This Friday is the deadline for payment of dues. Miss Suter stated.

Mr. Vernon Clapp Gives High Opinion of Times

Mr. Vernon Clapp, a cousin of Miss Eleanor Smeltz, was sent a copy of the South Side Times. In speaking of the paper, he commended it most highly. He stated that he has seen many papers of not nearly so good a quality which have been sold as professional newspapers in many larger communities. He said Miss Harvey and the staff should be highly commended for their efforts toward a better school paper for the students of South Side High. Mr. Clapp is employed as an advertising manager in Chicago.

Torch Club Holds Fathers' Banquet

Dads Are Honored With Annual Affair; Dr. E. Burns Martin Gives Main Talk of Evening.

The Torch Club Father and Son Banquet is over, and some twenty-eight boys and their fathers are looking back with a good deal of pleasure to the annual affair, which was held Monday in the cafeteria. About fifty-six people were grouped around tables put together to form a huge T. Dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock and consisted of Swiss steak, which seemed to dwindle appreciably as it neared the last few plates, mashed potatoes, salad, coffee, and ice cream. Along with the ice cream came a cookie which after a good deal of detecting was discovered to be mint on top and chocolate underneath. Altogether it was an excellent meal and thoroughly enjoyed by everyone.

After the meal was over and almost everyone was engrossed with the universal occupation of draping frayed edges of napkins around their necks, Leslie Johnson welcomed the fathers with a short speech. Then after music by Don and Dick Hickman, poems by Mr. Ora Davis, and a speech by Mr. Snider, Mr. Ellison and Mr. Harold Armbrhein, Y. M. C. A., Dr. E. Burns Martin, the principal attraction of the evening, spoke on "Crime Prevention," the topic of the club for this year.

Dr. Martin cited a few experiences of his own, and gave his views on the prevention of the crime wave that has swept this country. He said that by correctly raising and helping the children of today, we could prevent them from dropping into that walk of life which eventually produces the criminals. He concluded his talk by quoting and interpreting philosophies of one of his favorite book characters. After this talk Bob Lee, Holden Ruppnow, Walter Jackson, and Bob Hall sang two selections, one with Walter Jackson at the piano, and one with Bob Lee strumming a guitar. After warming up on the first song and almost finishing together, they were able to stay neck and neck on the home stretch of the second song and were applauded roundly.

The fathers and sons were then introduced by Mr. Earl Sterner, after which everyone joined in the Torch Club song and called it a day. Altogether the banquet was singularly successful, the speeches and songs were fine, the food was excellent, and everyone went away with a satisfaction which could only be felt after an affair which was enjoyed as this one was.

School Office Used as Information Booth By Pupils, Parents

"Is the Chief, High Mogul, Big-Shot, Old Man, R. N., R. Nelson, or Mr. Snider in?" Such names are given to the principal when he is asked for at the office.

The office is taken as an information bureau by many outside people besides the students. Miss Alderdice is often asked to divide numbers, spell words, and answer various English questions. One time a man called the office and wanted a history teacher to give him all of the fallen families in Europe. In filling out grade cards, the word "Parent" is written upon many grade cards in place of the name of the pupil's parents.

Miss Pittenger is also called up and asked humorous questions. One woman called and asked Miss Pittenger to send her boy home to get a loaf of bread. Another lady called to ask Miss Pittenger to send her daughter home to clean up her room.

Miss Luella Feiertag Sings At Orchestra Concert Friday

One of Fort Wayne's most distinguished vocalists, Luella Feiertag, honored South Side by presenting several of her vocal selections at the monthly band concert Friday. Miss Feiertag sang several selections with the orchestra and two selections accompanied by Betty Wainwright at the harp. The month's program was centered around classical music but later in the year different classes of music will be presented by both the band and orchestra.

To open the program the orchestra played a short overture, and this was followed by an active number which in turn was followed by other beautiful selections. Another feature on the program was a double-piano duet played by two sophomores, Reginald Gerig and Kathleen Wilmer.

The program was as follows:
Die Entführung aus dem Serail... Mozart

Piano duet—Rondo Brillante... Schubert
Blue Danube Waltz, with chorus... Strauss
Romance... Grunfeld
Luella Feiertag—Brownies Tally-Ho... Leonard
Cavatina... Bohm
To a Wild Rose... MacDowell
Unfinished Symphony... Schubert

During the concert, Pauline Crabill addressed the student body with a message from the Friar Club. The message told about the Revue which the Friar Club is sponsoring for the benefit of South Side's music department. Two members of the club, itself, were guests at the concert. The next concert will take place December 17.

Students Differ in Opinions On Best Feature in Times

The students of South Side have their own ideas on the most outstanding feature in the Times. When asked, "What do you think is the most outstanding feature in the South Side Times," many answers were given with groans accompanying them. The groans were either due to the fact that the question was put to them too quickly or else they were annoyed. Whatever it was, the following answered the question:

Jane Brothers: The sports section is the most interesting. Through this section the student body knows just what is happening in the field of sports. It not only keeps the student well informed, but it stimulates his interest in the various sports.

Aletha Hatfield: In my estimation, the feature stories are the most outstanding features in the Times. I read them first because I think that they are the most amusing and interesting. They are also beneficial to the student by keeping him well informed on many interesting incidents.

Georgianne Jacobs: I think the feature columns of the South Side Times are the most outstanding. They rate 100 percent with me. They measure up with the News-Sentinel and the Journal-Gazette without a doubt. The writers have a sense of humor that makes the columns appealing as well as interesting.

Bob Ingham: I think the items that concern the students and their activities as well as the viewpoints of the students on various questions put to them are most interesting.

Max Tricht: In my opinion the news containing sports is the most interesting. All students are interested in sports and the activities of their teams.

Pauline Crabill: The editorial page is my selection for the best feature. The editorials contain valuable information to the student. I write an editorial once in a great while so I suppose it is my duty to abide by the editorial page. All kidding aside, the editorial page is really interesting and educational.

Speakers Bureau Aids Booster Club

Wranglers Will Honor Speakers At Annual Banquet in Spring; Members Talk in Home Rooms

South Side has for the first time in its history organized a permanent speakers' bureau. The Booster Club asked for the organization of this bureau in order that it might help it to put over new deals. Miss Dorothy Benner was appointed the head of the department, and she selects the students who are to be members of the bureau. These students are required to have at least one semester of public speaking to their credit.

When an assignment has been given to the department, all the members meet and from the material given them, each member works up a speech to be given in various home rooms. Each member has two or three speeches to prepare for every assignment, so that all the home rooms may be addressed.

This bureau has been used for four occasions this semester. It brought to the students information about The Times; it spoke in behalf of the Freshman-Sophomore speech contest; it announced the band assemblies, and it co-operated with the class officers in promoting the beautifying of the school.

These members will be honored at the Wranglers Banquet to be held next spring for their splendid co-operation. The Speakers' Bureau is an honorary activity in public speaking.

"WHERE TO GO AFTER THE CENTRAL GAME"

South Side Will Tackle Central Saturday at North Side

Tigers' Game Not To Decide Championship

For First Time in History, City Crown Determined By North Side Clash.

Opponent's Defense Appears Strong

Welbornites Hard at Work In Preparation for Fray; Organize Trick Plays.

Clashing for the first time in the history of their rivalry in which the outcome of the contest will not decide the city scholastic football championship, the valiant Archer band of South Side will encounter the raging Tigers of Central at the North Side gridiron next Saturday at 2 o'clock.

The South Siders have captured the city title already because of their two previous wins in city series competition and Central's defeat at the hands of North Side and a scoreless tie with Central Catholic. This game promises to be a tough battle from the opening whistle, and the team getting the breaks seems headed for victory.

Perfect New Plays
The Archers are hard at work preparing for this fray. After the rather disappointing showing against the Woodward eleven, Coach Lundy Welborn has ordered plenty of hard practice for his charges. The Archers have several trick plays which they will use in this tie and each of these being perfected this week. In the Woodward game several of the Welbornites took quite a pounding, and some are bruised as a result.

Central does not look especially impressive according to the record they have made this season. Their four wins have been scored over comparatively easy teams. Two scoreless ties with Decatur and Central Catholic indicate that the Tiger defense is plenty tough. Losses in their frays with North Side and Wabash were both by very close scores.

Teams Are Compared
However, previous records can be thrown to the winds in an Archer-Tiger game, because the inevitable generally occurs. Both teams have shown good defenses this season and varied success on the offense. Both have shown brilliant passing powers at times and poor defense against aerial attacks. Thus it is highly probable that both teams will resort to aerial attacks frequently. The Central backfield is shifty and very fast. Warfield in the halfback position has been carrying the brunt of the running attack. He is shifty at all times and is a constant puzzle to the opposing backfield. Stubbs at fullback does the plunging for the Bengals and has been doing a fine job this year. The Tigers are handicapped by lack of weight in both the backfield and line but have made up for this by their speed.

The Archers are in good condition for this game and if they have ironed out the flaws in their defense against passing which was so obviously shown in the Woodward game they should come through with a victory.

The probable lineup for this battle will be:

South Side	Central
George, LE	Seals
Ellenwood, LT	Smith
Roop, LG	Krajewski
Ostermeyer, C	Dixie
Eschoff, RG	Rhoads
Straley, RT	MacDonald
Jackson, RE	L. Sitko

Fast Freights Win Over Cats, 33-0

Intramural Tag Football Team, Never Beaten, Adds Another Victory; Dutchmen in Lead.

Piling up a total of thirty-three points, the Fast-Freights had little trouble defeating the Cats 33-0 in one of the two intramural tag football games of last week. So far this season, the Fast-Freights have not been scored upon.

Starting out the Freighters scoring, Russell passed to Bartels for the first touchdown. A few minutes later, Cochran plunged through the opponent's line for six more points. Russell passed to Diffendorfer for the extra point. Late in the first half, Cochran cracked through right tackle for the Fast-Freights' third touchdown. Russell again passed to Diffendorfer for the extra point. At the beginning of the second half, Cochran tossed a lateral pass to Russell, who carried the ball over the goal line for a touchdown. Schmidt dropped-kicked the extra point, making the score 26-0. In the last quarter, Cochran plunged eleven yards through right tackle for the final score of the game.

Archers To Have Pep Session Friday Night

A pep meeting will be held Friday night at 7:30 o'clock in the gymnasium preceding the Central game on Saturday afternoon. The band will furnish the music for the session, and there will be yells, speeches, and other things common to pep meetings.

North Side Ends Gridiron Season

Redskins Conclude First Year Successfully With Bob Nulf; Central To Finish Saturday.

North Side High School concluded their football season last Saturday with an overwhelming victory over Columbia City. The current season was singularly successful for the Redskins, as one of the best teams ever turned out at North Side was able to cope well with every opponent, and was able to inaugurate successfully Bob Nulf's first year as tutor of the Redskins.

Next year North Side will have a wealth of backfield material but very little to build the line up on. Forrest Cronkrite, Joe Schumm, and Rog Poorman, all of them in the starting lineup this year, will form a great backfield but Don Shilts, end, is about the only worthwhile lineman who will survive graduation. On the whole the North Side team next year will be made or broken by a line that will be green from almost one end to the other. If Nulf can get a serviceable line that will be able to open a few holes for his many speedy backs, North Side next year will be probably the best team in the city. But Nulf will have a bunch of good backs with no place to go, and teams don't win ball games that way.

Central, which will conclude its season next Saturday against South Side, won from Lima last Saturday 6 to 0. The Tigers showed drive and power throughout the contest, and they were constantly threatening Lima's goal. At one time Central was repulsed on the one-yard line and in the last quarter the Tigers were constantly moving deep into Lima's territory. Saturday Central will throw everything they have into the fray in an attempt to stop South Side, and a real game is in store between these ancient grid rivals.

All-American Team Contest Sponsored By News-Sentinel

Football fans are now being given an opportunity to cash in on their knowledge of the pigskin game as it is played today. The News-Sentinel is sponsoring for its readers a contest for the selection of an All-American Team for 1934.

Fifteen prizes will be awarded, totaling $125. The prizes will be: First, $50; second, $25; third, $15; fourth, $10; fifth, $5; and ten prizes of $2 each.

The News-Sentinel has secured the services of a group of six nationally famous football authorities, the All-American Board of Football. Each evening from Monday to Friday an article appears, written by one of the coaches. In these columns the writers comment on outstanding teams and players and make predictions for the coming week. These men and the section of the country each covers are as follows: Howard Jones, Pacific coast; "Pop" Warner and Eddie Casey, East; Bill Alexander, South; Elmer Layden, Big Ten and Middle West. Each Saturday a list is published of the ten best players of the previous week, as picked by Christy Walsh, nationally famous sports writer. At the end of the season the All-American Board will pick one team from these weekly ratings.

In order to win in this contest, the fan must present his own idea of the proper All-American team along with a 100-word article telling why he picked each member. The contestants' ratings will be compared with the team of the All-American Board, to be published after the contest closes. Every entry will be judged by its likeness to this official team and by its 100-word article. A committee of local football authorities to be announced later will be the judges.

There are several ways of getting the best information on the subject. The opinions of the News-Sentinel staff writers and those of the national columnists should be read, and above all the weekly ratings by Mr. Walsh should be observed.

In determining choices for each position, it should be remembered that the player's name must have appeared at least once in the weekly ratings and must have played the position decided upon during a regular season contest. All entries are to be addressed to the All-American Contest Editor, the News-Sentinel, and postmarked on or before December 3.

Hi-Yers To Give Turkey at Party

Seniors To Have Thanksgiving Eve Skating Frolic; Fellows Entertain Fathers Thursday.

A dressed turkey will be given away at the Senior Hi-Y skating party, November 28, at Bell's rink, as an attendance prize. The tickets, which sell at the usual price of twenty-five cents, are perforated through the center so that one-half of it may be kept as a receipt. The date of Thanksgiving Eve is usually reserved by Mr. Joseph Bell, himself; but, since the Hi-L has been giving skating parties for the last several years, he offered this evening special to the South Side Senior Hi-Y. The committee in charge is Dick Reincke, chairman, Jack Dawson, Bob Klopfenstein, Ellis Lockner, and Jim Roth.

Last week the senior club had its annual Father-Son party, with Wayne Bender, Joe Bailey, and Wayne Christie in charge. Mr. Henry Branning gave a talk on the aspects of real estate at the present time. This talk was right in line with the theme of this semester, which is vocations. Mr. Branning said the most expensive corner in Fort Wayne is at Calhoun and Wayne streets. The highest price this property has ever reached is $8,000 per front foot, although at the present time it has dropped to $5,000.

Following Mr. Branning's talk, the members and their fathers played games and had a social hour.

Room committee, Fay Bechtold, chairman; Eloise Brase, and Alice Bandt. Complete plans have not been made.

The regular meeting of the club was held Thursday, November 1, in the Greeley Room. The business meeting was held with Rowena Bevington as presiding officer. Following this, the formal candle ceremony was held during which time twelve new members were initiated into the club.

Mrs. S. E. Adler, manager of the Neumode Hosiery Shop, was the guest speaker at the meeting. Her topic was, "Wise Purchasing of Hosiery." She gave the girls pointers on how they could be sure they were getting the right size, color, and style of hosiery. She displayed many different styles of hosiery and also had a woman demonstrate the proper mending of runs in silk stockings. Mrs. Adler invited any girls who have problems about hosiery to visit her at the Neumode Hosiery Shop, where she will give advice in solving them. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Travel Club Party Has Novel Games

Dancing, Stunts Also Feature Entertainment; To Visit in Mandalay, India, Wednesday.

Travel Club will visit Mandalay, India, at their meeting next Wednesday in the Greeley room. Betty Erick is in charge of the program. Refreshments will be served.

Helleville, Madagascar, was the scene of the party staged by Travel Club Saturday night in the Greeley Room. Dancing, games, and stunts comprised the entertainment. A tap dance on roller skates was given by Eleanor Cupp accompanied by Alwita Tarney at the piano.

Those present were divided into two groups; each group put on a stunt, either enacting a proverb, or some humorous sketch. The groups were given ten minutes to prepare their sketch. The group which was chosen as the winner put on a radio program with imitations of Bing Crosby, Mort Downey, Pat and Marge, Ruth Etting, Jack Benny, and Mary Livingston, the four Mills Brothers, and Aunt Sally.

Miss Mabel Thorne and Miss Susan Peck were the judges of this contest. Pig pong, pig, googenheimer, streets and alleys, and bridge and pinocle were also played. Refreshments of ice cream, animal cookies, and Devil's Food cake were served.

Prop Wash

Last year at Lake Garda in northern Italy the warrant officer, Agello, flew a Macchi-Pist seaplane at a speed of 423.8 miles per hour—more than seven miles a minute. For this he was promoted to second lieutenant. Last week he beat his own record by flying at a speed of 440.8 miles per hour—the fastest time ever flown by man.

Francesco Agello is called "Crazy Boy," and he is the last living member of Italy's high-speed school. He has now been made a first lieutenant, and he says he can get married. Maybe the man is crazy. Not having enough to worry about flying the world's fastest and most dangerous plans in the world, he goes out and gets married.

So much time is lost getting from the airport to downtown New York that one operator has opened seaplane service taking the customers within one block of Wall Street. Maybe the day of the downtown airport is here.

Not long ago our old globe-trotting friend, Wiley Post, pushed his five-year-old Winnie Mae up to 40,000 feet. His plane's ceiling is about 28,000 feet, but Wiley, with a few contraptions here and there, went 12,000 feet higher. With more Wiley Posts, the day when you and I will be flying in the stratosphere is near.

Jessie Ellen Zollars, in a Latin 4 class of Miss Oppelt, gave a very interesting talk on "Roman Remains in Southern France."

In Miss Kiefer's English classes, all but twelve pupils have completed the reading required by mid-term. Thirty of the students have completed their reading for the semester. Miss Kiefer's English 8 class has begun reading "The Life of Samuel Johnson."

Eleanor Cupp gave a Halloween reading in Miss Demaree's home room.

Miss Thorne's home room has been discussing leisure time. Esther Frymeyer was in charge of the home room Halloween party.

Elsie Campbell has made 100 percent on both citizenship tests given by Miss Crowe this term.

The pupils in Mr. Whelan's P. G. 1 classes have made a collection of minerals, rocks, and fossils found in this region. They have been studying rocks and have been expected to hand in at least ten different kinds of mineral rocks.

In Mr. Whelan's advanced physical geography classes an extra credit exercise, under the study of glaciers, was the making of a salt and flour model of the Fort Wayne area. These models show by actual relief the moraine belts, the old Lake Maumee, and the larger stream valleys. Those handling in exceptionally good models were James Bosserman, Ida May Frazell, Jack Rehner, Lois Vessel, and Martha Franz.

The freshmen pupils of Miss Mellen's foods class were given a test recently over the preservation of foods. The highest grades were made by Marie Engle and Betty Gross.

In the freshmen foods classes a breakfast was served last week. The classes were divided into family groups of four for this work. They were to plan a breakfast within their income.

The pupils in Miss Mellen's Foods 2 classes have been given the problem to plan a two weeks' menu for a family of four at a cost of no more than six dollars weekly. The girls have been visiting both chain and independent groceries to get Fort Wayne prices.

Education Week Observance Is Theme of Radio Program

American Education Week was the main theme of the Times radio program broadcast over WGL last night. This was the first program held at the new time, Wednesday at 7 o'clock. The programs were formerly on the air Monday evening.

Bob Zieg, a junior at South Side, acting as master of ceremonies, introduced R. Nelson Snider. Mr. Snider in turn introduced the speakers. Mr. Charles Meigs, father of Harold Meigs, editor of the 1933 Totem, and Betty Meigs a junior at South Side, spoke on "Public Schools." Speakers representing each of the three high schools in the city were next introduced. Sophia Nicholas, representing Central High School, spoke on "Developing New Types of Schools." "Financing Schools" was the topic discussed by Fred Kroemer of North Side. Manuel Rothberg of South Side spoke on "Planning for Tomorrow."

During the program several selections were played by a string quartet composed of the following South Side pupils: Mary Jo Allen, first violin; Dale Burgener, second violin; Betty Lickert, cello; Evelyn Lehman, viola. The South Side reporter gave several news flashes concerning the assembly to be held Friday.

Some of the 9B's in Mr. Bex's class have worked out the wood for their project and are now working on a design. Each selects his own design.

In Mr. Bex's 10B class, most of the boys are working on one- and two-point projections. Others are on isometric cabinet oblique drawings of an object; they are drawn as they appear to the eye. The other three are the same as perspective, but are full size.

The following students in Miss Smeltz's general history 1 classes made a grade of A— to A on their Roman maps: Don Sparkman, Stanley Meyer, Donald Bleeke, Paul Merker, Georgianna Jane Jones, Jerry Zehr, Harry Ertel, Roy Ewing, Mary Helms, John Jackson, Rita Heinze, Marjory Scheumann, Charles Worden, Barbara Von Gunten, Reginald Gerig, Martha Yost, Lois Wyneken, Paul Ellison, Miriam Lickert, John Staley, Victor Nussbaum, and Elma Owen.

In Mr. Hull's physics classes, the first semester students are studying air pressure and the second semester students the heating effects of electricity.

Fred Nye and Herbert McEown made 100 in a recent test in physics 1 given by Mr. Hull.

In Mr. Hull's physics 2 classes, Clarice Rudy, Jo Anne Smith, Sonia Velkoff, Albert Kelson, and John Allen made grades of 90 or above in a recent test.

In Mr. Chappell's beginning architectural drawing classes, the pupils are making drawings of symbols and different details which are used in architectural drafting. As soon as these plates are finished, each boy will make a set of plans of a house of his own choice.

The boys in Mr. Chappell's advanced architect classes are making tracings of house plans. Blue prints will be made from these tracings.

Industrial arts 2 classes of Mr. Chappell are working on the subject of design as used in furniture construction.

On a recent test over Greece in Miss Miller's general history classes, Constance Hague, Bernadine Mitchell, Harold Reinking, Joyce Spencer, Eleanor White, Marie Wolf, Marion Barley, Billy Bichacoff, Alfred Ketter, Donald Reichert, Louis Squires, Charles Thorn, and Robert Nind made a grade of 95 or above.

U. S. A. Club To Hear Minutes On Lenmar at This Meeting; Miss Holtsapple To Talk Soon.

Lois Wyneken will give a report on Camp Lenmar at the U. S. A. meeting which will be held today after school in the Greeley Room. There will also be a report given by one of the members about the Inter-Club Council of the Girl Reserve, which is at the Y. W. C. A. Two girls from So-Si-Y will come to this meeting to lead songs. The members of the cabinet made the plans for this program.

Miss Lucille Holtsapple, the new Y. W. C. A. secretary, will speak to the club at the meeting of November 22. A Thanksgiving party in the form of a potluck will also be on this date. The initiation of the new members to the club will be part of the program.

A Thanksgiving basket will be made from the donations of the members of the club. All those members who help to donate for it will receive credit for a community project.

French Club To Have Miss Reed As Speaker

Miss Reed, who lived in France for a few years, will talk at the French Club meeting Thursday. Her talk will be mainly about the provinces of Brittany and Normandy. Miss Reed talked to the French Club last year also, and all of those who heard her found her talk very interesting. Every member is urged to come and bring a guest.

At the last meeting, slides concerning France were shown by Miss Perkins; and games were played. Alice Hulise and Dale Burgener won five points apiece for winning the games played.

The annual skating party will be held Saturday evening, November 17, at Bell's Rink. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the French Club or in Room 90 from Miss Perkins.

So-Si-Y Will Discuss "Storms" at Meeting

The next meeting of So-Si-Y will be held Tuesday, November 5, in the Greeley Room. The theme of the meeting is "Storms" and deals with our relationship with the government and the problems of the government around election time.

Virginia Beck is the chairman of the committee in charge of the program. Several of the girls on the committee will hold personal interviews with Miss Van Gorder and Mr. Wilson; at the meeting, they will conduct discussions of several questions. The club will sing "America the Beautiful," and Allen Branning will recite a patriotic selection.

Answers Given To Question, "What Grade Do You Expect?"

As we were walking around in the dear old halls of South Side, we saw many people with worried expressions on their faces. The cause of all these frowns and a sudden desire to take books home to study is that the grades will be handed out next Tuesday.

We questioned some of these people as to what they expected and here are some of the answers received:
Max Triche: All A+'s (sarcasm).
Eugene Jackson: Worst I've ever had.

Max Roth: I'm hoping for the best, but I'll go on hoping.
Ruth Fritz: I'm not expecting anything.

Billy Wilson: About a C average.
Mildred Jacobs: About a C—average.

Bob Gargett: What grades?
Gloria Baur: Mine shouldn't be published.

Bob Lohman: The worst is coming.
Clarabelle Chenoweth: The worst I've ever had.
Sue Meyer: Terrible to look at.
Harriet Storm: Not much.
Mary Osborne: I hope they're better than usual, for in my last year I would like to have good grades.

Gerry Henline: It's hard to tell.

Pauline Crabill: All A+'s.
Marshall Rosenthal: After due consideration and forethought, I have finally reached the conclusion that I couldn't get anything less than all A+'s.

Dick Helm: I'm already in misery with this story; don't make me any more uncomfortable.

Pat Berry: All A+'s (sarcasm).
Ann Abbott: Ditto (also sarcasm).
Elgin Stump: A "D" average.

Martha Baumgartner: They'll be fair.

Dorothy Hagerman: I get what I get, and that's all I get.

James Roth: I expect fair marks.

Ellis Lochner: I hope to keep up the family record.

Times Good Government Issue Is Commended By School Heads

Success covered all of the efforts given to the Good Government-Education issue which was published last week. Over twenty-six hundred copies were published.

Much credit also was given the paper by R. Nelson Snider who said:

"The Times this issue is the finest paper I have ever seen published by a high school. The regular editions are good; the anniversary edition was excellent; this one exceeds all others in interest and timely appeal and in the method of presentation of a valuable theme."

Merle J. Abbott said: "The paper is the best issue of The Times I have ever seen. I have sent many copies to various persons in the United States."

A very interesting article on National Education Week was written by gratulating the South Side High School on its anniversary.

A number of pages were devoted to the sports section. This part contained all the news pertaining to the sports of the school.

The paper was a great success due

SPECIALTIES FOR THANKSGIVING

Here is the schedule for the programs on the American School of the Air the rest of this next week:

November 12—History—Friar Odoric in Tibet (High School.)

November 13—Literature—The Farce of Pierre Patelin (High School)

Eddie Cantor, NBC comedian, drew a laugh from the crowd at the rodeo in Madison Square Garden the other evening when a wild steer charged the box in which he was seated. Cantor stood up excitedly, waved his hands, and yelled at the steer, "Rubinoff, go away."

Favorite dishes of favorite stars: Rudy Vallee should be mighty thankful that turkey season is coming 'round—his favorite dish is anything with cranberry sauce.... Paul White-man never says no to old-fashioned plum pudding.... Joe Penner really goes for fried oysters—the famed duck fancier prefers any kind of seafood to fowl.... A big juicy three-inch steak with onions and French fried potatoes for Floyd Gibbons.... Eddie Cantor admits Floyd has the right idea—but Rubinoff prefers roast beef good and rare.... Ozzie Nelson says kippers herring, please—and for breakfast.

About the most exciting experience that Abner, of the Lum and Abner program, ever had in his life was when he woke one morning to find six St. Paul policemen pointing machine guns at him. A garage man thought that Abner looked like Dillinger and put the law on his trail.

Charles Previn, Silken Strings Maestro, says "Music is a universal language and jazz is its slang."

There isn't a spirit of petty rivalry among radio stars as one might expect. Each radio performer has an idea of his or her own and frankly admits it.

For example, ask Jack Denny who his favorite orchestra leader is, and he will rave terrifically about Paul White-man.

Ask Don Bestor the same question, and he will wax eloquent in praise of Abe Lyman.

Vivienne Segal is an open admirer of Jessica Dragonette.

The Ficken Sisters have always admired the Boswells.
As for Tony Wons, he very seldom misses a broadcast of the Voice of Experience.

The South Side Times is indebted to Chester Brower, radio editor of the Journal-Gazette, and former Times general manager, for material used in this column.

Art Club Hears Decoration Expert

Members To Put Out Bronze Models Which May Prove Very Useful; To Hold Sale.

Mr. Robert Lindsay, head of the interior or decorating department at Wolf & Dessauer's, spoke on the new modern designs at the last Art Club meeting, which was held last week in the Greeley Room. He said that because of their being so extreme, they had not been very generally accepted. For this reason the designers have taken the designs of past periods and modernized them into a classic modern type. He also said that the last two or three years have shown an increase in interior decorating.

The color scheme is the most important thing to plan in redecorating, he said. Recently these have been either in contrast or in monotonies. Mr. Lindsay displayed many new and fascinating fabrics. He also gave the members an opportunity to ask any questions on decorating which were puzzling them.

The Art Club is going to put out bronze models of South Side's Archers. These are going to be on sale to anyone desiring them. They can be used for book-ends, decorations (or various other things, and so will probably be of interest to all loyal South Siders.

Foster Park Is Scene Of Library Dog Burn

Twelve members of the Library Club enjoyed a weiner bake in Foster Park November 6.

For refreshments they had marshmallows, weiners, buns, and cider. After the meal a treasure hunt, led by Jim Clapper, was held. Max Tritch, the winner, was awarded a one-pound box of Martha Washington candies.

Miss Mabel Thorne Has Spent Summers in Variety of Places

By Marshall Rosenthal

Being endowed with the spirit of adventure, Miss Mabel Thorne, teacher of mathematics in South Side, has traveled in many strange places and seen many strange things. She has spent five summers in a geology camp near Boulder, Colorado, which is under the supervision of the University of Colorado. She has also hiked twice through Glacier National Park, visited the state of Oregon, visited the province of Alberta, Canada, spent a summer in Newfoundland, and whiled away two summers in Labrador collecting rocks and seeing the sights. She wants to go back to Labrador this coming summer.

Miss Thorne's first experience in a high school were had at Saybrook High School in Saybrook, Illinois; but she didn't spend much time there as she moved to Decatur, Illinois, where she attended Decatur High School. Instead of having A for the highest grade, pupils received E's. In Decatur High School, those people who received four E's, had their name placed on the board for the rest of the class to look and marvel at. When the pupils who had received four E's had their names placed on the blackboard and Miss Thorne's name was not among those, she made up her mind then and there that it was going to be there as long as she attended that school, and it was.

When she first arrived in Decatur High School, she was terribly frightened and imagined that everyone knew lots more than she did. One day when she was in her English class and the teacher asked her a question, she was

Times To Sell For Fifty Cents During Drive

Half-Dollar Campaign To Start Next Week; Notes
Must Be Paid By Dec. 1.

The fifty-cent campaign for Times subscriptions has now been launched by the circulation staff. Any student who is not a subscriber may now secure the remaining issues of The Times for this semester for fifty cents. "Times subscriptions must be paid up in full by December 1," Miss Harvey stated at the room agents' meeting held Tuesday in room 24. Many students owe on their Times subscriptions, some having made only the twenty-five cent down payment. The money need not be paid at one time, but payments of five cents or more may be made to the room agent at any time.

Co-operation of the students is urged in order that all accounts may be straightened out. Rosemary Chappell, circulation manager of The Times, also talked to the room agents.

Stamp Club Hears Mr. W. R. Fudge

Report of Skating Party Given
By Robert Adams; Committee Appointed for Next Meeting.

Mr. W. Raymond Fudge, superintendent of finance of the Fort Wayne postoffice, gave a very interesting and educational address to the members of the Philatelic Society on the subject, "Philately and Postal Services." The meeting was held in the Voorhees Room Wednesday.

"One hundred and sixty-five persons attended the skating party Saturday evening," reported Robert W. Adams. He also reported that the attendance prizes were awarded to Robert Bly and Larry Selzer.

An unusual game was played, planned by Jane Brinkman, Hollis Logue, Albert Geigold, Dorothy Aldridge, and Beatrice Fudge. It was based upon the principles of "Lotto," instead of numbers on the cards, there were stamps.

Evelyn Ertel was appointed chairman of the committee for the next meeting to be held December 12. She will be assisted by Robert Blomker, Richard Kellogg, and Dorothea Nance.

The second edition of the "South Side Stamp Script" was circulated. Marshall L. Rosenthal, publisher, announced that the staff was progressing nicely.

Friar's Revue Program Is Led By S. S. Talent

Band, Orchestra To Furnish Music for Concert; Girls' Association to Give Dance

The program for the Friar's Club Revue, which is given in order to get money to help the musical organizations of the three Fort Wayne public high schools, on December 14 and 15, has been announced.

This is the first year that a revue of this kind has ever been put on in Fort Wayne. Each year one of the three high schools will receive a major portion of the proceeds. South Side is to receive one half of the proceeds this year.

At a recent business meeting held by the club, the chairman who will take charge of the revue were appointed. Among these were the general chairman and production manager, publicity and ticket sale chairman; the chairman in charge of the rehearsals for those members of Friar Club who will be a part of the cast, and the chairman of the committee for securing the theatre and ushers.

Jack Wainwright, with the assistance of Mr. H. D. Cothrell, will plan and direct all rehearsals for the revue. Most of the musical talent of the South Side High School band and orchestra will be used together with members of the cast to be selected from the dramatic departments of the three high schools and outside organizations interested in co-operating. Our band will give a twenty-minute concert, playing the "Destruction of Atlantis" by San Francisco. The A. Capella Choir will also contribute to the program.

The South Side Girls' Athletic Association have been asked to put on a tumbling act and the "Ladder Dance." The girls taking part in the tumbling act are: Kover, Kerky, White, Disler, Locker, Baumgartner, Wilkerson, Roberts, Heuer, McKinnon, Pawlish, Fiske, Snavely, and B. Sheele. Those girls participating in the ladder dance are D. Sheele, Wilkerson, Pawlish, Snavely, Locker, Baumgartner, Fiske, and Roberts.

Tickets are being sold at the three high schools through the teachers and home rooms. Fifteen thousand tickets for the evening performances at fifty cents apiece, and two thousand fifteen cent matinee tickets for school students are on sale at South Side. A prize of a basketball season ticket will be given to the student selling the most tickets. As second prize, two 50-cent evening performance tickets will be given.

Each pupil should co-operate in making every effort to sell tickets. Help the music department of South Side by selling as many tickets as you can for the Friar Club Revue to increase the financial return for the music department.

Maxine Howard and Gwen Horn united in singing a Chinese song. Doris Rinchen and Vera Moez sang a popular song together. Gerry Smith played a waltz by Durand. Dorothy Crabill and Helen Anderson gave a stunt together. Elizabeth Simminger and Geneva Shoener also gave a stunt. Margaret Crankshaw gave a reading and Bernadette Dygert recited an original poem. Following this, luncheon was served, after which everyone left together for the Embroid Theatre, where they had seats for the show, "Happiness Ahead."

The purpose of this meeting is to formulate plans for the Older Boys' Conference to be held in this city on November 30 and 31.

President Bill McLeish of the Torch Club attended a council meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday, and will give a detailed report of this at the next meeting of the club, Monday, November 19, in the Voorhees Room. Also at this meeting a speaker, who as yet has not been named, will carry on the club's topic of the year, "Crime Prevention."

The award will be given to the winner then.

South Side Trophies Are Displayed In Novel Store Window

Hurrah for the Green and yeah for the White! These were the thoughts of the crowds as they passed the Patterson-Fletcher Company on Harrison and Wayne streets. You are probably wondering why their thoughts were such? Here's why. A person walking west past this store sees suddenly a flash of green and white. "What is this?" he says to himself, and then stops to gaze in the big window. To his discovery he sees a large South Side victory banner. He feels very excited and a sudden thrill begins traveling up and down his spine. He looks for more, and flashes of green and white seem to be everywhere. Several footballs and basketballs seem to stand forward defying anyone who comes to meet them as a foe. Footballs and golf trophies challenge everyone. The person sees a warm, and soft football blanket shouting forth its triumphant power, and last of all, his eyes fall on pictures of the gallant athletes who have won and held the city championship for South Side for the past three years. His eyes seem to linger longer on this spot than on any of the others. Perhaps he himself was wishing that he might have shared their victory.

When he finally tears his eyes away and scans the rest of the window, he finds a different class of victory for this high school. It is that of journalism. The All-American Totem trophies flashed out their good qualities to him and the Times, that famous school paper, seemed to sweep him with great respect and more honor for the students of the schools. His eyes again traveled over the window to take a last look, and he turned on his way happier and more ready to finish his daily work with a vim and vigor inspired by this splendid sight.

Students who saw this window, realized more than ever these privileges and luckiness at being able to back their school in all that it parades in, and at being able to procure from it such opportunities as it affords.

A. Meeting; Potluck Planned

Lois Wyneken gave a talk on Camp Lenarry at the U. S. A. meeting held on Thursday, November 8, in the Greeley Room. In her talk she explained that the camp was for the Girl Reserves of Indiana, Ohio, and Kentucky. Each Girl Reserve club in this district sent one representative to the camp. The purpose of sending these representatives was to exchange ideas for the future meetings of the Girl Reserve clubs. She received ideas in the form of discussions, assemblies, and also from speakers from Cincinnati. She also told the club how she enjoyed parties, hikes, and other sports. This camp was in charge of some former Girl Reserves. She then thanked the club for the opportunity of being its representative at this camp.

Evelyn Kruse gave a report on the Inter-Club Council of the Girl Reserve, which is at the Y. W. C. A. The Girl Reserves of the three high schools are planning to have a Tournament Dance and also a skating party. The dates for these events have not been decided yet.

Part of the program included in the last meeting consisted of songs led by Elfrida Enz, a representative of the So-Si-Y Club. Ada Broyles, also a So-Si-Y member, furnished the music. The songs which were sung included: Skin-a-Marink, Old MacDonald Had a Farm, It Isn't Any Trouble, and Follow the Glean.

The president announced that the members should bring for the article they were to sign up for the potluck to be held Monday, November 19, in Miss Kelley's room. The potluck-Thanks-giving party will be on November 22. Miss Holtsapple, the new Y. W. C. A. secretary, will speak to the club at that time. The initiation of the new members to the club will also be part of the program. The committee in charge of the party is Virginia Patterson, chairman; Julia Crabill, and Marie Schuman.

A Thanksgiving basket will be made from the donations of the members of the club. All those members who help to donate for it will receive credit for a community project.

An announcement was also made by Ruth Garrison that the new publicity chairman was to be Mary Louise Lankenau, who is replacing Jean Bolman, whose resignation was accepted by the club.

The Booster Club extends a cordial invitation to the student body and to the various high schools of the city.

Miss Amanda Hemmer and Miss Martha Pittenger are to chaperone. The members of the dance committee are: Bernadette Dygert, Harriet Yapp, Virginia Vesey, and Pauline Crabill.

Jack Stumpf Is Honored As An Eagle Scout

Highest Award Given South
Sider At Court of Honor;
Other Archers Are Feted.

Jackie Stumpf, a freshman, was the chief South Sider to receive awards at a city-wide Court of Honor of the Boy Scouts of America at the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening. Jack was not only awarded the rank of Eagle Scout, the highest rank in scouting, but also was named Senior Patrol Leader of Troop 21, besides being the recipient of honors in the Merit Badge field. He is the thirteenth Eagle Scout in South Side, and came from Tenderfoot to Eagle in two years' time.

Rodney Stair, George DuWaldt, and Paul Bennett are South Siders who were awarded the rank of Second Class Scout, while Thomas Makey won the classification of First Class Scout. Merit Badges were earned by Jack Stumpf, Robert Hirsch, Don Faux, William Schaffer, Robert Weil, John Brown, Miller Makey, Tom Brown, Sam Schaaf, Willard Tidemore, John Will, and Jack DeWitt.

The rank which is next above First Class, Star Scout, was given to Jack Horn, a freshman, while Senior Patrol Leader warrants were issued to John Gerdner, Jack Stumpf, and Robert Gallreath of this school, the former being a senior and the latter two being freshmen.

Mr. A. G. Barry presided over the Court of Honor in which awards were presented by J. P. Doody, Earl Shea, Glenn Fuller, Judge Harry Muller, and C. J. Cover. Other members who were unable to attend were R. Nelson Snider, Ersel Walley, and Earl Groth.

Marionette Origin Explained to Club

"First Beautifully Carved of Ivory and Wood," Relates Eliza Besse Lucas to Club.

An unusual report on the origin of marionettes was given by Eliza Besse Lucas at the meeting of the Marionette Club last Thursday afternoon. She described the life of the puppets as a "tree whose roots began in Egypt and India and continued through Persia, China, Japan, and Java. From these countries, it spread to Rome and Greece whose natives carried it to the European countries."

"Marionettes were first beautifully carved of ivory and wood, some inset with precious gems, and in Japan, magnificently dressed in fine silks. These toys were used on sacred festivals and, when Christianity swept the world, to illustrate biblical plays and stories. The name, marionette, was originated in Venice, 944. One day twelve maidens were to be wedded to twelve young men at the church of Santa Marie when suddenly a band of Barbary pirates landed near the church, attacked the people, and carried off the twelve maidens. The young men, seeing their brides being carried away, ran to their ships and successfully attacked the pirates. From that time this day was celebrated by a wedding. The twelve puppets, which were called 'little maries' or marionettes. Marionettes in America are comparatively new, but several hundred years ago the Indians used these wooden puppets in their great ceremonies."

A ruling that three unexcused absences caused the dismissal of a member was made at the business meeting. A new member, Tomaline Hudson, was introduced to the club and work on marionettes was continued.

French Resident Tells of Country

Miss Reed Describes Provinces
Of Brittany and Normandy
At Le Cercle Francais Meet

Miss Reed, a former resident of France, talked to the French Club about the provinces of Brittany and Normandy. She has talked previously to the French Club, once on the school systems of France.

The speaker explained that Brittany is along the west coast of France, the main industry being fishing. Every year many fishermen are lost at sea, because of this, Brittany is a sad, but inspiring, part of the country. The people of Normandy are best known for breeding excellent horses. Last summer the Normans observed the driving forth of the English, which happened about five hundred years ago. At this observance there were six men present who were descendants of men who fought in the army. The regional drink is cider, because Normandy grows many apples.

At the business part of the meeting, the song "Madelon," was sung in French. Alice Hulise accompanied at the piano.

Rooms Cooperate In Shrub Planting

Mr. E. S. Gould, Chairman of Committee, States Response Is Practically Unanimous.

"The co-operation of the student, through home rooms, is practically one hundred percent," said Mr. E. S. Gould, botany teacher.

So far, the student body has worked with the committee's plan, and although only one-half of the home rooms have been assigned projects, the idea is working out rapidly.

It was the original idea to secure shrubs which grew wild, then let the home rooms plant them. The plants are to help in the study of botany. However, some home rooms have secured their own plants, and others are buying them. Although this is not the original idea, the same object is being reached; so it was decided that those home rooms wishing to buy their own plants could do so. Mr. Snider's home room is co-operating with Mr. Null's home room in order that a tulip bed might be planted at the Calhoun Street entrance.

Some home rooms will not receive projects till next spring, but flower beds are to be made then. At that time they will secure assignments.

Philo's "Walt Disney Dance" Features Novel Decorations

With the Greeley Room transformed into a maze of Mickey Mouses and comic page characters, the Philo "Walt Disney Dance" was held Friday night, November 9. Such well-known characters as Pluto the dog, and Clarabelle the cow, and many figures of the famed Mickey Mouse adorned the walls. Brilliant-hued balloons were attached to the lights, which were covered with blue cellophane.

Thus the annual Philo Dance was most successful, not only for those who attended, but for those who planned it. Bud Goldman's orchestra, South Side's own orchestra, did its part in adding to the zest of the occasion. Approximately seventy-five couples attended this dance.

The success is due largely to Edythe Thornton, chairman of the dance, and the president, Alice Hulise. They were assisted by the following chairmen: decorations, Betty English; tickets, Shirley Sykes; orchestra, Margaret Murphy; publicity, Charlene Davis. Chaperones included Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hulise, Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Thornton, Miss Martha Pittenger, Miss Gertrude Oppelt, Miss Elizabeth Demaree, and Miss Hazel Miller.

Many attractive outfits were donned by the fair sex; among the more outstanding was the emerald green dress worn by Jean Creighton. The dress was fashioned with simple lines. The shoulder straps, extending from the shoulder to the waist, were trimmed with a narrow band of caracal fur. Green buttons down the front of the blouse added to the neatness of the dress.

Miss Betty Brothers wore a smart tie-colored wool. It was a two-piece sports model fashioned on the present

Goal Reached By Totem Staff For First Time

Seniors Set Precedent for All Students To Come by Selling 843 Yearbooks.

Only Class To Get Subscription Quota

Much of Success of Campaign Due to Upperclassmen Contacting Pupils.

Setting a precedent for all classes to follow, the senior class of 1935 ended their Totem campaign after reaching their desired quota of 800. This is the first class in the history of South Side that has attained the distinct honor of reaching their goal on the appointed day. Overrunning superstitions of the unlucky number "13", this class, being the thirteenth, had 843 subscriptions chalked up on Tuesday night.

Much of the success of the campaign is due Bill Hockett, editor; along with Bernota McIntosh, Lloyd Grodrian, business managers; and Martha Baumgartner, circulation manager. Credit is shared with the capable staff of assistants who telephoned all underclassmen who had not subscribed. Untiring efforts were made in underclassmen home rooms, along with daily notices in the morning bulletins. This year an effort was made to contact each student in school, either personally or by telephone, and records show that attempts were not futile.

Five Get Free Books

Free Totems are to be given Frank Montgomery and Albert Bidelot who had 31 and 25 subscriptions respectively. The following is a list of the leading subscription getters: Frank Montgomery, Albert Bidelot, Doris Ehlinger, Dorothy Goegelein, Anna Brumbaugh, Clara Jeffries, Alice Mae Siebold, Harrison Simon, Robert Fowler, Susanne Meyer, Annabelle Pollak, and Grace Koepp.

Those pupils who have not subscribed as yet may do so at the Totem office across from Room 6. For students who wish the added feature of their name inscribed in gold, the nominal price of ten cents will be charged. However, the actual price of the yearbook will remain the same. Announcement is made of the fact that the monthly installments should be made during the first week of each month, during December 3 to 7, etc.

To Take Pictures Soon

Underclassmen picture taking will begin in the near future. It is suggested that all underclassmen avail themselves of this privilege at the small charge of twenty-five cents.

Seniors who have thus far neglected having their pictures taken are urged to do so immediately, since the absolute deadline for senior pictures is Friday, November 23. Appointments must be made from the Clevo Brisco Graae studio on Wayne Street, just above Jones' Kodak Shop.

The Totem staff wishes to thank the student body and the teachers for their co-operation in putting the campaign over the top.

Play Presented Friday At Student Players' Club

Last Friday at the Student Players' meeting a play was presented by Bob Haruff, Frank Montgomery, and Kenneth Scott. This was the main part on the program, although the rest of the program was very interesting, too. Bernota McIntosh, program chairman, gave a talk on Kathryn Cornell. It was largely in regard to her commendable acting ability. Violet Wittmer gave an interesting Armistice Day recitation.

Miss Marjorie Suter again stressed the point that attendance to classes and club meetings is necessary in attaining points for gold D's.

Kenneth Scott, who is program chairman for the next meeting, is working with his committee on the next program.

Russian style. The trimming was of brown taffeta flecked with gold dots. Dorothea Nance wore an attractive sport dress of midnight blue. The dress was made along simple lines, with a matching shade of checked material gathered around the neck, forming a flare across the front of the blouse.

Virginia Bash wore a clever new tunic-styled blouse. The tunic itself was made of gold satin; the rippling effect of the full sleeves was most pleasing.

Clarabelle Chenoweth chose a most becoming shade of rose. The dress was most unusual with tiny pin tucks placed on the front of the blouse from the shoulder to the waist. A high neckline extended out to the shoulders and formed shoulder caplets.

Margaret Murphy wore a stunning one-piece dress of green. A white braid collar and belt, and two narrow pleats formed the only trimmings. The sleeves were puffed and gathered at the wrist.

Another clever frock is the one of russet satin-sat crepe worn by Edythe Thornton. The neckline, shirred in a square, was softened by pleated equalized held in place by two ornate gold clips. The full sleeves were caught in at the wrist with another band of shirring. The waist, cut full, was fitted at the high waistline and the lines of the skirts were quite simple. The wide belt was fastened with two buckles modeled after the clips. A row of covered buttons fastened the dress in the smart back placket.

Prospects For Next Year's Grid Team Are Very Poor

Many Of Squad Will Graduate In Class of '35

Two Greatest Losses Will Be Brower George, Harrison Simon, Veteran Players.

Material Will Be Excellent For '36

Usually Only Fifteen Boys Are Lost; This Season Twenty-Two Will Leave.

Prospects for the Archer grid team of 1935 are the poorest in several years, a review of the material graduating and the few men who will return to carry on the tradition of South Side's superior teams, shows.

It appears that the team will be very inexperienced and will have fewer reserves than during the past season. However, the team will be largely composed of sophomores and juniors who should prove excellent material for Lundy Welborn to build up and who should develop into a powerful aggregation for 1936. Welborn is faced next year with the problem of developing an almost entire new backfield.

In normal years fifteen players are lost to the school by graduation; however, this season twenty-two seniors will be lost to the team. Of these twenty-two, nine are first-string varsity gridders, leaving only two of the first string to return. These two are Ellenwood, veteran tackle, and Ostermeyer, very capable center. Almost all the other graduating players have been frequently used as substitutes.

Probably the two biggest losses to the team will be Harry Simon, veteran quarterback, and Brower George, who has been doing some excellent punting and pass snaring for the Archers at the end position. The other seniors who will graduate are: Berger, Conaway, Domes, Eshcoff, Fowler, Ginn, Humcke, Jackson, Kessler, Lenz, Lohman, Nelson, Raymond, Roop, Snyder, Straley, Schaff, Trout, Wehrmeister, and Delbert Wilson.

Simon, George Leave

Probably the most difficult positions for Welborn to replace will be the ends. Three capable wingmen will be graduated. Of these no doubt Brower George will be most sorely missed. Eugene Jackson, varsity right end, and Bob Fowler also are on the graduating list. Norris and Don Faux look to be the most likely prospects for these positions.

In the line, the other problem for Lundy, and one which is almost as troublesome as the ends, is the task of replacing John Eshcoff and Earl Roop at guards. Domes and Raymond, both second-string guards, will graduate. However, Ed Letz and Allan Faux, who have seen some action this year, may solve this puzzle.

Ostermeyer Returns

As was the case during the past season, the center and tackle posts will be the strongest. Fred Ostermeyer, first-string center, will be back at his post and should again prove a defensive power in the Kelly Klad line. At tackle the loss of Gord Straley, captain during the past season, will be felt; however, Fred Nye will be a very capable substitute if he continues the good playing he displayed recently. Big Jim Ellenwood will be back at the other tackle position as another veteran bulwark of the line.

The backfield for next year will no doubt be the weakest in years, even weaker than this season's secondary. Another weak spot will be that at quarter due to the absence of Simon. Sam Schaaf, third-string quarter, will also graduate; however, he saw but little action this year. This leaves Fred Meyers, midget junior quarterback, to fill the shoes formerly filled by Simon.

The rest of the backfield looks just about as bad. At halfback the Archers will miss the services of Ed Ginn, drop-kick artist, Dorwin Kessler, Bob Lohman, and Bob Nelson. The fullback post will also need to be built up. Jack Snyder and Fred Lenz will be missed greatly by the squad when plenty of drive is needed.

Lee, Parmelee Stay

Only two men who have seen much action this season at halfback, Bud Lee and Gord Parmelee, will return. Red Stone, a junior, saw a little action against North Side, but this is the limit of his experience. However, some hope may be derived from the variety of ability displayed by these three. Lee puts plenty of drive and fight into his playing and may be drafted to the fullback post as a last resort. Stone is a track man and should give the backfield some speed, while Parmelee is capable of some very accurate passing. Two freshmen may help relieve this burden for Lundy. They are Jim Phelps and Henry Hines. Phelps has plenty of power and may develop into a fullback, while Hines' chief asset is his speed.

Starts Net Practice

Jake McClure

Jake McClure, South Side's basketball coach, got the jump on the other city teams when he took a part of his squad to Waterloo last Saturday and won the game, a non-scheduled practice tilt, by the score of 24 to 16.

Practice has been carried on for the past two weeks, and McClure's squad has now been increased by some of the boys who were out for football.

Football Coaches Pick Grid Team

All-City Squad Will Be Chosen With Aid of Football Mentors By Ben Tenny, D. A. Gemmer.

The four high school football coaches will this year have a definite part in the selection of the team which will represent the cream of the high school gridders in this city.

The coaches will work in collaboration with Ben Tenny and D. Armond Gemmer of the News-Sentinel. The coaches are Lundy Welborn of South Side, Bob Nulf of North Side, Murray Mendenhall of Central, and Bill Barrett of Central Catholic. This board of men will resemble the All-America board of football headed by Christy Walsh and including the best coaches of the country.

Up to this time the team has more or less been a one-man project, but this year a "conference" will ensue between these six men and the result shall undoubtedly be more unprejudiced and better balanced.

Traditional Rivals Beat Out Archers in Season's Finale

Facing a determined Central Tiger, intent upon crushing its prey, South Side's Archers concluded their football season on the short end of a 19-to-0 score in their annual battle with Central at the North Side athletic field.

The Archers were stacked up against a team which refused to be beaten, and the loss of two of the regular backfield players in the early stages of the game made their defeat all the more decisive.

Central's eleven was keyed up to a fighting-mad pitch, and it crushed the South Side forward wall time after time to make large holes for Central's fleet backfield to gain ground. This Central victory ties the number of wins for each school at six in their annual gridiron clashes. Led by Bob Stubbs, a husky colored lad, the Tigers scored in each of the last three quarters.

On the opening kickoff, Central returned the pigskin to her own 44-yard line and then advanced the ball to the midfield stripe in two downs. On an exchange of punts, South Side was driven back to her own 25-yard line and then received an even more severe loss when Harrison Simon, regular quarterback, was forced to leave the game after he was kicked in the head. George kicked out of danger, and the Archers held the Central eleven in the Blue and White territory until Central was forced to kick.

Meyers Gets Close Call

On the kick, Meyers of South Side recovered the ball behind the South Side goal line after it had bounced over his head and was able to down the ball on the one-foot line only after evading a couple of would-be tacklers. George once again kicked out of danger, and Central returned the ball to the South Side 32-yard line. Charlton and Ervin combined their plunges and end runs on spinners to carry the ball back to the seven-yard line before their steady march was halted. George once more was called upon to punt out of danger, and Central had possession of the ball on South Side's 29-yard line as the initial period ended.

In the second quarter South Side held Central on its own 29 and took the ball on downs. Snyder advanced the ball through center to Central's 38-yard line and George kicked to Central's 27. Warfield kicked on the third down, and his punt went out on the Central 42. Snyder again hit the line for about 12 yards to the 30-yard line.

Ginn Tries Field Goal

Three plays at the line failed, and Coach Lundy Welborn sent Ed Ginn into the game to attempt a field goal. Ed's dropkick was short and wide due partially to a cross-wind which swept the field throughout the game. Central started her first touchdown march at this point when Warfield's pass to Seals advanced the ball to the midfield stripe. Charlton continued on to South Side's 15-yard line on a long jaunt around right end. Stubbs scored on the next play on a run off his left guard. Seals converted on a place-kick. On the kickoff Lee received the ball and was banished from the game for slugging when he was being tackled. The 15-yard penalty imposed for this foul set South Side back deep in her own territory, and George was called on to kick out of danger. Central had the ball in midfield as the half ended.

Opening the second half, the Archers advanced the ball to their own 32-yard line, and George's beautiful punt set the Blue and White back on their own 28-yard line. Central returned the kick to midfield, and then three line plays took the ball to Central's 39-yard line. George kicked to Central's twenty. The Bengals then employed their spinner play which had been gaining so much ground for them all afternoon, and Stubbs took the pigskin and sprinted 53 yards before he was finally brought down on a spectacular tackle.

Bob Stubbs Scores

On the first play after this run, the Bengals were set back five yards for being offside. Stubbs, however, was undaunted by this loss; and behind perfect interference, he went over for a touchdown on the same spinner play the Centralites had used all afternoon. Seals did not convert on his placekick. From this point on, the Archers were kept in their own territory until the end of the third quarter.

In the early part of the concluding quarter, the Archers stopped repeated marches of the Bengals until about midway in the period. At this point, Parmelee intercepted a Central pass in an effort to halt the threatening Blue and White advance.

On being tackled, he fumbled the pigskin; and Stubbs recovered the ball on South Side's 11-yard line. A short pass by Warfield over the center of the line was knocked down; and then on the next play, Charlton, who had been playing a great blocking game, cut around his right end for the third touchdown for Central. Seals' attempted placekick was wide. The game ended soon after with South Side again driven back in her own territory.

Senior II Team Is Hockey Champion

Sue Cameron Is Captain of Winning Squad; Team 1 Places First Among Junior Groups.

Playing all through the hockey season with nine spirit and much determination the Senior II team, captained by Sue Cameron, captured the crown. First one team and then another was defeated by the seniors, until it looked like the squad was invincible. Then the last game it played proved to be a defeat. The Senior I team, captained by Alice Mae Seibold, won by a 2-1 score.

Outside of this loss Sue's team remained undefeated and never played a tie. The reason for this is probably the teamwork which was displayed. With Evelyn Clauser at center and Gerry Henline and Joanna Rinehold at the inner positions, they had a very effective offense. Ursula Morton was especially good at halfback; and as a goal guard, Ida Mae Frazell couldn't be beaten.

In one game Vera Fremion's side acted up so that she couldn't play in any more games, but she usually watched the team play after that from the side lines.

Those on the team are Sue Cameron, Evelyn Clauser, Audrey Fels, Ida Mae Frazell, Joanna Rinehold, Vera Fremion, Elsie Koch, Grace Koch, Jean Kirby, Betty Medaris, Gerry Henline, Audrey Meyers, Larita Schaefer, and Helen Roloff.

The team that headed the Juniors was team I, captained by Marge Howler. It was defeated by only the senior team and tied by Sophomore I. The members are Jeanette Braun, Virginia Busse, Marge Cartwright, Vera Mosel, Winnie Porter, Phyllis Wearley, Virginia Baumgartner, Geneva Shearer, Lefty Winkler, Mary Shaffer, Dorothy Roubusch, Irene Becker, and Nona Fisher.

Sophomore I, captained by Leona Menze, headed the sophomores. It defeated one senior team and held the junior champs to a tie. The members are Ruth Goegelein, Anna Marie Baumgartner, Louise Phillips, Eileen Meyer, Betty Schultz, Ada Schuelke, Ruth Berning, Margery Ruhl, Sue Wallace, Helen Humcke, Dorothy Zaegel, Ruth Steinbarger, Dorothy Buckholz, and Louise Gerding.

South Side Wins Net Tilt Over Wildcats at Waterloo

South Side's Archers romped to a 24 to 16 win over Waterloo's netmen in their unofficial inauguration of the 1934-35 basketball season last Saturday evening at the Waterloo Town Hall. The Macmen led all the way and broke through the Waterloo defense with ease. Jimmy Hilgeman, small but mighty guard of the Archers, led his team with a total of 11 points. His sharp-shooting was the feature of the game. Throughout the tilt the superior height of the Archers proved to be the deciding factor in their triumph.

The Archers started playing very consistently from the start of the game and soon built up a safe lead. Symonds led off with a field goal and Hilgeman scored a moment later from the field. He followed this fielder with a foul shot. Hooty Hall converted on another foul shot. Hilgeman again converted on a foul shot and Hooty Hall converted from the charity line soon after. Hilgeman again sank a long one and followed it through with a foul shot. Schelpher ended the half with another field goal to put South Side in the lead by a 15 to 6 score.

Coach Jake McClure sent in North for Close in the second quarter. This was North's first game, but he looks like a promising varsity man. The Archers added to their margin in the third quarter and were ahead 22 to 10 at the end of that period. The Archers continued their consistent playing in the final period and held the Wildcats to six points while they scored two to win 24 to 16. This marked Waterloo's second game this season.

Two Teachers Are Heard On Times Weekly Program

Another very interesting radio program, sponsored by The South Side Times, was presented at 7 o'clock Monday evening over station WGL. The program was opened with a selection, "Country Gardens," by a harp ensemble.

This harp ensemble, the only organization of its kind in any high school in the country, is under the direction of Miss Betty Wainwright and is composed of the following South Side girls: Helen Kreischer, Helen Craig, Joan Bonsib, Miriam Lickert, Natalie Brennan, Wanda Jones, and Betty Wainwright.

Bob Zeig, the master of ceremonies, introduced Mr. Herbert S. Voorhees, head of the science department at South Side. Mr. Voorhees, who has been connected with the Fort Wayne school system for over thirty years, spoke on the changes in the Fort Wayne high schools during this time. In 1901 Mr. Voorhees taught botany, which was then compulsory for freshmen students, at the Fort Wayne High School. At that time Fort Wayne High School was one of the best in the country. The courses offered by the high school then were Latin, Latin-German, and classical, which included Greek. The high school at that time offered no commercial course, no extra-curricular activities, no clubs, band, or other musical organizations, no gym or athletic activities.

Tells of Changes
Mr. Voorhees stated that the most important changes in the high schools are the broadening of the course of study, benefiting more students with extra-curricular activities, and offering a wider selection of subjects to the students. After the playing of "Dark Eyes" by the harp ensemble, Dick Helm, sports editor of The Times, interviewed Bob Willson, student manager of the football team. Bob stated that South Side has no alibies to offer for the South Side-Central game. Central really played hard, straight football, he said. In picking the outstanding players of the game, Bob stated that Dorwin Kessler was probably the outstanding player for South Side, with Brower George and Bob Lohman following close behind. On the Central team, Bob picked Stubbs as the outstanding player. He also gave much credit to Larimer for his long run.

The Rev. C. M. Houser Talks At Armistice Day Assembly

The Rev. C. M. Houser, minister of the Plymouth Congregational Church, was the principal speaker at a large assembly held Friday, November 9, in the gymnasium in honor of Armistice Day and National Education Week.

Ursula Morton, mistress of ceremonies, presented a short speech in which she stated that South Side had commemorated Armistice Day and National Education week by an excellent radio program and a special issue of the Times. She also said that its students are the ones to appreciate the higher standards of education.

The Sea Scout members, Bill Hockett, Max Tritch, Wayne Bart, and Richard O'Conner conducted a flag ceremony, which was very effective and added to the patriotic atmosphere. The assembly stood and sang the "Star Spangled Banner." After this the mistress of ceremonies introduced Ann Abbott, secretary of the Indiana High School Press Association, who recited "Flanders Field." The orchestra then played "America, the Beautiful."

Mrs. David Vesey, president of the Parent-Teachers' Association and a member of the Board of School Trustees, was introduced as the next speaker. Mrs. Vesey stated that Indiana was one of the three states which practically had a normal education program, and that the parents were very happy to be the special guests on that occasion. Ursula then introduced the Rev. Charles M. Houser. He stated that military machines do not defend a nation, and that it cost $25,000 for every man killed during the war.

At the last meeting of the German Club, which was held in the Voorhees Room on Wednesday, November 7, "Robert Schumann" was the subject of two reports given by Martha Webb and Fred Prange. They spoke of the family life of that great and famous musician, his personality, his works and other points of interest in his life.

To show the type of his compositions, Donald Vetter played on the piano the selection, "Traumerei and Romanze." Also on the program was the recorded composition, "Du Bist, wie eine Blume."

Faculty Committee Finishes
Its Plans for Projects;
Home Rooms Co-operate.

Improvement Idea Being Broadened

Some Classes Are Donating
Bulbs for Flower Beds;

The committee that is supervising the ground beautification of our school has completed its plans for the project. The committee consists of Mr. A. V. Flint, chairman; Mr. C. A. Bex, Miss Emma Kiefer, and Mr. Elna S. Gould. The original idea was to use wild shrubbery, that is, plants which grow in the fields, in order to beautify the school grounds and also to be of use to the pupils in the study of botany. But this plan has been broadened, as various home rooms, included in which are Mr. Benjamin Null's, Mr. R. Nelson Snider's, Miss A. L. Fiedler's, and Miss Emma Dochterman's, have offered to donate bulbs. All home rooms are cooperating in the project, and it is hoped that although at this time there are not enough projects to go around, the committee hopes to have more at a later date.

Flowers will be added to the north-east end of the grounds; and next spring, flower beds will be planted on the south side.

Included in the large variety of shrubbery to be planted are witch hazel, red-twigged dogwood, prickly ash, elderberry, spice bush, wild rose, yellow rose, sumac, and nightshade bittersweet.

Students Reveal Secret Idol In Regard To Life Patterns

All those asked, "After whom would you like to pattern your life? Why?" were quite excited over the prospect of revealing their secret idol. Everyone has an idol even if it is himself. The South Side students have managed to present their heroes and heroines very vividly. Here are some of them.

Margie Killen: Can be Adrian in his secret idol. He can take one yard of cheesecloth and turn the most depressing figure into a copy ad of stylists. Of course, everyone knows that Adrian is the most outstanding stylist in this country and many other countries.

Ed Ginn: Well, let me think. Gee, I have it. Mills! He, to me, is one of the most outstanding kicking experts in professional football. It would be great to have one-fifth of his knowledge. I try to follow his advice and practice his teachings, but it will take long. I don't mind, however; I'm still young.

Ruth Jones: Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen. She is cultured, charming, and very brilliant (things which cannot be). She seems to accomplish everything that she sets out to do. I realize that reaching her success will take years, but I don't mind. I have one accomplishment already. My name is Ruth.

Margaret Sowers: Even though Sarah Bernhardt is dead and long forgotten by many of the present generation I would give anything to be something like her. She is perfection to my desired vocation. Her great dramatic ability was unsurpassable. This, I hope, will someday be said

Rift in School Work Looms in the Offing

November 29 and 30 have been announced as the days for Thanksgiving vacation for both teachers and pupils. School will be dismissed at 3:15 o'clock on Wednesday, the day before Thanksgiving, and will be resumed at 8:05 o'clock on the following Monday.

Friars' Revue Poster Contest To Be Judged

Miss Alice Hall, Mr. Thomas Riddle, Mr. R. Nelson Snider To Pick Winners.

"All the Friar's Club Revue posters are so attractive and beautiful that I am glad that I do not have to judge them," Miss Erma Dochterman said concerning the Friar's Club Revue posters. "It will be a very difficult task for the judging committee to choose the winner."

There are twenty-five posters finished in Miss Dochterman's classes, which are all striking in appearance and beautiful in design. Any student that desired could enter this contest, and a few students in every class did so. The judging of these posters will take place in the art rooms tonight at 3:30 o'clock by the committee appointed by the Friar's Club composed of Miss Alice Hall, Mr. R. Nelson Snider, and Mr. Thomas Riddle. After all the posters in all the high schools have been judged, the prize posters will be placed in one window of the shopping district, and the others will be placed in various other windows to advertise the show. These posters will certainly attract the attention of the public and will be effective in the selling of tickets.

The Friar's Club offers as first prize for the poster contest a season basketball ticket, and as second prize several free tickets to the Revue.

Annual Tea Held By Senior Mothers

Harp Sextet Plays; Mrs. W. J. Hockett, Mr. R. N. Snider Speak To Assembled Parents.

The annual Senior Mothers' Tea was held Monday afternoon in the cafeteria. Mrs. Leonard Sykes, the general chairman, greeted the mothers and introduced Mrs. F. H. George, who had charge of the program.

The program began with music furnished by the school's sextet of harpsichords comprised of Betty Wainwright, Wanda Jones, Betty Kreischer, Marian Lickert, Helen Flaig, Natalie Brinnon, and Joan Bonsih. They played the following selections, "Mighty Lak a Rose," "Dark Eyes," and "Country Gardens."

Mrs. William J. Hockett, the retiring president of the State Parent-Teachers' Association, spoke on the necessity of parents becoming modernized in their education.

Of interest to the mothers was Mr. Snider's talk about the students of today. He told of the value of higher education and gave several rules to consider when selecting a college or university for one's son or daughter. The mothers were then given an opportunity to ask Mr. Snider any questions they cared to.

Mrs. E. H. Dickmeyer then invited all of the mothers to have tea. Mrs. David S. Vesey and Mrs. Sykes presided at either end of the tea table which was very attractively covered with a Venetian lace table cloth.

The centerpiece of fruit was very attractively arranged in a charming silver bowl. There were silver tapers at each end of the table.

The committees for the tea were: General chairman, Mrs. Leonard Sykes; publicity, Mrs. C. H. Bowby; membership, Mrs. Ed Graham; program, Mrs. F. H. George; ways and means, Mrs. Harrison Simon; and telephone, Mrs. G. E. Cupp.

about me. I wonder if it will!

Bob Harroff: The most famous person in the United States, that person, I believe, is the most famous person I have not discovered by me as yet; but I do know when I find him, that is who I would like to pattern my short life after.

Vivian Boissenet: Kathleen Norris. She has been acclaimed one of the most outstanding writers of the day. Her ability to create imaginative scenes and make the reader feel as if they were true is an accomplishment I have yet to learn. I hope my English teacher doesn't see this. Ouch! those themes.

Bill Fries: Pat Ryan. This remarkable man has risen to heights of great fame among the working men of Chicago. He has a brilliant future ahead of him. So have I if I ever get out of school to begin it. I hope someday to follow in his footsteps even though I do wear size eleven shoes.

Helen Wright: Madame Curie, the most outstanding of feminine scientists to date. She has helped humanity through her brilliant and remarkable discoveries. I can never hope to equal her abilities but I intend to follow them. Someday, who knows, I may have the world at my feet. What an imagination!

Six Hi-Y Clubs Meet To Plan Y Conference

South Side Boys Work on Publicity, Tours, Clean-Up, Recreation, Ushering.

Interesting but complicated plans for the Hi-Y Older Boys' conference were started Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A. at a city-wide Hi-Y meeting. There were six clubs represented, of which three were from South Side, two from Central, and one from North Side. This is the first time in the history of Fort Wayne that an Older Boys' Conference has been held with-in its limits.

Herman Deck, Centralite, called the meeting to order at 7:30 o'clock, after which Charles Maches, also from Central, opened the meeting with an invocation. Mr. John H. Slater, boys' secretary at the Y, introduced the principal speaker, Mr. Lisle Hodell, one of the directors of the Y, who talked concerning the organization of the conference. Mr. Hodell stated that it would be necessary to organize twenty-eight committees in order to put the conference over. He also stated that as far as he could see there was no reason why the Port Wayne Hi-Y organizations could not give the best conference that the older boys of the northern half of Indiana have ever had.

Mr. Omrheim Presides
Following his talk, Mr. Slater turned the meeting over to Mr. Amrheim, who is the new boys' assistant secretary. In order to start work on the convention, twelve basic committees had to be appointed. These committees were listed on a board in the front of the assembly, and a short time was given in order that each club might decide which two committees they wished to bid for. The South Side Senior Hi-Y was the first to get their bid in, which consisted of the publicity committee and the clean-up committee. Shortly following this, the other clubs turned in their respective bids. It seemed that each particular club had put in a bid for the publicity committee, so it was with extreme difficulty that the South Side seniors obtained this committee. However, after some long-rolling, this was accomplished. The committee members were immediately appointed, that they might get an early start on their many duties. The members are Bob Klop, fenstein, chairman; Jim Roth, Ellis Lochner, Dick Russell, Jack Dawson, and Frank Montgomery. The South Side Juniors' bid was on ushering and The South Side Torch secured as their bid "Tours" and "Recreation."

State Committee Plans
The conference is being planned by the State Older Boys' Conference committee with Virgil Stinebaugh of Indianapolis, chairman. B. A. Schnell, state boys' secretary, is in charge of program and promotional work. The local committee at Fort Wayne is under the general leadership of Mr. Clarence Schust, assisted by John H. Slater, the boys' secretary of the Y. M. C. A. They are planning all local arrangements.

Outstanding leaders have been secured for the conference. Dr. David M. Trout, dean of men, Hillsdale College, Hillsdale, Michigan, will lead the conference, giving several addresses and leading forum periods. George W. Campbell of Cincinnati, will be the song and devotional leader. Joe Devadnam of India, now at college in Chicago, will be at the conference.

The general theme of the conference is "Jesus in the Modern World." This is a challenging subject for any group to consider.

So-Si-Y Club Holds Initiation Service

Thanksgiving Basket Planned
By Club at the Last Meeting
Directed by Emily Gardner.

Initiation with the candle service was held at the meeting of the So-Si-Y Club November 20, in the Greeley Room. The new members, forty-five in number, made up the largest group ever to be initiated; and there is the largest number of paid members the club has ever had, 75. The club united in singing the Girl Reserve Quest and the Girl Reserve Code.

The chairman of the service committee, Martha Baumgartner, announced that the club would distribute Thanksgiving baskets to needy families. All contributions should be brought to room 6 by Tuesday, November 27. Vegetables of all kinds, cookies, pumpkins, preserves, candy, and like are desired. If it is more convenient, donations of money will also be accepted.

So-Si-Y is holding a contest to see who can sell the most South Side stationery. The prize is twenty-four sheets and twenty-four envelopes for twenty-five cents. The winner will receive a permanent wave.

Miss Dorothy Magley told a Thanksgiving story as part of the program of which Emily Gardner was the chairman.

The chairman of the program for the next meeting is Martha Baumgartner. Her committee met after the meeting and will meet again next Tuesday in room 66.

Y. W. C. A. Opens Class For Dancing Teachers

The Y. W. C. A. is to open their gymnasium to the teachers of South Side High School. They will institute a dancing class for women teachers. Only teachers will be included in the group. The class will meet at 5:00 o'clock, the day to be decided later.

The fee will be twenty-five cents. This fee is charged for the salary of an accompanist of the group.

Any teachers interested in the class are asked to notify the Y. W. C. A. this week.

Directs Contest

Miss Dorothy Benner

Miss Dorothy Benner, South Side public speaking coach, is sponsoring the Freshman-Sophomore speech contest to be held in several weeks. In addition to conducting this contest annually, Miss Benner also sponsors the semi-annual extemporaneous contest and directs participants in the state oratorical contests.

Miss Benner has also formed the Speaker's Bureau, an organization composed of various present and former public speaking students. This group supports various school activities and campaigns.

Mr. Makey, chairman of the National Honor Society committee, has announced that tag day will be sometime between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Thirty-two seniors who will complete their high school work in January have been declared eligible for membership as far as grades are concerned, and material concerning the activities of certain pupils is now being collected. The requirements for election to the National Honor Society are that a student be outstanding in scholarship, leadership, character, and also service to the school.

The committee which consists of Mr. Makey, chairman; Miss Gertrude Oppelt, Miss Mable Thorne, Mr. E. H. Murch, and Mr. Herbert Voorhees will meet November 20 to make the election of the members who will be named to the National Honor Society.

Lucille Holsapple To Speak to U.S.A.

Club To Hear New Y. M. Worker
At Thanksgiving Pot-Luck
Party; Committee Is Named.

Miss Lucille Holsapple, the new Y. W. C. A. secretary, will speak to the U. S. A. Club on November 22. This meeting will be in the form of a Thanksgiving pot-luck party. A formal initiation of the new members of the club will also be part of the program. There will be games and dancing. The music for dancing will be furnished by Louise Gerding. The committee in charge of the party is Virginia Fathauer, chairman; Julia Crabb, and Margie Schuman.

A Thanksgiving basket will be made from the donations of the members of the club. All those members who help to donate for it will receive credit for a community project.

Playlet Will Be Given By Sunshine Members

A playlet concerning the starting of Red Seal camps for tubercular people will be the main feature of the program which is being planned by Aileen Fuelling and her committee to be given at the November 27 meeting of the Sunshine Club.

The girls taking part in the play are Wanchah Stahlhut, Dorothy Zaegel, Betty Beyrau, Helen Fleisher, Valeria Martin, and Dolores Pequinot. Georgianne Jacobs will read the poem entitled "Thanksgiving."

Since there are eighteen new members, several get-acquainted games, which are under the direction of Eileen Mentzer, will be played. The members will sing several Thanksgiving songs accompanied by Eileen Mentzer.

South Side Students Give Local Hospitals A Rushing Business

Appendectomy operations (commonly known as "having the appendix yanked") seem to be taking their toll of South Side students, as our school has four pupils who are spending their time at the hospital. Three have been convalescing at the Lutheran Hospital and the other one is at the Methodist.

Fred Lenz, a very well-known member of the varsity football team, was reported to be resting well. The condition of Herbie Kramer, one of our popular yell leaders, is very fine. In a very much improved condition is Eileen Corbett. She is a senior here. The fourth one, Dorothy Elfner is resting well.

We wish to extend our heartiest congratulations to these students. They don't realize how lucky they are, for, while we are spared the temporary agonies which they are enduring, they will ever after have a topic of conversation, i.e., "Have you heard about my operation?"

Travel Club Visits India Through Talk

Rev. P. L. Eicher Gives Talk
On Conditions in India;
Girl Reports on Portfolio.

The Rev. P. L. Eicher, minister and secretary at the Port Wayne Bible School, gave an interesting account of the people and conditions in India at the time when he was a missionary there at the meeting of Travel Club on Wednesday in the Greeley Room. The subject was "India."

"The impression one gets when visiting these foreign countries lingers with you," he stated. He explained that there are about 352,000,000 people in India and that these are divided into three main classes, Hindoo, Mohammedan, and Parsee.

Caste System Strong
All of these classes are divided and sub-divided into a great many different classes according to occupation and religion. Everyone in India shuns another of a different class, and they are always glad that there are some below them. He stated that in the villages in which the people live, the farmers have their section of the town, the carpenters are in another section, and thus the town is divided according to occupations. In the native sections of the largest cities, the buildings are very close together, the streets narrow, and often there are no sidewalks. "But these conditions are more true in years back than they are now. Mahatma Gandhi has done a great deal to pull the caste system down."

Mr. Eicher also told about the queer marriage rules which were also more true years ago. Children in India are promised to a son or daughter of another family either at their birth or at the ages of two up to about eight or ten years. When the daughter of one family is twelve years old, she is married and goes to live with her husband's family. If her husband dies, she is considered the cause of his death by some wicked or evil deed which she did. A widow is shunned for the rest of her life. Until about one hundred years ago, in order to atone for her sin, she had to allow herself to be burned alive with the body of her husband. Now for atonement of this sin, the widow is allowed one meal a day and is made to do all of the dirty work for her husband's family. Often times rather than do this, she throws herself on the body of her husband to be burned alive. A man also has the perfect right to beat his wife.

The Rev. Mr. Eicher also told about the dirty conditions which exist in the homes. All the animals live with the family in the same house. People from India consider it an honor to be bitten by a snake; which they worship. Appropriate refreshments of spice cake and sugared dates were served. All the members sat in a circle around the room and the refreshments were served on leaves. While the refreshments were being eaten, Mr. Eicher told more about the food which the Hindoos eat. He also sang a song in the native tongue of India.

In the business part of the meeting, Virginia Baumgartner told about the portfolio which Travel Club is sending to Sidney, Australia.

Math Club Hears Mr. A. Verne Flint

Mathematics Instructor Speaks
On Methods of Babylonians,
Egyptians; Party Discussed.

Mr. A. V. Flint gave a talk to the Junior-Math Club at the meeting on November 20, on the mathematics of the Babylonians and Egyptians. He first gave the location of Egypt and Babylon. His explanation on the Demosthenes' intuitive Geometry showed that the former is the type we use.

He said that the Babylonians read letters from left to right as we do, but the Egyptians read letters up and down. The papyrus of Ahmes in Egypt, which was found, tells about their mathematics.

As a result of finding the clay which the Babylonians wrote on, we have found the mathematics which they used. The Babylonians knew the cubes of numbers to 30 and the square of numbers to 60. He explained that the geography of the country had something to do with their geometry and also that their mathematics dates back to 5000 B. C. or longer.

The club will have a skating party on February 22. A sun dial, which would be for the purpose of benefiting the school grounds, was discussed at this meeting.

The committee in charge of the next meeting is Robert Brown, chairman; Edward Wallace, Marion Roehrs, Elvira Koop, and Nora Mae Bradberry. This committee will meet in Miss Paxton's room on Tuesday.

Philo Club Will Hear Faculty Member Speak

Assisting in another "Literary House" program, Miss Rose Mary Delancey will speak at the next meeting of Philo, Monday, November 26. Her topic will be the House of Seven Gables. Miss Delancey has visited this home of Hawthorne and is competent to give an interesting description of it. Dorothea Nance will tell of the life of Nathaniel Hawthorne, and Jo Anne Smith will give a review of the "Old Manse" and other of his literary works. Reginald Gerlig will end the program with several selections on the piano.

Musicians Hold Party
The musical organizations of Poly High School, Los Angeles, California, held a party in their gymnasium. The different organizations provided the entertainment. In addition to members of the musical department, invitations were extended to all faculty members, and presidents and vice-presidents of the various school clubs.

Hi-Y Will Give Party At Bell's On Wednesday

Senior Organization To Hold Skating Fracas at Rink;
To Award Five Turkeys.

"Gobble, gobble." Gobble what? Gobble turkeys. Gobble turkeys where, and when? At Bell's Rink next Wednesday, which is the beginning of our Thanksgiving vacation, a skating party will be sponsored by the South Side Senior Hi-Y.

The theme of the fracas will be worked out along Thanksgiving Eve, according to Dick Reincke, committee chairman. Each ticket will be performed in the center; the holder is asked to leave the ticket in one piece until it is stamped at the rink; then one piece which he is to keep as a receipt, will be returned to him. About 10 p. m., before the grand march, five turkeys will be given away as attendance prizes. One of them is with compliments of the Senior Hi-Y, and the other four from Mr. Joseph Bell.

The rest of the party procedure will be in the usual manner. The rink will be opened at 8 o'clock. Trios, couples, and ladies only, will be the feature numbers. At 10 o'clock there will be a grand march, and at 10:45 comes the reverse. The party will be over at 11 o'clock.

Banquet Is Held By Teachers' Club

Mr. Merle J. Abbett Speaks;
Herbert S. Voorhees Talks
In Memory of E. M. Suter.

The Fort Wayne and Allen County Schoolmasters' Club held their annual dinner meeting last Tuesday evening, November 20, at 6:30, at the Plymouth hall. Mr. Paul Sidell, a member of South Side's teaching staff, had charge of the plans for the dinner. Mr. Sidell is president of the club; Marjorie Assley, Central High School teacher, is vice-president, and Howard Michaud, also a Central teacher, is secretary-treasurer of the organization.

Merle J. Abbett, superintendent of the Fort Wayne Public School System, was the principal speaker. Herbert S. Voorhees, instructor at South Side, gave a talk in memory of the late E. M. Suter, former teacher at North Side High School. Mr. Thomas Yates of Harrison Hill School, also talked.

Community singing was led by Mr. William R. Sur, music director at North Side High. The South Side High School band, under the direction of Mr. Jack Wainwright, played several selections. Other entertainment was provided by the Women's Chorus of the Nebraska School and Mr. Robert Wedderburn, a magician who has performed several times at this school.

O. D. Robertson, principal of the Nebraska School, was chairman of the entertainment committee. Mr. Wilburn Wilson, of South Side, and Richard E. Shriner, principal of the Justin N. Study School, were in charge of the election of officers held at the close of the meeting. Henry Chappell, recently elected president of the Northeastern Indiana Teachers' Association and manual training instructor here, was chairman of the publicity for the meeting.

This club is composed of men instructors of all the public and parochial schools of the city and county.

Interesting Talks and Programs Given in Home Room Classes

(This is the second of a series of articles by Geraldine Henline on the activities of the home rooms. The third article will appear soon.—Editor's note.)

Many and varied observances are included in the type of programs which are held in the different home rooms every morning. Recently a number of these were related, and in this issue more will be presented.

Mr. E. S. Gould's class has as its chairman, Jack Dawson. The students have been giving talks on subjects such as snakes, travels, manners, and the trip to the Franklin convention. The program committee is planning to give another short play as they did last year. The committee consists of Charlene Davis, Harriet Schaefer, Wayne Decker, and Glen Pressler.

In room 85 the students have been reading "The Bent Twig," by Dorothy Canfield. Miss Lucy Mellen stated that lately each student has been assigned a chapter, and after reading it, he tells the story to his classmates. Jerry Zehr was elected chairman, and Jessie Ehlen Zollars, secretary.

In the Greeley Room Mr. Earl Murch's class has been having talks on courtesy, actions around the school, and the fundamentals in playing football. Musical selections have been given by Kathryn Wittmer. The chairman of this class is Barbara Raymond, while Jim Roth has been chosen president.

The seniors in Miss Mary McCloskey's home room have special programs on special days. They have also had talks on the various colleges. During the last several weeks, however,

Honor Plaques Will Be Given For Averages

Junior Home Room Places
First Among Classes for Highest Grades; Frosh 2d.

First Honor Roll Is Announced

Upperclassmen Show Evidences of High Scholastic Attainment by Placing 136

Awards which are made semi-annually to the home rooms which have the highest scholastic average in their class will be made this following week. A plaque is also given to the room which has the highest average of the winners.

Freshman home room 62, which has as its teacher Miss Kelley, had an average of 5.2755. Mr. McCure is the teacher of the winning sophomore home room, which had an average of 5.0041. 6.3859 is the average of room 14, the winners of the junior home rooms, whose teacher is Mr. Whelan. Room 74, a senior home room, had as its scholastic average 5.1153. Miss McCloskey is the teacher.

Mr. Whelan's junior home room will receive the plaque for having the highest average of the winning home rooms. The previous winners of these honors are:

Juniors Are Highest
First grade period of the year 1933:

Senior room 146; teacher, Miss Paxton, average 5.6036. Also award for the highest average. Junior room 74, teacher, Miss McCloskey, average 4.8544. Sophomore room 24, teacher, Miss Nellie Covatt, average 5.2281. Freshman room 80, teacher, Miss Hodgson, average 4.4384.

Second period of the year 1934: senior room 146, teacher, Miss Paxton, average 6.6995. Also won the plaque for the highest average. Junior room 34, teacher, Miss G. Mellen, average 5.8782. Sophomore room 58, teacher, Miss E. Kiefer, average 6.3185. Freshman room 80, teacher, Miss Hodgson, average 5.6484.

Third grade period of the year 1934: senior room 44, teacher, Mr. J. H. Chappell, average 6.3247. Junior room 6, teacher, Miss Smeltzley, average 6.1871. Sophomore room 24, teacher, Miss Covatt, average 6.0858. Freshman room 80, teacher, Miss Hodgson, average 5.6891.

Fourth grade period of the year 1934: Senior room 146, teacher, Miss Paxton. Junior room 6, teacher, Miss Smeltzley. Sophomore room 22, teacher, Miss Nellie Covatt. Freshman room 80, teacher, Miss Hodgson.

High scholastic attainment, which is very much in evidence among the upperclassmen, is indicated by the semi-annual honor roll with 136 upperclassmen and 50 underclassmen. After the grades of Miss Hodgson's classes have been added, there will probably be an increase in the number on the honor roll. Any pupils whose names are missing should see Mr. Snider. There were 249 pupils on the honor roll at the middle of last semester.

195 On Honor Roll
In all, 195 out of approximately 2,000 pupils are listed on the honor (Continued on page 3)

Get ready for basketball—it's really not so very far off!

Think Thoughts of Thanks Through This Thanksgiving.

Did you ever see a sign, "SHOES SHINED INSIDE," and wonder how they do it?

South Side's own song: "Pardon my Southern Accent." Might have used it after the Central game.

Three collective nouns we hadn't heard about before (in English class): flypaper, wastebasket, and a vacuum cleaner.

Hunting seems to be in style again—and a few South Siders are going in for the sport in a big way. A theme song suggestion, "Here Come the Rabbits—Bang! Bang!"

Butler is coming to Fort Wayne to meet South Side in basketball on December 7. Don't you think that we could use a Butler? All we need is a few points on the right side!

If you're "too slow to catch cold," then you're hopeless. But it seems as if a number of hopeless people in South Side have "speeded-up" from the number of colds around the school.

Will miracles ever cease? The Totem went over the subscription goal during the campaign. Just in case you don't already know it, it wasn't a miracle that put the Totem over—it was the untiring efforts of the circulation staff whose silent and unnoticed work enabled the yearbook to reach the goal in record time!

Beautify the Grounds

One of the things of which South Side students have never been very proud is the general appearance of their school yard. Usually it is cluttered up with scraps of paper and rubbish, which could be kept off very easily if each and every one of us did our part. Realizing this fact, Mr. Snider appointed a committee of teachers to do something about this. They have fulfilled their mission very successfully and now it is up to us students. They have presented us with a most attractive plan. Each home room can do just as much or just as little as it pleases. The duty given to each of us is moderate. We have to bring only one shrub from home to do our part. Many of the home rooms have shown a true South Side spirit, and have already volunteered their assistance. Now is the time for each of us to stand up and show our colors, to make the outward appearance of our school as the inside.

Get Busy Students!

Now that the grade period has come and gone, the time has come to start thinking about the end of the term. What grade do you want to get at the end? Now is the time to begin your work so that you will receive the grades you had planned on getting.

Many students received failing grades because of carelessness. They neglected to start studying at the beginning of the term but said to themselves, "I'll just put my studies off another day." The days rolled into weeks, the weeks into months until suddenly these students realized that the grade period ended in a very few days. They made a grand rush to get all of their overdue work in before the last day. Of course, it was not done correctly, and more than likely they did not get half of it done at all. They would have found it much easier to do if they had done their work each day instead of waiting until the last minute.

So we are warning you, "Do not put off your work till the last minute." Study your lessons daily, and when you receive your grades you will not regret the hours you spent studying. Remember, the next grading period is just a few weeks away and the time will pass before you realize it. So, let's get busy now and tackle those books with renewed energy.

Meet Mr. Dictionary

Webster, Funk and Wagnall, and the Oxford dictionaries were printed for a purpose. If you, as an individual, come up against a word that seems strange to your vocabulary, what are you going to do about it? Are you going to depend on your neighbor? Are you going to look at your teacher with the expectation of finding the word written on his face? Are you simply going to neglect the word and allow it to remain a mystery? The question will appear: "What shall I do?"

The answer is really quite simple. Apply to the most neglected book of this generation, the DICTIONARY. It isn't such a terrible thing to do. The book is really quite interesting, presenting many unknown facts and hidden information. The simplest word used is the most difficult to define. Such words as sap, awful, nut, nice, and darn are often used in the wrong sense, and often they make the one using them appear ridiculous. Each of the words mentioned has a specific meaning of its own—Why degrade the word? LET'S ALL WORK!

Learn their true meanings and give justice to their position in the world of words. How? Rush to the most convenient person, "Mr. Dictionary," and ask him to help you solve your problem.

Freshman Fantasy

Concerning History

The government pays good money to farmers for not growing cotton, for not growing grain, and for not raising pigs. Let's get up a delegation to interview the school authorities and point out to them their patriotic duty in the matter of credits for those of us who do not take history! It would help our recovery enormously.

If one places one's nose down close to a mountain, one can see only rocks and dirt just like any other rocks and dirt. But if one gets back ten miles away, one sees the vastnesses and grandeur and all the rest of it. Just so with history. Those that are taking the subject are so close to it that they miss the perspective. So here are a few notes from the ten-mile distance.

Take for instance the battle of some place or other, it doesn't make any difference which one. You remember how tame is the ordinary description. Why not modernize it a little? Suppose "A" is the general on one side and "B" is the big chief on the other, the description should read something like this: "A" leads with a stiff jolt to the centre, "B" counters with a hay-maker to the right wing; "A" is groggy, he is out on his feet, he is down on all fours. Now he's up, now he is down, he's up! He's down! He's flat on his stomach; his nose is flat; he's flat on his nose! It's all over, and so, little children, the King of Nazalia was overthrown, and peace and prosperity prevailed.

Dates are out of date, and their place should be taken by personages or events. Thus the chapters of American history are: from the discovery of America to John L. Sullivan. From this last to the founding of the South Side Times. From this to "Come up and see me sometime." This last to the glorious present, and from this last to from now on.

OPINIONS

To Whom It May Concern:

For some time I have noticed a condition around this school that ought to be corrected. There isn't much that can be done about it except call it to the attention of the considerate, thinking student. If the students who were brought up to show some consideration for others would pay some attention to the deplorable condition of the traffic in our halls between classes there might be something done to improve this shameful condition.

The other day I saw an older woman, evidently some one's mother, caught in the cross traffic at the intersection of the front hall and the girl's locker room. The poor woman was bumped into, stepped on, shoved, thrown against the wall, and her purse was knocked out of her hand. She had reached up to straighten her hat; her elbow was jarred; and she shoved her hat to an even wilder angle. All around her the boys and girls were shoving, pushing, fighting to get through. The shorter pupils were almost suffocated by the time they got past the corner of the hall and the locker room door. Think of the opinion that poor woman must have had of our school and the girls and boys in it! Think of the discourtesy shown to her, an older woman and a visitor! We should all have been ashamed of ourselves and our school. There were some who were careful. But there were many, who would have shown her all courtesies possible elsewhere, pushing for all they were worth.

Much of this disturbance is caused, not by boys and girls going conscientiously about their business, but by the groups who try to walk together or to stop and call back last-minute messages to their friends or who try to stop and wait for their friends to catch up with them. Much of it is caused by the high-spirited kids who find a grand opportunity to give vent to their desire to push and shove and watch the discomfort of their victims. It could, to a great extent, be abolished. Of course, with the large number we have in school and the narrowness of the halls, there will always be a certain amount of confusion. But there is no necessity for the condition that now exists. Some of the expressions on faces of the boys and girls, look as if the students were about half-civilized. And some of them certainly act as if they were.

The teachers cannot do more than has already been done. It is up to us, the students of South Side. If we would all try to keep the halls free of obstructions, there would not be the awful confusion there is now.

Getting Honey From a Bee Tree
 John Hines

English 2 Grade A
 Teacher—Miss Rinehart
 After discovering a bbee tree on our farm, we cut down the tree. Dad got a big crosscut saw, and I chopped a notch on one side of the tree so it would fall away from us. I took hold of one end of the saw, and Dad took the other and we pushed and pulled until the big maple tree fell.
 When we had finished cutting the tree, we smoked out the bees. I bought a can of sulphur, set it afire, stuffed old rags in one end of the log, and watched to see that not many bees escaped. After about fifteen minutes most of the bees had either suffocated from the smoke of the burning sulphur or escaped.

After smoking out the bees, we removed the honey from the log. To get at the honey we chopped the log in two pieces. Then we took out the delicious looking layers of honey, some light and some very dark, and put them in a big tin bucket to air out for three days before eating it.

An Amusing Experience
 Geraldine Schaefer

English 1 Grade A
 Teacher—Miss Kiefer
 I think everyone has an amusing experience sometime during his life. I had one when I was three years of age. The time of this happening was in the evening. The place was in church, in a small town in Ohio.
 Mother had made me a new dress for Children's Day. I got up on the platform at church. I made a bigger bow than all of the other three-year-olds, and I talked louder than all of the rest. This is what I said:

"I had a little pig,
 I fed him in a trough.
 He got so dogged on fat,
 His tail dropped off."

Of course, the applause was loud and long, and everyone smiled, so I did too. I was too small to understand it then, but I am quite sure I understand it now. I think that is one thing I shall not make a mistake about twice.

Bang! Bang! Bang! Three shots for the nigger baby. Boom—boom—boom! He's up—he's down—he's u—no, he's down, down for good this time.
 "Very good, young lady. Try another shot!" Yes, she'll try another shot, because she knows she won't miss.

This accurate junior is not only a bullseye hitter in shooting, but also in most other things that she attempts. She is on our last honor roll list and quite deserves to be. Her subjects are French, history, English, and physics.

"I am a member of the Rifle, Student Players, Library, and Philo clubs and am the past Inter-Club Congress representative of Rifle Club.

"What phase of work would you like to take up?" she was asked.

"I enjoy journalism more than anything else," she replied, "And I hope to study it at Wisconsin University."
 When questioned as to whether she made collections of any sort, she smiled and said, "Well, I don't know whether you'd call this a collection or not, but I've gathered in hundreds of match folders from all over the United States."

This brown eyed girl enjoys swimming, dancing, gunning, and tennis. She resides on Oakdale Drive, and H-27854 is her telephone number.

Watch out, she's shooting again! Whatever you do, don't get in her way, as her aim is too good. The Rifle range officer of the Rifle Club is Maxine Borchert!

Germany, France, Spain, England, Belgium, Czechoslovakia—oh well,—Ah! here's one postmarked Turkey! Isn't it peculiar? Or how about this funny blue one with the man on it from Australia? In fact they're all very interesting.

"A stamp collection is one of the most intriguing things I've ever had," said the personage about whom this column is written. He has a stamp that was carried over on the Graf Zeppelin's first trans-Atlantic trip. He is a very active member of the Philatelic Society. It was his idea to publish its paper. He is the very capable general manager of this project, and he also publishes the paper of his church.

"Other clubs, besides the Stamp Club, to which I belong are Junior Hi-Y, 1500, and The Times," he stated. Marshall is quite tall, and weighs one hundred thirty-eight pounds. He has a shock of very curly, brownish-yellow hair, and blue eyes. His sense of humor is quite rare, and his puns are an example of this characteristic. It seems that we have another journalistic student among us. He would enjoy furthering his knowledge in college too.

Basketball, swimming, and tennis are his ideas of good sports, and stamp collecting, of course, is his main hobby.

United States history, public speaking, health, and physics are his subjects.

Marshall Rosenthal is the secretary of the Philatelic Society.

Mademoiselle Modiste

By Edythe Thornton

Of the butcher, the baker, the candle-stick maker, the butcher-boy was the only one well represented at the tea dance last Friday. One of the cleverest of these new models was the black taffeta worn by Dorothy Keen.

The high neckline was accentuated by the inch-high pleating that came down in front to form a most interesting flou-flo. The back, like a true butcher-boy, had a deep set-in pleat. The belt which buckled in the front was fastened by a large covered buckle. With the black taffeta top, she wore a green wool skirt, cut along simple sport lines.

Sue Wallace is another one who appears in a swanky wool peasant-boy. The blouse is pencil-brown wool with a snug-fitting plaid collar of the same material as the skirt. Plaid cuffs and a plaid school-girl bow under the collar are additional touches of color. The belt is fastened in front with a clever wooden button.

Elvera Koop adds an intriguing touch to her brown butcher-boy blouse by having the set in pleat in the back lined with the plaid of which her skirt and collar and cuffs are made. Interesting covered buttons fasten the blouse in front.

Another smart brown wool is the sport dress worn by Dorothy Golden. The skirt is cut simply and depends upon the clever yarn embroidery for its interest. The sleeves, tight-fitting at the wrist and set in wide arm holes, are embroidered with gay yarn flowers of harmonizing colors. The flowers are repeated at the plain neckline.

Vivian Woods, true to the Navy, wears a smart midnight blue silk. All interest is centered at the neckline which is formed by a roll sailor collar trimmed with the traditional white braiding and anchors. The sleeves are elbow length in the approved mode.

Another interesting silk dress is the one worn by Bernadette Dygert. The boat-shaped neckline is accented by an intriguing pleat of printed silk. The pleating is extended from the ends of the neckline on the shoulders to the elbow. Two clever bows soften the severe front. Four carved gold squares form the buckle. The elbow length sleeves are caught close with flaring cuffs of the printed silk.

Rose Ann Certia guards against the winter winds with a gay plaid wool. Inch square brown and orange blocks form the pattern of the material. The dress is quite plain with huge patch pockets making the skirt unusual. One of the popular cowboy "kerchiefs" tied under the pointed collar forms the neckline. The long sleeves are fastened with brown covered buttons.

We wonder why Norwood Dalman keeps shadowing Peggy Kilpatrick? Careful, Norwood, don't rush the lady!

Ed Leitz certainly caused a great disturbance among the fairer sex when he did not appear in the gym Thursday and Friday the fifth period. Keep it up Ed for a couple days, and you will be well supplied with visitors!

One of our brilliant chemistry students must have a good opinion of himself (or something). The meaning of valence was asked with the answer of, "It is the power to hold." Bob Lohman, in his witty manner, replied, "Just call me valence." O.K. Valence!

Just a warning! Stay away from J.M. and Dick Coffee or you may be affected with Coffee Nerves just as Seibold now is.

Just what were Max Trich and "Soldier" Bart discussing over in front of Nick's after school Friday afternoon? Looks like the Crabbills were causing no little discussion.

Does Louie Bonsib ever slay these women? He's going "steady" with five girls only, at the present time.

It looks as if the supreme woman hater is losing his prestige. B. Minier, you deserve a Pat on the back.

The girl who really knows how to "rate" the boys may have her notebook by calling in Room 18. Anyway, boys, someone has your number.

Day By Day

In one corner of a class of our honorable economics teacher, a group of students were enjoying themselves because of the sad plight of one, Robert Foust. When Mr. Murphy asked that the rest of the class be told the joke, Bob asked, "Mr. Murphy, may I go get a d—'hie'?"

Announcing the marriage of Candace Hardesty, erstwhile student of South Side. May her domestic life be as happy as was her scholastic; we hope it was happy. Her experience in public speaking qualifies her for the job of mistress.

On Wednesday, Miss Benner told party program chairman, Bob Adams, that his committee might plan their Thanksgiving program during class time the next day. Accordingly, it seems that Bob came to class quite unprepared to give the talk that his instructor asked of him before he went to his meeting.

One of our budding cartoonists, Jack Hemmer, drew on the board of the chemistry room a portrait of Mr. Gilbert with a fly buzzing around said instructor's nose. The fly was labeled "Garland Again." Red Montgomery retaliated with, "At least it can't get in his hair."

Wasn't it nice of Mr. Voorhees to name all the dumb pupils in his seventh period class? Talk about putting people ill at ease, Mr. Voorhees flustered a little boy who returned the lantern projector, leaving it where Herbie could stumble over it.

Which reminds me of the time Violet Wittmer had something on her mind which she had to get off her chest.

For your jitney you get a comedy, newsreel, feature picture, and your choice of a hamburger sandwich or an ice cream cone. Not bad, eh?

A new feature for the column, "Studies in Song" will appear every week. How's this, Newswriting—Doing the Uptown Low Down. Chemistry—Smoke Gets in Your Eyes.

That big, burly, handsome blond who goes by the name of Gale Rinehart was telling us he would like to have another date with his old flame, Dorothy Geary. Well, well, well!

Pedagog to Parents

Can you tell the purpose of high school libraries and how they function?

Miss Emma Shoup
 Libraries in high schools are not new; but the modern trend in education toward the socialized recitation, projects, and individualization, has brought them into increased importance.

The various departments of South Side High School, in accordance with this modern trend in education, are no longer content with only the matter contained in their textbooks. So, one purpose which our library serves is to furnish the collateral and supplementary reading material that the pupils must have in preparing for their recitations.

This material consists of our 5,800 books, 1,835 pamphlets, 7,134 mounted pictures, our periodical files and our immense number of clippings. Every day some four or five hundred pupils flock to the library, seeking these materials for reference. Thus the library is a workshop, serving, especially for such subjects as English and social science, the same purpose that a laboratory serves in the teaching of the pure sciences.

The civics classes, for instance, must use the clipping file for discussions of current questions on government, politics, etc. Likewise, they must learn to use Readers' Guide, which opens for them the great storehouse of information contained in the forty-eight current magazines which come to the library.

The library endeavors to keep up to date a collection of catalogues from some 202 colleges and universities. This collection helps the student to select the college most suited to his needs and aids him in planning his high school curriculum to fit the requirements of his chosen college.

Through its book collection and all other facilities which the library has to offer, it endeavors to contribute to all phases of school life and all school activities. Valuable suggestions from teachers have helped the library toward fulfilling this aim. A fair-sized collection of "debate books" have helped the pupil with his public speaking efforts. A growing collection of books dealing with occupations of every kind has aided many young people in the choice of their life work.

Another asset which the library hopes to impart to its young friends is the ability to use library tools, such as the card catalog, Readers' Guide, reference books, and various indexes. Such knowledge will enable them to make intelligent use of public and college libraries, for the next best thing to knowing a thing is to know where to find it.

There is still another very important purpose of the library, and that is to instill in its young patrons a library attitude and habit; to lead them to discover that there is a book to fit their every need, that some books instruct, that some inspire, and that some will give joy to their leisure hours.

Archer Atrocities

One of the more pitiful sights in our dear Alma Mater is Phil Green playing up to Virginia Gross in their physics class. What will Rosalie and Dorothy G. say, Phil? ... What's this we hear about Lizzy Faulkner picking up the football hero, Jackson? Well, the old saying goes, "You've got to be a football hero to get along with the beautiful girls". ... Following is a note which was salvaged from the wastepaper basket in the study hall: Dear Barney, I don't want to write any more notes because I don't want Nancy to get mad. She is a swell kid. Anyway, I still consider you a swell friend. It's your turn to write a note. If you don't think Nancy will care. Signed, Frances Knight. P.S. I still like you a little bit. ... We sort of wonder why Margaret goes for D. Wheeler. ... Edwyn thinks that Thurman is a Perli to him. ... Mary Ellen Blauvelt has the Willies about Mertense. ... Elmer Cochrane must like Flo Rose Whitmer's cooking after the way so many notes came in this week telling about his ravings. Cooking? ... There is one thing about Glenn Pressler that at least shows he is faithful. Every week he sends Times to New York. Or is it just because he wants his old flames to see his name in print along with Dorothea Nance's. ... What will Barton Turley do now that he lost his book containing the names of his hundreds of "pasts" and "presents"? Will the finder please return to Room 90. ... We hear that Bob has fallen for Billie. He seems to be a Weamer in the Maiking in his Art class. ... Bud Jones is a dead ringer for El Brendel when he has a sailor uniform on. ... When C. Boerger comes along Eleanor Monesmith has to hide Carl in the Hall. ... After a careful observation we perceive that Ruth DeHaven is minus four teeth. Doorknob in the dark? ... It's a Goodwin to watch DeGregory and August. ... We have received many inquiries as to the name of that traitor who took back his apple from Miss Kiefer's class the day that grades were received. ... We hope that he isn't that way about his watch, too.

Although there are two Robert Lee's at South Side, Vera seems to Walk right over Robert A. Lee. ... We hope that Delmar Steirs Janet Hartman through the straight and narrow pass. ... Amid many Rohrer's from Marjorie, Nathalie Coar is trying hard to hold Bob. ... Ned we tell you that Betty Linhart is that way about Hackney. ... It seems that Keller's Art is lost because Carolyn won't receive him anymore. ... Well, Hubert McKwon found out that Dorothy is a swell Turfing when he got fresh. ... We hear that a certain good looking C. C. male man is going Doty over D. Wilson or vice versa. ... One of the Jones boys, Myron to be specific, wishes he could rate Millie. But with a Hoff and puff she blew his hopes in.

All-Intramural Tag Football Team Members Announced

Stalter Heads All-Intramural Football Squad

Teams This Year Have Given Best Material in Years, States Election Board.

Include 1934 Stars On Mythical Team

Russell, Voight, Willson, And Geyer Are Chosen For Backfield Positions.

Two of the most outstanding All-Intramural tag football teams ever to be picked at South Side were chosen by South Side's All-Intramural Board of Tag Football last week. Members of this board are John Dutterer, Charles Baumgartner, and Mr. Louis Briner.

Having a great wealth of material to pick from, the job of picking this year's All-Intramural teams was rather easy.

On the heavyweight team, we find Stalter and Nolan as ends. Stalter is one of the best pass receivers in the game, and Nolan is by far the best punter witnessed this season. Stalter was also chosen captain of the first team. As tackles, Seawald and Schmidt were named. Both players are hard blockers and sure tuggers. Lohse and Zurburg capably fill the guard positions. These two players would offer any opposing guards more than they could handle. At the center post, we find Klopfenstein, a reliable ball passer and sure blocker.

Russell Is Quarter

In the backfield of this mythical team, we have Russell at quarter, Voight and Willson as halves, and Geyer at full. Russell, as quarterback, is a very capable field general, as can be shown by his ability to direct his team to the school championship play-off. Voight, at left half, is an excellent passer and pass receiver. Willson, right halfback, is the fastest back in South Side and also is a good pass receiver. Geyer, as All-Intramural fullback, is a triple threat man, being well adapted to running, passing, and kicking.

Besides an excellent first team, an unusually good second team was also chosen. Some of the outstanding players on the second team are Schelper, Close, Benz, and Mertens. Besides being quarterback of the second team, Close was also chosen captain.

Many outstanding players were uncovered in the lightweight tag football leagues, and it is expected of them in future years. Outstanding lightweight players are: Meyers, Grieder, Cruse, Stone, Roth, and Bridges. The captain of the lightweight first team is Stone, who is also quarterback. Lelja, halfback on the second team, was chosen captain of that team.

Decatur Captures Title In N. E. I. Conference

Making one of the best records in the history of Decatur High School, the Decatur Yellow Jackets completed their schedule for this season without a defeat and took the N. E. I. C. title. This marks the first time in recent years that the Yellow Jackets have won this title. Coach Andrews, who is serving his first year in this capacity, had a good nucleus around which to build his team.

South Side and Central finished in a tie for second place in the conference standing by virtue of Central's victory over South Side. North Side and Bluffton tied for third place with three victories and two losses each.

German Club "Mixer"
"Der Deutsche Verein," of Washington High School, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, sponsored a mixer in place of the regular meeting, November 13. Games were enjoyed and refreshments were served.

Since volleyball has started many girls have found they need plenty of practice. Keep it up girls it won't be long until you will be up to par again.

The special tumbling group needs to be complimented on the accomplishments they have obtained during the past few weeks. They have been working on pyramids, etc., for an act in the Friar's Club revue.

The seniors have turned out exceptionally well for volleyball. There have been approximately forty senior girls who signed up.

Ruth Seigel, a former member of the G. A. A., was carrying the baton for the Central band Saturday, which shows she is loyal to any school she attends.

The following girls attended the Philo skating party and received points in the G. A. A.: Marjory and Margaret Ruhl, Anna Marie Baumgartner, Ruth Eysenber, and Winnie Locker.

Enita Snavely, Edna Disler, Anna Marie Baumgartner, Gerry Landis and Margie Hower went skating for points recently; after which they went to Enita's and played pool. Edna and Marge were high scorers.

The girls of the fourth period gym class had a rousing pep session before the Central game, in the shower room; but to no avail.

Several inquisitives want to know how Betty Harnish likes her tiny one.

A fortune teller once told Margaret Ruhl her lucky number was 3. Since then she has been captain of three number three teams, and at present she is captain of a number three team in volleyball.

Two South Siders Place in Walk Race

Miss Eleanor Pawlish, Former South Side Student, Takes Honors in Six-Mile Contest.

South Side was amply represented last Saturday in the annual county walking contest sponsored by the Lion's Club, the Y. M. C. A., and The News-Sentinel. Not only did the present group of underclassmen turn out in great numbers but the alumni also was represented. Miss Eleanor Pawlish, a graduate of South Side, carried off the honors in the women's six-mile walking contest, thus repeating her triumph of last year. Earl Shideler won second place and Fred Ostermyer repeated his good work of last year and captured sixth place in the intermediate men's class. The South Side group was greatly enlarged because Mr. Louis Briner, gym instructor, awarded intramural points for entrance into the race.

Among those entering from South Side were Ruth Roadcap, Betty Harnish, Richard Abbott, Don Beninetti, Robert Broderick, Jack Brown, Bob Hosier, Ellis Lockner, Miller Makey, Thomas Makey, Harold Reinking, Aaron Schoenfeld, and Robert Tapping.

Airlines operating the Flying Sleepers were faced with the problem of pre-heating and pre-cooling of their planes while they remained on the ground. When the planes are in flight, heat from the motors furnishes warmth when necessary, and fresh air is received from the outside through a built-in ventilating system, but when the planes are on the ground both factors cease operating. A combination electric refrigeration, electric heater, and built-in ventilator, thermostatically controlled to keep the cabins at a comfortable temperature at all times has been installed and now people flying in sleeper planes enjoy the same comforts as those riding the railroad sleepers.

Care must be taken in selecting even the smallest rivets when building the huge transport planes of today. One company has each of the millions of rivets that goes into their planes heat-treated, cooled by placing on ice to retard aging, and then are then rushed to the riveters. If they are not used within fifteen minutes, they are replaced.

An airplane was used recently by Mr. Joe Bates of Oklahoma City during his campaign for the office of Attorney General. Being a newcomer to the political field, Mr. Bates necessarily had to cover as much territory as possible. Mr. Bates, with the aid of his private plane, distributed folders to nearly every farm in the state of Oklahoma.

While discussing the use of the airplane as a propaganda spreader, one should mention the huge Russian giant, the Maxim Gorky. The Gorky is a huge eight-engine plane that carries a huge printing press, a broadcasting system, and a theater. This plane on its test flight carried forty passengers and the crew.

Records of the Lafayette escadrille show that Paul Baer of Fort Wayne, Indiana, was the first American flier to down a German aviator after America's declaration of war. Just a few days later, Baer was forced to land, a captive, and forced to live on German hospitality for the duration of the war.

Wo-Ho-Ma Club Visits Knit Mills

Fifteen Home Economics Pupils Visit General Hosiery Mills; Hose Making Shown Visitors.

Approximately fifteen girls from the Wo-Ho-Ma Club and home economics classes went on the trip through the General Hosiery Mills recently. First, they were shown the silk as it looks when the mill first gets it. The strands are tinted yellow, blue, pink, and other colors to designate the different grades. From there the girls were led to the machine where the silk is wound in cones and the knitting first begins. The stocking stays on this machine until everything but the foot is knit.

From the first knitting machine, the rose goes to another one where the foot is knitted to the leg. The stocking is then taken to the looping machines where the toe and heel are looped together, then to the sewing machines where the foot is finished.

The stocking is then taken to the drying room where the gum is boiled out of the silk and the hose dyed a certain color.

Upon leaving the drying room, the stockings are put on wooden legs and baked in an oven. After the heating process, the hosiery is put on a machine which makes the pattern in the top. The stocking is completed after the size, trade mark and the like have been put on by means of small pieces of paper and hot irons. The hosiery is then inspected and all damaged places mended after which they are inspected again. All inspection is done against a white background. The stockings are then boxed and sent out to the different destinations.

All of the machines used in the mills were made in Germany and each one cost between eight thousand and fifteen thousand dollars.

Generous Prizes Will Be Awarded

Royal Typewriters Will Be Given For First and Second Place Winners.

In observance of the three hundredth anniversary of the founding of the first modern American high school and the founding of free public education, the National Education Association has appointed a celebration committee to direct contests among high school journalists for the writing of local high school histories. This week has been set aside because the Boston Latin School, the first of its kind, was opened three hundred years ago this week.

The Royal Typewriter Company has posted national, state, and school awards, amounting to several thousands of dollars for the histories of the local high school. Postmaster General James A. Farley is considering the issuing of a special postage stamp in commemoration of the three hundred years of American high school and free public education. The Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, directed by Will Hays, are planning short films illustrating episodes in high school history for special use of the celebration committee. Also Radio Broadcasters have arranged for a number of addresses, radio dramas, and concerts in connection with the celebrations.

Ten-Dollar Prize
Stories and articles will be printed all over the country in commemoration of this anniversary. For the best scrap-book collection, in these articles and clippings, the celebration committee offers a prize of ten dollars. All scrap books must be sent in to the Celebration Committee, 145 E. Fourth Street, New York City, by June 15, 1935.

Local, state, and national contests will be held with prizes in each group. The team members of every school which submits a school history will receive from the celebration committee a certificate of honor. A prize will be awarded to each member of the team whose school history receives first place will be awarded medals in honor of their services to their high schools. Ten national team prizes will be awarded. The six students on the team getting first place will receive a forty-five dollar Royal portable typewriter. The second prize-winning team will receive thirty-three and a half dollar Royal typewriters. Members of the third prize team each receive a fifteen dollar wrist watch. Those of the fourth and fifth place teams will receive five dollars cash; those of the sixth, two dollars and fifty cents each. In case of tie, duplicate prizes will be awarded.

Team To Get Award
The high school that is represented by a team winning in the state contest or national contest will receive an original block print of old Boston Latin School, first secondary school in the United States. Many local and state education and state educational and business organizations are offering additional prizes.

All histories should include: a brief survey of the industrial and cultural conditions of the community when the first secondary school was opened; a description of the early students and their training; a statement of the management and finance of the school; the character and duties of the instructors; school social life; changes and growth; relation of the high school to the community; to elementary schools and colleges; school architecture and equipment; and a consideration of the high school's functions and achievements.

Histories should be sent by each school to the celebration committee, Room 1306, 155 East Forty-Fourth Street, New York City, not later than April 15, 1935.

Mr. Chappell Talks To Airplane Club

Manual Training Instructor Tells Of Own Experiences As An Airplane Aide During War.

Mr. J. H. Chappell, industrial arts instructor at South Side, addressed the members of the Model Airplane Club held Friday in the Voorhees Room. Mr. Chappell told of some of the work which he did on airplanes during the war while he was attached to the air service.

Mr. Chappell was originally with the army, but finding that he had a chance to get into the Navy, he transferred where he worked in the wood-working shops. After a series of shifts he finally got to France where he became attached to the air squadron. His specialized line of work was working on the wooden parts of planes.

One man in each division had one particular task to do and each man had to do his job exactly right. Mr. Chappell pointed out that accuracy and carefulness were needed in airplane construction work, and that any flaw in the work might cost a pilot his life. The fact that a person who wished to work on or with airplanes must be able to follow blue prints and directions was also emphasized in the talk.

Mr. C. A. Bex, adviser of the club in a talk pointed out to the members that non-attendance at meetings and non-participation in contests was proving detrimental to the club, and also stated that unless more co-operation was shown on the part of the members he would be unable to continue as the club's adviser after January 1.

Plans for a club contest will be held before the next city contest was discussed. Entries in the club contest will be permitted to use the same planes built for the city contest, the planes selected for the next city meet are scale model, class B, and tractor, open class.

The contest will be held at Central High School in the gym on December 12, from 7 to 9 p. m.

The next meeting of the club will be held November 30 in the Voorhees Room.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

Doris Line, a 10B student, made a unique design on the Latin paper she handed in Friday in which she illustrated the Helvetians begging peace from the Romans. Doris is in Miss Woodward's class.

Wanita Steek, a former South Side student, gave five dollars to Miss Rehner to buy a baby layette for a charity cause. The girls in her sewing 3 class did the purchasing.

Ira Gerig, a former student of South Side, presented a program of musical and popular pieces in Miss Crowe's home room 30. Helen Sinish had charge of the program.

The 9B students in Miss Perkins' fourth hour French class had a test. Those who received 100 are Nona Fiske, Violet Garton, Vivian Hickman, Mildred Rudig, Margaret Sheefer. The French 4 classes have handed in their notebooks.

Students making posters in Miss Dochterman's classes for Friar Club Revue are just about finished and will be ready for judging next Thursday.

Edward Turner, one of Miss Dochterman's students, is doing some very unusual wood carving.

Besides doing the regular work, a few students are decorating screens for school use. Much clay modeling is being done also in the art classes of Miss Dochterman.

In Mr. Whelan's P. G. 1 classes the following pupils have in the largest number of correctly labeled specimens of minerals, rocks, and fossils: Rayola Morton, Paul Randall, Barbara Uran, Veora Wilkins, Nellie Walters, Dorothy Keen, Louis Busse, Clara Mae Doran, Mildred Hargens, Mary Jane Redding, Elizabeth Sommers, Norma Clauser, Delores Miller, and Virgil Oakes.

The pupils in Mr. Murphy's home room are to bring in older bushes for their project in helping to beautify the school.

Robert Martin, Oran Marlow, and Donald Lusher helped Mr. Wilson set out a spirea bush last Thursday evening after school as Room 10's project in beautifying the school.

On a departmental test recently, in Mr. Flint's algebra 2, period 4 class, Leona Menze, Jerome Miller, Kenneth Miller, and Geraldine Valentine made a grade of 90 or above.

In his fourth period class, Mr. Flint stated that each member of the class is making a graph and that the class as a whole is making a graph of the scholarship of all the home rooms in the school.

Miss Demaree's English 6 class has finished the study of essays and is beginning the study of poetry.

Manuel Rothberg Is Speaker On Recent Times Air Edition

The stirring strains of Edwin Franko Goldman's "Cheerio," played by the South Side Band under the direction of Mr. Jack Wainwright, inaugurated another air edition of The South Side Times Monday night. After a brief resume of the program by the master of ceremonies, Bob Zeig, the band played another entertaining number, "Shenandoah March."

Manuel Rothberg, a junior at South Side who has won much distinction in public speaking, gave an interesting talk on the topic, "Planning for Tomorrow." Among numerous other things, Manuel brought out the point that the old idea of educating only a select few has changed until the present time no one is denied the privilege of an education. Manuel stated that education is "Uncle Sam's" best life insurance and also a necessity for democracy. Without education people fall into the hands of communism, fascism and the like. Manuel concluded his speech by stating that patriotism and schools are one and inseparable.

Skit Is Presented
At the conclusion of Manuel's talk, an interesting skit was presented by several pupils of South Side. The skit took place in the home of a South Side student. An interesting discussion, concerning athletic activities at South Side, took place. The basketball prospects of the three Fort Wayne high schools, interesting games to be played, outstanding players, and the coaches were discussed. The characters also expressed their desires for more pep meetings and some new yell. They suggested that anybody having a new interesting yell should turn it in. Some interesting facts brought out in the skit are: Since 1928 when Mr. McClure became basketball coach at South Side, his teams have won ninety games and lost forty-nine; and in the games played between South Side and Central, South Side scored 744 points to Central's 680.

Mr. J. H. Chappell, president of the Northeastern Indiana Teachers' Association and a manual training teacher at South Side, was interviewed by Bob Zeig. Mr. Chappell said that although there are no girls enrolled in the manual training department at the present time, there have been several girls who took the course. Mr. Chappell explained the work taken up in the

Mr. Wilburn Wilson Will Speak to Clubs

Mr. Wilburn Wilson, South Side's civics teacher, will speak on "The Indiana State Constitution" at a meeting for all the members of the Fort Wayne-Allen County Historical Society and also members of the Constitutional Education Society, which will be held at the Swinney Home, next Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

After this talk a pot-luck dinner will be served, at which Mr. Rex M. Potter, president of the historical society, will preside.

Allen County Relief Maps Are Made By P. G.'ers
Relief maps of Allen County are being made by the P. G. 2 classes of Mr. Lloyd Whelan. The maps are made of stiff dough made of salt and flour. This dough is put on cardboard and allowed to harden. It is then colored with water colors or else candy coloring. The maps have actual hills and valleys marked on them. The students are not required to make these interesting maps but are given extra credit for their hard work. A map made by Marie Butler two years ago is used as a model.

Jack Rehner, Lois Nessel, Martha Franz, and James Bosserman have made some of the best maps this year. Models of United States will be made in a few weeks when the study of the physical features of the country is taken up. Models are made of clay when the physical geography classes study topographical maps.

In the showcase in the back of the room, Mr. Whelan has several relief maps exhibited which were made by P. G. students last year. Among those are some constructed by Kathryn Kendal, Willodean Scherer, and Erna Fuhrman.

In Miss Magley's home room, Martha Morgan read a chapter from a book entitled "Manners and Conduct in School." Assignments were given to five members of the class and they will give discussions on these next week.

In Miss Magley's periods 2 and 6, English 3 classes, a series of themes have been written. The first was a character sketch of some relative; the second was a biographical character sketch; the third was a story written for a child.

In Miss Magley's English 2, period 1, class, Rosalind Zinn had 100 on an English test. On a literature test, the following had 90 or above, Bette Weibel, Mary Ethyl Garton, Clyde Nussbaum, and Alma Shull.

In Miss Benner's public speaking classes, the pupils have been making plans for Thanksgiving programs. The students have elected the following people as chairmen of their respective classes: period 1, Gordon Straley; period 3, Mary Osborne; period 4, Bob Lohman; period 6, Robert Adams.

In Miss Benner's public speaking class, the students have just finished three-minute rebuttal speeches. Among the best were Violet Wittmer, Richard Schannen, John Bremer, Ruth Greiner, Maxine Mariotte, Fred Forbing, Ellis Lochner, Bob Long, Virginia Baumgartner, Sonia Velkoff, Gordon Straley, and Betty Wainwright.

Leona Miller, Eloise Brase, Phyllis High, Katherine MacGinnitie, Dorothy Ervin, Jacqueline Hench made 90 or above in Miss Benner's seventh period English class.

Dorothy Turfinger and Lorraine Meyer handed in very attractive notebooks in Miss Crowe's U. S. history 1 class.

Garland Eickmeyer was the only one to make a 100 out of 103 pupils of chemistry 1 and was the only one to receive an A+ in Mr. Gilbert's chemistry classes.

The highest grades in a U. S. history test given by Miss Crowe were made by Rosemary Chappell, Richard Brown, Virginia Greiner, Lorraine Meyer, Beatrice Schieber, and Helen Walbert.

Joan Bonsib and Jack Horn made 100 in their mid-term 9B grammar test.

Miss Thorne's geometry 1 classes are completing the study of parallelograms.

Harrison Simon, Alice Mae Seibold, Lloyd Grodrian, Geraldine Smith, Margaret Murphy, Margaret Crankshaw, and Duncan McLeish received A- or above in their final Burke test given by Miss Demaree.

Hi-Y To Hold 3-Day State Meeting Here

South Side Torch Members To Act As Hosts To The Out-of-Town Delegates.

Discussion concerning the coming "Older Boys' conference" to be held on November 30, and December 1 and 2, and a talk on "Crime Prevention" constituted the Torch Club meeting Monday evening in the Voorhees Room.

President Bill McLeish, Don Sparkman, and John Edwards were named to represent the Torch Club in the conference which will bring many out-of-town boys to this city. Each of the three Torch Club boys will give a report on the conference at a future meeting of the club. Paul Ellison was named chairman of a committee to plan a tour for the out-of-town boys, some morning of the conference. Cyril Velkoff was named chairman of a committee to provide recreation for the visitors on one evening of the meeting. Bob Bosely was also appointed to take care of finding places for the visiting "Older Boys" to sleep. Don Hickman, Paul Ellison, and Ed Archer were chosen to write letters to three boys in Bangkok, Siam, as a follow-up of a worldwide brotherhood movement.

After the lengthy business of the club was concluded, Miss Martha Pittenger spoke on the club's topic, "Crime Prevention." The gist of her talk was that much crime could be prevented by the co-operation of all the students of public schools in helping their fellow students who seemed inclined to turn away from the straight and narrow path of honesty.

Rock Formations Is Pebble Pups Topic

Dick Larson To Show Fossil Concretions at Next Meeting; One Subject Chosen Is Shale.

Rosalind End, Goldie Bruoit, Hubert McEwen, Dale Busse, and Mr. Lloyd Whelan were the speakers at the last meeting of Pebble Pups which was held in Room 14 after school Thursday, November 15.

The topic for the meeting was "Formation of Sedimentary Rocks," and the subjects chosen by the speakers are limestone, sandstone, flint, conglomerate, and shale.

The program preceded the business meeting which was opened by Mary Snider, president. At the next meeting, December 13, Dick Larson will give to the members of the club some fossil concretions from Illinois. These are small rocks which when cracked open, display the imprint of a fern leaf. After this meeting there will be a period for exchange. All members who wish to exchange any of their specimens are asked to bring them to this meeting.

Frank Parker dropped in to see Jack Benny, the Jello Wit heard over N.B.C. each Sunday. "I'm terribly sorry, Mr. Parker," said Mary Livingston (Mrs. Benny), "you won't be able to see him this morning. He's in the tub."

"That's funny," Frank remarked, "hear his typewriter going." "Oh, of course," giggled Mary, "I forgot Jack's writing a sea script for the next broadcast."

Lawrence Tibbett, Tuesday night N. B. C. star, received some free advice the other night. During a prize fight he was attending, he got terribly excited and by the end of the third round was up on his feet yelling his head off. An irate fan who had apparently bet against the pug Tibbett was supporting yelled up at the opera star, without knowing who he was, "Why don't you save that voice and sell it?" Tibbett considered the point well taken.

Whispering Jack Smith received a letter from a woman in the Bronx. "Dear Sir," she wrote, "If you are interested in making some side money and who ain't?—I would be willing to pay you a dollar an hour to give my daughter singing lessons. She would take two sessions a week which ain't to be sneezed at. Please call on the telephone before calling in person."

"Mother," said little Dorothy, who was inquisitive but sleepy, "are radio stars really people? Or do they know all the answers?"

Charles Preven, when he gets to know you well, complains bitterly that his life is dull, stale, and uninteresting. What price stardom!

Abe Lyman always has a cup of hot tea and rye bread toast after he broadcasts—he says it soothes his nerves.

Molasses 'n' January, Captain Henry's tunslers, like to geunk their doughnuts (but don't we all)—and they don't care who knows it, apparently, because they were seen at this pastime in the N. B. C. Drug Store.

Joe Penner's avowed intention to drop a number of his famous and widely quoted catchlines from his future radio scripts has been met with a storm of disapproval. Joe's fan mail from youngsters is surprisingly dictatorial. More than a dozen writers have told Joe emphatically that he take up his popular expressions again, or else. So—

Charles Preven, Silken Strings director, is working out the idea of presenting tone portraits of famous people during his Sunday evening broadcasts. Some of them are to be straight musical portraits while others are to be in the form of caricatures.

Mark Warnow, young C. B. S. musical director and conductor, says that jazz music in the morning acts as a stimulant and pick-me-up. Housewives reveal that it sets a cheerful, lively tempo which helps them dispel morning sluggishness and perform their morning duties at a higher rate of speed; business men report that the snappy syncopation that comes to them over their auto radios puts them in the right frame of mind for the day's work, even taxicab drivers admit listening to early morning programs is an excellent yawn-stuffer and helps them be more courteous to passengers.

Abe Lyman was speaking to a dramatic actor who played in many Broadway productions, and now, for want of more profitable work is doing a little radio chore occasionally. "I hear you're acting in the 'March of Time,'" Lyman said. "Yeah," uttered the actor dryly. "I just got a promotion, too. I'm the approaching footsteps."

Cliff Soubier, heard in First Nighter production, is a push-over for pan-handlers. Once, during the bank holiday when coin was unusually scarce, he gave a beggar his last dime and had to walk home.

Johnny Mercer, Paul Whiteman's talented young lyric writer and scat singer, has turned down four flattering offers from Hollywood in the past month. Johnny, his friends call him "Dead Pan," has penned "Lazybones," "If I Had a Million Dollars," "Pardon My Southern Accent," "P. S. I Love You" and other hits in recent months to clinch a place near the top of Tin Pan Alley's songwriting guild for the season.

Revealing Notebook Found To Disclose Deep, Dark Secrets

What's this? A horde of dirt column writers all clustered together in one big huddle. Yes, by Tao, every column writer in the school here with his or her little notebook jotting down notes taken from the inside of one little innocent-looking notebook held in the hand of one of the better known writers.

This notebook was found in the gym and gives the lowdown on some of the highrups in the "rating" circles. Such men as Wayne Bennett, Eugene Biegel, Howard Fairweather, Bill Geyer, Raymond Hilgmann, Paul Gibson, Bob Nelson, Bob Zeig, Dave Roop, Andy Wallace, Harry Bosell, and Hank Simminger and others have their names, telephone numbers, addresses, description of their personal appearance and of the way they act on dates, how they dance, and if they drive a car, all in this secret-revealing epistle.

Following is an example of the style used in this book: Eugene Biegel, 4102 Fairchild Avenue, H-35871, Dark, medium height, good looking. Rather serious, good sense of humor. Good line. Drives car. 12B. Another is Howard Fairweather, 4629 Tacoma Avenue, H-74035. Blonde, tall, and cunning. Very, very, good line. Rather particular about his dates. Drives a car. 12B.

If any of the aforesaid "raters" have a hankering to find out who they are in the eyes of others, please apply to The Times Room and there your deepest secrets will be brought to life. L. M. may also get her notebook in room 18.

Footlight Club Entertains

With forty-five minutes divided into two hilarious parts, pupils at the Rogers High School, Spokane, Washington, had a spectacular entertainment given by the Footlight Club of that school. The first part was a one-act take-off on the old type of nickelodeon and flapper. "Her Hero" was featured as the main feature of the second section.

Three Archers Place On All-City Scholastic Football Squad

Sports' Heads Make Choices Of Honor Boys

Brower George, Harry Simon, Jim Ellenwood Selected for Membership.

C. C., North Side Have Three Each

Two Centralites Chosen; Jim Agenbroad, Barretman, Chosen As Captain.

Three outstanding players from South Side were selected to represent positions on the All-City scholastic football team for 1934. Central Catholic and North Side have three representatives and Central two. Those from South Side are Brower George, Jim Ellenwood, and Harrison Simon. Brower George, very rangy and weighing 163 pounds, was the outstanding and most consistent end in the city. He was an excellent pass receiver, blocked hard, and was good on defense. He displayed a very excellent punting game throughout the season. He is a fierce tackler and very consistent. He is a senior and will graduate this June.

Jim Ellenwood, big, rangy, and 177 pound lad, was the outstanding tackle in the city. He was a hard blocker, fierce tackler, and was very consistent on defense. He has blocked punts of opponents which has enabled South Side to win. He was chosen by a unanimous vote. He was also a selection of the 1933 All-City team. He has another season of football to play and wishes to make the All-City team in 1935.

Harrison Simon, a senior weighing 160 pounds, was the most consistent quarterback in the city. He was a very good and hard-working field general. He was fast and had scrap which enabled him to carry punts back in to the enemies territory. He was very consistent on defense and threw good passes. Simon could do wonders as a field general. He was a real leader and was capable of handling the 1934 All-City scholastic team.

Larry Walsh, a Central Catholic selection, played guard and was very fast and consistent.

He was good on defense, and also a very excellent blocker. He has played guard as a regular on his team for two years. He is a graduating senior and hopes to carry on his football career in college.

Aganbroad Is Captain

Jim Agenbroad, captain of the All-City team for 1934, was also a selection from the 1933 All-City team. He was very accurate in his passes from center. He has played center on his team as a regular for three years. He was tough on defense and also an excellent blocker.

Harry Rhodes, a selection from Central, weighs 158 pounds and fills his position best without a question. He was very fast and had unquestionable speed in pulling out of the line and running interference. He was outstanding on defense and very consistent.

Jim McDonald, a lad weighing 160 pounds, was the other selection from Central. He was very aggressive and had plenty of scrap and speed. He was greatly handicapped by the lack of size.

Dave Bradley, a tall rangy lad weighing 160 pounds, was the first choice for right end. He played tackle in a number of games for North Side, but he was often sent down as an end under their punts. He was most consistent and a hard blocker and tackler.

Murray Is Chosen

Jack Murray, a hard running back, was the choice for right halfback. He carried the ball often and well for his team. He had plenty of drive in his legs and had very snakey hips which oftentimes avoided tacklers after tackling. He was an accurate passer and an excellent receiver. He possessed excellent blocking and tackling ability.

Joe Shumm, a lad packing 163 pounds, was the choice for left halfback from North Side. His defensive ability rather than his offensive ability gained him a berth on the All-City team. He was speedy which enabled him to circle the ends time and time again. He tossed a fair pass and was an equal receiver. When called upon to kick, he could do a good job of it. He also place-kicked.

Forrest Cronkite, a line buster, was chosen by a unanimous vote. He was the city's leading scorer. He weighed 166 pounds and was very shifty and constantly threatening. He stood out in his defensive ability as well as in his offensive ability. He was also a choice on the 1933 All-City scholastic football team. He has another year of football ahead of him and hopes to establish a greater record next year.

Archers Make All-City Grid Squad

Harrison Simon Brower George Jim Ellenwood

Harrison Simon, veteran quarterback, was selected as the signal-caller for the All-City eleven picked last week. He has been one of the big guns in this year's Archer squad. He is now devoting his time to basketball practice.

Brower George, South Side's pass-snaring, punting left end, was also among those gridgers named on the All-City squad. George has been doing consistently good work all season and is now pointing towards a berth on the basketball squad.

Big Jim Ellenwood was the only Archer to retain his position from last year's All-City team. Ellenwood is only a junior and is expected to be a mainstay on next year's gridiron team. Ellenwood also plays on the varsity basketball squad.

Regulations For Games Are Set

Intramural Bowling Tourney Date Set; Last Year's Winners To Defend Crown

South Side's intramural bowling season was officially opened Wednesday evening at Scott's Bowling Alleys. Every boy who wishes to participate in the final tournament must bowl three practice sessions at Scott's. The first of these sessions was held Wednesday evening. The second session will be held next Wednesday, and the third will be held on the succeeding Wednesday. On Wednesday, December 4, the final bowling tournament will be held.

Practice sessions consist of bowling three games. A special price of three games for a quarter has been arranged with the management of the alleys. If an intramural bowler misses one of these practice sessions, he must make it up before the final tournament.

Six games will be bowled at the final tournament by each participant. The bowler with the highest average for one game will be the school bowling champion.

Last year's intramural bowling tournament was participated in by fourteen boys. A much larger entry list is expected for the coming tournament. Bob Zieg and William Russell, last year's co-winners, are still students of South Side and will be out to win the crown again.

Ten intramural points will be awarded to each participant in the bowling tournament. In addition to the points awarded for participation, the winner will receive ten additional points; the second place winner, five points; and the third place winner will receive three points.

70 Points Are Scored During Archer Season

The Archers had a very low scoring team this year. They scored only 70 points. Those making points and the number are listed below. Bud Lee led in scoring with 19 points.

G. A. A. Flashes

By the looks of things, Hazel Noll knows how to play volleyball. She's a sure point getter. Just watch her sometime.

Tumbling and a ladder dance aren't the only things a certain group of G. A. A. girls are going to do. They are going to have a football game besides. What a game that's going to be!

"Ginny" Beck lost her socks and didn't know where to find them. Acting on the suggestion of a friend, she looked behind the scoreboard. Believe it or not, she found them there.

For some reason or other, nobody likes to play volleyball in the handball court. Being it is such a cozy place, it seems that everybody should want to play there. Oh well, it's a funny world.

Reports have been coming from the gym classes that during volleyball games, baskets have been made in returning the ball. If they continue to be made during basketball season, there will be some good games.

The G. A. A. pencil sale has come and is practically over. There are only a few pencils left. Make haste and get them, lest you be disappointed.

In the girls' division of the walking race two South Siders placed. They were Polly Warner and Edna Disler. Good work, girls.

Barbara Raymond told the members of her speedball team that she would give them a party if they won all their games. They did. She gave a swell party, and after it was over, they all skated for points.

The dancing classes are having bar work now. It is just to limber up the girls' muscles, but it seems to make them stiff instead. Maybe the desired results will come later. Let's hope so.

After the girls' seventh period gym class, ask Lillian Warran and Ruth Berning why they always stay on the gym floor and play volleyball alone.

Some of the items that are the best in this column are from the G. A. A. box just inside the door of Miss Patterson's office. Put more in!

The G. A. A. certainly does miss Sue Cameron since she has quit G. A. A. to work.

Letterman Plan Annual Dance For Dec. 15th

Wimpy Wiggle Hop Is Made Official Name for Shin-Dig To Be Held December 15.

Plans for the annual Letterman's Club dance to be held December 15 were drawn up at their meeting Friday. The dance will be called the Wimpy Wiggle Hop. In keeping with the theme, hamburger sandwiches will be sold at the dance. The cost of the dance is fifty cents per couple. No stags will be allowed.

The dance is a sport dance, and will be held at 8:30 in the cafeteria. The chaperones will be Miss Pittenger, Mr. Snider, Mr. Flint, and Dr. and Mrs. Lohman. The committee in charge of the dance is Bob Lohman, Bob Willson, Brower George, and Bob Nelson.

The club sent Fred Lentz, who is in the hospital following an operation, a bouquet of flowers.

It was decided to sell Archer stickers at South Side's first home game. The stickers will be on sale at the North entrance. The cost of the stickers is two for a nickel.

A new point system has also been worked out for football and basketball. Instead of the former 180 points needed, now 200 points are needed. But eight points are given for a full quarter instead of five points.

Lightfeet Win Championship In Tag Football

Defeating Fast-Freighters, Victorious Team Annexes Intramural Grid Crown.

Defeating the Fast-Freights 20-0 and 13-2 in the championship play-off, the Lightfeet annexed the intramural heavyweight tag football crown. Both teams had won their respective league titles and had earned the right to meet in the championship play-off. In the first game of the play-off, the Lightfeet took advantage of all the breaks offered them and played good football to whitewash the Fast-Freights 20-0. On the opening kickoff, Bill Geyer, Lightfeet fullback, ran the ball back 76 yards for a touchdown. Willson passed to Stalter for the extra point. Soon after this long run, time out was taken by the Fast-Freights in an attempt to collect their scattered thoughts. This time out seemed to do some good, because they held the Lightfeet scoreless during the rest of the first half.

At the start of the second half, the Lightfeet started a determined march down the field and wound it up by scoring their second touchdown. After advancing to the Freighters' seven-yard line, Willson threw a pass to Lohse, who scored the winner's second touchdown. Lohse's attempted dropkick for the extra point went wide of its mark.

Score on Blocked Pass

Late in the fourth quarter, the Fast-Freights began taking to the air in an attempt to break into the scoring column. On one of these Freighters pass plays on their own 15-yard line, Lohse, opposing linesman, broke through the Freighters' forward wall and blocked the attempted pass. Before the ball dropped to the ground, Doehman, another opposing linesman who had also broken through, caught the ball and raced the remaining twelve yards for the Lightfeet's third touchdown. Willson passed to North for the extra point, making the final score 20-0.

Still feeling the sting of their first defeat, the Fast-Freights set out to avenge the Lightfeet victory. Everything went well until the second quarter, when Leo Nolan, Lightfeet halfback, intercepted a Freighters pass and raced sixty yards for the first of the Lightfeet's two touchdowns. The attempted place-kick for the extra point was blocked. A short time later, a Fast-Freight linesman broke through the Lightfeet's line and caught Nolan behind his goal line, after he had fumbled a bad pass from center, scoring the loser's two points.

Sportlights

Football in Fort Wayne is over, but there are still a lot of loose ends to be picked up. First of all, congratulations to the South Side players who made the All-City teams. Every last one of them has been working hard all season and fully deserved their place on the team. Congratulations to Simon, George, Ellenwood, Straley, and Ostermeyer.

However, these fellows were not the only ones on the squad who worked hard, by any means. All of them put in plenty of time in practice and played hard every minute they were in the game. Although South Side was not blessed with a wealth of material in some departments, the men who were out did their best to make up for the deficiency with the result that the Archers are again city champions.

Most of our gridgers are now out for basketball, but evidently they haven't yet noticed the change. The fellows seemed to have a swell time roughing each other up in basketball practice for a few nights. Even Kye Trout was playing; but, strange as it seems, he was not roughed up a lot.

"Tiger" Conway surely looked like anything but a magnificent Greek god while he was playing basketball in those size 52 kilts (or something). Those pants were beyond description.

"Watch Central" would be an excellent motto for our basketball squad this season, especially since Merv Somers is working at the Tiger school in an athletic capacity. Merv formerly worked at South Side both with the football and basketball teams. He is considered one of the best authorities in the city on the zone defense system. The team will have to be on the lookout for something different in Central's style of play this year.

Bill Geyer Scores

Soon after the opening of the second half, the Lightfeet started on a drive down the field that ended up in their scoring their second touchdown. Geyer scored the touchdown on a power play through right tackle. Willson ran the ball around left end for the extra point. Winning the second game of the two out of three series 13-2, the Lightfeet became the 1934 intramural heavyweight tag football champions.

All Home Rooms Celebrate Armistice by Flag Code Talks

"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all," thus many of the home room periods opened this week.

The purpose of these programs was to celebrate Armistice Day. In each home room a short talk was given on the flag code which follows:

1. The flag should be displayed only from sunrise to sunset, or between such hours as may be designated by proper authority. It should be hoisted briskly but should be lowered slowly and ceremoniously.

2. During hoisting or lowering flag, when flag is passing in parade or review, all persons should face the flag, stand at attention and salute. Those in uniform should render right hand salute. When not in uniform, men should remove head-dress with right hand and hold it at left shoulder, the hand over the heart. Women should salute by placing right hand over heart. The salute to flag in moving column is rendered at moment flag passes.

3. When National Anthem is played and flag is not displayed, all present should stand and face toward the music. Those in uniform should salute at first note of Anthem, retaining this position until last note. All others should stand at attention, men removing the head-dress. When the flag is displayed, the regular "Salute to the Flag" should be given.

4. "I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all," is the flag salute that should always be used.

5. When the flag is displayed in a manner other than by being flown from a staff, it should be displayed flat, whether indoors or out. When displayed either horizontally or vertically against a wall, the union should be uppermost and to the flag's own right side and to the observers left side.

6. When used on a speakers platform, the flag, if displayed flat, should be displayed above and behind the speaker. If flown from a staff, it should be in the position of honor at the speaker's right. It should never be used to cover the speaker's desk nor to drape over the front of the platform.

7. Do not use the flag as drapery in any form whatsoever. Use bunting of blue, white, and red.

8. Do not use the flag as a portion of a costume or of an athletic uniform. Do not embroider it upon cushions or handkerchiefs nor print it on paper napkins or boxes.

Math-Science Club To Elect Officers

Recognition Service Also Will Be Held December 14; Mr. Roy Young Talks at Last Meet

Election of officers will be held at the December 14 meeting of the Math-Science Club.

Recognition of the outstanding senior members of the club is also included as part of the program. These seniors must first be approved by a committee which is now being selected.

Besides these two features, the regular program of games and refreshments will be included during the course of the evening.

The last meeting of the club, held November 2, had as the speaker Mr. Roy Young of the General Electric Company. His discussion was the inter-relation of mathematics and science. It was chiefly concerned with the building of an electric motor, in which mathematics plays an important part. Precision, quietness, and economy are three of the important factors that were brought out by Mr. Young's speech. He gave several instances of building things in the General Electric plants.

A short biography of the life of John Burroughs, a naturalist, was given by Dorothea Nance. Following this, games were played and refreshments served in the Greeley Room.

She: Is my face dirty, or is it my imagination?

Bob Wilson: Your face is clean, I don't know about your imagination.

Miss Evelyn Bales, Former Instructor, Enters in Wedlock

Miss Evelyn Bales, former teacher of South Side High School, was married at high noon November 16, to Mr. Maurice Chadwick of Akron, Ohio, formerly of Fort Wayne. The ceremony was performed in the Bales' home on West Suttentfield Street by the Rev. Charles M. Houser.

Two large baskets of white mums against a background of palms formed a bower, and candelabras with white candles were placed against the palms on either side. Bowls of white chrysanthemums and white roses were placed about the living room.

Miss Dorothy Skinner of Warsaw played several musical selections preceding the wedding.

The bride wore a historic type gown of heavy ivory satin designed by her sister, Miss Wilma Bales, a student at Vesper George School of Art in Boston, Mass. She wore a crown of old ivory lace, shoulder length in front and hip length in back.

The bride's only attendant, who was Miss Wilma Bales, wore a gown of royal blue velvet.

The bride attended Ward Belmont College for Women at Nashville, Tennessee and is a graduate of the Chicago Art Institute. She also has studied in Boston. She belongs to Gamma Lambda Chapter of the Tri Kappa Sorority, of which she is a past president. She formerly taught art at South Side.

Former Student Wins Honors

Pomona College in California Recognizes Norman Philbrick For Unusual Accomplishments

Mr. Norman Philbrick, formerly of South Side and now a student at Pomona College, Claremont, California, was among the thirty-six students admitted to the college honors program at the beginning of the year, according to information just released by the committee on honors. Norman is working toward an honors degree in all subjects.

Achievement of this recognition is considered noteworthy, for it shows an outstanding scholarship record as well as much intellectual interest during the first two years of college.

Under this plan of study, students work with more freedom than is granted to the regular students. They are allowed to attend fewer classes than regular students and to proceed under their own initiative in exploring their particular field of study, guided by faculty members with whom they have frequent conferences.

Honor lists for this year include eleven juniors and twenty-nine seniors out of the total college enrollment.

Student Wins Prize

Maxine Wittsack, a sophomore in the John Rogers High School of Spokane, Washington, has been awarded the first prize for the best poppy poster entered at the national convention of the American Legion at Miami, Florida.

South Siders Visit Herb Kramer In The "Infant's Department"

By Aletha Hatfield

Clip, clap, our heels tapped along the silent corridor as we filed to room 475 of the Lutheran Hospital. The stillness of the place was broken by a giggle from one of the girls in our group.

"What's funny?" we all asked. At this she pointed to a sign above our heads which read, "Infants Department." "They got Herbie's number," one of the boys remarked. Room 475 we discovered was just to the right of the sign. We entered the room, greeted Herbie Kramer, South Sider, who recently was operated on for appendicitis, extended our sympathy, and told him how well we thought he looked, and expressed our most sincere hope that he recover soon.

Everyone began to tease him about being in the infant's department. However, it was explained to us that there were no more private rooms left on any other floor of the new part of the hospital. Thus he was given a room on the fourth floor. We suppose that Herbie is entertained during the day by the wailing cries of the young neighbors across the hall.

Herbie's room is very interestingly decorated with bouquets of flowers on the dresser and a great many "get-well" cards posted on the wall. With such a surrounding, it's no wonder that his condition has improved so rapidly. He was scheduled to leave the hospital today.

French Club Has Annual Skate Party

Many Attend Affair at Bell's Saturday; Provinces Will Be Discussed; Plan Observance.

Le Cercle Francais gave their annual skating party last Saturday at Bell's rink. Skating began at 8 o'clock and lasted until 11 o'clock. The number of skaters present was estimated at 125. Despite numerous accidents, everyone seemed to enjoy himself. The chaperones were Mr. Snider, Miss Pitenger, and Miss Perkins.

Two talks on the provinces of Languedoc and Provence will be the feature part of the French Club meeting today. Catherine Hirschman will talk on Languedoc, and Alice Hulst will talk on Provence.

A committee comprised of Shirley Sykes, Eleanor Cupp, and Margaret Somers met in Room 90 with Miss Perkins to make plans for the coming Christmas party. This party is to be a joint meeting with the Latin Club.

Y Conference Of Older Boys Begins Friday

Main Part of Convention To Consist of Six General Meetings at Central High.

Outstanding Men To Be Speakers

Dr. D. M. Trout of Hillsdale
College, Joe Devadanam
Of India Are Scheduled.

The main part of the Fifteenth Annual State Y. M. C. A. Older Boys' Conference to be held in Fort Wayne November 20 and December 1 and 2, will consist of six general meetings to be held at Central High School.

The first meeting will be Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The conference president, Charles Cue of Frankfort, will preside. A song and devotional period will be led by George Campbell of Cincinnati, Ohio. He is director of Wesley Foundation Work at the University of Cincinnati, and is well known as a radio entertainer. Following the singing, an address on "What Jesus Means to Me" will be given by Joe Devadanam, a graduate of Lucknow Christian College and Indiana University, and has also had post graduate work at Purdue and Northwestern Universities. The conference procedure will then be explained by Dr. David M. Trout, dean of men at Hillsdale College, Hillsdale, Michigan.

At 7:30 o'clock Friday evening, the delegates will again convene. An address will be given by Dr. Charles H. Smith of the First M. E. Church on "The Passion Play of Oberammergau."

Saturday morning at 9 o'clock the third session will begin. Dr. Trout, a writer and lecturer, will give an address and lead a forum. At these forums, questions will be brought up.

That afternoon the meeting begins at 1:45 o'clock. After the opening services there will be a discussion period under the supervision of Dr. Trout. For these discussions, the whole assembly is divided into small groups according to age, each with a qualified leader. These small groups are sent to different rooms to bring up whatever questions or problems there may be. Those questions not answered satisfactorily here will be raised later at the open forum. The business period and announcements will follow.

The Saturday evening session at 7:15 o'clock will consist of a friendship message by Joe Devadanam. He will probably appear in his native costume.

Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock the last session of the conference begins. The open forum period will be followed by a closing address by Dr. Trout, and after a brief closing service, the conference will adjourn at 12 o'clock.

Airplane Contests To Be Held Soon

South Side Club Competition Is

December 12; Plan Another.

Plans for coming contests were discussed at a special meeting of the Model Airplane Club held Friday. The city contest is December 12, the club's contest December 5, and the Fort Wayne Aero Club Flying Service contest November 30.

The city contest is to be held in the Central gym December 12, from 7 to 9 p. m. This contest is sponsored by the Fort Wayne Model Airplane Club and will have two classes. They are scale model class B planes, which have a wing area of from 30 to 150 square inches, and tractor planes, any class.

The South Side club will have a contest December 5, for the purpose of testing planes that members plan to enter in the city contest the following week. Members having planes they wish to test should come to the South Side gym at 7 o'clock Wednesday night, December 5.

The Aero Club Flying Service is sponsoring a contest to be held November 30, which any Fort Wayne person under 21 years of age can enter. Prizes have been donated by various Fort Wayne organizations. First prize is a scholarship to Indiana Technical College.

The next meeting of the Airplane Club will be held December 7.

Marionette Club Plans For "Christmas Carol"

Georgetta McIntire reported at the last meeting of the Marionette Club that her committee, consisting of Eliza Besse Lucas and Charles Hart, had completed the revising of Dickens' "Christmas Carol" for the Christmas play. The play was then read by Miss Magley, Georgetta McIntire, and Eliza Besse Lucas to the class. Dick Russel was appointed to take care of the business part of the play.

The parts of the play were then assigned to the following people: Norman Budde, Bob Cratchett, Millie Hoff, Mrs. Cratchett; Bob Wiehe, Peter Cratchett; Emily Gardner, Martha Cratchett; Louise Cross, Tiny Tim; Scrooge, John Bex; Marley, Kenneth Scott; Christmas Present and Christmas Future, Mary Ann Park.

The work on the puppets, which are nearly completed, was continued. Two new members, Mary Zimmerman and Helen Patrick, were introduced to the group.

G. A. A. Sells Poppies

The G. A. A. of Hutchinson, Kansas, sold poppies on a Saturday to help the American Legion. The girls received 10 percent of the proceeds for the club treasury. As the G. A. A. are not permitted to sell candy at the games this year, they did last year, they are obtaining money for the treasury in this manner.

The South Side Times

NOTICE WHO IS TAGGED
Today; We Might Profit by Their Prime Examples.

Pioneers Were First To Give Thanks for Their Blessings

Thanksgiving, the day of feasting, of thankfulness, and of charity, is almost here. How many of us know the true significance of this national holiday? How many of us, when we sit down to our Thanksgiving meal, whether it be rich or poor, think of the great pioneers who started this great day of thanksgiving? The Pilgrims, as you all know, came to America for religious freedom. These men and women, although they had nothing to look forward to or to rely on, came to a strange country, away from all friends and relatives, and founded a strain of true patriotism which even now is still prevalent in their posterity. They taught their children true thankfulness and charity.

It was in the fall of 1621 when the Pilgrims and their wives decided to thank the Immortal God for his kindness in leading them to a country where they could worship according to their own dictates. They decided to invite the Indians who had helped them to survive the first cruel winter by being very kind to them and showing them how to raise certain crops. They wished to show their gratitude for these services. Therefore, on the decided day, a great feast was prepared for all of the neighboring Indians. Several days before, the elders went into the woods with their old flintlock guns and brought back a huge supply of wild fowl. Included in their supply of game were many turkeys, hence the traditional turkey dinner.

Included in the menu were many different kinds of food, including vegetables, fruits, meats, and many kinds of pastries. Pumpkin pie held a very prominent place on the bill of fare. The Indians brought popcorn for the children. (They introduced popcorn to the world.)

The feast actually lasted for two or three days. After the first year, the pilgrims didn't hold another for several years. This holiday was celebrated in England as a day of unified thanksgiving and is still celebrated to a certain extent. Thanksgiving was not always observed on the last day of each November. President Washington issued a proclamation stating that the day should be observed on November 27. This date stood until the administration of President Lincoln. President Lincoln issued a proclamation stating that Thanksgiving should be observed on the last Thursday of November. This is the date still observed. Several weeks before Thanksgiving, the President issues a proclamation concerning this holiday.

In observing this holiday, one should be grateful that the business period is so great a lineage and that he is a citizen of so great a country. We should be thankful that we live in a well-run community and that we have as many good churches and schools as we do.

Nebraska School Is Sender Of Desperate Plea for Books

Mr. Null, the head of the English department of South Side High School, received a letter from Miss Mary Wilkin, the head of the English department of Hardy High School in Hardy, Nebraska, making a desperate plea for books.

The children of that high school have suffered deeply due to the drought and lack of equipment. The community has been unable to provide the proper equipment necessary to a high school. The most neglected and important of the equipment has been books. The children would be grateful and appreciate it if they were aided by anyone.

Philo has taken this most difficult task with a whole-hearted and spirited co-operation. They mean to gather together books that will suit the students of that school and send them in one package to the unfortunate. Thus far one hundred books have been collected from various sources, each book suitable to a certain grade of English in that school.

"The students have never used 'Types of Short Story.' Means to get enough of these for one class are being undertaken. Hopes for each student to have one of these is slowly but most certainly being fulfilled. The drive is earnestly being undertaken. The committee consisting of Marjorie Cartwright, chairman, Lois Magley, and Dorothea Nance intends to collect as many books as possible.

Honor Society Tags Members In Classrooms

Seniors Elected to National Body To Be Introduced To Students at Assembly.

Room Scholarship Will Be Rewarded

Plaques To Be Given High-Ranking Classes; Poster
Winners To Be Announced

To introduce to the student body the new members of the National Honor Society, an assembly will be held this afternoon. These members will be "tagged" in their classes during the day.

To be elected to the National Honor Society is the most outstanding honor South Side can bestow upon the graduating students. To be eligible for membership in the society, a student must be in the upper third of his class and excel in leadership, scholarship, service, and character.

The South Side chapter of the National Honor Society is known as the Promethian chapter. This is named after Prometheus who is known in mythology as the founder of civilization. The committee in charge of selecting members of the society is headed by Mr. Herman Makey. Other members of the committee are Miss Gertrude Oppelt, Miss Mable Thorne, Mr. E. H. Mureh, and Mr. Herbert S. Voorhees.

These teachers collect the material concerning the activities of the students who are eligible as far as graduation is concerned. After all the information possible has been collected, the students who best fill the requirements are selected for membership upon recommendation by the faculty.

In addition to introducing these people, the home room scholarship plaques will be awarded to the following home rooms: Freshmen, Miss Elizabeth Kelley's home room; sophomores, Mr. J. H. McClure's junior, Mr. L. K. Whelan's; senior, Miss Mary McCloskey's. Mr. Whelan's home room will also be awarded the large plaque for having the highest home room average in the school.

Winners of the Friars' Club poster contest will also be announced and receive their prizes at the assembly. These posters were made by the students to advertise the Friar Revue. The judges for the contest were Miss Alice Hall, Mr. R. Nelson Snider, and Mr. Thomas Riddle. The committee was appointed by the Friars' Club.

To get the South Side students in the spirit for the coming basketball season, there will also be a pep meeting under the direction of the yell leaders.

Ozark Institution To Be Sent Books

Philo Club Takes Up Project
To Give English Texts To Poor Mountain High School.

During the Philo business meeting, Alice Hulse, president, laid before the club a proposition started by Mr. Benjamin Null to send English books to a school in the Ozark Mountains. The school needs English books of all kinds from the seventh grade to the twelfth. The girls are requested to bring all books to Miss Elizabeth Demaree or Mr. Null as soon as possible.

A committee of Marjorie Cartwright, Lois Magley, and Dorothea Nance was appointed to take care of the Christmas gift. All members are requested to contribute at least a dime to this fund. This may be paid to either the chairman, Marjorie Cartwright, or to Betty Medaris. All those on the board of directors are asked to be present at a meeting in room 68 Monday, December 3, to plan for the Christmas meeting.

As the first speaker on the program, Miss Rosemary DeLancey described the House of Seven Gables. She pictured it as being a large rambling structure with many chimneys and gables protruding in odd places. It is surrounded by a beautiful garden and situated near the bay which gives it a beautiful background. Only four rooms are open to the general public, the Cent Shop, the kitchen, the dining room, the secret room, and the keeping room which would correspond to a modern living-room. The secret room impressed Miss DeLancey most because of the interesting way of reaching it.

Dorothea Nance gave an interesting report on the life of Nathaniel Hawthorne, who wrote "The House of Seven Gables." Nathaniel, as a young boy, lived in Salem, Mass. He enjoyed reading, and at the age of fifteen published a weekly paper called the "Spectator." He published his first volume of "Twice Told Tales" shortly after graduating from college. Later in his life, Hawthorne lived at the Old Manse where he wrote many of his later books.

A report of the book, "The House of Seven Gables," was given by Jo Anne Smith. She gave an interesting character sketch of the main character, Hepzibah Pyncheon, and the main points and high lights of the story. Reginald Gerig played a selection by Chopin.

Wranglers To Hold Declamation Contest

The Wrangler Declamation contest will be held at the next meeting of the club. Those who have signed up are Lois Ryan, Frank Montgomery, Dorothea Tobianski, Bob Klopferstein, Gwendolyn Horn, and Eleanor Cupp. Each is allowed to choose his own declamation. The winner will be presented a medal at the annual banquet of Wranglers in the spring.

Direct Conference Activities

Harold Amrheim

John Slater

John Slater, boys' secretary, and Harold Amrheim, assistant boys' secretary, are in charge of committees for the Older Boys' Conference to be held in Fort Wayne Friday, Saturday, and Sunday of this week.

The committees consist of local Hi-Y Club members. South Side is well represented on these groups by two committees consisting of South Siders alone and also by separate representatives.

Rain, Cops, and Radios Are Lots of Fun---In a Pinch

By Louis Bonsib

What chance has a criminal, when only a few seconds are needed for the highly efficient police squad car system to locate persons in any part of the world?

My father and I were on a trip to Erie, Pennsylvania, Monday. My father went on business, and I, as sort of relief-driver and chief "messenger-rounder."

We had started early in the afternoon, so that by 3 or 4 o'clock, we were well into Ohio, having discussed all the pressing matters of state and otherwise just to pass the time away, entirely unaware of the exciting incident that was to befall us. The only thing that we had noticed outside the car, practically speaking, was the slippery pavement, which was enough to make a preacher swear.

As we arrived in Fremont, Ohio, my father pulled up to a gas-line station, making some crack about the looks of the station, which I will refrain from repeating here for fear of his own safety.

He had no more than stopped, when a great big burly looking squad car rolls around in front of us, and a cop, who was no weakling by the way, gets out and comes up to dad with a paper in his hand, and asks us what our name is. Well, dad was acting pretty lively by then, in spite of his two hundred and plus pounds; and as for me, my heart was trying to make a piker out of Jimmie Doolittle. We had a right to be just a little bit scared though, because we were over one hundred miles from home, where no one knew us by name; and anyway this procedure was beginning to look a little bit like "ticket-taking time in Fremont."

Without further ado, we calmly (more or less) told him our name, to which he promptly answered, "You're the ones." It was all very simple, once explained, the facts being that the meeting in Erie, for which we were headed, had been called off; and that we were to call home for further word.

The gendarmes then told us that the radio message had been broadcast from Fort Wayne to Findlay, Ohio, and rebroadcast to the Fremont station, and that as soon as we had come into the town they had seen us, followed us, and stopped us.

People talk about what mothers can't do, but when my mother got me pulled in two states looking for us--well, I was ready to say "Phooey" to all those people.

When this was related, my heart slowed down to a mile a minute, and my dad started to pant, just as if he had run around the block a couple

Art Club To Sell Miniature Archers

May Be Used as Paper Weights
Or Book Ends; Gift Paper
For Christmas To Be Sold.

Plans for the campaign sale of the model Archers which the Art Club is putting out in two made at the last meeting of the club which was held a week ago today in the Greeley Room. Mr. R. Nelson Snider talked to the club about these models. He said he thought they were worthwhile and hoped that the students would buy them.

These Archers are being cast in plaster of paris and will be bronzed. Also some of these will be painted in colors by various art students. They will cost fifty cents and will be ideal gifts for Christmas and other occasions. An assembly will be held sometime soon at which these Archers will be introduced to the student body. They will be on sale in the hall and in the home rooms and will also be sold by many of the Art Club members.

The Art Club will again sell South Side Christmas paper. This attractive paper is now being made and will soon be on sale in the hall.

A committee for the Christmas party, which will be held December 19, in the Greeley Room, was named. This committee is comprised of Betty English, chairman; Eleanor Rohrer, Bon-silline Craig, Rosemary Chapel, and Dorothy Geary.

Shirley Sykes, the program chairman, introduced Betty Lickert, who played several selections on the cello. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Jack Wainwright.

The next meeting of the Art Club will be held December 5. A very interesting program is being planned by the program committee which is comprised of Edythe Thornton, Shirley Sykes, and Jean Kranz.

Picture Drive For Year Book To Begin Soon

Underclassman Campaign For Photos Started; Will Cost Twenty-Five Cents.

400 Seniors Have Likenesses Taken

Totem To Have Many New,
Interesting Departments;
Informal Snaps Taken.

The campaign for the pictures of the underclassmen for the Totem is well under way. Agents have been appointed in each underclassman home room to get the students to sign up and bring the money. It costs only the small sum of twenty-five cents. This includes two proofs, of which each pupil may choose the one that he wants in the Totem.

Any underclassman that wishes to have some pictures made after he has seen his proofs may do so. These will be made the same size as the seniors' pictures. The photographer will start taking these pictures as soon as the quota of underclassmen is met. It is necessary have signed up and paid their twenty-five cents. These pictures will be taken by the same photographer that took the seniors' pictures, Cleve Briscoe Graae.

The deadline for the seniors' pictures was Friday, November 23. Approximately four hundred seniors had had their pictures taken at that time.

The Totem staff is working very hard to get all of the payment cards and blue slips filed, so there will be no mistakes made in the amount paid from time to time by each student. In spite of a double check, the Totem business staff asks everyone to keep his receipts in case of a dispute. Any student who didn't subscribe to the Totem before the campaign ended will not get his name in gold on the cover. Nevertheless, he may have it put in his Totem for a very small sum.

Paul Reynolds, staff photographer, has already taken many snaps of football, assemblies, and the like. This year the staff is going to have more informal snaps of the students than ever before. Also, the teachers will have individual pictures. This has never been done before.

It is not too late yet to subscribe. There should really be about nineteen hundred subscriptions because this edition is going to be bigger and better than any of the twelve Totems preceding.

French Club Has Talks By Students

Provence, Languedoc, Provinces
Of France, Are Topics of Meet Held Last Thursday, Dec. 22.

Provence and Languedoc were the two provinces of France discussed at the French Club meeting last Thursday. Alice Hulse talked on Provence, and Catherine Hirschman talked about Languedoc.

In her talk Alice Hulse stated that Provence was in southern France. It is a province of beautiful scenes, a lovely coast, and mild climate. In Provence is located the famous Riviera, where the well-to-do class of people, from all over the world spend their winters. Also in this province is the city of Monte Carlo, which is noted for its large gambling house, the Casino. Here, fortunes have been made and lost in a few hours.

Languedoc is the province next to Provence. The interesting part of Languedoc is that its cathedrals are built like fortresses. In these cathedrals are many beautiful tapestries, but due to the fact that the cathedrals are very dark inside the tapestries cannot be seen. The houses project over the footpaths. Every available foot of soil is planted with grape vines. One very peculiar thing that the speaker on Languedoc told the club was that in the bakeries the bread was arranged on the floors instead of on shelves or in cases.

After both of the speakers finished, Miss Perkins told a little about the Casino at Monte Carlo.

For the Christmas party, a joint meeting with the Latin Club is scheduled for December 13. There will be two meetings in the weeks. The next meeting is December 6.

Jr. Math Topic Will Be Indian Mathematics

Mathematics of the North American Indians will be discussed at the Junior-Math meeting of December 4. The committee in charge of this program is Robert Brown, chairman; Edward Wallace, Marion Roehrs, Elvera Koop, and Nora Mae Bradberry.

A theater party is being arranged by the following committee: Charles Thorne, chairman; Dorothy Sibal, and Jane McElwain.

On December 18, the club will have a Christmas party. Plans for the party are being made by Rayola Morton, chairman; Paula Gerding, Lois Wyneken, Mary Louise Helms, and Jerry Zehr.

The club is planning a skating party which will be on February 22. Plans for a sun dial, which would be for the purpose of beautifying the school grounds, are being made.

Spiders Wage Battle

In the botany class of Sequoia Union High School of Redwood, California, two spiders are fighting for the favors of a Black Widow spider. All three are in a glass jar with the Black Widow acting as the referee.

School Opens Cafeteria

The opening of the Senior High School cafeteria in Connorsville, Indiana, will be made more colorful by the monogrammed rose-colored linen table covers which were made by the sewing classes of the school.

Don't eat too much turkey!

Maliciously Mutilate Monroeville's Men!

Thanksgiving will be the "pay-off" for a bunch of fattened turkeys.

As a rule, doctors are healthy. But then—they never take their own medicine.

Someone said: "Even the devil himself is afraid to hurt a man who has not forgotten how to laugh." Take heed!

Who said we don't have anything to be thankful for? Isn't a two-day vacation enough to gladden the hearts of all of us?

The N. R. A. has a habit of asking everyone, "What has happened to your ethics?" Maybe they traded it in for a Hudson.

A number of people are going to play tag this morning and a few are going to get tagged! Let's hope they catch a lot of seniors.

One, two, three, they go! Number 1, Monroeville; Number 2, Butler; and so far, far into the night! Now the next thing is to beat them!

Scientists tell us that we have never seen more than one-half of the moon. If one side is so powerful—wonder what the other side could do!

Freshmen! Your biggest day of the year will be Wednesday! Watch the seniors get "tagged", and think about when you will be a senior on Tag Day. "Catch?"

Keep It Up

The persons who are responsible for The Times programs each week, should be congratulated on their excellent successes. These weekly programs are an excellent addition to South Side as they tell of the events happening around the school and give information regarding athletics, extra-curricular activities and the like.

Members of the faculty, student body, and different departments of the school are ably represented on these programs. The music department is well represented by the band, orchestra, and harp ensemble; the student body by the outstanding students at South Side; and the faculty by various teachers.

These programs give the parents of South Side, pupils, and the patrons of Fort Wayne a chance to hear the different organizations display their talents and also gives them a greater knowledge of what is going on around the school. We hope that South Side will continue to have these weekly programs which are enjoyed by everyone.

Thankful--For What?

The only reason there seems to be so many things for which to be thankful around Thanksgiving time is that people really look for them then. Every day should be a Thanksgiving Day; but, since it is not, let's make the most of the one day set aside for that purpose. The depression is fast becoming a thing of the past. The country is speedily regaining its courage and self-confidence, a thing which greatly aids in making a country great. Even in the darkest days of our troubles, our plight was less serious and dire than that of other countries. We were always the leading nation, morally, financially, politically, and industrially. This alone should give us reason to be thankful.

Not only should we, as a country, be thankful, but individually we should be grateful for many things—our friends, family, and school which help us almost daily to lead safer, more sheltered, better lives. Food, clothing, and shelter, once so hard to obtain, are practically given to us now on a silver platter. All around us in our home are little things which make our lives more pleasant; and, now, with all the rest, we have vacation.

Should we not all be thankful?

Movies and Crime

Many times it has been said that the book of today is the movie of tomorrow. Since the establishment of talking pictures, many of our best dramas and books have been converted into cinema masterpieces. In the picturization of the book, justice has often been neglected; but sometimes the story has been produced faithfully and the picture made not only morally but artistically interesting.

The movies are a great influence on boys and girls, but just how much it influences them is not well known. In a recent survey, trying to detect just how powerful the movies do act on the individual's emotions, the many inmates of a prison were asked where they first got their desires to tread the road of crime. Surprising as it may seem, more than sixty-five percent replied, "From the movies."

It is stated in the book, "Our Movie-Mad Children," that many cinemas, especially of the gangster and mystery quality, so over-excite the average child and adolescent as to keep them awake at night and rile their nerves. Therefore, don't you, each and every one of you, think that we should choose pictures more wisely and with greater discrimination?

Because of the relationship between the movies and students' ideas and ideals, there is a nation-wide campaign for the making of better pictures, pictures that present the world as it really is. "Truth is stranger than fiction," has been quoted time and time again. Would not better pictures be made if they were taken and produced from true stories created in the world?

Courses of study of motion pictures are now being given in various colleges. We hope that the time will come when high schools will take enough interest in this world-wide controversy to teach the student true appreciation of the 'talkies.'

Magna Cum Laude

There are many occasions in our school life which are welcomed with the greatest joy, but probably no occurrence receives the enthusiasm of all as does an assembly. It is the one thing upon which we all agree. It is the one announcement that is received by every one with loud acclaim. It is one of the few times when joy reigns supreme.

One of the chief reasons for this public approval is because of the appearance of the band or orchestra. Almost every one loves music, and an opportunity to hear such an excellent example is truly appreciated.

Unfortunately it is not appreciated to the fullest extent. Too many people think that the musicians merely come a couple of minutes early in the morning and take their first row seats for whatever program there is. They do not take into consideration the long hours of practice that have been spent in earning the right to occupy these front row seats.

Another thing they do not appreciate is the presence of the chairs themselves. Long before even the musicians arrive, there are boys laboring diligently to put in place the chairs, pianos, and heavy instruments. These boys lift, carry, and put in place all the necessary equipment. The members of the band and orchestra themselves are almost ignorant of the good fairies who perform these necessary tasks. They are unappreciated by those very ones who should appreciate them most.

The work they do should be known to all of us. We should understand how hard they work so that we may have a few minutes of unadulterated pleasure. These boys are Bob Groh, Wayne Brown, Wilbur Arnold, and Jack Geiger. Henceforth, when we hurry up the inclines for an assembly and watch the rest of the students filing into the gym, let's look down at those rows of chairs and heavy instruments and the piano and think, "Somebody's done a lot of work before we could enjoy this program."

Freshman Fantasy

Fighting Freshettes

Why not? Nowadays the girls wear pants, drive trucks and in general run the whole country. Perhaps before long, they will invade the last stronghold of man, the ring. Then instead of just a couple of battle-scarred Dempseys clouting each other, we may yet witness something like this—

"What a battle folks! On the right is the South Side champion, Madam Queen, at two hundred and seventy-nine pounds. On the left is the challenger, Lady Lizzie, at a hundred and a half."

Round 1. There's the bell! They're off! Lizzie leads with a nail file to the abdomen. Queenie answers with an anvil to the c.h.n. Lizzie's dizzy. She looks daggers at Queenie who is quite cut up about it, but is saved by the bell.

They retire to their corners. Queenie weeps gently on the shoulder of the referee. Lizzie powders her nose.

Round 2. They clinch. Queenie rips a long scratch across Lizzie's cosmeticated map. Lizzie leads both heels to the jaw, meanwhile casting her eyes to the floor. The referee slips on them barking his wooden leg and he weeps softly on Queenie's shoulder until the bell rings.

Round 3. Lizzie leaps. Queenie quivers. Queenie flings a flatiron. Lizzie ducks. It hits the referee. Lizzie heaves a hairpin. Queenie ducks. It hits the referee. The referee says, "No fair." Queenie says "Tis." Liz sez, "Tiz," too. "Tisn't!" "Tis!" "Tisn't!" "Tis!" Referee leaps at Queenie. Queenie ducks. He hits Lizzie. Lizzie hits him. He's out. Lizzie and Queenie weep softly on each other's shoulders.

Bringing in the "Turkeys"

Archer Atrocities

Thoughts while rambling: Why doesn't the student body "chip in" to buy Harold Roberts a leopard skin to go with his "Tarzan" yell?... Why is it that Margie Killen calls all members of the stronger sex "Glenn" when she meets them?... Add funny sights: The loving Cupp, Eleanor, to be exact, with roller skates on, hanging on the back of a bicycle as it speeds around the halls of our dear old Alma Mater..... Mary Jane Redding was overheard to say to a certain well-known young man in a restaurant, "Take back your heart; I ordered liver".... Donald Rinker has a cute little trick of snapping the chains that hold the books to the desks in Mr. Helme's room.... When Bill Fries was asked to buy a ticket to a skating party, he replied that he would buy one if the ticket seller would secure for him, a date with either Bonnie Craig or Vera Crise. The nerve of these young whippersnappers!... It's a good thing that Velkoff eats his Cyril every morning or the little "gal" from North Side wouldn't think him the "dweeb, big mans" that he is.... Orchids to Garland Eickmeyer for being the "fastest" man in South Side this week. He heard about Helen Walbert Saturday morning, met her in the afternoon, and they went to the Berghoff Gardens and midnight show in the evening.... The theme song of that fellow who is hurled from a cannon must be, "Pardon My Sudden Ascent".... Miss Mary McCloskey surely is a go-getter. The other day she brought home the bacon, only she won it in a contest.... As one teacher puts it, Louise Miller must be an "appendix girl" because she's taken out a lot.... All you love-stricken swains who bite your fingernails, Beware! Look what happened to Venus de Milo from biting her fingernails.... Our pet peeve is the fellow who gives those "luny" talks about the moon in history class.... The other day Phil Green kept interrupting one of his classes by frequent "hics".... At last the teacher told Phil to "go get a drink if you need it." And then a wisecracker popped up with, "If you ask me, I think that he did have one".... J. Beemer seems to have started in young. When he was a little boy his mother caught him kissing a little girl behind the davenport. Remember, Jack?... Add funny sights: Art Keller making grotesque faces in public speaking class for the benefit of Ruth Adler.... Ken-neth surely is Scotting around for Betty Anne Schaaf.... Clarence looks like he ought to be good at the Helm in steering the ship of matrimony.... We received five notes wanting to know the name of that handsome young man who sits in C-11 the first period in the study hall. We also hear that Mary Jo Allen exchanges glances with him.... Joe really Raneks with Rowena.... Betty G's theme song must be, "Who's that knocking at my door?" with Bill hanging around so much.... Some worm is sending in notes trying to defile the fair names of some of our athletic heroes. Will that person please keep his or her defamations to himself. Such things have no place in a paper that has won international awards.... A lot of Katherine Cook's friends (?) have been writing in and wanting to know if she has a case on herself.

Southern Slush

If we ever get ambitious and start out to break a record, it will be the one the neighbor plays about 11 p. m.

Has anyone seen the sideburns on Andy Wallace? Let him hereby be christened "Don Juan."

"Dedicated to those that are throwing sneezing powder around the building—"

If you chance to meet a sneezer, swat him promptly on the beazer; thus you stifle his candanza and avoid the influenza.

A bit of information was obtained at the Lutheran Hospital today. Freddie Lenz, South Side's colorful full-back, has received more visitors and phone calls than any other patient there.

It seems that the fair sex always gets the most privileges. Last week Ginger Noble had her car parked on the sidewalks at Calhoun and Wildwood streets.

Did you know that Bob Nelson has more nicknames than any other pupil in school. Here's a few of them: Wimpy, Milky, Swishy, Bucket, Flash, Will, and Wimpy the Rat. You, too, can know how he got such monickers, by reading the Times next week.—(Adv.)

Walking south on Calhoun street we saw Bob Cowan and that vicious Mary Ellen Woods walking home. One can see them ambling home every afternoon (and night).

Stop worrying why Grodrian never pays those dates back, Vesey; you might get the long desired break yet.

This week's "Studies in Song," Economics—"With My Eyes Wide Open I'm Dreaming." Typing—"Got the Jitters."

It seems that one has to be introduced three or four times, to a girl before she will even nod her head. We wonder if it's that way at all schools? This week's "stuckup," Gwen Horn.

Attention! All you girls that haven't got poise, charm, beauty, and personality, like Marion Rippe, can obtain one at the nearest drug store, and for a small dime, ten cents, one-tenth of a dollar, purchase a cake of Woodbury's Facial Soap.

These North Side girls seem to hold sway over several of our boys. The latest report is that Clifford Welch is being taken for a whirl by Virginia Resser.

It seems that there are some advantages to being in the hospital. Herbert Kramer rates all kinds of cakes and the like from beautiful girls. How's it feel, Herb?

And then Bill Hockett takes a good way to get "stuck-up." He was so hungry in the Times room Thursday that he proceeded to eat that pretty brown butterscotch glue.

How about this epidemic of sneezing? There certainly must be something "in the air" when even Mr. Gilbert gets caught.

On your guard girls! If Mr. Bob Zieg tells you there is something nice about you, you had better not be inquisitive. The reply would undoubtedly be, "Me." Joke—Hal Ha!

Mademoiselle Modiste

By Edythe Thornton

W. Shakespeare with his "Blow, blow, thou winter wind—" admirably voiced the invitation of the gay winter fashion, for it is the same challenge which these bright-colored wools, fluff sweaters, hand-knitted accessories, and brilliant scarfs fling to the elements. High roll collars, fringed kerchiefs, tight-fitting sleeves, and the use of woolen accessories do their part in warding off J. Frost. Gay plaids, bright checks, rich colors, rough weaves, and fuzzy wools, complete the routing of Old Man Winter.

Clever new lines, rejuvenated shoulder treatments, and novel clips, buttons, and buckles mark the new winter styles. No longer are the shoulders emphasized and broadened by the use of the full "leg o' mutton" effect and epaulets. The interest this year is centered on the neckline with the use of novel collars, bows, ties, yokes, smocking, and gathering. We find yarn embroidery and lace fichus on simple afternoon dresses. We find ties of crocheted wool with huge balls on the ends. We find shirring, and smocking combined with stylish square yokes.

Eleanor Cupp is one of the clever persons who takes advantage of the flattering square yoke. She wears a smart bottle green wool, made along "shirt waist" lines. The inverted plaid in the back of the waist and the pleated pockets strike an attractive note. The pockets on the skirt, whose flaps

Oh, yes, and we have others—those for short men with toupees and those for girls with red hair. And those are only a few—We could go on naming them forever, but we must get on to the business at hand. We are not talking about our life-size models of transportation but those small structures which are manufactured by one of our most ingenious students.

He reported on two national contests which he entered, one at Indianapolis, which was sponsored by the American Legion, and the other at Akron, Ohio, sponsored by the National Aviation Association. In these two contests he won ten places.

"I am a member of Model Airplane, Math-Science, and Senior Hi-Y Clubs," he answered to the first question.

"My subjects are algebra 4, chemistry, public speaking, and economics," he stated.

He resides at 1314 Woodbine Place, and his telephone number is H-47193. Garland is very ambitious. Besides making honor roll grades, belonging to a number of clubs, and making model airplanes, he has a very large paper route.

Garland Eickmeyer is the treasurer of Math-Science!

The very person we wanted to see came walking through the doorway of Room 18. She was pounced upon with, "You're just the person we've been looking for!" She was pulled over to the desk with quite a few words of protest. She giggled and said, "Are you sure this is being done?" After being pacified with the idea that all the most brilliant personages were occupants of this space, she consented to having her name marked up with the rest.

"I suppose you want to know to what clubs I belong, don't you? They are G. A. A., So-Si-Y, and Math-Science. I am the circulation manager of the Totem, also. Last year I was manager of sports for G. A. A. and the Inter Club Congress representative for So-Si-Y," she said.

"After graduating, I hope to attend Earlham College in Richmond. I would enjoy teaching after that," she stated.

Her main sources of diversion are books. She likes to play tennis in the summertime, too.

"I am making a book of the most interesting and best poems I can find," she replied in answer to one of the questions. "And they are very handy to refer to whenever I am called upon to contribute anything of that sort."

Art an Important Factor in Education

By Miss Mary Helen Ley

A school system which does not give art its proper place in the education of its citizens is not complete. The fundamentals which it teaches are essential to anyone who must exercise a choice, the character of which is based on a trained taste.

First, art is essential in industry. It fosters ideas and activities which improve the quality of production. It is becoming increasingly important in the making, advertising, buying and selling of well designed merchandise such as automobiles, pottery, textiles, furniture, and rugs.

Second, it is important in the business world. The salesman, the milliner, the dressmaker, the builder, and the homemaker can not ignore its potency. Both the business and industrial world today realize the contributions that art has made to their progress and demand a more intelligent study and application of the fundamentals that govern it; namely, simplicity, law, order, and fitness to purpose.

Art also assists one in adapting himself to that part of the universe which is his home, in order that life be less brutal and more worthwhile, for living consists as much in employing leisure time profitably as acquiring leisure time to employ. It is not so much what the child does in art as what are does for him; that is, it gives spiritual development by the expansion of the child's spiritual growth through the understanding of truth and beauty, a closer touch with the infinite. It encourages creative expression, intelligent planning, constructive thinking, sound judging, and develops an ability to recognize and make fine selections. It is a recognized agent for moral growth and character building. It is an asset in the life of every child because it teaches him to live a richer, happier life. It is so purposeful; it touches life so positively and so intimately that its need is obvious. It is the duty of every individual to strive to make for himself and his fellowmen an environment of good taste that will influence all to live moral and spiritual lives, thereby raising the standard of social conditions.

Lastly, art helps in the physical development of the child by the coordination of mental and muscular power in the manipulation of tools and material.

Drawing, designing, and constructing, when related to civics, geography, language, health education, history, in fact to every school subject, are becoming more and more appreciated as mediums for enriching and visualizing these subjects; consequently art is making knowledge more pleasant to acquire and enduring to possess.

Don't Blame Me

At the beginning of the term Mr. Parks, our big little teacher, went around the building carrying his arm in a sling. We all wondered how he broke his arm, and here is how it happened. This summer he was learning to be a farmer, and while pitching hay on a wagon, he heard an odd noise in the hay. He listened and heard the sound again and thought it was a snake. He thought he would be getting out of the way because he is deathly afraid of snakes. He stepped backward and fell off the wagon. As he was lying on the ground sorrowing over his broken arm, he discovered the noise that might have been a snake was a airplane.

The other day while they were having class discussion in Mr. Makey's English 7 class, there was a loud buzzing in the room. Mr. Makey, seeing who was causing all the disturbance, asked Elinor White what she had to say that was so important it couldn't wait until after class. She replied that she was merely asking what time it was. He told her that the next time she wanted to know the time of the day, to ask him. The very next day during an important part of the class discussion, Elinor raised her hand and asked what time it was!

Mr. Whelan had a new pupil the other morning in home room. He told him to take his seat; but, being very stubborn, this new pupil refused to sit down. He said he would rather wander around and get acquainted. Mr. Whelan, being very much annoyed by this, decided to coax him from the room. Finding that coaxing wouldn't remove him from the room the thought he would use a yard stick as a persuader. He chased him around and around the room, and for a while he didn't know whether Mr. Whelan was chasing him or whether he was chasing Mr. Whelan. It was a close race and once Mr. Whelan was almost on the floor. Finally Bob Locke came to Mr. Whelan's rescue and led the dog out of the room.

Mr. Gilbert thought he was catching cold last Wednesday, but it is happens someone in his algebra class was blowing sneezing powder around. Now wasn't that a dirty trick?

Monroeville Is Initial Opponent For South Side Net Squad

Archers Have Hopes for Win Next Saturday

Cubs Expected To Be Tough In Their Sixth Game This Season; Have Five Vets.

Kelly Klads Work For First Victory

Lohse, Nelson, George, Symonds Expected To Star in Tilt Scheduled This Week.

South Side's Archers officially open their 1934-35 season when they encounter the Monroeville Cubs on the southern hardwood Saturday evening. The Archers have already engaged in one practice tilt with Waterloo, Monroeville like many other of the county teams, has already played five games and should be plenty tough and promises to offer the Archer snipers no little opposition.

The Cubs possess a wealth of material this season and promise to equal or even surpass their former records as an outstanding team in the county. They have three veteran players on their squad this season, topped by Chausse at center. This boy has three years of experience to his credit and is an exceptional pivot man as well as an excellent shot. He won the All County center berth in 1934 and received honorable mention in the Sectional tourney. He is one of the players that must be watched carefully all the time.

Marquart at guard also has had three years' experience and is fast and very tricky. He measures his six feet to every advantage he can. Kelly at forward possesses two years' experience and is good on the defense as well as being a swell long-shot. He is also fast and very tricky.

Shie, the best guard on the team, has had one year of experience and is captain of the squad. Meyers and Urbine in the forward positions are both plenty fast and tricky. Meyers, who is a junior, is an all-around player and has great prospects ahead. H. Stephenson, and W. Stephenson, O'Shaugnessy, and Marquart complete the squad.

The Cubs won the Allen County Basketball championship last season and were runners-up in the Sectional tourney, being defeated in the finals by the Archers. Five veterans of last year's squad were lost by graduation.

The Green and White lineup for this tilt is very uncertain. Ellenwood is the probable starter at center. George, Ginn, and Close will probably all see action in the guard positions. Symonds, Hilgeman, and Lohse will get the call at the forward posts, and Nelson, who plays any of the positions, will also see action. The Archers have been holding long practice sessions each evening, and Coach McClure has been putting his charges through the fundamental drills regularly.

Coach McClure is using a new system in developing his second team this season. All the seniors who have not had first-team experience will play the first half on the reserve squad and then the freshmen and sophomores who show good prospects will play the second half. This plan will be used until the first of the year when the final cut will be made.

The preliminary tilt is scheduled to start at 7 o'clock with the varsities tangle one hour later.

Boys' Rifle Club Divides Into Squads

Tuesday evening the Boys' Rifle Club held a show meeting in Room 54 and then went down to the range and organized itself into squads of four men each. These squads were coached in shooting by Risher Hall, who gave the results of the handicap match and explained it again to those that did not understand it.

Many of the boys have new rifles. They are taking quite an interest in the club. The members are urged to pay their dues as soon as possible. A new range is being built downtown in one of the prominent optical shops. South Side's club may have the privilege of using this range.

These fellows carried the banner for the Green and White to a city and sectional championship last year. They are, reading from left to right, back row: Ellenwood, George, Powell, Menefee, Nelson, Lohse, Geyer, Smith, and Coach McClure; front row, Student Manager Stalter, Ginn, Symond, Hall, Hilgeman, and Student Manager Bligh. All of the players are back this year with the exception of Powell, Menefee, Geyer, and Smith.

Bowling Practice Begun by 14 Boys

Entries for International Tournament May Still Be Handed In; Need Sessions To Qualify.

With fourteen boys taking part, the first 1934 Intramural bowling practice session was held Wednesday, November 21, at Scott's Bowling Alleys. The second practice session will be held tonight; and the final session, next Wednesday.

Entries for the intramural bowling tournament may still be handed in. However, to be eligible for the tournament, each bowler must have completed three practice sessions. Each session consists of three games, which may be bowled for twenty-five cents. Two men teams are to be formed tonight for those who care to enter a five-man team bowling tournament. The team bowling tournament will be held on Wednesday, December 12.

No extra intramural points will be awarded for participation in this two-man tournament, but place points will be given. Five points will be given to both of the boys on the winning team, three points, to the second place winners, and one to the third place winners.

Last Wednesday afternoon, several unusually high games were bowled. Wallace Bartels rolled the highest single game, getting 194 pins. Carl Brandt bowled the second highest game, a 192. Bartels also had the highest average of the afternoon, making an average of 163. Delbert Leininger had the second best average, a 157.

Scores and averages of the bowlers who took part in the first practice session are: Bartels, 143-194-153, total 490, average 163; Leininger, 174-149, total 472, average 157; Brandt, 121-143-192, total 456, average 152; Steger, 143-147-135, total 425, average 142; Russell, 144-112-144, total 400, average 133; Baumgartner, 117-112-152, total 380, average 126; Swihart, 129-128-110, total 367, average 122; Roberts, 108-106-134, total 348, average 116; Kreider, 147-102-82, total 331, average 110; Morris, 78-117, total 295, average 95; Zent, 124-85-73, total 282, average 94; Tapping, 94-77-110, total 281, average 94; Carter, 75-93-74, total 242, average 80; Rhoads, 68-77-87, total 232, average 77.

Archer Squad Plays 19 Games During Season

South Side Basketball Team Schedules Two Tilts With Central and North Side.

4 New Opponents Will Be Included

Monroeville To Open Games Dec. 1; Cubs Have Been Beaten; Expect Close Tilt.

South Side's Archers will play a total of nineteen contests during the coming net season. Of these, four will be against new opponents, Monroeville, Butler, Pierceton, and Berne. The Green will engage in ten of their games at home and nine others on their opponents' hardwoods.

As usual the Green will take on Central and North Side twice and Central Catholic once. The Archers will not start their city series competition until December 27, when they play C. C. Central and North Side will each be played once during January and once in February.

The Kelly Klads open their season Saturday evening on the home floor against Monroeville. The Cubs were not regularly scheduled by the Green last year; but they put up a big fight in the sectional finals before losing to the Green; and if they are anywhere near as capable as last year they should make the game rather interesting. However, the Cubs have been beaten once already this year and may not be as tough as last year.

On the following Friday the Archers play their second home game, against another new foe, Butler. Little is known definitely about this team but it is believed that this will be one of the easier games on the Archer schedule.

During the next two weeks the Green is scheduled to play on the road twice and once at home. On December 14, Bluffton, the first N. E. I. C. foe, will be encountered. The Tigers usually show some fair basketball, but the game probably will be mostly a warm-up for the Auburn contest the following Friday. South Side played two thrillers with the Red Devils last year and barely eked out a win in each contest. Coach Young always presents a good, fast team and should give the Archers another good evening of worry.

On the next night the Archers take on their third new opponent when they play Pierceton. The Cubs do not seem to have a lot to offer and the Green should suck them under in spite of their tough game the previous evening.

During the following week, Christmas vacation, the Archers will have

Nattonal Rifle Association Has Sportsmen's Code for Safety

The Girls' Rifle Club will meet at the range next Wednesday, December 5, to practice. They use a system which is made up by the National Rifle Association of America, of which the club is a member. The club is classed in the junior division.

To be a member of the National Rifle Association, a boy or girl should not be over eighteen years of age, must agree to abide by the Sportsmen's Code and rules of the N. R. A. A membership card, lapel button, and a rule book are sent from National Headquarters to each member. In addition, the member receives a copy of the "Junior Rifle Shooting News." The annual dues are twenty-five cents.

Rules Are Given

Several rules in the Sportsmen's Code are as follows:
1. I will never allow the muzzle of my gun to point at anything which I do not intend to shoot.
2. I will never cock my gun and pull the trigger for fun.
3. I will remember that a .22 caliber bullet will travel $\frac{3}{4}$ of a mile, or through nine inches of ordinary board, and will ricochet a long way across water.

The other rules, of which there are seven, all pertain to the same thing, "safety."

In the individual course of qualification, there are these stages for recognition: Pro-Marksman, Marksman, Marksman First Class, Sharpshooter, Nine "Possible 500 Bars," Expert Rifle, Distinguished Rifleman.

Example Is Given

To show what must be done to attain a certain degree, the Distinguished Rifleman's degree will serve as an example: Any Expert Rifleman may compete for the highest junior N. R. A. qualification by shooting the following scores on the standard junior five-bull's eye target, placing but two shots in each bull's eye. The ten qualifying shots on each target must be made consecutively, although the one of the biggest week-ends of their season. On Thursday evening, December 27, South Side plays its first city series game. Central Catholic's Irish will afford the opposition. Bill Barrett usually has a fine team and will give the Archers a battle; however, the Green should come out on top. The team will not have much time to celebrate if they win, however, as they must take on Decatur's Yellow Jackets the next night away from home. Compared to the C. C. fracas, this will probably seem like a nice rest to the Green.

Friar's Revue Is Commended By Club Board

City Community Chest Heads Congratulate Efforts of Club in Project.

The Friars' Club is sponsoring for the benefit of the South Side High School music department, "The 1934 Friar Club Revue." Next year and the following year will bring two more such projects with North Side and Central benefitting from them.

The revue will represent the best musical talent to be found in the Fort Wayne city high schools, as well as professional.

The development of the talent of the youth of our city will no doubt be of great interest to the citizens of Fort Wayne.

Special training in voice and instruments for the young people of our city will serve to enrich our musical center. "This project which is to raise funds for the buying of equipment for the carrying on of this work is commendable," stated J. Ross McCulloch of the Community Chest.

In Room 61, Miss Mary Helen Ley's class, there were also three prizes awarded. The best poster was designed by Gilbert Greiser, a post-graduate here. His artistic ability has been acknowledged by South Side as he has been given a scholarship to the Fort Wayne Art School. Second prize went to Melvin Kieseling. "He is a junior and is doing very well in his art work," stated Miss Ley when asked about him. Catherine Connell, a senior, received honorable mention for her poster. These prize posters will be on exhibit in the windows of a store in the shopping district.

Travelers To See Australia Today

Entertainment on Board Ship Will Be by Reginald Gerig; Alumnus Scheduled to Speak.

Travel Club will travel by ship from Mandalay, India, where they visited at their last meeting, to Sydney, Australia, at the meeting today in the Greeley Room.

On the way, Reginald Gerig will play several selections on the piano. Leona Menze, who is chairman of the meeting, will give a general description of Australia, and other members of the committee including Geraldine Smith, Dorothy Hagerman, Hillis Wearey, Ruth June Phipps, Phyllis Culver, Mary Ann Park, LaVern Boyce, Marjorie Dancer, and Violet Garton will speak on various things about the country which make it seem rather outstanding.

Mary Jane Zimmerman, who graduated from South Side in '32 and who was an active member of Travel Club, will read several letters which she received from a girl in Australia. She has been corresponding with the girl for several years.

Virginia Baumgartner, foreign secretary, and her committee have been working on the portfolio which Travel Club is sending to Australia in return for the one received from them last year. Members of the club have been given assignments on interesting people and places in Fort Wayne and the surrounding territory.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

Home Room 43 has recently been organized. They have a president, who can be elected for two terms. After a term of inactivity, he can be re-elected. There is a secretary, who makes records of the activities. He can be elected for one term only. There are two chairmen. They alternate in handling the programs planned for every other week. The chairmen, president, and secretary, are elected in a regular election. The home room is divided into seven or eight committees, each has a project to put before the class at some time. Every person is to take part, and so far all have taken part once. Some topics discussed and to be discussed in the future are: "Who's Who in America?", politics, government, continued stories, funny incidents, scouts, parliamentary law, etc.

Mr. Chappell's industrial arts 2 classes are finishing exercises on lathes, and are designing individual projects they are going to make.

Mechanical drawing 5 classes are finding true lengths of lines, true sizes of surfaces, and the developments of sockets. The boys who have had plane and solid geometry have little difficulty in solving the problems. This section of drawers has just finished a series of ink tracings.

In Mr. Wilson's government classes the pupils have been giving reports all week on the New Deal agencies and discussing bureaucracy. The most excellent report given in the second hour class on the Tennessee Valley Authority was by Marjorie Rose. Other good reports being given by Aileen Branning, Betty English, Norman Theye, and Brower George.

The classes in food 1 are beginning their study of luncheon menus. They are first studying individual courses, and they have been practicing making cream sauces and their varieties. This week they will take up the study of protein foods and their laboratory. This laboratory will be cooking cheese, eggs, and legume dishes.

The classes in home economics 2 have been planning menus for individual meals. This work means that each member plans, markets, prepares, and is hostess for the meal on her own responsibility. This class is also studying manners and etiquette on eating at public dining rooms.

The following students in Miss Covalt's typing 1 class wrote a perfect five-minute test: Catherine Alendorph, Virginia Baker, Eliza Bess Lucas, Martha Morgan, Ruth Reitz, Beatrice Schieber, and Lillian Warren.

The class in German 4 has finished Immensee and is ready to begin the next short story—Germelshausen. Both German 3 classes have begun reading the experiences of Klein Heini.

The pupils of Miss Hemmer's English 3 classes are writing original short stories and those of English 4 original short essays.

In Mr. Whelan's advanced P. G. classes the pupils have been studying the weather every day for the last two weeks. They have been keeping a record of temperatures, winds, clouds, precipitation, barometer reading, and the accuracy of the Weather Bureau's forecasts. They also have been observing the passing of the high and low pressure areas as shown on the United States Weather Bureau's Daily Weather Map.

The members of Home Room 10 have decided to turn themselves into a current event club. They discuss current events three days a week. Their first leader is Bob Lechot.

In Mr. Wilson's general history class the sixth period, there were several good essays written on the question, "Should people on relief be permitted to vote?" Thirty-three out of thirty-five were convinced that they should be able to vote.

The pupils of Room 16 have planted several dozen crocus bulbs at the south side of the main entrance. Jack Horn, the chairman of the room, carried out the plans.

Senior Home Room 52 has been discussing the use of leisure time. Clarice Fyock told of the mixer parties at the Y. W. C. A. Robert Funderburg talked on the benefits derived from reading during leisure time.

Miss Kiefer's English 8 class, which has been studying the Eighteenth century, is interested in a pictorial map of London brought by Shirley Sykes from her trip abroad. The class is also interested in one of Miss Kiefer's books which is a first edition of "Camilla," written by Fanny Beveney, published in 1796 in London. This edition contains a list of subscribers to that book.

Winifred Locker was the only one who made A on a "Clive" test in Miss Peck's class.

Joan Bonsib and Natalie Brennan entertained Miss Peck's home room with some harp music Thursday morning.

In Miss Oppelt's period 7, Latin 4 class, various phases of Roman life have been assigned for study to students. On Monday and Friday of each week, the student will report the particular phase he studied.

In Miss Miller's general history 1 class, Elinor White, Marie Wolf, Marion Bailey, Billie Bichacoff, Donald Reichert, Willard Ride-nour, and Homer Miller received 90 or above on a recent test on Rome.

In Miss DeLancey's English 1, period 2, class the students have finished Stevenson's, "Kidnapped." They are starting the "Odyssey."

In Miss Benner's English 1 class, the students have divided into two groups, the first, the white, the second, the green. These had an English contest similar to a spelling bee, and those left standing on the white's side were: Miller Dreyer, Robert Klotz, Delma Byroade. Katherine MacGinnitie was the only one left on the Green's side.

In Miss Benner's public speaking classes, the students have been preparing five-minute speeches and three-minute rebuttals. The contest will start Monday.

In Miss Oppelt's home room class, Room 55, Carolyn Dirmeyer gave a very interesting talk on the sinking of the Titanic. Carolyn stated that many lives could have been saved if the passengers had obeyed commands. Carolyn is chairman of the committee which is planning the program for Thanksgiving.

Miss Holtsapple Speaks To U. S. A.

New Y. W. C. A. Secretary Talks On "What It Means To Be a Friend"; Formal Initiation.

Miss Lucille Holtsapple, the new Y. W. C. A. secretary, spoke to the U. S. A. Club on November 22. Her subject was "What It Means To Be a Friend." First she explained the symbol of the Girl Reserves and how the circle around the triangle came to be there.

Among some of the questions which she asked were: "What does that circle mean?" "What does it represent?" She said that we should give and also take to make a good friendship. She also told the difference between friendliness and boldness. Some girls will share good times with foreign girls and boys.

"There is a place in the Girl Reserves for all kinds of girls," explained Miss Holtsapple. Our best friends may be our mothers, fathers, sisters, or teachers. In conclusion, she emphasized the fact that we should give to our friends.

A formal initiation of the new members to the club was part of the program. Each line of the Girl Reserves Code was explained by various old members of the club. These were as follows: Virginia Fathauer, "Gracious in Manners;" Gertrude Dannenfelt, "Impartial in Judgment;" Mary Louise Lankenau, "Reaching Toward the Best;" Emily Lepper, "Earnest in Purpose;" Barbara Von Gunton, "Seeing the Beautiful;" Evelyn Lehman, "Eager for Knowledge;" Louise Phillips, "Reverent to God;" Paula Gerding, "Victorious Over Self;" Phyllis Barrows, "Ever Dependable;" and Lois Wyneken, "Sincere at All Times."

As part of the program, games and dancing were enjoyed. The music for the dancing was furnished by Louise Gerding. Some of the selections which she played were: "Two Cigarettes in the Dark," "I'll Close My Eyes," "Carolina," "On a Little Red Farm Down in Indiana," "Buckin' the Wind," "The Man on the Flying Trapeze," "Down the Old Ox Road," and "Black Moonlight."

Grace Nelson, who is the service chairman of the club, announced that all those girls who wanted to bring something for the Thanksgiving basket should sign up on Friday, November 23, in Miss Kelley's room. All those members who help to donate for it will receive credit for a community project.

Ruth Garrison announced that the nomination for the future officers will be held at the next meeting.

The committee in charge of the meeting of December 7 is: Mary Louise Lankenau, chairman; Betty Harnish, and Elizabeth Simpson. Plans for the Christmas party, which will be on December 21, are being made by the following committee: Grace Nelson, chairman; Gertrude Dannenfelt, Louise Phillips, and Janice Baumgartner.

Air Edition of Times Features Cheering, Skit And Talk

Gazella! Gazella! Yea Green! Yea White! shattering the tranquility of the night, was found after further investigation, to be an enthusiastic cheering section ushering in another air edition of the South Side Times, at 7 o'clock Monday evening.

"The purpose of these programs," explained Bob Zeig, the master of ceremonies, is to acquaint the public with the activities and personalities of our school." After the rendering of the selection, "Sympathy," by the Glee Club, Bob Klopfenstein explained the Older Boys' Conference to be held in Fort Wayne on November 30, December 1, and December 2. The three Fort Wayne high schools will be hosts to the five hundred boys, between the ages of fourteen and twenty, who will come from all parts of Northern Indiana to attend the conference. Although many of the meetings are to be held at Central, the headquarters for the convention are at the Y. M. C. A.

The conference will open with registration at 10 o'clock Friday morning and will close at noon Sunday. Among the outstanding features of the program that has been carefully planned by the Hi-Y clubs are the following: Songs and devotions led by Mr. George W. Campbell of Cincinnati; a message by the president; a talk by Dr. David M. Trout; and a discussion on the subject, "What Jesus means to me," by Joe Devadnam, a native of India. The theme of this fifteenth annual conference is "Jesus in the modern world." Saturday noon the Hi-Y clubs of South Side will have the honor of being hosts to the conference at dinner. Bob stated that there are over three hundred boys coming to Fort Wayne for the conference. He appealed to the people who could do so to take these boys into their homes over the weekend. Anyone desiring to do this is asked to get in touch with the Y. M. C. A. The Hi-Y clubs have worked very hard planning this program and are asking for the co-operation of every one to help make it a success.

The Glee Club then sang "The Bubble," after which a skit was presented. Dalton McAllister took the part of John, an 8-A student who was making out his program for his high school work. The other characters were: Mother, Bernita McIntosh; father, Robert Bloember; and sister Ruth, Ann Abbett.

The announcement was made that South Side's first home basketball game will be held Saturday, December 1. All students and parents holding season tickets, will be admitted free of charge to this game. Others will be required to pay an admission charge of 25 cents.

The Alma Mater, an original composition by Mr. Jack W. Wainwright, was sung by the Glee Club. After this the South Side reporter gave a news flash that the new members of the National Honor Society will be tagged on Wednesday.

South Sider's Favor Students Teaching School For Day

A unanimous answer of "yes" was given by the students of South Side to the question, "What would be your attitude towards establishing a students' day in South Side? Why?" In many schools this day is anticipated by the various students. It is a day where the students receive full charge of the school. They teach classes, oversee school problems and one member of the student body fills the principal's chair. It is not anything to gasp about as it is being done in many schools and with great success. Evidently the idea appeals. The following answers were given.

Leonard Oser: The idea appeals greatly to me. I imagine it would meet with great success. Probably the teachers would be made to suffer over the fact they couldn't voice their opinions; but, nevertheless, it would prove that the students could meet with principals as well as the superiors. Earle Paxton: Swell! I mean it would be very interesting. Interesting to the extent that the students would be able to discover the difficulties that the officials and teachers encounter. Experimentation is the way to prove a thing's quality. Why not experiment?

Mary Wolf: It would be great! When is it to be done? Oh, it's just a question? Well, I think it would work out all right. The only difficulty would be on the part of the superiors the next day.

Eliza Bess Lucas: I believe it would be marvelous! It would give the stu-

Pupils Receive Huge Challenge In Club Revue

Band Asks for Co-operation
Of Entire Student Body
In Friar Club Ticket Sale.

"We, the members of the school band, hereby challenge the entire school to surpass us in the sale of the Friars Club Revue tickets. This challenge is heard all through the school, and the students not belonging to the band should immediately shout back their challenge. Each pupil should co-operate in making every effort to sell as many tickets for the revue as possible for the music department of this school will share most of the proceeds.

Jack Wainwright, with Mr. H. D. Cotthrel as his assistant, will plan the acts and direct all rehearsals for the review. The band and orchestra of South Side will combine their musical talent with the members to be selected from the dramatic departments of the three public high schools and outside organizations interested in co-operating. Our band will give a twenty-five minute concert, playing the "Destruction of Atlantis" by Sanfrank. The A Cappella Choir from Defiance, Ohio, will also contribute to the program.

The Girls' Athletic Association of South Side will put on a tumbling act and the "Ladder Dance." The girls taking part in the tumbling act are: Kover, Kerley, White, Disler, Locker, Baumgartner, Wilkerson, Roberts, McKee, Heuer, Pawlish, Fiske, Snavelly, and E. Sheele. Horns Repaired For Use at Games

Loudspeakers Used for Public
Address System Are Replaced;
To Be Used for Announcement

Silence Is Requested
"These horns have been erected for your convenience, to give you the lineups at our basketball games," Mr. Ora M. Davis has announced. "We believe you are interested in who is playing on the opposing teams, but if there is too much noise to hear, it will do no good. If you will please be quiet at the beginning and at the first half of games, we shall continue to announce the players. If not, it will be discontinued."

The old set of horns for the public speaking system in the gymnasium has been rebuilt because of damage caused by gym class balls. Two of the horns were so damaged they had to be replaced. They are to be used to announce the lineups for basketball games and for use during assemblies.

Jim Menefee, a South Side graduate, gave the lineups at the Monroeville game last Saturday.

Folsom Leaders Club Invites Pupils To Play

Students of all three high schools are invited to attend the meeting of the Folsom Leaders' Club of the Plymouth Congregational Church next Sunday when the stage play, "Pearls," will be presented. Members of the cast are Marybelle Galtmeyer, Leota Countryman, Raymond Bixby, and Richard Larson, while John Bess is handling the stage settings. The organization meets at 6:30 o'clock on Sunday evening in Plymouth Hall for a half-hour social period preceding the program.

The Rev. Charles M. Houser is the adviser of the club, and the officers are Bob Harruff, president; Mary Benninghoff, vice-president; Ruth Jones, secretary; John Walley, treasurer; and Catherine Cameron, social chairman.

The Folsom Leaders' Club is an organization consisting of members from the North, South, and Central High Schools. The purpose of the club is social and to develop public speaking ability. The programs presented follow this theme of public speaking and are suggested by the membership.

Founded by the late Dr. Arthur J. Folsom several years ago, the group has come into exceptional prominence during its existence.

Front Hall of School Is Newly Adorned With Waste Basket

This week a new, most unusual thing has appeared in our midst. Where once stood loafing students between periods now stands a brand new waste paper basket. It is a gorgeous thing, with its dark green finish and the single word "push" artistically inscribed on its swinging lid. In fact, it promises to become one of our most beloved receptacles, a fine thing to look back upon and pine for after graduation. Here people may deposit their chewing gum, waste paper and other junk enroute to class. It is already creating considerable comment amongst the intelligentsia (people who think) of the school.

Dorothea Nance: It's a very nice thing, except you might mistake it for a mailbox.

Helen Kelsey: I like to push the lid on one side and see it come out on the other.

Marshall Rosenthal: After quite a bit of consideration and forethought, I reached the conclusion that it is just 'ducky.'

Joe Junk, janitor: I think it's just the thing we need. I helped put it up.

Jerry Zehr: A very novel idea. Margaret Crankshaw: It's handy, except when somebody puts something in the other side and it hits you.

"Patsy" Killen: Don't ask me. I get my name in that thing enough.

Evelyn Ertel: Oh, I don't know. It's all right, I guess.

South Side Teacher Marries Roy Welty Thanksgiving Day

Miss Grace Mellen, South Side Latin and English teacher, was married to Mr. Roy Welty, son of the Rev. A. D. Welty of Lima, Ohio, at the Plymouth Congregational Church on Thanksgiving Day, the Rev. Charles M. Houser officiating. The bride is a graduate of the Boonville, Indiana, High School and Indiana University, where she was a member of Phi Beta Phi, national college sorority. She is also a member of the Boonville chapter of Tri Kappa sorority, and of the Fort Wayne College Club.

Mr. Welty practices law in Fort Wayne and is at present secretary of the Allen County Bar Association. Miss Mellen is continuing her teaching duties.

G.A.A. To Hold Contest For Prize Babies

Pictures of Students in Their Years of Infancy To Be Shown First of New Year.

Coming forth with one of the biggest surprises of the year, the G. A. A. is sponsoring a baby show. This show is to be the largest and most original one in the history of South Side.

Everybody from the principal to the students are asked to contribute their cutest baby picture to the enterprise. Although it is better to have the picture of the individual when he or she was under three, it may be one with the age of the person as much as six years. Also the pictures will be returned in just as good condition as when they were contributed.

The babies will be in very unique and novel arrangements. One group will be of the football team, another of the basketball team, and the different clubs may also be represented. Of course, the faculty members will be there in all their glory, but the funny part about it is that they will be the same age as their pupils.

The babies will be given the cutest prizes. A blue one will be first prize, a red one second prize, and a white one third prize.

It is as yet undecided who the judges will be. There have been two suggestions made, one of which will probably be followed. One is to have each person attending the show vote on the one he likes best, the other is to have some of the faculty members for the judges. No matter which suggestion is followed the judges will have a hard job; nevertheless, it will be pleasant.

The date the show is to be held will be January 12. The number of days it will remain open is not yet known. It will probably be three or four days, or a week if there is enough response.

As there are not many shows of this type, it will probably be a week. Those wishing to attend may do so the noon periods and after school on the days it is open. The admission is a nickel, the place will be the Greeley Room.

The girls on the committee to get the pictures are trying very hard to see everybody; however, if some are missed, they are requested to give their pictures to one of the following girls, who are on the committee: Eleanor Cupp, Sue Wallace, Alice Mae Siebold, Marjorie Cartwright, Barbara Raymond, or Martha Baumgartner.

There will be further notices later on. It will be a great event, and everybody is urged to come.

Torch Club Hears Judge W. N. Ballou

Representatives To Older Boys' Conference Give Accounts of Happenings at Convention.

This week's Torch Club meeting consisted mainly of talks by the four Torch Club representatives to the Older Boys' Conference and of a speech by Judge W. N. Ballou.

Mr. Ballou's talk was on the club's topic, "Crime Prevention." He told of the lawyers' attitude toward the men they defend and gave a barrister's definition of crime. He then told of the different effects that jails have upon their inmates. Some would reform and some would go back into the world with a heart burning with hatred and thoughts of revenge on those who had sent them "up the river." Mr. Ballou cited many humorous experiences that had happened to him during his career.

When his speech was concluded, Mr. Ballou answered the boys' questions concerning the enforcing of justice. After this, President Bill McLeish, Homer Miller, Don Sparkman, and Bob Bosely, Torch Club's representatives to the Older Boys' Conference, gave a detailed account of the happenings during this three-day period.

The Girl Reserves of the three high schools are planning to have a skating party and also a Tournament Dance.

Girls Hold Carnival

Senior Hi-Y Club Honored At Meet

South Side Has Five Delegates
At Conference; Miller Makey
Elected Assistant Secretary.

Members of the South Side Hi-Y took an active part in the Fifteenth Northern Indiana Older Boys' Conference, held at the Y. M. C. A., November 30 and December 1, 2. Duncan McLeish, president; John Bremer, vice-president; Lloyd Grodzian, Wayne Bender, and Bob Klopfenstein, registered from the Senior Club, giving it the highest number registered of any club in the city.

Next in rank was South Side Torch, then South Side Juniors. North Side Hi-Y registered one boy and Central registered one.

Dick Russell, Paul Randall, Frank Montgomery, Wayne Bender, Elmer Webb worked on various committees. It might be said that, of the thirteen committees in the conference, there were only two that were not headed by a South Sider or had some South Side boys in its membership. Duncan McLeish and Lloyd Grodzian also decorated the St. Paul Auditorium for the South Side banquet. Bob Klopfenstein headed the publicity committee of the conference.

Entertainment at the banquet Saturday noon was furnished by Elmer Webb and the German band which played during the assembly. Rex Knorr gave a very interesting magic show. During these banquets a candy stand was taken care of by Dick Russell and Paul Randall.

The supreme moment of the conference for the Fort Wayne boys was at that time when it was announced that Miller Makey had been elected assistant secretary. Miller is a junior and has been outstanding in Hi-Y clubs for quite some time.

The German band, directed by Elmer Webb, consisted of Norwood Dolman, cornet; Bill Knocke, bass; George Sanders, trombone; and Bob Adams and Myron Jones, clarinets. Georgianna Jones and Maxine Morton played several accordion selections.

The skating party which was held on Thanksgiving Day was a success. About 310 skaters were there besides numerous onlookers. That attendance broke all records made this year by South Side clubs. It is estimated that the club will make about $20 profit from the fracas.

Miss Smeltzley's Room Has Special Program

In commemoration of Thanksgiving Day, the freshman B's of Miss Elizabeth Smeltzley's home room had their own program on Wednesday morning.

The Thanksgiving Proclamation was discussed by the whole class and it was brought out that a proclamation for Thanksgiving was introduced by President Washington, but was later rejected. It was not until President Lincoln's administration that it was finally passed.

Mildred Shepler wrote an original poem "Thanksgiving Dinner," which told about all the food for Thanksgiving. "Thanksgiving Appreciation" was then explained by Margaret Stalter.

Refreshments consisting of two kinds of cookies were served by Judith Schneider and Margaret Sheefer.

The program was in charge of the social committee of which Paul Seibels is the chairman.

How To Make Grades Better After Last Report Disclosed

Grades will be issued one week from tomorrow. Owing to the impetus of the last grading period most students had been working hard in the few weeks that followed the issue of the last grade cards.

However, the brief Thanksgiving vacation seems to have lulled some of us into an easy going state of mind which has been reflected in our work. Now it behooves us all to snap out of it and become study-conscious. A bit of good work can still be done this week for there is no time like the present to make it up. December furnishes us with its good opportunity to get it done before Christmas.

The students gave various answers to the inquiring reporter's question: What did you do to make your grades better after you received the last report?

Jean Creighton: Studied more.

Margaret Dickmeyer: Worked hard.

Virginia Gardner: I've brought more bigger and redder apples to my teachers.

R. Nelson Snider Speaks To So-Si-Y

"International Relations" Topic Of Club Meet; Members Sing
Songs in Several Languages.

"International Relations" was the subject of the talk given by R. Nelson Snider, principal, before the So-Si-Y Club at the meeting held Tuesday in the Greeley Room.

A poetry reading by Vera Mosel and songs, including "The Marseille," sung in French by Virginia Wood, Betty Marmorek, and Anna Bremer; a German song, sung by Geneva Scherer; Virginia Greiner, and Vera Holtman; and "Santa Lucia," sung by the entire program committee, were included. The club sang "The Star Spangled Banner."

Mr. Snider believes that peace between nations is a vital question and that war is the result of stupidity and mistakes on the part of leaders. He gave six things which he considered the causes of most wars or misunderstandings between nations: Extreme nationalism, quarrel over commerce, egotism of ruler, rapidly growing population, diplomacy between leaders, and tariff are these causes. He contended that International Relations is an important question and worthy of deepest consideration.

The

Virginia Greiner's plaid is of yellow, orange, and brown stripes. A wide back is a novel feature. A square collar of white is trimmed with brown tape, in sailor fashion. The pockets are formed of two rectangles, one plaid, the other white pique, which are fastened with brown buttons. Long tight sleeves complete the outfit.

Travelers Invite Wranglers To Christmas Affair in Honolulu, Hawaii, Method

Wranglers Club will be the guests of Travel Club at their Christmas party, which will be given on December 12. As Travel Club is visiting Honolulu at this meeting, the party will be in the form of a Christmas at Honolulu. Gifts will be given to everyone present. The committee in charge of the meeting is headed by Paul Randall.

Australia, long having been called the "Land of Opposites," was visited by Travel Club at its last meeting. Australia's opposite nature was illustrated in the program by Mary Anne Park. The Australian native cherry, or Eucalyptus, is of little practical value; but the seeds grow outside the fruit proper. There are also songless and wingless birds whose shriek sounds much like the climax of a good ghost story. Some species of Australian ants build houses as high as twenty feet. The Australian seasons also occur opposite ours.

Australia has what we would call a topsy-turvy system of education in which theory is subordinate to practice; language is taught before grammar; religious conduct precedes dogma, and nature study, clay modeling, manual training, and home economics are taking the place of purely literary subjects. Marjorie Dancer explained the educational system in further detail. This system is free, compulsory, and secular, the whole expense being met by the general residents. There are many libraries and a great number of books in each.

The pests of Australia, the jack-rabbits, were told about by Ruth June Phipps. Since they are in such large quantities, many are killed every day, sometimes four hundred to a person. The boomerang, which is used for entertainment and also for killing animals was also described. Violet Garton described the well-known kangaroo, which jumps when it runs and stands up when it sits down. A favorite pastime in Australia is boxing with kangaroos.

Miss Mabel Thorne, club adviser, read some letters which Mary Jane Zimmerman received from a girl in Australia. These letters described places and facts about Australia.

Prop Wash

By Frederick Clements

With the roar of his powerful engine singing his funeral song Doug Davis, Atlanta, Georgia, contributed to aviation, plunged to his death during the running of the Thompson Trophy Race last Labor Day. With the passing of such a fine flier as Doug, the old question of closer supervision of air races. At present a pilot need obtain only an X type of license to have the privilege to race the grim reaper. There is no restrictions on the planes to be used. Davis was flying a plane designed for a 500 horse power engine but was souped up to 800 horsepower and the strain proved too much and one of America's best fliers plunged to his death. If air races are to make a favorable impression on the crowds, these needless deaths must be stopped.

Back in 1924 when Doug Davis' Flying Circus was the best known name in southern aviation circles, its only real rival was a circus owned by an organization starring Mabel Cody. As time went on it became a battle to the "death," but Doug's fame won the game for him. But when the two great shows combined, Mabel Cody was their big star.

In physics, a student is taught that size of an object has no effect on the speed with which it falls. During the war a French flier's plane caught fire three miles above mother earth and so he made great haste in getting to the ground. When he got out of his plane and started to run before his ship exploded, he was not killed by one wheel of his ship. This light wheel with its stream lined cover had so much air resistance that it fell slower than the heavier plane.

Modern airliners must have many safety factors to safeguard the lives of its passengers. The new Douglas transport type that has been setting many new trans-continental records, has been landed with the wheels retracted and full braking power was obtained and the only damage done was the breaking of the propellers. This plane also has taken off from a field to altitude of over 4,000 feet and hopped over the mountains carrying a full load and with only one engine running. Not so long ago when one engine stopped, it meant a forced landing but now it merely means only a loss of speed.

Many people think that retractable landing gears tends for higher speed, but sometimes the extra weight of the retracting mechanism used cuts down the speed. The fast racers of today such as the Wedells, the Browns, and the Howards all have their wings and landing gear affairs rigid.

Walter Beech, famous commercial plane builder, made this statement while attending the last National Air Races. He said that with a half hour's work many of the planes' top speeds could be increased 10 miles per hour. Fittings were poorly hidden and fillets were rough and nothing like the fillets on our transports.

Mr. Mulligan, Benny Howard's newest racer, was surely missed at the air races. It is a highly streamlined high wing cabin plane. When he was asked about its performance, he merely said, "Twenty miles an hour faster than Turner's" and Turner's plane is the fastest land plane in the world.

It was surely tough that Col. James Fitzmaurice's little Bellanca Irish Swoop was scratched from the entry list of the London-Australia race because we Americans might have had something to shout about. Fitzmaurice plans to fly from London to Australia soon, and he can be counted on to make good time.

Lieutenant-Commander Settle is the only person who is licensed to fly any type of aircraft. He can fly anything from a glider to the huge zeppelin, the Macon.

Henry Wahl Discusses New Germany Under Adolph Hitler

Mr. Henry Wahl, a teacher of music in Fort Wayne, gave a talk to the members of the German Club at their meeting on November 21, in the Voorhees Room. He gave an informal talk on the topic, "Conditions in Germany." Mr. Wahl, now an American citizen, went back to his native land, Germany, last summer in order to study music at one of the great universities there.

As an introduction, the speaker told of his trip across the Atlantic on the European liner, "Europa." This boat is a magnificent structure, weighing 62,000 tons without its passengers, of which the capacity is 3,500, baggage, and so forth, and 75,000 tons when loaded. Mr. Wahl left in April, and the trip took him about five and one-half days from New York to Bremen, Germany.

Trip Is Wonderful

In describing the trip, Mr. Wahl said, "It was a big wonderland." Going more into detail, he mentioned that while on the boat, the passenger has no thought about his money, for upon boarding the ship he turns it over to the steward, who deposits it in the vault of the boat. All entertainment, of which there are various kinds as motion pictures, dancing, masquerades, and all sorts of games, are included in the fare.

At 10 a. m. there is time to walk on the deck to enjoy the brisk ocean breeze after having breakfasted in a beautiful dining room. While promenading, the steward will bring you a bowl of bouillon, which is very delicious. Or, instead of being outdoors, you may enjoy a concert given by the ship's orchestra. This is only one of the several pleasures given daily by the same orchestra.

A person certainly gets enough to eat on the boat, as at 11:30 lunch is served; and, at 3 o'clock, coffee and a choice of all sorts of cakes are served; at 6 o'clock, a hot dinner; and at 8 o'clock, tea is offered. At all meals the best food that anyone can buy anywhere is served. Dinner is served in the dining room, which is used for such as you please. Mr. Wahl told of an amusing incident of one man who, seeing all the different dishes, as Chinese, American, French, German, and so forth, on the menu, ordered and tasted all of them. Perhaps it should be added that Mr. Wahl mentioned that this man was seasick very soon afterwards, and he did not eat again until he landed at Bremen.

Entertainment in Evening

In the evening you may enjoy dancing, games, or, if you prefer to read, there is a wonderful library for the use of anyone.

Going on with his topic, the speaker mentioned that he did not recognize the Germany of today as the Germany that he had left eleven years ago. He said that it is so completely changed that he stood on one of the streets in Bremen for a half hour, observing the people and wondering how such a great change could come about in that short time.

To explain conditions of today, Mr. Wahl gave a brief description of Germany in the years 1918 to 1922 as a background. Due to the results of the war, Germany was torn to pieces and demoralized. There was no one to lead them, or to help them out of their difficulties; and as the worst blow of all, inflation came, making those who did have some money saved practically penniless.

In Munich, at about this time, five men got together to discuss the difficulties of Germany and try to save their country from destruction, as it was already a second-class nation. They had the ideas, but they were helpless to carry them out.

About this time, an Austrian soldier, who had been studying to be an architect, came to Munich by the order of the German government to take over some duties there. This man met this group, and after being asked to join with them in their plan, he accepted and became their leader. This man was Adolph Hitler, the present leader of Germany. At this time, he was the leader of seven men who had organized themselves into a political party called the National Social Working Party of Germany, which is the translation of their German name. "Nazi" is the shortened German name.

At one of their meetings, Hitler gave a talk, and this was the first time that he knew he had the ability to sway an audience. By the aid of public meetings, their party had grown to 100 strong by 1921. In 1922 Communism was the largest, and strongest party among forty-eight individual political parties.

At the last meeting before Hitler took charge of the government, at a large stadium, there were thousands of people in attendance. The Communist Party would send men to find out the doing of their rival party, but by means of Hitler's speeches, they would become members of the Nazi party. So the Nazi party gained in leaps and bounds.

Speaks to Hitler

Mr. Wahl spoke to Hitler in the city of Nuremberg, and he stated that, he believed Hitler really wants to do the right thing. Mr. Wahl declared, "As you look into his eyes, you are firmly convinced that he will save Germany."

The flag of the Nazi party is in the same colors as the old German flag, although it is of a different design. It has a red field, upon which is placed a white circle. In this circle is the emblem of the Nazi party, the black swastika. The flag is red so as to attract attention, and the white circle stands for the purification of the race.

Mr. Wahl said that he believed Germany will never be so demoralized again, since this new spirit is in the youth of the country. The youth is changed; they love Germany.

"The whole life of the Germans is changed. It is a life of sports in the outdoors," stated the speaker, and went on to describe the modern German life.

The German people travel all over their country. They do not earn large wages, so the question is always asked, how can they afford to pay for these trips? Their employers pay for it by orders of the government. If the trip will cost seventy-five dollars, the employer must pay seventy of the total amount. The worker may take this trip during his vacation, which he gets with pay. As he travels and has some money of his own, he will buy souvenirs or other articles. In this way the government hopes to help stimulate business.

School System Changes

He also told of the changes in the school system, the farms, and in the churches.

"If anyone thinks that the German people are not behind Hitler, they are all wrong," declared Mr. Wahl to his audience. "I have been in poor homes and rich homes, and in both places the people believe and trust in Hitler."

He pointed out that, of course, Hitler has his enemies, but they are greatly in the minority.

He closed by declaring that if the younger generation will keep up this ideal, Germany will be a first-class nation. At the next meeting, which will also be held in the Voorhees Room, Eugene Holtman and Katherine Simminger will give reports on the famous German musician, Richard Wagner. Don Klopstein will play several of this composer's selections, and also there will be recorded compositions. This meeting will be held December 5.

Band Makes Trip To Defiance, Ohio

Music Department To Be Aided By Concert Given Tuesday; Students Go in Automobiles.

Making the first appearance outside of Fort Wayne, the South Side band went to Defiance, Ohio, Tuesday, where they played a concert for the benefit of the Defiance High School music department in the school auditorium.

Preceding the concert the members of the band were given supper and entertainment by the A Cappella Choir of the high school which is directed by Professor Jones of Defiance. The very fine male chorus sang a number of selections for the group after an excellent supper was served.

This organization, the A Cappella Choir, will come to Fort Wayne to sing for the band concert here.

Times Will Hold Potluck Saturday

Dancing, Chalk Talk by Eugene Craig, Dance by Vera Crise, Gwen Horn Will Be Features.

The annual fall potluck of the South Side Times will be held Saturday at 6 o'clock in the cafeteria. All the members of the staff who wish to go should sign up for food or money on the bulletin board in the Times Room.

The menu will consist of potato salad, baked beans, sandwiches, meat loaf, fruit salad, jello, olives, and pickles. After the potluck there will be dancing to the music of an orchestra.

A novel program will also be given. This will consist of a chalk talk by Eugene Craig, a former South Side student, and specialty dance by Vera Crise and Gwendolyn Horn.

Evils of Alcohol Disclosed

The sophomore class of the Butler High School listened to a talk given by Dr. Henry G. Nester on the evils of alcohol. Six posters showing the changes between the "dry and decent" and the "dead drunk" stages in the use of alcohol illustrated the talk.

Class Room News

In Miss Miller's home room, a committee composed of Arnold Metsch, Berneta McIntosh, and Betty Medans have planted a sumac shrub in the corner south of the northwest door.

In Miss Paxton's algebra 4 class, the following were given A or A+ at grading period: Garland Eickmeyer and Melvin Blume.

In Miss Paxton's algebra 2 class, the following received A or A+: Catherine House, Laverne Dee Keel, Vernal Myers, Clarence Greider, Helen Kelsey, Elsie Koch, and Bryce Minier.

The geometry 1 students have finished parallelograms in Miss Paxton's class. In the algebra 4 classes, the students are finishing progressions. In the algebra 1 classes, students are starting lateral equations.

In Miss Paxton's home room, the students are reading selections from "Manners and Personality." Reports are being given before the class.

In Miss Magley's home room, Morgan Harrison is planning a program for Monday morning. Maxine Morton and Georgianna Jane Jones have been engaged to play several musical selections.

Mr. Murphy has been reading William Pitt's speeches on problems concerning taxation of the Colonies by England. These speeches were delivered to Parliament in defense of the American Colonies.

John Eschoff and Gordon Straley furnished a program of music in home room 174 last Tuesday morning.

The advanced class in cooking will take a special study of dietetics or caloric value. They also will take up the units on child care beginning with infant care.

The boys taking industrial arts 4 are finishing a two weeks' period in the shop. They have been working on individual projects for themselves and for the school. The next two weeks will be spent in the drawing classes.

Mr. Chappell's mechanical drawing 6 classes are working on detail designs of machines. This requires very accurate work.

Several of the 9B's in Mr. Bex's classes have their pieces of furniture designed. Each one makes his own design on cardboard or heavy paper and then transfers it to the board. Several have the wood cut out and are sanding it with the sanding machine.

Mr. Bex's 10B's are drawing this week. Some have finished the required drawings, and they then work in the shop.

The students of Miss Paxton's home room have planted Sumac shrubs on the grounds on the southwest corner of the building.

In a contest held between Miss Fiedler's and Mr. Flint's algebra classes, one class from Mr. Zent's, and three classes from Miss Fiedler's participated. These were divided into two groups and each held seven rounds. In the preliminaries, Marjorie Crago got five out of seven problems right; Leona Menze, pupil of Mr. Flint, was first in the finals. Helen Cox, a pupil of Miss Fiedler, was second.

Variety of Activities Constitute Home Room Class Schedules

After interviewing some home room members this week, we find that the most of them have been interested in this system of giving programs of various kinds during the home room period.

However, Jack Wainwright's home room class seems to stick to their lessons; and Mr. Hiene stated that his class has not been doing anything in regard to programs, either.

Miss Clara Schmidt's class has elected as their officers Theron King for chairman and Doris Kaplan as secretary. There is a program chairman for each day of the week, and he calls on different ones to participate. Recently reports have been given by Ralph Jones on Henry Ford and Doris Kaplan on her trip to New York. Georgianna Jane Jones and Maxine Morton provided musical entertainment. Special programs for Flag Day, National Education Week, and courtesy in the school have also been given. Mondays are devoted to current events; Tuesdays, outstanding personalities; Wednesdays, school problems; Thursdays, personal experiences; and Fridays, to music.

Miss Miller's home room class has been reading a book, "The Log Cabin Lady." This book is about a lady who went from Wisconsin to New York and was embarrassed by her knowledge regarding social customs. After this is read, they will start on "Manners and Personality in School and Business."

"Chimie Fadden" is being read by Elgin Stump in Room 75. Miss Crissie Mott stated that she was sure that it is the way he reads it and not the contents of the book that is interesting to the class. The chapters are short enough so that one may be read every morning. Gordon Straley is the chairman, while Walter Stone is the secretary.

An interesting speech regarding the Hi-Y convention was given in Mr. Herman Makey's home room recently. College reports, current events, and talks on National Education Week have also been given. Bob Klopstein was elected chairman and Alma Nitzsche, secretary. A program committee consisting of Bob Klopstein, Clayton Kilpatrick, and Georgianna Jacobs has also been chosen in this room.

"Little Red" Featured At Sunshine Club Meet

"Little Red," a play published by the Anti-Tuberculosis League, was the main feature of a program given at the meeting of the Sunshine Club last Tuesday. The members sang the club song and the Harvest song accompanied by Eileen Fueling, who was chairman of the program committee. Several get-acquainted games were played, and pine cone turkeys were awarded as prizes for the Thanksgiving games. A reading was given by Georgianna Jacobs.

The program was preceded by a business meeting which included reports on "Christmas Seal Work," a skating party, and a letter from the New Haven Club. Jean Snyder, program chairman for the December 11 meeting, gave an announcement concerning her committee.

A most amusing race occurred on the final day of the Chicago Air Races held October 3-6. The race was called the B. V. D. handicap event, and was sponsored by the B. V. D. Undergarment Company. Each contestant flew the first lap in regular clothes, and then landed out on the field and removed his pants. He then flew the second lap and landed, and regained his pants and flew the last lap. Most of the pilots had to make quite a run for their pants, and the crowd got many a hearty laugh. The grand prize for the affair was a pair of shorts.

Clyde Pangborn, teammate of Roscoe Turner in the recent London to Australia air races, is not a newcomer to the newspaper columns. Back as far as 1922 while a member of the famous Gates Flying Circus, he was the world's best upside-down flier. He had his name written across the top wing of his old Jenny so people could tell who was flying the plane. Once Pangborn was lost while driving his automobile through New Jersey. He then got out and started star gazing. After a short time he got back in and started driving with renewed confidence and soon reached his destination. Believe it or not, Pangborn guided himself across New Jersey by the aid of the North Star.

Our modern airliners are surely giving the racers a run for their money. A new Vultee's transport clipped nine minutes off the Chicago-to-New York record when it averaged four miles per minute during its two hour, 59 minute flight. Jimmy Hazlip, flying a Wedell-Williams racer, held the former record.

At present the Navy is making an effort to cut down weight of their equipment. They made a survey of the weight of their personnel with the idea of forming a jockey squadron for high altitude work. When checking the records over, they found that only one-half of one percent of the fliers weigh between 115 pounds and 125 pounds.

Thomas Sopwith, the man who raced his sloop, Endeavour, in an effort to win the American Cup, is better known on the continent for his interest in aviation. During the war, he built the famous Sopwith planes; and he is at present connected with the Hawker firm, best known English airplane manufacturing company.

This little item might well be called the "Flying Carpet Fly On." The Flying Carpet in question is Richard Halliburton's famous world traveler, old Stearman airplane. After many exciting adventures under the guidance of Halliburton, his faithful plane was sold by a second hand dealer to two naval officers in Honolulu. After a bad crackup, the parts were sold to various parts of the world. The wing went to Honduras; the tail assembly to Alaska; the wheels belong to an explorer; the struts are used in Arizona; the wires are on a light plane and the instruments are sold to many various persons, so the "Flying Carpet Flies On."

South Side's 1935 Gridiron Schedule Is Announced

Next Fall's Archer Games Are Decided

First Game of Season To Be Woodward at Toledo, O., In Second Encounter.

Two Open Dates Are On Schedule

Columbia City Is Only Last Year Team Not To Be Played; Schedule Tough.

Announcement of an eight-game schedule for the 1935 football season of the South Side Archers has been announced by Mr. Ora Davis, faculty athletic manager. There are two open dates which South Side is hopeful of filling also. The schedule contains the same opponents as the schedule of the past season except the addition of a tilt with Columbia City and the dropping of tilts with Bluffton and Decatur from the schedule. The schedule is a much harder one than the one played this season.

The Archers will open their season with Woodward at Toledo at the Buckeye city. This team ran wild over the Archers this season and almost the same team will oppose the Green gridirers next year. The week-end after this game is open and on the following week-end the Archers will resume hostilities against Mishawaka in their initial appearance on the southern gridiron. Mishawaka barely nosed out the Archers this season by a last-half rally and little is known of their prospects for next year. On October 5 the Kelly Klads will tackle Peru here. Peru will have a team made up entirely of sophomores and juniors with one year of experience and they promise to be plenty tough. Culver will be the next opponent of the Archers. The academy squad is always strong and a good battle is promised. Following this game the Kelly Klads will start their city series play against Central Catholic and then they meet North Side on the following Saturday. This will be a night game. On the following Saturday the Archers will take on the Columbia City aggregation here. The season will be concluded on November 11 with the traditional gridiron encounter with Central's fighting band of Tigers.

Basketball Starts In Gym Classes

Game To Be Taught To Freshmen Girls Before Going Ahead With Tournament Playoff.

Basketball, the major winter sport, began in the girls' gym classes immediately following the Thanksgiving vacation, Miss Alice Patterson announced today.

The regular class tournament will not start until after the season after the game has been taught to freshman girls and refreshed in the minds of the old girls.

The technical points of the game, the handling of the ball, and foot work will be taught in the gym classes for a short time. There will also be some preliminary games.

When the tournament begins, the teams will be divided into two divisions, one of which will play the first half and the other the second half. The team winning the most games will win the tournament.

The tournaments in speedball and volleyball have been completed, and the remaining time will be spent on basketball.

South Side Fans See Team Beat Monroeville Cubs 30-18

In a game marked by frequent substitutions, the South Side Archers coasted to an easy victory over the Monroeville Cubs by a score of 30 to 18 in their initial home hardwood appearance of the present season last Saturday.

In the lead from the first minute of the game, the Archers were never headed although the Cubs came within in one point of tying the score by virtue of a third quarter rally. Jackson made his initial appearance on the varsity squad when he scored seven points to lead his squad with Ginn pushing him hard with five markers to his credit. Kelly at forward for Monroeville scored four field goals to lead his team.

The Archers started scoring in the opening minute when Ellenwood went under on the left side to score. Hall added to the Archer score with a foul shot soon after when he was fouled by Kelly. Kelly retaliated with a beautiful shot from mid-floor. After missing a foul shot, Ginn tried a long one from mid-floor to put the Archers in the lead 5 to 2. The Archers controlled the ball for a long period before Chausse, Monroeville center, made a fast shot from the foul line territory to make the score 8 to 4. At this point the game became rough and was marked by frequent melees under the baskets and long erratic passing. Symonds and Ellenwood scored from the field in quick succession, and Marquart scored a foul to make the score 9 to 11 as the quarter ended.

Jackson opened the second quarter with a foul to put the Archers in the lead 10 to 5, and then Shie intercepted a long Archer pass and went under to make the score 10 to 7. Jackson got his first bucket of the evening when he tipped the leather in after a melee under the basket. Schelpier added to the Archer total with a foul shot. The half ended with both teams playing ragged ball and playing very rough.

Coach McClure inserted a new team comprised of Lee, George, Lohman, Simon, and Ostermeyer at the start of the second half. This quintet played a man-to-man defense and were not nearly as successful as the first five who employed a zone defense. George scored a foul and Lee cut away from his man for a basket as the half got underway to put the Archers into a 15 to 8 lead.

At this point the Cubs steadied down and started playing cautiously. After a series of passes Kelly registered on a setup shot and then took a spectacular one-handed shot from the side to cut the Archer margin down to a 15 to 12 score. Chausse then gave the fans the feature basket of the fray as well as throwing a big scare into the Archer ranks. On a jump-ball at the foul line he tipped the ball into the basket to bring the Cubs within one point of the Archers. At this point Coach McClure sent in "Whimpy" Nelson and "Hoody" Hall, two of his veterans from last year. Nelson immediately got into the scoring when he tallied on an underneath-the-basket shot.

Monroeville suddenly seemed to come to life and was soon bewildering the Archers with their dazzling passing attack, but it availed them nothing as they were unable to work the leather under the basket. With about two minutes to go in the third period, both teams started putting forth their best efforts of the evening. However, their passing was ragged and frequent fouling marred the play. The Archers were still in the lead by a 17 to 14 score.

In the final quarter the Archers opened up a scoring spree with Hall and George both connecting from well out. The Cubs were bewildered by the sudden offensive spurt of the Archers and reorganized their defense in a time-out. Kelley increased the Cub score with a fielder, but Jackson collected his third marker of the evening with a beautiful shot from the right side of the floor which swished the net very nicely. At this point Monroeville's defense cracked when Kelly, the sparkplug of the Cubs, was put out on personals when he fouled Ed Ginn. Ginn added to the Archer score with a benefit heave. Meyers concluded the Monroeville scoring with a close-in shot.

The Archers, however, were not yet satisfied. The Cubs' defense fell before the determined Archer onslaught as Jackson, Nelson, and Ginn scored in quick succession to conclude the evening's festivities.

Twelve Games Are Scheduled For South Side

Archers To Play 12 Tilt After New Year's Day; Six Are N. E. I. C. Games.

By Norman Buck
During January and February South Side's net squad will play twelve hardwood contests, six of which will be home games. Among these twelve contests, the four toughest city series games are scheduled, two against Central and two against North Side. These twelve contests will be, as a whole, the toughest on the Archer schedule. Six of the nine N. E. I. C. teams will be played during these two months.

One week after the Central Catholic game the Kelly Klads will meet one of their toughest opponents up to that time, when they buck up against North Side's Redskins in the second city contest. The Warriors are preparing for their first net season under the tutelage of Bob Nulf, and it remains to be seen what he can do with the available players. The material at the northern school is not any too plentiful, and it will take some time to build up the team; however, they will probably give the Archers a battle.

Kendallville Scheduled
The following Friday, Kendallville is scheduled to meet the Archers at South Side. The strength of the invaders is somewhat of an unknown quantity; however, they are believed to have a fairly tough squad. Nevertheless, judging by past contests between the two squads, the Comets should have nothing to offer which the Green cannot overcome.

On January 16, the Archers are scheduled to play one of the toughest, most hotly contested battles of their entire season. On that date the team will meet Central's fighting Tigers on the home floor. The Blue is favored by many to win the city title this year and will be in the game to wrest the crown from the Archers. On the other hand, the Green will be just as determined to gain the advantage over the Tigers in their first engagement of the year and thus almost assure themselves of at least a share in the city title. This fracas will be as unpredictable as any other Tiger-Archer battle, and should the Archers emerge with a win they will have good reason to be highly elated. Again the Green will have no chance to rest up, as they are scheduled to play Columbia City two nights later in another N. E. I. C. engagement. The Archers should take the Eagles into camp without a lot of trouble.

Berne Is New Foe
Berne, a new opponent, will travel to South Side the following Saturday. This is expected to be another rather easy contest for the Kelly Klads. The next week-end will be a double bill. On Friday New Haven will afford the opposition at South Side. The Bulldogs already are charged with a defeat at the hands of Berne, 41 to 29, and should not give the Green much trouble. Saturday night the Archers travel to Huntington. This squad is expected to provide more trouble for the Archers than the Bulldogs, but it is doubtful if they can beat out the Green.

Booster Club in Need Of More Members

Any students who would like to sell candy, ice cream, or Coca Cola at the basketball games will receive a free ticket to each game. Quite a number of students are needed in the club this year, and all students who would like to become members of this organization should report to Miss Nelle Covalt in room 28 before 3:20 Friday.

Hardwood Heroes

Editor's note—This article is the first in a series to be published weekly in order to acquaint the school with its basketball team.

Brower George, South Side's star football and basketball player, has hopes of going to Purdue, after he graduates from South Side, to play basketball and football at the Boiler-maker institute. George has been out for basketball for four years. This is his senior year and will be his second as a regular member of the varsity. In addition, he was a member of the Tournament Team in his sophomore year. A few weeks ago he climaxed his football career by being appointed to the All-City eleven.

George, who also played basketball in his grade school days at Harrison Hill, is vice-president of Lettermen's Club. He already has four letters to his credit at South Side and is well on his way to the fifth, with a gold stripe. Although Brower prefers to play basketball at South Side in the guard position, he would prefer to play football while at Purdue.

will bring two more very tough games. On Friday Hartford City will play at South Side. The Airedales must rebuild their entire team this year as all eleven of last season's varsity has graduated. The present team is composed entirely of last year's reserves. However, Coach J. B. Good always produces a good squad and is expected to bring his boys along fast enough to afford the Green a lot of opposition. The next night North Side will be the opponent. The Redskins should show a lot of improvement over their previous fracas with the Archers and should give the Green another tough battle.

The next week the Green plays their final battle of the city series, against Central. This will be another furious battle.

Except for sectional competition, the Archers conclude their basketball schedule on February 22 and 23, Friday evening the Green plays their final N. E. I. C. game against Garrett at that city. The next night, Pete Jolley's Mamee squad will travel to Fort Wayne to play the Archers. The Bearcats already have an impressive win, among others, over Hartford City and give promise of becoming one of the outstanding teams of the state. It is believed that the Bearcats will be a little too much for the Kelly Klads.

890 Season Books Sold To Students

Report Shows That Over Half of Tickets Are Bought During First Week; 110 Still Unsold.

Eight hundred ninety season athletic tickets have been sold to students for the present athletic season, according to a report issued recently by Ora M. Davis, athletic manager. Over one-half of these were sold the first week at the reduced price of two dollars. Of the 1,000 books printed, 110 have not been disposed of.

The report shows that nearly one-half of the South Side students purchased season books besides those who bought individual tickets at the gate. A total of 523 books were issued the first week of school. Teachers have sold 323 more to students in the various home rooms, and sixteen have been purchased at the gate.

Eighteen boys have been given season passes in reward for services at the football engagements, for example, taking care of the scoreboard and working on the line. Nine other complete books were sold to football players who did not see much action, at the price of one dollar in recognition for their services in the grid sport.

The complete report was as follows: 523, sold first week; 323, sold in home rooms; 16, sold at the gate; 18, given for services in football; 9, sold to football players; 1, given to one football player who played over one-fourth of all quarters; 110, unsold.

Leona Menze and Ruth Eysenberg were the Ruhl twins' guests at a ping pong party. Leona and Margaret played as a team and are as good at ping pong as they are in tennis.

Ask Marjorie Hower how it feels to be a ballet dancer. Her teacher is none other than Annie Baumgartner.

After all, Marciel Muller and Mary Ellen Kilpatrick, speedball season is over, and you should be shooting baskets instead of kicking the ball.

No, the athletic department wasn't trying to find South Side's Venus, they were merely measuring the tumblers for their costumes.

Claudine Wells, Winnie Locker, Marjorie Ruhl, Marjorie Hower, and Leona Menze were busily engaged in pumping up a basketball. Most of these girls were helping watch.

Winnie Locker is going to town, according to Margery Ruhl. That's coming from pretty good authority, too.

Sportlights

South Side's squad looked good in their opener Saturday evening against Monroeville. Considering the early season, the Archers played a nice game. They did an especially good job in holding down Chausse, Monroeville's star center and All-Sectional player from last year. During the whole game, he was held to two field goals.

In his initial appearance with a South Side net team, Eugene Jackson carried off the scoring honors for the Archers. He connected for three field goals and one free toss for seven points.

However, it cannot be said that Jackson was the only fellow who showed up well. Several others, especially those from last year's squad, made a good showing and probably gave Coach McClure a fair idea who he must use against Butler's strong aggregation this week.

After the usual hullaboo and discussion in newspapers, the selections have finally been made for the annual Rose Bowl game New Year's Day in California. Stanford, who has not been defeated all year in west coast conference competition, will represent the West. Alabama will deserve their selection by Stanford as the eastern team for the battle. Alabama is the only undefeated, untied major team in the country with the exception of Minnesota, who cannot play because of the Big Ten post-season rule. Alabama has sent several teams to the Rose Bowl tilt in past years and more than once has come back home victorious.

In the reserve game last Saturday several members of the Wavelets showed up well in their first interscholastic competition. Carl Hall and Henry Hines, both freshmen, did especially well. If these fellows continue their good work, they will be watching as future varsity material.

At the assembly before the Monroeville game, Coach McClure said he could not guarantee that the contest would not be more like a football fracas. However, he seems to have done a good job in training the team. There was comparatively little football displayed by the Archers. Only nine persons were committed by the entire team. Keep up the good work fellows. Everybody prefers a clean game!

South Side Squad To Open Second Game Here With Butler

Archer Quintet Will Work Hard To Win Fracas

Tilt To Be Last Home Game For Two Weeks; Hopeful After Monroeville Battle.

Practice Sessions Are Hard Going

Dick Long, L. Ault, G. Ault, Richards, and Hose, Expected To Be on 1st Lineup

Out after their second win of the season, the speedy South Side Archers will tackle the Butler High School quintet on the southern hardwood this Friday evening. The varsities of the two schools will clash at 8 o'clock with the reserves tangling one hour earlier. This game marks the Archers' last home appearance until the holidays. They will meet Bluffton and Auburn on their opponents' courts during the next two weeks.

The Archers came through the Monroeville tilt in good shape, and Coach McClure has been putting his charges through long practice sessions daily in order to smooth out a few of the mistakes that were made in their first game. Bill Geyer is also giving his reserves a lot of practice, and they are expected to show great improvement over their game with the Monroeville second stringers.

High Scores Made

Butler, according to advance reports, has a strong quintet and will give the Archers a run for their money. They have won all their tilts so far this season and have scored an average of over 49 points in each game. They defeated Spencerville 55 to 28 and St. Joe by a score of 53 to 22. Albion fell before their onslaught by a 52 to 12 count, and Concordia received a stinging 38 to 18 setback from them. Last season the Butler quintet, under the tutelage of Coach J. R. Moore, completed a twenty-two game schedule with only six defeats being chalked up against them.

Dick Long is the mainstay of the team. In the forward position which he has held for three years, Long has not only become the most consistent shot on the team but also is fast and tricky. L. Ault, who is out for the team for the first time this season, teams up with Long in the other forward position. He is also a consistent shot and is second only to Long in scoring.

G. Ault at center has had one year of experience but lacks the necessary height for holding down the position he specializes in. Richards, Hose, and Maggett handle the guard positions very efficiently. Richards is a junior and already has had two years of previous experience. He is an excellent guard and is very fast. He also possesses plenty of scoring ability.

Reserves Not Strong

Hose and Maggett are both underclassmen with no previous experience. Beraw, Lovely, and Knox complete the squad. The reserve team is not very strong, so the Archer Wavelets should come through with a comfortable margin.

The Archers looked good in their triumph over the Monroeville Cubs; and with the improvement which they should make in the next month, they should equal any of the quintets in this vicinity. Coach McClure is undecided as to what combination he will use for his opening lineup. However, he probably will follow the same plan he used in the Monroeville game in order to give his charges as much experience as possible.

The varsity and preliminary tilts will be officiated by McDuffee and Elliott.

Tigers Win, Redskins Lose Over Week-End

Central's five won over Portland's Panthers in their second game of the season by a very small margin of 32-31 in an overtime game at Portland last Friday.

The Tigers used the second squad throughout the entire game and were hard pressed the whole game. At the half the Tigers held a lead of 17 to 13, but at the end of the regular playing time the score stood 29 to 29. In the overtime the Tigers made two more points than the Panthers, winning the game.

North Side's Redskins lost to the Masonic Home of Franklin in their opening game before a large crowd at the North Side gym Saturday evening by a narrow margin of 25 to 23.

The Redskins led the first three periods, the score being the first quarter 8 to 5, the second being 13 to 8.

Basketball Season Is Expected To Be Most Thrilling in Years

By Dick Helm

With all the four high school quintets having opened their 1934-35 cage campaigns except Central Catholic's Barrettmens, it appears that net fans in this vicinity are due for one of the most thrilling hardwood seasons in recent years.

With nearly all the teams losing many of their best men from last year's squad by graduation, the battle for the city title looms as one of the most bitter in recent seasons. Judging from the material available and the showing in their opening clashes, it appears that Central's Tigers is the strongest team at the present time. The South Side Archers and Central Catholic's Irish seem to be about equally strong with the North Side Redskins pushing them hard.

Central suffered the least losses by graduation, losing only four men from last year's squad. Thus Coach Mendelhall has four lettermen about which to build his squad. These players are Altekruze, Riddle, Neat, and Warfield. These fellows saw plenty of action last year and are speedy and shifty and may be counted on to cause plenty of trouble for their opponents. Added to these four lettermen will be Barker, all-sectional forward of the Leo Lions last year. Barker has moved to Fort Wayne and seems assured of holding down a post on the Blue and White quintet. Added to this array of netters are Brown, L. Altekruze, Jack Paul, Steve Sitko, Armstrong, Schreff, Schockey, Bourne, Kabisch and Motter, who are all after places on the varsity squad. The surprising win of the Blue over Newcastle's Trojans shows the strength which they possess.

With the biggest squad that he has ever had, Coach Bill Barrett is confident of a successful season. The Irish lost seven good men in Murray, Talario, Laughlin, Becker, Schaffer, Quinn, and Elward by graduation, but still have Agenbroad, Schott, Sorg,

Three-fold Assembly Successful; Honor Society Members Chosen

Divided into three parts, the assembly, held Wednesday, was a huge success. It was called for the purpose of awarding plaques, announcing the National Honor Society members, introducing the basketball players and having a pep meeting.

The assembly opened with a couple of pieces from the German band which in return for its splendid playing, was showered with pennies from the more generous-minded of the students.

Mr. C. A. Bex awarded the plaques to the home rooms having the highest average on its cards. The junior home room was awarded a plaque for having the highest average of all four classes, freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior.

Honor Requirements Told

Mr. Makey told of the requirements that a senior must pass to belong to the National Honor Society, and Mr. Snider introduced the newly-elected members. They are as follows: Garland Eickmeyer, Robert Blomker, Clarabelle Chenoweth, Pauline Crabbill, Dorothea Nance, Lois Macley, Mary Osborn, Edythe Thornton, Bernita McIntosh, and Dick Schannen. These ten seniors were awarded the highest honor given at South Side. Election is held twice during the year and is based on outstanding scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

Selections were made by the following faculty committee: Mr. Herman O. Makey, chairman; the Misses Gertrude Oppelt and Mabel Thorne, E. H. Murch, and Herbert S. Voorhees. Each senior was chosen from the upper third of his class in scholarship. More new members will be named next semester from the list of the graduating seniors.

Activities Are Listed

All of the seniors honored have been outstanding in extra-curricular activities in South Side. Miss Osborn is secretary of the senior class, on the staff of the Times, and a member of the Speaker's Bureau, the G. A. A., and the U. S. A. and Travel Clubs. She is president of So-Si-Y.

Miss Crabbill is an editorial writer of the Times and is prominent in public speaking and debating activities. Wranglers, Philatelic, and other clubs.

Students Hear Talk By Dr. M. Lohman On Health Crusade

Dr. Maurice R. Lohman, president of the Anti-Tuberculosis League, addressed the assembly on Monday afternoon.

Dr. Lohman began his speech by saying that as yet there had been found no medicines to really cure tuberculosis. The most successful aids are rest, sunshine, fresh air, and a proper diet.

In the last few years much has been done to prevent tuberculosis. Hospitals and fresh air camps have been built for this purpose, he said.

The money used to help prevent tuberculosis is furnished through the sale of Christmas seals and different clubs sponsoring benefits for that purpose. There is a Kiddy Camp maintained here by the sale of the Christmas seals, which is for undernourished children.

The Sunshine Club of South Side High School is selling Crusade buttons at five cents apiece; the money received from this is for the benefit of the Anti-Tuberculosis League.

Sunshine Club To Hold Christmas Program

Jean Snyder, chairman, Francie Shepler, and Alice Nelson comprise the committee for the Sunshine Club Christmas meeting to be held December 11 in the Vorchies Room. A Christmas carol will be sung by the members. Christmas Shepler will tell a Christmas story. The members will play a Tree Game and sing several Christmas songs.

The food which the members are bringing for Christmas baskets will be collected at this meeting.

School Hears Debate

A debate sponsored by the National University Extension Association was heard by all debate students of the Hutchinson High School, Hutchinson, Kansas.

Writer Talks To School

Mr. Lawrence Peters, noted adventurer and writer, spoke about his trip to Afghanistan before an interested audience at the Cornish School, Seattle, Washington.

School Fair Held

Both students and faculty of the West Seattle High School, Seattle, Washington, were given an opportunity to display their talents at a fair sponsored by the Art Club in cooperation with various contributing departments, clubs and classes.

Blomker is president of the Student Players, a member of the Times staff and the Torch, Junior Math, Latin, Math-Science, Philatelic, Writer's, and Social Science Clubs. Miss Nance is prominent on the Times staff and in the U. S. A., So-Si-Y, Philatelic, Latin, Philo, and Math-Science Clubs, and the Speaker's Bureau.

Miss Thornton and Miss Magley are active in Times work and in the Meterte, Wranglers, Boosters, Art, Student Players, Philo, and Latin Clubs. Miss Thornton also is a member of the 1500 Club and Miss Magley is on the Totem staff.

Miss McIntosh, who is president of the Art Club, also is on the Times and Totem staffs and a member of the G. A. A., Meterte, Wranglers, French, 1500, Student Players, and Philo Clubs. Eickmeyer has been prominent in the Torch, Airplane, Junior and Senior Hi-Y's and Math-Science Clubs. Schannen participated in the state discussion contest and is a member of the Latin, Wranglers, Senior Hi-Y, Student Players, Math-Science, and Library Clubs and Speaker's Bureau. Miss Chenoweth is on the Times staff and is active in the Glee, Student Players, Philo, and French Clubs.

After the introductions were over, a pep meeting was held with the band playing a few selections. Bob Klopstein then introduced Mr. McClure who, in turn, introduced the basketball players who were to play in the Monroeville game with South Side in the order of their year in school. A few cheers were given, and the assembly ended.

Play Is Presented By Students, Glee Club Sings on Air Edition

The South Side Times radio program, broadcast Monday night at 8 o'clock, was opened with several yells by a cheering section composed of South Side students. An interesting play was presented under the direction of Miss Marjorie Suter, teacher of dramatics in the three Fort Wayne high schools.

The part of "Steve" was taken by Frank Montgomery, while Robert Haruff took the part of "Bob." The scene of this play, "The Short Cut," written by Percival Wilde, was laid in the shaft of an abandoned mine. Bob, a prominent official of a mining company, and his companion, Steve, were trapped in the mine. During the conversation in the mine, Steve revealed that he had taken Bob into the mine with the intention of killing him if he did not confirm Steve's idea that there was silver in the mine. In the end Steve used the gun with which he had intended to kill Bob to kill himself. The sound of Steve's gun helped a rescue party which had been searching for several days to find the two men.

The South Side chorus under the direction of Mr. Jack Wainwright sang the selection, "Will You Remember Me?" Bob Zeig, master of ceremonies, announced that all preparations for the Friars Club Revue are near completion. This revue is to be presented on December 14 and 15. A special matinee will be presented on Saturday afternoon for high school students. The price is 15 cents for the matinee and 50 cents for the evening performances. Tickets may be purchased from any high school student. Bob also announced that the South Side band will give a band concert at the Defiance, Ohio, High School on Tuesday night.

The band will also present the third in a series of concerts on Friday morning. A special feature of this program will be the rendering of several selections by the Defiance choir. The program was concluded with the singing of "Alma Mater" by the chorus. This song was written by Mr. Jack Wainwright and dedicated to South Side. Another program will be broadcast next Monday night at 8 o'clock.

Health Crusade Pins On Sale for Five Cents

Health Crusade pins are being sold in the halls every morning before school and every noon by the members of Sunshine Club and the different health classes. The price of these pins is only five cents, and many have already been sold. They are rectangular golden pins with red crosses in the upper left-hand corner. A knight on a horse carries out the idea of a crusade and makes the pins very attractive.

The money raised in this way will go to the Anti-Tuberculosis League.

Winners Scheduled to Appear in Finals Later in Year; Coach Contestants.

Judges Are Public Speaking Classes

Miss Dorothy Benner, Miss Patty Savage Help To Select Best of Speeches.

"The Freshman and Sophomore Speaking Contest was one of the most successful ever held at South Side," stated Miss Dorothy Benner, head of the public speaking department when she was asked about the contest. "Never before was it held before the public speaking classes and I like that system very much," she added. "This is the first year we ever used student coaches and I think that that has proved very worth while. The winners of this series of contest will appear in the final contest later in the year."

Winners Are Named
Helen Kelsey, coached by Manuel Rothberg; Vernon Miller, coached by Wayne Bender; Richard Rastetter, coached by Ira Gerig, and Ruth Garrison, coached by Mary Osborn, placed first in the sophomore division.

Charles Hart, Mary Lou Helm, Leona Menze, and Eleanor Paetz, whose coaches were Leon Underwood, Eleanor Culp, Pauline Crabill, and George Orr respectively, placed second in the sophomore division.

John Bex and Maxine Morton placed third. The coaches were Manuel Rothberg and Ursula Morton.
Dorothy Benner, Kathleen Witmer, Janet Hartman, and Joan Bonish, whose coaches were Bob Klopfenstein, Virginia Schriefer, Ann Abbott, and Betty Peters, respectively, placed first in the freshman division.

Margaret Wunder, Ruth Gerber, Betty Gross, and Julia Crabill placed second. Their coaches were Virginia Kincaide, Virginia Schriefer, Maxine Marlotte, and Pauline Crabill respectively.

LaDonna Gerber, Pat Russ, Martha Anne Bacon, and Paul McConnell placed third in the freshman division. This series of Freshmen and Sophomore speaking contests in which freshmen competed against freshmen and sophomores against sophomores were given before the public speaking classes. The freshmen spoke on Monday and the sophomores on Tuesday.

Three Votes Taken
In each instance the three judges were Miss Dorothy Benner; Miss Patty Savage, a South Side graduate; and the public speaking classes.

The contestants in each case were coached by upperclassmen. These coaches helped them in collecting material and in writing and delivering the speeches.

The following were other speakers in the contests: Betty Schultz, Robert Storm, Lois Wyneken, John Edwards, Ruth Berning, Mary Lou Lankenau, Peggy Kilpatrick, Ruth Goegelein, Rodney Stair, Oscar Eggers, James Hiatt, and Phyllis Roller.

The following were the remaining coaches: George Ann Martin, John Bremer, Richard Schenck, Bill Gove, Myron Jones, Doris Garrison, Frank Montgomery, Sonia Volkoff, Bernadette Dygert, Anna Brumbaugh, Margaret Murphy, Dick North, Eugene Holtman, and Dorothea Nance.

Art Classes Preparing For Christmas Season

"Make all your gifts yourself" is the motto of the pupils of Miss Erma Dochtermann's classes. In preparation for the Yuletide season, they are dyeing fabrics, making wood blocks for Christmas cards, modeling clay, and making water color paintings to be framed.

Edward Turner is carving wood into a variety of figures.
All the classes are also making the decorations for the Lettermen's dance.

Members of Rotary Club Are Guests of School at Luncheon

South Side High School was host to the members of the Rotary Club last Monday when that organization held one of its weekly noon luncheons in the Greeley Room. Several departments and organizations of the school united in entertaining the club.

Miss Mellen supervised the cafeteria staff in the preparation of the food for the meal.

Several Philo girls did the serving as a service project. They are Edythe Thornton, Maxine Borchert, Alice Hulse, Alice Mae Seabold, Mary Martha Hobrock, Margaret Murphy, Dorothy Fathauer, Joanne Smith, Clarice Fyock, Betty English, Dorothy Crabill, and Alma Nitzsche.

Under the supervision of Miss Dochtermann, four students of the art department made the programs and decorations which were carried out in blue and gold, the colors of the Rotary Club. A large Rotary wheel was suspended in the center of the room and the six tables beneath were arranged as spokes of the wheel. A large blue glass bowl filled with yellow mums was placed in the center of each table, and yellow candles in blue glass holders lighted the room.

The face of the Madonna on the mantle was softly illuminated by the candles on either side. The lights on the Christmas tree which stood near the fireplace combined with the soft glow of the fire and of the candles throughout the room to give a very pleasing effect in the darkened room. New screens placed about the room to make a pretty background completed the simple but effective decorations.

The programs were covered with blue suede with the gold rotary wheel blocked printed on them. These programs contained information concerning the

Dickens' Play Will Be Given By Puppeteers

"Christmas Carol" Will Be Presented in Study Hall By Marionette Members.

For their first play of the season, the Marionette Club will present Dickens' "Christmas Carol" to the student body. It will be given in the study hall the seventh period, Wednesday, December 19, for the admission price of five cents. The students having tickets will be excused from their seventh period classes.

The story in the original form was too long to be given in one period, so a committee consisting of Eliza Besse Lucas, Georgetown McIntire, and Charles Hart rewrote it to suit the time and materials on hand.

The people who were assigned to manipulate the puppets in the play are as follows: Norman Budde, Bob Crachett; Millie Hoff, Mrs. Crachett; Bob Wiehe, Peter Crachett; Emily Gardner, Martha Crachett; Louise Closs, Tim Tim; John Bex, Scrooge; Kenneth Ecott, Marley; Christmas Present and Future, Mary Ann Park.

Special work on the children to be used in the play was done by Ruth Eyleben and Marjorie Ruhl. Although not quite all of the characters of the story appear in the play, the play is well filled out with the main events.

The members of the club have worked hard for the past two months making, dressing, and rehearsing the marionettes. The special committees appointed for this occasion are: business, Dick Russell, chairman; Helen Walbert, LaVerne Boyce, and Clarice Fyock; stage, Kenneth Scott and Charles Hart; properties, Tomaline Hudson, Mary Zimmerman, and Helen Potochi; back stage, Doreen Russell and Lorraine Meyer. Norman Budde donated to the club the use of his stage. Charles Hart will be official herald.

This play is not the first to be given to the student body. The performance of Little Mr. Pickens delighted the people who attended the Little Party given by the sophomore class last year.

Club Holds Contest

Jack Rehner was the winner in the flying scale contest and Paul Fairfield was victor in the endurance contest of the try-out match sponsored by the Model Airplane Club Thursday evening, December 6, in the gym in order to allow the members a chance to test out their planes for the city contest. These cookies are Lebkuchen, A Christmas party, spring-erle, and Mandelschnitte. To be served with these cookies are ice cream bars and candy canes.

At the last meeting, held last Wednesday in the Voorhees Room, Eugene Holtman and Katherine Simmering reviewed the life of Richard Wagner. They told of many interesting and important phases of his life.

As musical contributions to the meeting, Donald Vetter played a composition by Wagner called "Pilgrim's Chorus," and Arleth Carvin also played one of his selections named "Bridal March." A recorded selection was played also. This piece was the "Tannhauser March."

Plans for a Christmas basket were made at the regular meeting of the Meterites December 11. Eleanor White and Doreen Russell are to deliver the basket. Each Meterite is to contribute fifteen cents for the basket by the end of next week. A Christmas party is being planned for next Tuesday evening in the Greeley Room.

Miss Alice Patterson stated the mothers' gym class will meet this next week, December 17. She also stated the first meeting in the new year would be on January 7. On the fourth of January the mothers will hold their annual pot-luck, which will close this semester's work and play.

Christmas Presents In Form of Archers Are Very Practical

Miss Mary Helen Ley has thought of an idea by which many students may solve their Christmas problem. This idea is being carried out by the Art Club, and it is the sale of Archer statuettes. The statuette is very ornamental, and it portrays an archer kneeling with a drawn bow in his hand. A small hat with a feather in it, covers the head, and the archer is clad in the typical suit worn by the archers of Sherwood forest. It was modeled by Don Baker, who graduated in the class of '34, and it is the permanent new school emblem and will be used as the emblem in future years.

These statuettes may be used as book-ends, paper weights, and ornaments for the home. There is a limited number of these models so you are warned now to get yours early. They may be procured from your home room teacher, any member of the Art Club, or in Room 61. The price is fifty cents. The statuette comes in three colors: bronz, ivory, and green and white.

John Bremer, Wayne Bender To Head Staff

Miss Rowena Harvey Names General Managers for Next Semester at Potluck.

At the Times potluck held in the cafeteria last Saturday, Miss Rowena Harvey, faculty adviser of the Times, announced the general managers of the school paper for next semester. They are two senior boys, John Bremer and Wayne Bender. Wayne Bender will head the staff for the first two months of the next year.

Wayne has been on the staff for three years, while John has worked for two; but both boys have worked hard and have been very active in connection with work on the weekly.

Wayne Bender has held various positions on the paper's staff including those of reporter, proof-reader, copy editor, make-up editor, and news editor. Just recently he has been active on the publication by working as managing editor. He is not only interested in journalism, but in other extracurricular activities as well. He belongs to Model Airplane Club, Glee Club, 1500 Club, and Senior Hi-Y. He is also president of Math-Science and a member of the Speakers Bureau.

John, too, has held many positions on the publications staff. He has been copy reader, copy editor, news editor, and now is managing editor with Wayne Bender. Club activities also take up much of his time. He is a member of 1500 Club and Travel Club, vice-president of Senior Hi-Y, point-keeper for French Club, and a member of the Speakers Bureau. He is active in intramural sports, too, as he is an intramural letterman.

Temporary changes have also been made in the present staff of the paper. These changes are: News editor, Manuel Rothberg; make-up editor, Virginia Vesey; copy editor, Bob Storm; and business manager, Louis Bonish.

Library Club Has New Point System

Gold Letters Will Be Awarded At Annual Recognition Day; Violet Wittmer Gives Talk.

Discussion of the new point system was held at the meeting of the Library Club December 5. The rewards for point earnings will be: bronze silver, and gold letter "L." The points have been so arranged that after earning 25 points each person gets a bronze L; after earning 50 points, a silver L; and after earning 100 points, a gold L, which is to be awarded on Annual Recognition Day.

The whole senior year is to be devoted to gaining a gold L, and junior year to the gaining of the silver and bronze L's, as only junior and seniors are allowed to join the staff. Points are to be awarded for library work during study periods or after school, for work on program committees, and for attendance at meetings or an acceptable excuse for absence for absences. The working out of the system was done by the executive committee consisting of Frank Montgomery, president; Helen Hickman, vice-president; Catherine Hirschman, secretary; Virginia Beck, Inter-Club Congress representative, and Clayton Kilpatrick, sergeant-at-arms.

After the discussion of the business a short program was presented by club members. Violet Wittmer gave an interesting talk on "County Libraries." Eugene Holtman gave a poem, "Book Marks We Have Met" and Clayton Kilpatrick reviewed "With Banners" by Emilie Loring.

Bud Goldman's Band To Furnish Music

Bud Goldman's Orchestra will play for the tea dance given by the Booster Club tomorrow in the cafeteria. Many students are expected to turn out for the affair because the last tea dance was held an entire month ago.

The orchestra promises to be better than ever since they have recently cancelled all contracts in order to prepare new arrangements.

Miss Martha Pittenger and Miss Emma Kiefer have been selected as chaperones for the dance. The dance committee consists of all members of the dance committee of the Booster Club, Pauline Crabill, Bernadette Dygert, Harriett Yapp, and Virginia Vesey.

Plans Are Completed For Friar Club Revue To Be Held At Shrine

Pupils Have Not Been Supporting Ticket Sale As Well As Was Expected.

Miss Ley's Home Room Sells Most

Mr. Park's Class Is Second In Campaign; Admission For Matinee, 15 Cents.

Students of South Side have not been backing up the Friar's Club Revue as well as they should. The revue, which is to be given December 14 and 15, is for the benefit of South Side's music department; and all students should co-operate and sell as many tickets as possible.

Approximately seventy-five tickets for the evening performance have been sold by the home room pupils. Miss Mary Helen Ley's room, 61, heads the list with sixteen tickets, ten of which were sold by one student. Eight tickets have been sold by Mr. Delivan Park's room, 26. Among those selling five and four tickets are Rooms 64, 77, and 138. Others who have sold one or over are Rooms 52, 60, 72, 75, 176, 92, 45, 36, 30, 146, and the library.

Matinee performance tickets for school students on Saturday are also being sold for fifteen cents. These tickets will be sold in the home rooms.

Central and North Side are also selling tickets. South Side students, back up the music department by selling as many tickets as possible!

Art Club To Have Christmas Party

Festive Program Will Feature December 19 Meeting; Betty English, Program Chairman.

A Christmas party will be the feature of the next Art Club meeting, which will be held next Wednesday at 3:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room. Betty English is in charge of this meeting. She has, as her assistants, Dorothy Geary, Rosemary Chappel, Bonnie Craig, Alice Hulse, and Wayne Decker. A very interesting program has been planned. Margaret Murphy will read a Christmas story, Miss Gretchen Smith will give a talk, Christmas carols will be played by the harp ensemble, and Harriet Basford will give a piano selection. Refreshments will be served.

Art Club Christmas paper will be on sale in the west hall next week. It is very attractive, so everyone should keep this in mind because they will want to buy some. Also if you have not gotten one of the attractive model archers, you should not fail to do so. Be sure to get your order in soon as there is only a limited amount to be sold before Christmas.

The last meeting of this club was held Wednesday, December 5. Mr. Rex Potter spoke on the early history of Fort Wayne. He made the point that our city is the oldest continuous residence of white people in Indiana. It was announced at this meeting that Mr. R. Nelson Snider and Miss Mary Helen Ley will give prizes for the best seller of the model archers.

Student Players Enjoy Celebration

Jean Ward's Pupils Present Tap and Acrobatic Dances; Charles Allen Plays Piano Selections.

Several pupils of Jean Ward's dancing school gave tap dances and an acrobatic dance as the main feature of the entertainment at the Student Players' Christmas party held last Friday in the Greeley Room.

A business meeting, which was called to order by the chair, Bob Blomker, was held before the party. The minutes and roll call were read by the secretary. Miss Suter made several announcements which will again be given at a later date in the Times and bulletin.

Dick Hobson sang "I Love You Truly," "Down by the Old Swimming Hole," and "Way Out West in Kansas," after which Joanne Smith played "Stay As Sweet As You Are" and "Rain" for dancing. Charles Allen also played for dancing. Phyllis and Buddy Puff gave a tap dance which was followed by a military tap dance by Ervin Lee Potts. Germaine Johnson gave a dance entitled "My Hat on the Side of My Head." Phyllis Puff concluded the program with an acrobatic dance. These pupils were accompanied by Charles Allen at the piano.

After this, refreshments were served by the members on the committee.

Christmas Party Held
A program consisting of poems, songs, and games was given at the Christmas party of the Sunshine Club held in the Voorhees Room last Tuesday. "Jingle Bells" was sung by the members, and Francie Shepler read about the "Corn Husk Doll." Betty Calkins and Thelma Erwin received the prizes for the "Christmas Tree" game. In conclusion the members sang "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

Any food for the Christmas basket is to be taken to Room 32 by December 20.

Three Elected To Journalistic Honor Society

Adviser Names Lois Magley, Berneta McIntosh, Edythe Thornton To Membership.

Berneta McIntosh, Edythe Thornton, and Lois Magley were elected to Quill and Scroll International Honor Society last Saturday evening at the Times pot-luck. All three girls have been active in publications work during their school life.

Edythe Thornton has been active on the Times staff, holding the positions of ad solicitor, copy editor, society editor, column writer, editorial writer, and editor.

Berneta McIntosh has served on the Times staff as proofreader, copy editor, society editor, reporter, bill collector, room agent, and editorial writer. She is now co-business manager of the "Totem."

Lois Magley has worked on the editorial staff for some time. She now holds the position of assistant news editor. Last year she won the Totem and this year she holds an editing position, although it has not been officially announced.

These girls will each be awarded a gold Quill and Scroll pin and a year's subscription to the Quill and Scroll magazines.

Before announcing the names of those being honored, Miss Harvey, faculty adviser of both the Times and the Totem, explained that because the scholastic average of the 1935 class was so high, only a small number of seniors were eligible to Quill and Scroll this semester. She also added that higher individual grades might make more students eligible for Quill and Scroll in the spring.

To be eligible for Quill and Scroll International Honor Society, one must stand in the upper third of the class, scholastically; be a 12A at least, and have been a member of either the Times or the Totem staffs for a full year doing outstanding work throughout that time.

The Quill and Scroll banquet for North Side and South Side jointly will be held downtown sometime in May after the June graduates have been recognized.

South Sider Gains Interview With Ted Lewis, Stage Star

By Hugh Scott

Walking down a flight of stairs, backstage of the Emboyd Theatre, turning down one corridor and into another, we finally came upon the dressing rooms of Ted Lewis' troupe. The passage was filled with the trunks, wardrobes, and grips of the players. Peering into one trunk, we saw that old top hat of Ted's with the silver lining. Passing on into one of the dressing rooms, we asked several of the show people for their signatures. While they were signing, we looked around the smoke-filled room. The odor of grease paint was in the air, and filled one with the longing to be on the stage.

We asked one of the men where the "Medicine Man for the Blues" could be found. He directed us, with a wide grin, toward another dressing room. Soon we were talking to Ted, who graciously gave us a brief account of his colorful career. He told us he was 47 years old, and that his folks lived in Circleville, Ohio. His first job was in a music store, where he acquired the ability to play any of the various musical instruments. He grew restless, however, and with four boys started a band in Coney Island. His band furnished the music for that stupendous musical comedy, "The Greenwich Polliets," and he wrote the lyrics for it. His ever-popular theme song is as you all know, "When My

First Part of Opening Act Is To Be Called "A Preview of the Revue."

Tickets For Sale In Home Rooms

A Cappella Chorus of North Side, Central Glee Club Will Be Contributions.

Plans are being completed for the Friars Club Revue to be held December 14 and 15 in the Shrine Auditorium. Tickets are on sale in the home rooms at fifty cents for the evening performances and fifteen cents for the matinees. Jack Wainwright, assisted by H. D. Cottrill, is in charge of all the numbers.

The first part of the opening act will be called "A Preview of the Revue." Everyone in the cast will parade across the stage in costume. South Side's band will follow the preview with the selection "Cheerio," and the music department will present a pantomime of "The Old Spinning Wheel." Luella Feiertag will sing the vocal chorus accompanied by Betty Wainwright on the harp.

North Side Contributes

Act two will be introduced by North Side High School's contribution to the program. The A Cappella Choir of that school will sing several selections and the Bryan twins, Wallace and Franklin, will present a marionette duet. An "Ancient, Medieval, and Modern Friar Club History" will be given under the direction of Miss Alice Patterson. The Violet Reinwald Prentice review of seven nations will be the climax of the first half of the program. Ireland, France, England, Russia, Spain, America, and South America will be represented, the latter by the Caricoa.

Following a ten-minute intermission, the Friar professional football team of twenty-five years ago on which Knute Rockne and other notables played, will be dramatized by a group of South Side tumblers. The girls, who have been trained by Miss Alice Patterson and Miss Gretchen Smith are: Snaveley, Kover, Wilkerson, Fiske, Pawlish, Disler, Locker, White, Kirby, Baumgartner, B. Scheele, Heuer, and McKean.

The Friar toy collection and Christmas tree party will be depicted under the direction of Miss Marjorie Suter assisted by the Boy Scouts and the girls' physical education department.

Ladder Dance Planned

A ladder dance, dramatizing the Friar Frolics, held annually in the old Temple Theatre many years ago, will also be presented. The girls who will take part are: Pawlish, Snaveley, Locker, Baumgartner, D. Scheele, Wilkerson, Roberts, and Fiske.

The last act will be opened by the Central contribution, which will precede the Colonial Chorus. This chorus will consist of the Girls' Glee Club accompanied by the harp ensemble in colonial costumes. The Old Port Players will present a comedy quartet, and the Friars will give a comical interpretation of "The Bubble Dance." The second part will be climaxed by a twenty-five minute concert by the South Side band. "The Destruction of Atlantis" or "Atlantis Suite" by Sanfrank will be the feature.

Several prominent music critics will be in attendance at the performances, which will last approximately two and one quarter hours.

Has New French Course

A new type of French is being taught this term at Central High School, Detroit, Michigan. The culture and customs of French people are taught. French games are played and French songs are sung. If the subject is popular, they plan to carry it through the four high school grades.

South Sider Gains Interview With Ted Lewis, Stage Star

By Hugh Scott

Walking down a flight of stairs, backstage of the Emboyd Theatre, turning down one corridor and into another, we finally came upon the dressing rooms of Ted Lewis' troupe. The passage was filled with the trunks, wardrobes, and grips of the players. Peering into one trunk, we saw that old top hat of Ted's with the silver lining. Passing on into one of the dressing rooms, we asked several of the show people for their signatures. While they were signing, we looked around the smoke-filled room. The odor of grease paint was in the air, and filled one with the longing to be on the stage.

Bravely Batter Bluffton's Bossy Basketeers!
The forgotten man: The other senator from Louisiana.
The question of the week seems to be: Tea dance or not tea dance.
Don't be mistaken. The Friars' Revue doesn't mean a church assembly.
Start saving shekels scrupulously. The Junior Hi-Y skating party is not far off.

Did you notice that sign in the front hall which says, "What do you reap? What do you sow?" Sow what?
As the freshman remarked when he tried to make two ends of a piece of twine meet around a box, "Well, I shouldn't be surprised. Didn't you ever hear the old saying, 'Never the twine shall meet'?"

If you notice any sophomores or freshmen going around the halls who can't talk above a whisper, don't be surprised. They are only ex-contestants in the freshmen-sophomore speech competition.

Do Your Own

People, especially certain ones, depend entirely too much on the other person. They never complete their work satisfactorily or have their materials with which to work. They think, "Why should I worry myself? I can borrow Jean's book; and, if I don't solve the problem, I can get the answer from Jim. He always does his work." (They make this comment rather scornfully.)

Maybe these people can slide through grade and high school doing their work this way; but, what are they going to do when they get out in "the big, cold world"? Then, it's not so easy to ride along on the other person, although it is done, but not, as you have noticed, by those who are trying to make successes of themselves.

Regardless of whether you have high ambitions or not, do not chisel in on the other person's work!

Let's Do Better

Recently when the grade cards were issued we selected our subjects for the coming semester. The importance of this work has been mentioned often, but the desired co-operation has not yet been obtained from the students. It is absolutely necessary that subjects be designated accurately, for it is from these selections that the classes are chosen for next year. If subjects not marked clearly as to terms I, II, etc., the classes have been arranged on an erroneous basis. For example: if home economics is chosen, it should be specified, and it should be pointed out whether sewing or cooking is desired and also the semester desired. A large percentage of students have been careless in preparing this important information. In the near future we will have an opportunity to choose the periods desired. Let us be more accurate and more specific this time and show a definite improvement over our last program cards.

You Have Something to Learn

"The more we study the more we discover our ignorance." Too often seniors get the idea that they know just about all there is to know about a subject. Being the oldest class in the school, it is very easy to acquire this false notion. It is hard to realize that after one has diligently pursued a subject for a period of four years, there is a great deal more to be learned about it. If we stop to consider, we realize that in high school we just touch the high spots, but in later study we really go into the subject deeply. After the first two years of Latin one feels that he has a fairly good understanding of the subject, but after four years of studious work we realize how little we know of the language. This holds true in all subjects.
"A senior knows and knows that he knows."
"A junior knows but doesn't know that he knows."
"A sophomore doesn't know and knows that he doesn't know."
"A freshman knows not and knows not he knows not."

Movies Educational

Great educators have always recognized the movies as an important educational factor. They realize that if we are unable to understand something in print, we may be able to understand it in picture form.

A great reformation is now taking place in our present day films. Instead of being demoralizing, the movies are becoming more and more valuable. As high school students, we, especially, ought to note and appreciate this change. We are the ones who are in the important stage of our education, and we are the people who will benefit by this reformation.

Our modern screen plays are not only beneficial to us but most interesting and entertaining. Some of our latest and best-attended shows are directly historical as "Voltaire," "Henry VIII," "The Scarlet Empress," and "Operator 13." Others are purely literary plays, such as "Little Women," and "The Barretts of Wimpole Street."

Much of the great improvement has come through the newly organized censorship board in Hollywood. Since these people are earnestly striving to give us better shows, let us do our part by patronizing these selected productions.

Freshman Fantasy

Monsieur Modiste
(With Apologies to the Madam)

The basketball season opened with a brilliant affair in the gymnasium. The Archers turned out in natty new uniforms consisting of green and white striped tops fashioned with a low neckline and held cunningly with cotton strips over the shoulders. In pleasing contrast was the plain white of the cute little panties cut high and held with a belt which buckled in front. Each dainty ankle peeped out from a circle of short sock. One player wore becoming leather kneelets in dark ebony. The Cubs modelled a striking combination of orange and pansy purple, beautifully embroidered with an identifying numeral. The referees appeared in stunning sweaters of white and black respectively and with ankle-length slacks.

The janitor flaunts a rare sleeveless overall in blue with narrow white stripes and patch pockets in front and behind. Attractive little patches of cloth for the ears in black, green, and even red are in vogue this year. They are draped over the head with a narrow bandeau of flexible steel.

The prevailing motif this season is an interesting one. Blouses are of plain colors, principally of red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo or violet. Some are black. Collars are of the turn-down variety, set off with gaudily colored neckerchiefs. These are tied and allowed to flow unless confined by an ornamental gold bar. Small mother-of-pearl buttons down the front complete the ensemble. Trousers are being worn. Convenient side pockets are provided and fullness at the knees is the rule. Further garments for the torso consist of sweaters of various colors, styles, and materials; camel's hair (or is it goat's beard) is frequent. Jackets are occasionally seen in the classes. I wonder why? Perhaps these are the speedy twerps figuring on a quick getaway.

Magna Cum Laude

There are few things that the student body enjoys more than the pep session. There are few things that are received with such enthusiasm. And there are fewer things more talked of or more popular. Whether we go to the gym filled with an enthusiastic desire to yell our heads off for the dear old school or whether we go there with an indolent idea of sitting and dreaming, we all welcome a pep session. Some of us seem to have the idea that all that is necessary for a pep session is for the home room teacher to announce it. And then we all troop down to the gym and either yell or study. Some of the students don't even seem to realize that the purpose of a pep session is to stir up more enthusiasm for the game and to show the team that the school is really back of them, win or lose. They seem to regard it as a kind of extra study period sent by heaven for their especial benefit. They show absolutely no respect or courtesy for the yell leaders who work so hard to get them to yell. They seem to forget that it takes work and long hours of practice to prepare a session. They don't appreciate the thought put in on one program in which the cheer leaders entertain the audience so successfully by presenting an amusing little skit or play. They don't appreciate the time it takes to collect all the "scenery" which adds so much to the act. But nevertheless, despite the discourtesy and inattention frequently shown to them, the boys go right on, working, thinking, and planning in order to make the team realize that the school body is back of them.

Far from being ignorant of the work they do and unappreciative of it, we should know and acknowledge their work. We should show our gratitude for the part they play in boosting the school and making it one of the best in the country. The cheer leaders are Rex Knorr, Bud Jones, Cliff Schrom, Phil Green, Bud Mahurin, and Don Bazinet.

The Tiny Times

Daffy Ditties

I thought and thought
And thought in vain,
To find some dirt
At the studes to sling.

So I stopped thinking,
And I wrote instead;
Some silly nonsense
From an empty head:

"Betty and Jack,
In the ol' Times Room;
Speak on the sly of
Their future honeymoon.

Walter Winchell,
The Second, is looser!
Am I right, Louise?
Now raise the deuce.

Mary (we heard)
Has trouble with her hair.
What's wrong, Erv?
You should be there.

If little Betty G.
Rates our great Knocko;
Billy-boy is unfortunate,
But she is very lucky.

Bob Klopfenstein
Dictates to Pettit;
I mean on the typewriter,
Do you get it?

Then there's the good one
We heard about Platt;
Look out, Gerry!

Speaking of blondes,
Remember Stair?
Well, brunettes turn blond
Most everywhere."
(Central—Rah! Rah!)

Around the School

It was written on Carl Hall's card that he had a palpitating heart at the sight of girls. Gee, we didn't know it was that bad, Carl.

What's this? Again we see Killen and W. Decker strolling about the halls together.

Here's luck to Ellinger and Stump. They've got a good start.

Since Kimball and Fritz go about together, Ruth doesn't have dates with other guys. How do you do it, Kimball?

Delbert Dickmeyer acts like Pressy Pembroke. Well, folks, draw your own comparison.

Darwan Kessler doesn't even know a good girl when he goes with one.

A. Branning might as well keep out of the Allendorph-Blomker affair, because it will not do any good. Don't you know what "steady" means, Aileen?

Why did Dick Busch leave the dance early last Wednesday? Maybe it's because he curls his hair.

Why isn't Jean Kranz wearing a North Side letter sweater? Maybe Louie lost his.

Well, Jones, how do you like walking home from Margaret's house in this chilly weather? Especially when it's so early.

Cowen and Woods seem to hit it off quite well together. You surely got a good start.

Gwen Horn and Art Freuchtemicht seem to be setting a good example. They make a swell pair.

Why does V. Montgomery always make Janet Fisher change her seat in study hall?

Elgain Stump has a very good system. He sits in the study hall and lets the girls come to him.

Don't some people know that variety is the spice of life. At least Crise thinks so.

Aileen Branning and E. Stump sitting together in the study hall after school. We hear that one of them wants it to be serious. We wonder which one.

Theme of the Week

A Girl's Short Story Rambles
Joanne Smith
English 6 Miss Demaree Grade A

The French have a proverb which is very applicable to literature of all kinds. It is as follows: "Un livre est un ami qui ne trame jamais; c'est, a book is a friend which never deceives. Likewise, a short story is a friend which never deceives."

My first rambles in short stories were through fairyland and palaces of kings. Grimm's fairy tales and stories of King Arthur and his court were my favorites. Naturally, I soon tired of the unreal and began to delve into the realm of literature pertaining to real life. This led to paths of literature depicting modern problems and conditions.

A set of short stories by O. Henry acquainted me with a new pleasure from the books in our home. Donn Byrne came next as my favorite author. Avidly I would search each month's magazines for one of his stories. I think it was the magic sound of his name that acquainted me with Irish literature.

Meanwhile, I was wandering through the stories of John Galsworthy, Edna Ferber, Edison Marshall, Guy de Maupassant, Ben Ames Williams, Booth Tarkington, Theodore Dreiser, Dorothy Canfield Fisher, and H. C. Bruner. The last writer especially fascinated me because of his droll humor and uncanny knowledge of the faults and fancies of human nature. These writings greatly enriched my knowledge of different types of short stories and the diversified techniques of the authors.

Soon I began to divide my stock of stories read into lists of common and preferred. Common stories dealing with fantastic, sophisticated people. I soon tramped into the dust on my literary road. I enjoyed very much the stories, "The Grey Angel," "Sire de Maltrot's Door," "The Wake," "The Lost Phoebe," and "The Three Strangers" because they were delightfully and artistically written, and I know they will linger long in my memory as I travel down the path to the sunburst of literary glory. Edgar Allen Poe's horror stories, Thomas Burke's stories of Limehouse, Margaret Prescott Montague's simple mountain folk, and Fannie Hurst's stories of New York inhabitants all intrigued me greatly, and carried me far away, so that I had to be brought back to earth with a thud when I was buried in their magic. Is there any better proof of the author's skill?

In short, I have rambled through modern short stories with the attitude of an omnivorous seeker of the richest literary treasures, whose chief delight is in plundering the spoils of a good story. My experiences in this literary field have been widely varied and diversified, but they have left me with a firm impression of the characteristics of a good short story, and how to enjoy it.

Archer Atrocities

What's this about "Dot" Durbin's new nickname.... Thanks, "Tweet, tweet," but we didn't have enough room for your contributions. Maybe next week.... Bob took a Long fall when he fell for Evelyn Knack.... We hear that there's a big case of jealousy between V. Baumgartner and Barbara Uran over that fellow from Columbia City.... The mysterious Mr. X wants to know why we don't put crossword puzzles in The Times since they don't read it anyhow.... Listen my children, and you shall hear of the great mystery solved at last. The person that Robert Brodick winks at in the study hall is Kathryn Freeman.... We also hear that Phyllis Barrows was the first guest (?) to attend Miss Rehors's "scrubbing party".... Ann, who's watch are you wearing this Winter?... The reason that Jack Rosenberger goes around with such a long face is that Helen Adams refused to go to a skating party with him.... Virginia Vesey, speaking of pins, Lloyd Grodrian is one fellow you've had dates with and whose pin you never got. What's the matter, Vesey, didn't he give you enough time or were you too busy?

We received a note this week saying that Gwen Horn surely lives up to her name because she likes to blow off a lot.... Melvin's death Bell rang when he first started taking that Central girl, billian Elmer, out.... Here is a note that was salvaged from a horrible death in the waste-paper basket: I heard Mildred Mitchell tell William Meyer that you liked me. (Is that true?) If you answer, please address your answer to B-4 so that B-3 can't see it. Listen, ask Helen Myers if she still likes Jack Rosenberger. He wants to know. Signed, Jack Rosenberger.... We wonder what those crazy signs on the blackboard in the study hall mean. The acts of an unbalanced lunatic?... Louise B. must be "breaking in" that little fellow she's seen around with.... Billy surely is being Kortized by those two fire-eating girls, Elizabeth Ann Neff and Kathryn Cook.... R. Hopson writes in and wants us to tell B. Craig that she has more than she can handle and she ought to give J. Creighton a chance.... Glenn Pressler writes in and says that he won't desert that little gal in New York, so the girls don't have a chance.... We hear that Dick Reinke and Art Keller had a good time Saturday night after the game. They not only crashed a party composed of Mary Carlson, Bud Reshell, Pat Kellerer, and Tom Benigan, but they had the nerve to break up a taffy pull given by Jack Dawson, Dean Hockensmith, Dorothy Willson, Frank Hibbins, Jane Bradley, and Bob Shirley.... The davenport held the twain, Fair Margie B. and Scott, her swain. Headshe.

But then a step upon the stair,
And father finds them sitting there.
He.... and.... she.

Add cute sightings: Rex Knorr and Betty Meigs holding hands in the gym during the assembly.... Ann Brothers wants to know the last name of that Jack boy from Central who goes with Helen Potocki.... Tsk! Tsk! Who'da thought it? When Mr. Gilbert asked the Honorable Mr. Heine where he got that new dictionary he noticed in his room, Mr. Heine replied glibly, "Oh, I swiped it".... Ah! What's this we hear about Elsie Campbell receiving letters beginning, "My dear little sugar plum" and ending, "Love, Robert".... Here's an original poem that we received:
See that fellow moping there?
That's Hugh pining for his Margie fair.
With her he was all infatuated,
With her he thought he rated.
But she threw his hopes down to the ground,
And now his mind is not quite sound.
For all day through, wicked schemes he does concoct,
To get his friends in dirt columns "knocked".

There once was an innocent lad,
Whose life Scott made quite sad;
By writing slander about him that was quite untrue,
And day by day this lad's animosity grew;

Until yesterday he picked up Hugh and tossed him the window through.
On the sidewalk he did alight,
Which served the trouble-maker right.

Mademoiselle Modiste
By Rosemary Chappell

From the ancient Romans comes a new creation of fashion. In olden days the stylish Roman lady wore a tunic. Now, as the saying goes, "history repeats itself," and the girls of today enhance themselves with tunics.

A rust color satin tunic is shown by Mary Shaffer. With brown accessories, it produces a decorative effect against a sport skirt of brown. The butcher-boy collar is contrasted by a brown satin kerchief. This clever "kerchief" fastens by two ornamental gold clasps. Long, full, sleeves fasten in wide bands around the wrist. The tunic is completed by a brown suede belt.

Peacock blue finds favor with Carolyn Disla. A striking harmony of color is formed with the brown crepe skirt. The yoke comes to two points in front and then forms a belt which buckles in the back. A shirt waist style collar is used with a "kerchief" trimmed in brown fringe. Tiny covered buttons down the front are an added attraction.

Gerry Buhl chooses a fashionable tunic of black crepe. It is set off by a white lace collar and cuffs. From the neckline to the belt is a row of small silver buttons. The full sleeves are gathered around the wrist in Scoop! Flash! During Thanksgiving vacation Dorothy Geary went to Erie to see her big, curly-headed blonde, handsome beau, Jimmie Edmonds. She arrived at Erie about 8:45 p. m. John Bremer To Lead Discussion Tonight on "Girl Friends;" To Give Skate Party Report.

"What boys should expect of their girl friends" is the subject for discussion at the Senior Hi-Y tonight at 7:30 at the Y. M. C. A. John Bremer, vice-president, will lead the discussion. Plans for the annual mixer party will be formulated by Lloyd Grodian, chairman of the entertainment committee, and Bob Klopstein, chairman of the refreshment committee. It is understood that the party will be held sometime during Christmas vacation, but as yet a definite date has not been set; Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Null and Mr. Dwight Shirey, adviser, will act as chaperones. Mr. Null will tell several stories as part of the evening's entertainment. Final report will be made on the skating party.

"The Boys of the Open Road," was discussed by a Mr. Butts, who has traveled all over the United States in order to do research work along this line. As his talk was very interesting and as well as educational, both the South Side Juniors and the North Side Redskins were invited to this meeting. Mr. Butts pointed out the deplorable conditions existing today in thousands of hobo camps throughout the United States. A plan was also discussed whereby the membership of the club might be increased as the membership has fallen down considerably in the past few weeks.

Philo Girls Hear Mrs. Fiegall Talk

"A Christmas for Tony" Is Reviewed; Christmas Carols Are Sung; Refreshments Served.

Although there was to be no Philo business meeting, Alice Hulise, before turning the meeting over to the program chairman, announced that Marjorie Wainwright was in charge of the Christmas gift and all Philo girls should pay at least ten cents to her in the near future.

Opening the program was Kathleen Whitmer, who played a selection on the piano. Following her was Mrs. Fiegall, who gave that delightful story of Zola Gale's, "A Christmas for Tony." Christmas carols were sung by the whole group with Clarabelle Chenoweth leading the singing and Betty English accompanying on the piano. At the close of the meeting, refreshments that had been furnished by the board of directors were served.

The decorations were appropriately carried out in the club colors with bolls of yellow baby mums flanked by tall yellow tapers on the mantel, piano and tea table. The room was lighted only by candles except for a reading lamp on the speakers table and the lights on the Christmas tree.

Benjamin Null Is Speaker at U.S.A.

English Instructor Gives Talk To Members on "When, How, And What To Read" Thursday

Mr. Benjamin Null, head of the English department, gave a very interesting talk to the U. S. A. club last Thursday. His talk was on "When, How, and What to Read."

A person should read every time he has a chance, he said. Beginning with November and continuing to the end of February, when outdoors is not inviting and indoors is inviting and when evenings are long is the best time to read," said Mr. Null. During the summer vacation is another good time for reading. He also stated that instead of going to worthless movies one should stay at home and read, which is much more profitable. In conclusion as to when a person should read, he added that the best time to get one's outside reading points in is right after the second semester begins, because toward the end of the semester the weather becomes nicer, and one does not want to read.

Describes Reading Methods

"Read with enough ease of mind and leisure to get something out of your reading," explained Mr. Null as to how one should read. By telling the club members a story he demonstrated that extremely rapid reading is not a very good policy. He also said that one should be able to know something about the book which one has read when one completes it.

Mr. Null answered the question, "What to read," by saying that everyone should read the newspaper. We should learn to read the first page and also the editorial page of the paper. He also said that we should read both the Democratic and Republican papers. Everyone should read good magazines such as the Readers Digest, Atlantic Monthly, and the North American. "Don't steer away from the old books," said Mr. Null, "as there may be none better than the old ones." In conclusion as to what we should read he said that the public libraries always have good novels.

It was announced at this meeting that all those girls who think that they have their degrees should see Miss Kelley during the week of December 17.

Club Sells Stationery

Ruth Garrison announced that the club was selling stationery and that all those girls who sell will receive credit for service for the club. She also told the club members that any girl who would bring books to the Philo Club for the people in the mountains would be given credit for service for the community. Some of the members of the club offered to help Miss Pittenger, and in doing this, they will be given credit for service for the school.

Miss Mellen announced that if any wanted to sell candy at the basketball games, they should see Miss Covalt.

At the close of the meeting the nominations for the spring semester officers were held. The committee in charge of this meeting was composed of Mary Louise Lankenau, chairman; Betty Harnish, and Elizabeth Simpson.

Plans for the Christmas party which will be on December 21, are being made by the following committee: Grace Nelson, chairman; Gertrude Dannenfeldt, Louise Phillips, and Janice Baumgartner.

Wranglers To Present Play at Next Meeting

"Poetry in Plaster," a one-act farce, will be given by the members of the Wrangler's Club at the next meeting which will be Monday, December 17. The part of Elsa is taken by Eleanor Cupp; her husband, Harry, by Bill Hockett; Julie, Elsa's friend, by Jean Kranz; and her husband, Jim, by Frank Montgomery.

The play is being directed by Al Collins, a graduate of the 1933 class. He has been active in dramatics, having had a part in our senior play last year and now belonging to the Old Fort players. Everyone is invited to attend.

Students Hear Talks On Success, Steel At School Assembly

"The Principles of Success" and "The Spark Method of Testing Steel" were the subjects of the two talks given by Professor John F. Keller of Purdue University before the assembly on Tuesday morning.

"The Principles of Success" was his first subject. Professor Keller emphasized the following points: first, always be on time; second, always obey your boss whether he be your parents, your teacher, or your employer; third, don't be afraid to do little things, or things that you might think below your standing.

Professor Keller cited an experience that an employer friend of his had. It was as follows: a head of the machine department was working in his office one day when his boss (the employer-friend) came in and asked him to clean up the floor between the machines: this was a very dirty job, but the young man didn't mind. He went right ahead and did the sweeping; the next day, he was told that he had been promoted to assistant-superintendent of the company.

In his second speech, the professor gave some interesting facts about steel and the steel industry. Several lantern slides were shown about the steel district of the North-Central states. Included among them were some factory scenes, a river scene, and several pictures of natural elements.

Professor Keller was introduced by the principal, Mr. R. Nelson Snider.

Twenty-one South Side Speakers Enjoyed Their Trip To Purdue

By Virginia Greiner

Twenty-one South Side students besides Miss Dorothy Benner and Mr. Benjamin Null traveled to Lafayette to attend the fifth annual High School Debater's Conference held at Purdue University last Friday and Saturday.

The intercollegiate debate was held at Eliza Fowler Hall between Northwestern University, which took the affirmative side of the debate, "Resolved that the Federal government should adopt the policy of equalizing educational opportunity throughout the nation by means of annual grants to the several states for public elementary and secondary education," and Purdue University, which took the negative side of the debate. Prof. N. J. Weiss, director of debate at Albion College, gave the decision to the Northwestern affirmative team.

At 5:45 p. m. the conference banquet was held at the ballroom of the Purdue Memorial Union Building. The Purdue Men's Glee Club contributed to the banquet program. Dancing was held later.

A general session was held on Saturday at 9 a. m. at Eliza Fowler Hall. James H. Richmond of Kentucky spoke on "The Case for Federal Subsidies for Education." Floyd L. McMurray of Indiana spoke against the same subject.

Central High School, of Fort Wayne won the student mileage trophy with a total of 2,800 student miles. This came as a result of their 25 delegates traveling the distance of 112 miles. South Side was second with 22 representatives for the same distance.

Those students of South Side's public speaking department who attended the conference are John Bremer, Ann Abbett, Pat Berry, Maxine Mariotte, Maxine Borchert, Ruth Greiner, Clarice Rudy, Sonia Velkoff, George Anne Martin, Risher Hall, Max Tritch, Dick Shannen, Doris Kaplan, Hazel Kuttler, Bob Zeig, Dorothea Nance, Pauline Crabill, Bernadette Dygert, Eleanor Cupp, Anna Brumbaugh, and Bob Klopstein.

A few South Side students expressed their opinions about the trip and incidents which happened there:

Bob Klopstein: Disagreed with the judge in giving the decision to Northwestern's team. My biggest thrill was talking to the boys in the fraternity and discovering that the treasurer of their organization (Theta Beta) was named Bob Klopstein. Although I wouldn't care to go to Purdue; if I went to another debate conference, I'd probably end up in college there.

"Curly" Rudy: Had fun counting all the white horses on the way. Also

Wavelets Win Over Butler's Reserve Team

Carl Hall Is High Point Man With Five Chalked Up; Final Score Is 22 to 11.

South Side's second team chalked up their second victory of the season against Butler's reserve aggregation Saturday evening at the southern gym. The final score was 22 to 11.

The contest was rather uninteresting except for the third period when the Wavelets drew up to within two points of the Archers. However, the Wavelets spurted again in the final quarter and rapidly pulled away from the opposition, making the final score look bad from the Butler point of view. South Side was in the lead throughout the entire contest with the exception of a few minutes at the opening of the contest when Butler led by the margin of a free throw.

Present Tight Defense

As in the previous week's engagement the Archers presented a tight defense, again holding their opponents to three field goals in the entire contest. Meanwhile the Green was chalking up nine shots from the field. In the free throw division the Wavelets scored only three times in nine chances. However, Butler made the score somewhat respectable by cashing in on five out of nine charity heaves.

Carl Hall led the scoring for the Green with two fielders and a free toss for five points. He was closely followed by Eiser with a fielder and two charity heaves, good for four markers, and by Broderick with two field goals.

To open the game Butler went into the lead with a foul throw. However, the Archers quickly retaliated when Hines tossed a fielder. Eiser made good on a foul and Tom Broderick, lanky center, tapped a shot in from under the basket to make the score 5 to 1 as the initial quarter ended.

In the second quarter the Wavelets continued to increase their margin. Eiser opened the scoring with a set shot from the foul circle. Butler scored a foul and Hall scored one for the Green. Broderick next tapped another fielder through the hoop and Cramer dumped in a long one. Butler then started their rally, chalking up a free toss and a fielder. The score at the half was 12 to 5.

South Side, playing with several substitutes on the floor, failed to score in the third period. Meantime Houlton and Rohm of Butler connected for a fielder apiece and Lovely cashed in on a charity toss, bringing the score to 12-10 at the three-quarter point.

Start Scoring Spree

After several minutes of the final quarter had passed without scoring, Eiser went in for the Green. Almost immediately the Archers began a scoring spree. In less than a minute Eiseimer had put one in from under the bucket and Hall had sunk a long shot from the center. Shortly after, Hall connected again, this time through a melee of arms under the hoop. Eiser sank a foul toss and White scored on a quick break while Butler was held to a charity toss, making the final score 21 to 11.

Two Students Speak Before French Club

The study of French provinces was continued at the French Club meeting last Thursday with two talks given by Betty Brothers, who talked about Gascony, and by Lloyd Burgener, who discussed Poitou and some leading cities.

Betty Brothers stated that Gascony was a province in southwestern France. At Pau is a castle in which Henry VI was born. This castle has been restored. Gascony is the favorite resort of the English because of its mild climate. The town of Bayonne is a cathedral town and is about one-half Spanish.

The other speaker told of Tourain. It is a city divided into two parts by the Loire river. The climate is a very beautiful one. The people around Touraine, and Poitou are timid and engrossed in their own business. The cliff dwellers still inhabit a section in the south central part of France.

There will be another meeting of the French Club this Thursday. This will be a Christmas party with the Latin Club.

In the absence of Miss Perkins, Miss Pittenger, the dean, acted as adviser at the meeting.

Book Carnival Planned

A book carnival planned by the instructors and members of the children's literature classes of the Teachers' College was given in the Kirk Auditorium, Kirksville, Missouri. After a short program, the teachers and parents examined and discussed worthwhile reading for pupils.

Hardwood Heroes

Bob Nelson is a veteran of South Side's athletic squads. He has been a candidate for the basketball team for four years, playing as a regular last season and in the sectional and regional tournaments and is now one of the better players on this season's team. He is also a follower of the grid sport, playing at halfback and at end during this last season. Nelson has already earned three letters at South Side. This is his last year.

Bob, who is six feet and two inches tall, plays at center on the net and occasionally works at one of the forward posts. In the Monroeville game he scored two feeders as his part toward the Archers' victory. Last week he made five of his seven attempts at the foul stripe. Due to the experience gained from last year's competition, in Nelson's opinion, the team should develop into a much better, smoother-working aggregation this last year and should show plenty of strength by the end of the net season.

Even before he came to South Side, Nelson had experience in the net sport. He was a member of the Hoagland grade school team, which won the grade school Christmas tourney twice. After he graduates, "Wimpy" hopes to go to Notre Dame and play both football and basketball there.

Grade Period Ends, Students All Quake For Dad May Spank

It's here again! Once more the end of another grade period draws near, and Tuesday night there will be heard in about 1300 homes the fearful lament of students crying out, "Aw, Pop, that's enough. I've had enough. I won't be able to sit down for a week."

When the "warming" party is over, a terrible-temperament Papa goes back to his evening newspaper and starts to read. The "warmed" student sniffles and dries his tears and betakes himself to his studies and promises his irate parents that it will never happen again and no ugly F's will later deface the shining brightness of his grade card, and he works faithfully the rest of the evening.

For the next few weeks all goes well with the student pouring nightly over his studies. But soon he feels the urge to go out to the movies or on "dates" and before he knows it his school work is neglected. Then the same story is repeated by Junior when the next grade period ends and so how he isn't good in drawing, and the physics teacher won't accept his drawings; and, therefore, he can't hand any exercises in and hence gets a low grade.

Pastor Tells Experiences
Recalling some of his Civil War experiences, the Rev. H. B. Barnes gave history classes at the Herbert Hoover High School, San Diego, California, first-hand information. Dr. Barnes told of the siege of Vicksburg and Sherman's march to the sea.

By June Haeger
Displayed in the case in the front hall are various wood carvings made by a student in Miss Erma Doehrmann's third period Art 2 class. This student is Edward Turner, a senior B. "His work is very unusual," said Miss Doehrmann, his instructor. Going on to tell of his work, she related very interesting things concerning it. He started carving at home, and his talent being accidentally discovered, he was encouraged and started to do the work at school. Edward is a very versatile boy as he is interested in other activities. He plays the violin well. He is very modest about his work, going about it quietly; but one can see that he is enjoying the work very much. At home he spends almost all of his time on his carvings. In the art classes, he also does clay modeling and posters, although he works mostly on his wood carvings. In doing the carving, he uses white pine and an ordinary pen knife. His best piece is the very finely carved figure of a girl on a pedestal. The most recent piece that he made is a lovely head of the cameo type. These pieces have been displayed in the display case in the front hall, although they are not completely finished. To obtain the correct finish on the carvings, they must be oiled and rubbed down. He also made three Greek columns and a Roman arch for Miss M. L. Lohman, a history teacher. This arch consisted of 216 pieces.

Miss Doehrmann is so well pleased with his work that while the Northeastern Indiana Teachers Convention was being held here last October, she invited one of the speakers in the art division to inspect his work. This speaker was Miss Belle Boas from Horace Mann School in New York City. She proved to be very enthusiastic about and delighted with the carvings, and promptly wanted to know more about them and the boy. She also asked Miss Doehrmann to keep her informed as to the boy's progress. Miss Boas is qualified to judge the work, as she has a sister who is very famous as a wood carver. Miss Doehrmann also stated, "I would not be surprised if we have a future sculptor in our midst. I am going to give Edward stone and a chisel with which to work in the near future."

Defiance Choir Sings For Student Assembly
The choir of Defiance, Ohio, High School entertained South Side at the music assembly held last Friday. The choir was adjudged the best in Ohio last year.

Selections played by the band included: Great Lakes to the Sea, Romdenne; Barber of Seville, Rossini; Indiana, Our Indiana; Across the Field; Marching Along Together. Bernita McIntosh, president of the Art Club, spoke about the statuettes which the Art Club is selling. She said that they will be sold in green and white, bronze, or ivory, by the members of the Art Club or in Room 61. The original figure was made by Don Baker, a '34 graduate.

Mr. Wainwright then introduced Virginia Montgomery, who urged the students to help out over the Friar Club Revue with a bang, because the South Side band will be the ones to benefit most by it.

Mr. Jones, director of the Defiance Art Club, was introduced by Mr. Wainwright, after which the choir took the floor and sang the following selections: Today There is Ringing, Christiansen; Finlandia (Humming Chorus), Sebelius; Steal Away, Spiritual; I Ain't Gwine to Study No More, Spiritual; Go Down Moses, Spiritual.

Catch Many Insects

The Naturalist Club of the Evander Childs High School of New York City for their second field expedition this term explored the marshes and swamps of Van Cortlandt Park. Supplied with materials such as nets, cyanide bottles, and field books, the members were very successful in collecting insects and classifying various trees and ferns of the woodlands.

Miss Smeltzley's Classes Make Special Projects

The pupils of Miss Eleanor Smeltzley's general history 1 classes have been making projects outside their regular assignments.

"This not only adds to their grades," explains Miss Smeltzley, but also shows that the students are interested in their work and in that way they become better acquainted with the projects they are making. None of this work is compulsory, but each student usually tries to make at least one project a semester."

Following is a list of some things that have been handed in lately:

Models of Phoenician ships, Pharo's lighthouse, Pyramid (great), Grecian temples, clay models of great Greeks and Romans, soap carvings of Egyptian mummy case, Roman armor, card board models of churchmen, crusaders, knives, pen and pencil drawings of historical views, oil paintings, special maps, charts, typed reports, notebooks, and floor talks.

South Side Will Meet Bluffton Team Tomorrow Evening

First Road Tilt To Be Played At Parlor City

Archers Should Show Good Zone Defense; Coach To Take Fifteen Men Along.

Tigers Are First In All '34 Games

Although Opposing Five Is Inexperienced, It Has Been Quite Successful.

Having sent Monroeville's Cubs home in defeat and snapping Butler's eight-game winning streak, the South Side Archers hit the road this Friday evening in the first of two out-of-town games before Christmas week. The Archers will meet the cream of the Wells county five, the Bluffton Tigers, who are now riding on the crest of a five-game winning streak.

Judging from past performances the Archers will have a mighty tough evening before they take the Tigers into camp. The preliminary game is scheduled to begin at 7:30 o'clock with the varsity tossup one hour later.

The Tigers have an inexperienced squad this season and little attention was given to it before the season opened. However, the Parlor City five has performed like veterans in all their games thus far and are now regarded as logical winners of the sectional title in that vicinity. Bluffton lost many players by graduation from last year's squad; but with Michael and Swartz, the only veterans on the squad, as a nucleus, the Tigers have swept through their opposition with almost no trouble.

Beat Hartford City

Their latest win was over Hartford City last week-end. With McCray penetrating the Airdale defense for eleven points, the Tigers had little trouble in carrying off a 26 to 14 decision. In their game with Columbia City the Tigers ran into the best opposition they have received thus far this season. The Eagles were not downed until in the overtime period when the Tigers went ahead 32 to 30. Oss-an also succumbed to the Tigers by a 25 to 14 score.

McCray is the mainstay of the Bluffton offense. He is fast and a quick-shooter. Ludwig likewise is fast and utilizes his height to the best advantage when he teams up with McCray in the forward positions. Mattar at center is not only a good all-around player but is also an exceptional shot and is plenty tough when he gets the ball under the basket. He stands three inches over the two-yard mark. Michaels and Fishbaugh team up in the guard posts. Michaels has two years' experience and is exceptionally fast. Fishbaugh is inexperienced but is a very consistent player. Swartz is the utility man and is very fast in addition to being a good shot. Lantis and Smith complete the squad. They are both fast and are good guards but do not have any experience previous to this season. The average height of the Parlor City aggregation is about five feet and eleven inches.

The Archers are expected to rely upon their man power to win this clash. Coach McClure is planning on taking twenty players with him. The Archer offense hit fairly well against Butler but there is still much room for improvement. From the foul line the Green looked exceptionally good as they failed to capitalize on only eight out of the twenty opportunities afforded them. Their passing showed much improvement over that of the Monroeville game. The first two squads used seemed to be of almost equal ability and the Archers have good prospects of having plenty of reserve power this season.

Have Good Defense

The bright spot of the Archer playing in the Butler encounter was their defensive work, however. The zone defense employed by the Green had the Windmills baffled all the time and it was almost impenetrable. With a month or so of experience the Archers should present a defense which would be hard for any quintet to score on.

Coach McClure has indicated that he will start Hilgeman and Hall at forwards, Nelson at center, and George and Ginn at guards. It is also possible that Paul Lohse will see action providing he is declared eligible before Friday. However, it is quite certain that the rest of the squad will all see action before the game is very old.

For the first time in intramural history, two-hundred scores were made by intramural bowlers. C. Brandt, with his 233, and C. Baumgartner, with his 210 game, were the two boys to enter this charmed circle. In rolling his high score Brandt had six consecutive strikes and three spares. Baumgartner rolled six consecutive strikes and two spares. Other high scores were rolled by Harold Brandt, who had an 186, and by Wallace Bartels and William Russell, who each rolled a 171 game.

C. Brandt's average of 168 for three games is the highest average ever chalked up by an intramural bowler. Other high averages were rung up by C. Baumgartner, D. Steger, and H. Brandt.

Frosh Will Begin Basketball Soon

First Practice To Consist of Fundamental Rules of Game; Ninety Girls Will Participate.

Running around the school all smiles, the freshies can hardly calm down. Basketball is going to begin for them the seventeenth of this month, thus giving them the jump on the upperclassmen.

The first practice will consist of the fundamentals, such as progressing with and without the ball, passing, and shooting baskets. Later, when the fundamentals are pretty well under control, some strategy will be taught them. The student leaders will assist in the coaching.

Most of the freshmen have no background for basketball except from observation and captainball, which has a few of the same fundamentals.

About 90 girls are expected to come out, forming seven or eight teams. It has come from a good source that those who have shown ability in other sports and are expected to do the same in basketball are Anita Aftolder, Mattie Lou Coats, Betty Eisenacher, Eleanor Roderick, Barbara Raymond, Eldora Busking, and several others.

When asked how she thought the "Honor Team" would come out this year, Miss Smith replied, "It's all in the laps of the gods." She also urges all freshmen to come to the first practice.

Archers Send Butler Team Home, Smarting Under Loss

Out in front for almost the entire game, South Side's "army" of basketballers again proved the value of plenty of reserve power as they sent a hitherto unbeaten band of Butler Windmills home smarting under a 26 to 16 defeat. In snapping the Butlerites' winning streak of eight games, Coach Jake McClure used fifteen men with each aggregation "shining" on the defense especially well.

The opening Archer lineup consisted of Seneper, Hall, Nelson, Jackson, and Ginn using a zone defense. The windmills opened with a fast-passing attack and soon found a defect in the Archer zone defense. They immediately took advantage of it and drove under the basket numerous times in the first minute of play but were unable to make their snort shots stick.

After a series of melees under the Windmill basket, Seneper fouled Richards. Richards missed, and Long recovered the ball near mid-floor and sank a very nice one to put his team in the lead. Shortly after Jackson broke through the Butler defense to score a short shot from the right side to tie the score at 2-2. Bill Maggart then gave his team the advantage of a basket-margin when he cut the loop from well out.

Ginn Makes Shot This lead, however, was destined to be short-lived due mostly to the efforts of Ed Ginn. Ed sank a charity toss after being fouled by Ault and then put a beautiful shot in from near the center to put the Archers in the lead for the first time of the evening.

At this point he Butler aggregation seemed to lose its pep mainly because it had never been headed thus far this season in any of its eight previous clashes. The Windmills took time out and reorganized their defense and then started playing better basketball, but to no avail. With a minute to go, "Hootie" Hall snagged a Butler pass and dribbled through his opposition to score from underneath. The quarter ended soon after with the Archers holding a lead of 7 to 4.

In the second period Coach McClure sent in his second quintet of the evening made up of Hilgeman, Symonds, George, Close, and Ellenwood. This aggregation proved to be superior to the first quintet since it held the Windmills scoreless from the field during the entire quarter and gave them only two points from the foul line. Hilgeman opened the period with one of his favorite long shots from the left side. After this score the game became rough, and numerous fouls were called on both teams. George and Close connected from the foul circle to put the Archers in the lead 11 to 4 when they were fouled by Maggart.

Ellenwood Fouls Twice Ellenwood then fouled Long two times in succession as he was shooting, and Long connected on two of his four charity tosses to make the score 11 to 6. The remainder of the time until the intermission was full of action with several long shots from the left side and frequent melees under the basket. Jim Hilgeman was fouled as the half ended and made good on his shot after the gun to put the local quintet out in front 12 to 6.

The third quarter was very rough and a total of eleven personals were called, four against the Green and seven against the Windmills. Shortly after the start of this period Symonds was fouled by Maggart but failed to convert as did G. Ault when fouled by Close. George counted soon after from the charity line when fouled by Long.

Christmas! That cheerful, happy time that comes but once a year. Yes, it is here again. Here with all its cheerfulness, happiness, and joy. With all its hustle and bustle, shopping, getting those presents together, wrapping them, keeping brother and sister and father and mother from finding them, and finally the most fun of all, watching them open the presents on Christmas morning, bright-eyed, and expectant.

Think of that Christmas morning . . . everyone wakes up early, runs down stairs, still clad in their pajamas, to see what Santa Claus has left in their stocking hung so carefully above the fireplace the night before. That joy of watching little brother, and sister and then father and mother open the packages you have given them.

But now while we think of this, let us also think of the fact that Christmas is only a little less than two weeks away! That means there are only a few days left in which you can do your shopping.

Fort Wayne stores are displaying this year one of the most complete displays of fine Christmas goods ever seen here. You will find for the most part, these Fort Wayne merchants are giving you the best for your money, but so that you may be doubly sure, the South Side Times has secured the permission to print in the pages of their paper, the advertisements of a number of reliable firms, where you will be absolutely sure of getting the most for the lowest price in quality merchandise.

Shop in the Times . . . You'll find it much easier next time you go into those crowds down town!

Boxes of Sweets To Be Given To Lucky Person; Speed Contest To Be Big Event.

Where is it? Bell's rink. When is it? Tomorrow night. What time? At 8 o'clock. What is it? South Side's gala Christmas celebration, the South Side Junior Hi-Y skating party. Yes, sir, ladies and gentlemen, if you want to meet your cousin, your uncle, your best friend, or your worst adversary, get the girl friend and plan to spend a "grand and glorious" evening out at Bell's.

The Junior Hi-Y Club is sponsoring this party as its gift to the student body of South Side at this Yuletide season. The feature of the evening will be a candy raffle in which twenty persons will receive boxes of candy. Another of the features of the party will be an elimination race to decide South Side's speed king. This event will be in the form of a group of elimination sprints with the winners in these heats competing in the final race.

In order that a congested condition will not arise, only two hundred fifty tickets will be sold. Transportation will be provided for those who have none. A bus will leave the corner of Calhoun and Pontiac Streets at 7:30 o'clock and another bus will leave at 8 o'clock. Tickets to the party may be purchased from any member of the club.

Quebec, Canada Is Travel Club Stop

Miss Hazel Miller Will Direct Members at Last Stop; Heads For Spring Term To Be Named

Travel Club will visit Quebec, Canada, the last stop before coming back to Fort Wayne, at its next meeting on Wednesday, January 3. Miss Hazel Miller will guide the members through the interesting spots in Quebec. John Bremer is in charge of the program. Election of officers will also be held.

Last Wednesday, the Travel Club entertained Wranglers' at a Christmas party at Hawaii. Virginia Baker and Anna Marie Baumgartner sang two Hawaiian selections accompanied by the latter's ukulele. Alden Disler played several selections on the guitar.

A talk about the pineapple industry, which is the most important industry of Hawaii, was given by Lloyd Grodrian. He gave the history of this important industry and also facts and figures about its place in the present day. Following this, Helen Doenges gave a talk on Hawaii. Games were then played, among them, "Come along." Refreshments to fit the occasion were served, consisting of pineapple and wafers.

At the last meeting of the Allen County Red Cross Council, Anna Bremer and Eliza Besse Lucas were elected vice-president and secretary, respectively. The three officers were then filled, two of them being received by South Side Travel Club members.

Forensics Contest Is Being Planned

Extemp Speech Meet Subjects Will Be Given Out Friday; Any Student May Compete.

An extemp contest is being planned by the public speaking department, of which Miss Dorothy Benner is the head, to take place in the near future.

Any pupil in South Side is eligible for this contest. The subjects on which the contestants are to speak will probably be announced the Friday before the Christmas vacation. Preliminary contests will be held at a designated time and only the persons who place first in these divisions will compete in the final contest to which the student body will be admitted for five-cent admission price.

The students in the contest usually prepare a speech for each subject that has been announced previously and on the morning of the contest they find out on which subject they are to speak. Each speech will be five minutes long and also there will be rebuttals given after the speeches.

Studes Hope To Catch Up On Eating, Yawning, and Studying

Some of South Side's deeper thinkers have kindly consented to write how they intend to spend Christmas vacation. Sleeping, eating, and studying (?) seem to be the favorites of the majority of said deep thinkers. The answers to the inquiring reporter's questions are as follows:

Robert Donald Fowler, esquire—Work, eat, sleep, and go hunting.

Charles Hart—I'll make a desperate attempt to enjoy vacation and yet study. I'll probably eat, too.

Mildred Rudig—Sleep and take life easy.

Howard Fairweather—Work.

Jeannette Braun—Catch up on my studies and go to the lake.

Harley Gerdner—Skate, mostly.

Virginia Shaffer—Eat, sleep, and go to a few dances.

Jack Dawson—If there is any ice, I'll go skating. If not, I'll sleep and eat.

Bruce Bolinger—Sleep—and how!

Frederick L. Beely—Knowing not. I cannot say, therefore; I hesitate to respond. In all probability, I shall go to the Motor City and endeavor to warble with the family mixed quartette. Maybe.

Vivian Hickman—Hike, ice skate, sleep, do extra lessons.

Fred Forbush—If time allows, I'll catch up on my sleep. The remaining time I'll spend trying to find something to do.

Rosena Bevington—Eat and get fat.

Local Anti-Tuberculosis League Starts Annual Seal Campaign

Don't forget your own Fort Wayne Anti-Tuberculosis League and don't forget that it maintains a health campaign to prevent tuberculosis. Eighty-nine children between the ages of six and eleven years were cared for in the 1934 season. Since this camp was established, one thousand children have been benefited by residence there. The daily routine; regular rest hours; weekly medical inspection by responsible physicians or nurses; plain, nourishing food, and regular health habits have proved valuable in building up undernourished bodies and fitting them to resist disease.

In addition to supporting this camp, sixty clinics were held at the office of the Fort Wayne Anti-Tuberculosis League where seven hundred and twenty-seven patients were examined. Two hundred and forty-three children under twelve years of age were examined, and X-rays and sputum analysis were made when necessary for diagnosis.

The Fort Wayne Anti-Tuberculosis League has two nurses. One works full time; the other, half time. They made 4,374 home visits and taught patients how to protect the family and the families how to care for the patient. They visited 2,590 contact cases and assisted a great many patients in filling out blanks to enter the sanatorium. They assist and supervise patients before and after sanatorium treatment. Milk and eggs are furnished when necessary.

The following is a copy of the letter sent out by Fort Wayne Anti-Tuberculosis League as an appeal for help to the citizens of Fort Wayne.

Thanksgiving Day Dear Friend: The Holiday Season is here and again presents to you the opportunity to buy Christmas Seals to secure protection for yourself and family, and provide care for those who are suffering with tuberculosis.

Your contribution to the Christmas Seal Sale makes this possible. This is our only means of support for this work. The Christmas Seals enclosed are $1.00 per sheet of 100; "One Cent Each." Keep them all; use them on your Christmas mail and packages. Start your Christmas cheer early by purchasing a sheet of Christmas Seals.

Wranglers Give "Poetry In Plaster"

Annual Play Is Well Presented By Four Members; Directed By Al Collins; '34 Graduate.

As usual, the Wranglers' annual play was huge success. The play, a one-act farce entitled "Poetry in Plaster," centered around four characters. Julie, played by Jean Kranz, is a victim of circumstances. She loves her husband, Jim, played by Frank Montgomery, but he writes poetry and forces her to read it before their friends. Of course, Julie hates doing this. She calls upon her friend Elsa, played by Eleanor Cupp, for aid. They decide to have Julie recite so much poetry that Elsa's husband, Harry, played by Bill Hockett, who detests the poems and Julie's recitations, will lose his temper and tell them all that he thinks.

He tells Jim that the reason he never got anywhere in his business, which is plastering, is because of Julie's recitations. Also that that is the very reason why they never got anywhere in society. Jim realizes that Julie must have suffered. He apologizes and promises never to make her recite the horrible poems again. He says he will not mix poetry in plaster. Therefore, the happy home is saved.

The play was an unusually interesting production. It was directed by Al Collins, a graduate of '33. All of the characters did a very good job on their parts, and they, plus their director, deserve much praise.

Recognition Plans Changed For Math

Algebra 3, Geometry 3 Will Be Considered Separately; Tests To Be Taken During January.

Several changes in the competition plan for recognition of outstanding mathematics students started last February have been changed, it has been announced by the committee in charge.

As previously arranged, the most outstanding students from each year's work were to be chosen upon the recommendation of teachers on the basis of class work. The people chosen were to be given competitive tests and the two students receiving the highest score were to be the most outstanding in that year's work. This part of the plan remains the same, except that another competition has been included for the convenience of pupils entering at mid-term. These tests will be conducted exactly the same as those at the end of the year.

The second change is in the contests in geometry 3, and algebra 3, which were formerly taken as a unit, and the one outstanding student of all in those subjects chosen. Under the new plan, each subject is to be considered a unit, and the student receiving the highest score in each will be considered most outstanding. It is planned to do the same with algebra 4, and trigonometry in the senior year.

The competitive tests for each year's work will be given the latter part of the week of January 7.

Torch Club Has Annual Christmas Party Monday

Torch Club's Annual Christmas Party was held Monday evening in the Voorhees Room, with some 35 boys present. Bob Lee and Walter Jackson played the guitar and the piano. All tried their hand at different games. The winning team was given miniature caricatures of Santa Claus carved in chocolate, each person receiving one, and some, by the simple process of reaching over the shoulder of the one handing them out, obtained more than their one.

Russell Clark, Engineer, Keeps Pupils Warm During Winter

Looking after everything mechanical in the building, Russell Clark, engineer of South Side, is the one who must keep us warm and see that everything clicks right; and he does keep us warm and he keeps things clicking right. We wanted to know how he kept things going, and an interesting interview with him led us to this information.

Why shouldn't you be warm? We use about 1,200 tons of coal a year, and on exceptionally cold days on the average of ten tons a day are used.

"How do you keep so much on hand?" he was asked.

"A big tank on the ceiling of the engine room holds 300 tons, and at the back of the engine room are the storage bins, which hold about 400 tons each."

"In the main part of the building, there are two kinds of heating systems, which are called direct and indirect. The direct comes from the radiators, which are placed in various places in the halls and in every classroom. The indirect system comes from the fans or ventilators, which are in all of the classrooms. As the result of this system, the air changes every seven minutes."

"That is about all there is concerning the heating process, but there are some interesting facts concerning the water system. Part of the time we use soft water, and part of the time we use hard water. Water that comes from the engine room is used in the cooking classes, the make-up in the boilers, and in the laundries. The laundry room is working two days a week, and that uses up a considerable part of the water."

"Where does all of this water come from?" he was asked.

"The water that comes from the roof of the building goes into a large system, which holds 90,000 gallons of water. About half of that 90,000 gallons is used in one year. That's a lot of water!"

After this interesting interview, we felt we knew quite a bit more about how our school was run.

Even though you are counting the minutes, can't you be courteous to the entertainer and the people around you who may be enjoying the talk, by remaining quiet.

Friar Club Review Is Well Received

South Side Band and Glee Club, Central Orchestra, North Side Choir Featured on Program.

Diamond lights and beautifully soft music opened the matinee performance of the Friar Club Review given in the large Shrine Auditorium.

The first scene was a pantomime of "The Spinning Wheel." The song was sung by Miss Luella Feiertag accompanied by the orchestra. Following this Betty Wainwright played a selection on the harp. The song was depicted by Miss Feiertag sitting at a harp, while Betty sat at her harp, dressed in a colonial costume.

Next the audience was entertained by several accoridian selections played by the "World's Premier Accoridian Player," Ed Clark of Chicago, who is associated with the Tom Berry Music Company of our city.

Mr. White, accompanied by the Central High School orchestra, directed by Gaston Baile, made a crayon illustration. He showed in picture what the music depicted. This was a night scene with a full moon shining over the water.

Ladder Dance Given

Following this, some South Side girls did a ladder dance to the accompaniment of Miss Feiertag, singing "Waltzing in a Dream." This dance was directed by Miss Alice Patterson.

The next part of this scene was also given by South Side students, also under the direction of Miss Patterson. These girls, dressed in attractive yellow and black suits, did difficult and entertaining feats of tumbling, besides mimicking a football team.

The last part of this scene was a pantomime playlet, presented by Miss Marorie Suter. It represented "Civic Activity," that is, the distribution of remade toys to the poor children.

The Bryan Twins from North Side gave several selections on the xylophone.

Many countries were represented by their dances in the next scene, which was presented by the Violet Reinwald School of the Dance.

After the intermission, the Colonial Chorus, which is part of the South Side Girls' Glee Club, accompanied by the harp ensemble, sang several songs. These girls, as well as the harpists, wore colonial type dresses.

Men Present Dance

Next on the program was the Bubble Dance, a comic dance given by men dressed in union suits. To represent the bubbles, they had balloons of various hues tied to their arms and legs. These men with long-haired wigs, trying to be graceful, made a foolish and funny act.

North Side was also represented in singing by the presentation of their A Capella Choir. This choir is directed by Mr. William Sur. They sang songs in keeping with the season, "The First Noel," and "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear."

A quartet representing the Old Fort Players also sang, but tunes of a different type. They sang humorous, old-fashioned songs.

Aids Paper Sale

Miss Mary Helen Ley, art teacher at South Side, is directing the sale of the Christmas wrapping paper which may be bought in the halls and home rooms at the price of two sheets for five cents. She also is aiding with the sale of the Archer models, which may be bought for fifty cents.

New Yell Leaders, Yells Introduced At Assembly

The songs of Indiana, Wisconsin, Ohio, Notre Dame, and several universities were played at the beginning of the pep session Friday morning, December 14. After several yells by the student body, a novel yell was given by the cheering section.

This cheering section was organized recently and is composed of one hundred girls and approximately forty boys. The yell is brand new and is very clever. The yell leaders wore their new letter sweaters at this assembly. The sweaters are white with a green letter "S" and the word "Yell" written across it.

Several new yell leaders were introduced to the student body by Bob Klopfenstein, the master of ceremonies. They were picked from the boys who volunteered at a meeting recently. They are Dave Steger, Paul McConnell, Dalton McAlister, and John Leech. The assembly was closed with the singing of the school song by the student body.

U. S. A. Plans Party To Celebrate Yuletide

The U. S. A. Club will hold a Christmas party today in the Greeley room. A very interesting program has been planned. There will be a reading by one of the committee members.

A play called "Christmas Idea" will be presented by the following members: Virginia Fathauer, Louise Phillips, Gertrude Dannenfeldt, Janis Baumgartner and Marjorie Scheumann. Other entertainment will consist of piano selections as well as violin selections by Evelyn Lehman. Following the games, refreshments will be served.

Classes Make Berets
New fall berets for thirty-two cents with bright colored feathers were artfully concocted from old hats by the home economics classes of John Hay High School, Cleveland, Ohio.

Origin of Christmas Customs, Traditions, Dates From History

Through all the generations since Christ's birth, people have celebrated the birthday of our Savior in various manners. In ancient England they had Christes messe, which means Christ's mass, from which we derive our word Christmas.

There were many dates on which Christ's birthday was celebrated in olden times. December 25 marked the great winter solstice festivals of the pagan Gauls, Germans, and Englishmen; and from these celebrations December 25th was made the established date for Christmas day. The Yule log, holly sprigs, mistletoe, and vassail bowl are relics of this ancient festival which we use in modern celebrations.

The much beloved Christmas carols were very prominent in old England, where, as it is often shown on old English Christmas cards, the bands of carolers sang on the street corners on Christmas eve. These carols still play an important part in our celebrations. Carolers still carol on street corners and church choirs still proclaim the glad tidings of peace on earth good will toward men.

We think the Christmas tree with its bright stars, colored lights and snow laden boughs is comparatively modern; but these were first introduced along the Rhine River in the sixteenth century. The hanging of the greens, wreaths, and candles are also derived from the ancient custom. It wouldn't be right to forget the mythical Santa Claus and the traditional hanging of the stocking by the fireplace, which means so much to the modern children. This custom was started in Holland when Old Saint Nicholas showered candy on the little Dutch boys and girls and placed gifts in their wooden shoes.

New Stamp Club Paper Is Printed by Members

The new Stamp Club Script, written by the members of the Philatelic Society, is one of the new additions to the club's activity. The general manager and publisher of the semi-monthly is Marshall Rosenthal; the news editor is Evelyn Ertel. The remaining staff consists of several contributors.

Among these are Robert Bloemker, Dorothea Nance, Charles Hart, James Sweet, Glenn Pressler, and Robert Archer. All issues are typed on stencils and mimeographed by Evelyn Ertel, Marshall Rosenthal, and James Sweet. Members of the club hand in their contributions to either one of the staff or else they put them in the box for that purpose, which is located in Miss Van Gorder's room.

Many features are included in this paper. Among them are the various columns about stamps, the dirt column, and the column the members entitled "Low Down on the High Ups."

There have been three issues published. The various issues are given to the members at the meetings of the Philatelic Society. The paper is given free of charge.

Will Hold Christmas Assembly Tomorrow

Mr. Snider will deliver a Christmas message to the student body at the Christmas assembly to be held tomorrow morning. Following this, Christmas carols will be sung. Among the selections to be sung are "Joy to the World," "Silent Night," "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing," and "Jingle Bells."

As a special feature of the assembly to band will play "The Christmas Fantasy." This musical number depicts a Christmas tree with the coming of Santa Claus, the children around the tree, and the toys on the tree.

Inter-Club Council Meets In Library of Y. W. C. A.

The monthly meeting of the Inter-Club Council, composed of the cabinet members of the local High School Girl Reserves, was held in the library of the Y. W. C. A. on December 6. The meeting was preceded by a chili supper in the Stockade, the new dining room of the "Y." Decorations were in keeping with the Christmas season. Thus having introduced the holiday spirit, plans were made for the "Hanging of the Greens Ceremony," which will be held at the Y. W. C. A. on Sunday, December 16. A living Christmas will be formed by the members of the Inter-Club Council as their part in the ceremonial. Betty Rabus of Polar-Y is in charge of the costumes; Emily Gardner of So-Si-Y, the candies; and Carry Black of Wheatley Center, the song books.

The committee, which was to see about a date for a skating party, reported that there is no convenient date open. Arrangements for the annual Tournament Dance, which will be held next spring, are to be made later.

Last of Year's Radio Editions of Times Given

The last Times broadcast of the year was presented Monday night, December 17. The next program will be broadcast January 7, 1935. The program was opened with the singing of "Cheerio" by the chorus.

After this Bob Willson gave some interesting facts on sports in the Catholic high schools. He announced that Jim Agnew of Central Catholic had been selected as center on the all-state football team. He is the fourth Fort Wayne boy to be given a position on the team. He also told of the sensational rally South Side staged to win the basketball game against Bluffton Friday night.

After this, the chorus, accompanied by four harps, sang a group of Christmas carols. Included in this group were "We Three Kings of Orient Are," "Joy to the World," and "Jingle Bells." William Hockett gave an inspiring talk on Christmas, its origin and meaning. After the singing of "Silent Night" and "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," the program was concluded with the Alma Mater.

Anniversary of Boston Latin School Is Nationally Observed

The origin of the modern American high school was three hundred years ago when the Boston Latin School was founded. At this time another principle was being developed, the development of the free public education.

During the year of 1934-1935, celebrating the three hundredth anniversary of that historical period, the friends of the public schools are doing all they can to remind the United States of the problems of the high schools. The objects of this celebration are to present to the public the aims and works of secondary education; to emphasize the necessity of public secondary education to a free democracy; to acquaint the public with advanced developments in secondary instruction; and to improve the chances for every boy and girl to benefit from the full program of the secondary schools. C. O. Davis, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan, is chairman of the Celebration Committee.

The celebration activities began with the opening of the term of 1934-35. The intentions of having a Celebration Stamp is under consideration by Postmaster General Farley. It will be a stamp commemorating the high school anniversary.

Motion picture producers and distributors, under Will Hays' direction, are planning to produce a short film which will present the historical notes in the development of the high school. Many radio broadcasts are being planned to be carried out during this time. Addresses, radio dramas, musical programs and debates are going to be given over the air in keeping with this celebration. These programs will take in all factors concerning the past and present high schools.

The Scholastic Magazine has been designated the honor to publish the official book of the high school tercentenary. Articles for this issue are being contributed by the major educational authorities. This magazine is to be made up of all news concerning high school activities, past and present.

Debate Contest Held; Three Students Tied

Monday closed a very interesting assignment in the public speaking classes. The delivery of this assignment was both of interest to the students, as speakers, as it was to the audience. Very many educational debates which were given by these students were well delivered and received.

These speeches were judged in a threefold way by the audience, or in other words, by members of the class. One person urged delivery; one, case; and one, rebuttal. A vote of the class as a whole was also taken to determine the decision of the audience. Winners were decided upon in all classes.

First period: Dick Lauer, Orman Wagner, Sonia Velkoff, John Eschko, Betty Wainwright, William Kaiser, and Ernst Trapp.

Third period: Carol Goddard, Rosalind Enz, tie between Verna Holtman and Jack Beemer, and one between Ellis Lochner and Fred Forbinger. Herbert Meyer, Robert Long, Robert Moody, Dick Helm, and Betty Erick.

Fourth period: Garland Eichmeyer, tie between Robert Lohman and Robert Fowler, Ruth Adler, Jean Kirby, Morris Carter, Leroy Rusher, and Manuel Rothberg.

Sixth period: tie between Helen Goddard and Dorothy Walker, Elizabeth Summers, Clarice Rudy, Dick Schannen, Jack Hemmer, Myron Jones, and a tie between Erna Fuhrman and Irene Smith. A very peculiar incident occurred in the judging of one contest of the sixth period. Richard Geise, Bob Klopfenstein, and Sam Rea tied. The judge on delivery awarded his decision to Bob Klopfenstein, the decision on case went to Richard Geise, and that of rebuttal was given to Sam Rea. In order to establish the final decision, the people depended on the class award; but this too was tied.

Wavelets Win From Bluffton's Reserve Team

Reserves Fight Tigerlets With Final Score of 29 to 24 in Archers' Favor.

South Side's Green Wave marked up another victory last Friday evening at the expense of the Bluffton reserves who they turned back by a 29 to 24 score. Coach McClure used what is generally known as the third string of the varsity squad to subdue the Tigerlets.

The quintet composed of Lohman, North, Ostermeyer, Simon, and Lee opened the game with a very faulty defense and were soon trailing the Blufftonites. McAfee, McAdams, and Templin opened the initial quarter with long shots in quick succession to put Bluffton in a 6 to 0 lead. Simon, however, opened the Green scoring with a long one from mid-floor. McAdams retaliated with a foul and a nice one from well out to put the Bluffton reserves in a 10 to 2 lead. North concluded the Archer scoring for the period with a charity toss. Smith, however, scored on a short shot as the quarter ended to give his team an 11 to 7 lead.

Green Ties Score

In the second quarter Rector opened the scoring with another long shot, but North came back with a beautiful one close in. Lohman then sliced the Bluffton lead to a basket as he scored a quick set-up shot. Simon tied the score at 13-all with a shot from the right side. Ostermeyer put the Archerites in the lead for the first time with the first of his pivot shots of the evening. Miller and Templin combined the markers to give Bluffton the lead once again, but Lohman scored one from mid-floor to tie the score at 17-all as the half ended.

The third quarter was rough, and four personals were chalked up, three being called on Rector of Bluffton and one on Lee. McAdams opened the scoring in the second half with a push shot from the foul line. Lee hacked Smith as he was shooting, but Smith blew both of his attempts from the foul line. Simon made his shot when fouled by Rector to cut Bluffton's lead to one point. Rector then fouled North. North missed his toss, but Ostermeyer followed in and scored to put South Side in the lead 20 to 19. Rector went out on personals soon after when he fouled Lohman. Ostermeyer picked up another basket as the quarter ended to give the Archers a 22 to 19 lead.

Bluffton Defense Cracks

The concluding period found the Archers going ever farther in the lead as the Bluffton defense cracked in its attempt to cut down the Archer lead. Lohman scored both of his chances from the foul lane and Ostermeyer connected on a pivot shot to give the Archers a 26 to 19 lead early in the period. McAdams cut this lead with a follow-in shot after Miller missed a charity toss. Ostermeyer shot to make the score 27 to 22 with three minutes to play. At this point the Bluffton team started a fast-passing attack in an attempt to overhail the Archers, but it could not make the shots stick. Ostermeyer made the last of his pivot shots with about a minute to go and Templin scored from the middle shortly after to give the Archerites a 29 to 24 win.

Volleyball Scores Show Competition

Upperclassmen in Tough Games; Interclass Struggles Close; Teams Fight for Victory.

Being defeated for the first time this season, Leona Menze's Sophomore 1 volleyball team bowed before Betty Harsh's Sophomore 4 team to a 34-28 score. Harsh's team stepped into an early lead and kept it during the whole game. Menze's team staged a rally the last half, but failed to catch Harsh's.

On the south end of the gym, Margaret Ruhl's Sophomore 2 team continued its series of victories by defeating Sophomore 3, captained by Milly Hoff, 29-23. Hoff's team led all the first half, but in the second half, the other team caught up and amid much excitement won the game.

In the handball court was played one of the most exciting games of the evening. Virginia Beck's senior 1 team was defeated by Margie Hower's junior 1 team by the close score of 22-24. The seniors were ahead quite a bit, but they fumbled a few times just before the whistle blew thereby giving the alert juniors their opportunity.

The next set of games was started by Mary Jane Redding's junior team defeating Jeanette Braun's squad, 24-15. Although the score does not sound exciting, there were plenty of thrills.

Coming through with the biggest upset of the season, Roseanne Certia's junior 4 team defeated Betty Rison's junior 3 for its first victory this season. Rison's team led the first half, and held the other team to a tie most of the last. Certia's team followed the ball all over the court until the game was won.

Alice Mae Seibold's Senior 3 team defeated Roselma Disler's Senior 2 team by the close score of 27-26. It was played in the handball court and had all the wall hitting attached, but it was a very good game nevertheless.

Above are pictured three of the stalwarts of the Green Wave this season. George has proven to be one of the outstanding defense men for the Kelly Klads and is almost certain to hold down a regular post. "Whimpy" Nelson is holding down the center post very capably and is also favored to hold his position on the first five.

Archer Athletes Have Earned Twenty Letters

Eighteen South Side Players To Be Awarded Sweaters; George Gets His Fourth.

A total of twenty letters are to be awarded to athletes of South Side according to the records of Mr. Davis, faculty athletic manager. To earn a letter an athlete must earn a total of 200 points in inter-school competition. The revised point system gives eight points per quarter for football and four points per quarter for basketball. Two points are awarded for each quarter of play on the reserve squad. The most letters ever awarded to a Green athlete was ten which Martin Ellenwood earned under the old point system which has been discarded. Last year both "Chet" Ensley and Don Powell had earned seven letters and Don had 144 points balance while "Chet" had 123 points over. These boys have the highest number of points under the present system.

Those boys receiving their first letters along with which goes the Archer sweaters are Earl Roop, Tom Conway, John Eshoff, Fred Nye, Eugene Jackson, Robert Lohman, Dorwan Kessler, Charles Stone, and Robert Fowler.

Those who will receive their second letters are Edward Ginn, Fred Ostermeyer, Floyd Lee, and Jack Snyder. Those receiving their third letters will be Edward Ginn, Robert Nelson, Harrison Simon, Brower George, Jim Ellenwood, and Gordon Straley. Brower George has the distinction of being the only athlete at the present time who will receive his fourth letter.

Archers Surprise Bluffton Five With Strong Second-Half Rally

With the score standing 18 to 9 at the intermission, a determined band of South Side Archers came back in the third quarter with a scoring punch which their opponents could not stop and won their third victory of the season by topping Bluffton's Tigers 38 to 23.

The Archers dazzled the bewildered Bluffton squad with baskets from all spots on the floor as they held the Tigers to two fouls, while they scored a total of fourteen points to go into a 23 to 20 lead as the third period ended. The Archers came right back in the fourth period and scored thirteen points to their opponents' three to make their win decisive.

Bluffton opened the game in great fashion and the results of the first quarter pointed to a decisive win for the Wells county quintet. Both teams started fast and much erratic passing and shooting was done. Finally Bluffton started to play a more cautious brand of ball. Mattax, the husky Parlor City center, opened with a nice shot from well out on the floor. McCray, the sensational shot on the Bluffton squad, then gave the Archers an example of his shooting when he looped one when dribbling fast down the right side of the floor. Ludwig continued the Bluffton onslaught when he tapped one in on a follow-in shot. McCray missed his second charity shot of the evening when fouled by Hilgeman. Mattax maneuvered around until he was wide open under the basket and a fast pass to him gave the Tigers an 8 to 0 lead with three minutes to go in the initial quarter. Jackson then got the Kelly Klads lone score of the quarter when he put a difficult shot in while underneath the basket. Bluffton, however, was not yet satisfied with her lead, and Mattax scored from well out, and McCray tallied while wide open under the hoop to give Bluffton a 12 to 2 lead.

Many Attempts Missed
Opening the second period the Archers missed numerous attempts at the hoop during the first few minutes of play before Jim Ellenwood connected on one from underneath. Michael soon retaliated with a short one. Hall gave the Archers their third basket of the evening with a set-up shot from the foul circle. At this time Coach McClure tried a new combination when he inserted Close and Lohse with Ellenwood, George, and Jackson. Ludwig and Mattax both counted from the field with about two minutes to go to give their team an 18 to 6 lead. Jackson came through on one of his charity shots and Lohse connected from well out to make the score 18 to 9 as the half ended.

The third quarter was a repetition of the first period run-away with the tables being turned against the Tigers. George tallied on a long one from the right side to make the score 18 to 11. Ludwig then made a sensational pivot shot as he emerged from a melee under the basket. Close resumed the Archer scoring with a foul shot and Jackson got his second fielder of the evening from underneath.

Wimpy Wiggle Hop Proves Successful For Lettermen's Club

With the aroma of sizzling hamburgers stealing over the dance floor mingled with the magic strains of Don Yoder's music the annual South Side Letterman's Club dance was held.

The dance was held in the Greeley Room, whose walls were decorated with pictures from the Popeye cartoon of the papers. The ceiling was decorated with green and red crepe paper. On the whole the room presented an interesting appearance.

About fifty couples enjoyed the music of Don Yoder and his band. The dancing began at 8:30 o'clock and continued until 11:30. The dancers not only enjoyed the dancing, but also the "luscious" hamburgers, which were sold by members of the club. Chocolate milk was also served. At no one time was the hamburger shop deserted. Always the chefs were kept busy serving either hamburgers or chocolate milk. Bob Lohman alone supplied enough business to keep the shop going.

The committee in charge of the dance, which was called the Wimpy Wiggle Hop, was Bob Willson, Bob Lohman, and Bob Nelson.

Athletics' History Is One of Success

South Side Teams Successful In Past Fields of Sport; 50 Percent Average Reached.

South Side's athletic history extends way back to the fall of 1922, the year of the opening of the school. South Side has a reason to be very proud and should consider itself very fortunate to obtain an average percentage of 500 over a period of twelve years. The following statistics show South Side's record to date:

Football	W.	Points
South Side	77	2281
Opponents	28	847
Basketball	W.	Points
South Side	174	8794
Opponents	109	6280

The major rivals of South Side are, of course, the other city teams, Central, North Side, and Central Catholic. South Side's record with them follows:

Football	W.	Points
South Side	13	721
Central	12	651
South Side	6	144
North Side	0	30
South Side	6	186
Central Catholic	0	32

A carefully directed athletic program, which South Side always has, contributes greatly to a fine school spirit. Such a good record in athletics is the greatest contribution to school spirit.

Intramural Boxers Go Into Training

About Forty Boys Go To Boxing Room Three Nights A Week For Instruction, Practice.

Intramural pugilists have now settled down into the training grind which precedes the important matches and the big tournament. Three nights a week after school, about forty boys go down to the boxing room for their instruction and practice.

In opening the night's practice the pugilists start with light calisthenics for about ten minutes. This is followed by rope skipping and similar exercises to limber up the muscles. Shadow boxing is next on the night's program. Instructions are then given on offensive and defensive boxing by Wehrmaster and Mr. Briner. After the instruction the boys are paired off for two rounds of one-half minute each.

Last year the intramural boxers were divided into seven classes. The class winners were Baney, Briegel, Parr, Kruse, Baney, Hans, and H. Makey. All of these champions, with the exception of Kruse, will defend their titles this year. These boys will find it plenty difficult to keep their titles at the next tournament, because the other boys are improving fast. We should be able to see plenty of action at the coming tournament in the middle of January.

In concluding the entire sports staff wish to express their appreciation to Mr. Davis, Mr. Welborn, Mr. McClure, and the sports staffs of the News-Sentinel and the Journal-Gazette for the splendid cooperation they have given in aiding the present staff to gather material for the past three months.

Archer Netters Will Meet Four Teams During Vacation

Southern Five To Meet Irish December 27

South Side's Entry in City Series Is Scheduled With Catholic Aggregation.

Two N.E.I.C. Tilts On Week's Card

Auburn, Piercetown, Decatur Are Other Three Games For Christmas Season.

Christmas vacation may mean a nice long rest to most students but to the South Side Archers it will mean plenty of hard work against tough opposition. The Archers are scheduled to take on four opponents in eight days. These encounters include two N. E. I. C. tilts and a city series clash.

Tomorrow night the Kelly Klads travel to Auburn to meet the Auto City quintet. The Red Devils are not as strong this season as they generally are and thus this game will be one of the easier of the quartet of games. The Red Devils are led this year by Don Meyers, a guard with two years of experience. He is the sharp-shooter of the team and is very fast. Stump, with no previous varsity experience, is the other guard.

Stackhouse is holding down the center position very capably and is a good all-around player. Jess Myers and D. Merchantehouse hold down the forward positions and are both excellent shots. Merchantehouse tops the two yard mark by half an inch and is good on the defense. The Youngmen have engaged one N. E. I. C. tilt to date, losing to Kendallville by a 28 to 19 score.

Archers Play Newcomer

On the following night the Macmen return to their own haunts to take on the Piercetown Cubs, a newcomer to South Side's schedule. Little is known of the strength of the Cubs since they have not as yet encountered any tough opposition.

The Cubs have four players from last year's team, which won about seventy percent of the twenty-one games it played. Grindle is the outstanding player on the Cubs lineup. He is fast and has two years experience behind him. Burnsworth teams up with Grindle at the forward posts. He also is fast and is an excellent shot. Circle and Wilcoxon are having a tough battle between themselves for the center position. The former is six foot one while the last has the advantage of one more inch. Both are seniors and Wilcoxon has had two years of varsity experience.

The guard positions are uncertain. Gebert is most certain of holding down one post. He is fast and very good on the defense. Brower, Keener, and Shoemaker are fighting it out for the other post. All are of about the same height and have had no varsity experience previous to this season.

After these tilts the Archers will not resume play until the Thursday and Friday evenings after Christmas. On Thursday they meet Coach Barrett's strong Irish aggregation and on Friday evening they are scheduled to take on the aggressive Decatur Yellow Jackets at the Adams County metropolis.

The Central Catholic-South Side game looks like one of the traditional Irish-Archer clashes with the winner in doubt until the final gun goes off. Both teams have shown plenty of scoring punch this season and have also "shined" on the defense. Both teams have clean slates to date, but the Irish run up against Central Friday night and the majority of the fans look forward to a loss for the Barrettmen.

The Irish lineup is uncertain since Coach Bil Barrett has two teams of about equal strength. Grout and either Morrison or Schott will start in the forward positions, while McArdle will get the call at center. Bobay is fairly certain of starting in one guard position while Romary, Agenbrood, and Hoch are certain of seeing action at the other guard post.

The Irish can put a six-foot lineup in the game any time and promise to be plenty tough.

Decatur Is Strong

The Archers end their Christmas season playing on the next night when they tackle the strong Decatur Yellow Jackets on the Decatur hardwood. Coach Curtis has a fine aggregation this season, and as most of his players are underclassmen, the Yellow Jackets stand out as a sectional threat for not only this year but next season also.

Bythe and Petersons are the big guns of the Yellow Jackets offense this season and are the boys the Archers must stop. Meyers and Hurd hold down the center position for the Curtis quintet but this position is the weak spot of the team.

Barker and Butler are in there on the guard positions and are tough men to get around. The Yellow Jackets proved their strength in turning back the North Side Redskins last week and promise to give the Archers no little trouble.

Probably all of the present squad will see action on this strenuous group of games with the first quintet being saved for the tougher games against Central Catholic and Decatur.

Rachmaninoff Plays at School

After touring the country under the direction of the N. B. C. Artists Service, Rachmaninoff, the famous pianist, has been engaged to play at the Oakland High School auditorium in Oakland, California.

C. C. Netters Prepare For Archer Fray

Definite Date Set For Baby Show

G. A. A. Infant Display Will Be Held Second Week in January; Ribbons, Cups To Be Awarded

Have you ever been to a zoo, a dog show, a rabbit show, or a flower show? Did you have a good time?

The G. A. A. Baby Show will be similar to any of these and you are sure to enjoy it.

The Girls' Athletic Association, whose advisers are Miss Alice J. Patterson and Miss Gretchen Smith, has announced that the display will take place the latter part of the second week in January.

A special committee petitioning all the members of clubs is working. A separate display will be given of each club who has enough pictures to form a group.

Each visitor attending the show will have the privilege of voting for the champion baby in each display, and for the champion boy, girl's and teacher's baby picture in the entire show. All entries will be named and numbered. The champion baby in each division will be awarded a blue ribbon and the champion boy, girl and teacher will be awarded a cup.

The show will take place during the noon period and will probably be held in the Greeley Room. A small admission fee will be charged each visitor.

G. A. A. members are in charge of the entire show, and one will be assigned to each booth to take the votes. These attendants will also be in charge to see that all the babies behave and that the spectators obey all the rules of the baby show.

Hardwood Heroes

Carl Hall, one of the mainstays on Bill Geyer's reserves has high hopes of stepping into the shoes of his big brother, Hooty Hall, in the near future. Carl, who is 5 feet 8 inches tall, and is 15 years old, holds down one of the forward berths, is fast, tricky, and has developed an ability to feint his man out of position. He has seen action in all of the preliminaries, except one.

Young Hall, has also seen action on one of the James Smart grade school quintets, a team that was defeated by only four points by the strong Jefferson grade school five, in the final game of the city grade school basketball tournament.

The Smart quintets are coached by Coach C. Quick, who has sent many a valuable man to Central and South Side hardwood squads. A team on which Carl played as a forward contained the intramural mid-dleweight basketball championship of 1934.

Tigers, Redskins, And Irish Victors

Week-end Proves Successful To Local Quintets at Expense of Their Hardwood Opponents.

Central's Tigers scored their fifth and sixth triumphs of the season, Central Catholic's Irish won their third decision, and North Side made its debut in the win column over last week-end.

The Tigers ran in tough opposition with the Columbia City Eagles in an encounter last Friday night. Trailing 15 to 10 at the midway intermission and 22 to 19 at the conclusion of the third period, the Tigers came back with a rally in the concluding period and emerged victorious by a 27 to 26 score. This win enabled them to forge into the lead in the N. E. I. C. standings.

On the bath night the Tigers had a "breather" compared to the Friday night tilt. The Tigers outfit was playing excellent ball and it gave the Garrett Raiders a 26 to 10 whipping. At the half Central had chalked up a 14 to 6 lead and at the end of the third period they held their host scoreless and added five points to their total to lead 19 to 10. In the final period the Raiders could not hold them; and they widened their margin, ending the game without being threatened.

Central Catholic won an easy victory over the New Haven Bulldogs to mark up their third victory of the season. Their superior height gave them an advantage over the Bulldogs and at the midway they led by a score of 23 to 10. Never being threatened in the last half, the Barrettmen led at the end of the closing quarter by a score of 39 to 19.

Decatur Beats Redskins
North Side fell before the Decatur Yellow Jackets last Friday night in a thrilling game which ended by a score of 22 to 19. At the half the score stood 9 to 6 in Decatur's favor, but in the third quarter the Redskins rallied and went into a one-point lead of 13 to 12. Unable to hold their lead they fell back and the Yellow Jackets at the sound of the gun had a three-point lead and all through the entire quarter they were constantly threatened by the Redskins.

The inexperienced Redskins came back Saturday night to win their first game of the season against Peru, which offered very little opposition. North Side led at the half by a score of 13 to 6. Then they increased their score to 22 to 6 with Nill leading the scoring. In the final quarter they had increased their score to double that at the half, winning the game with a score of 26 to 13.

G. A. A. Flashes

Upperclassmen are going through the halls singing with glee. The reason is that they are getting ready for the basketball season.

All girls who are passing in all their subjects are eligible to join the G. A. A. Come on, girls, sign up for basketball!

Catherine Stahlhut, an alumna, and her committee certainly deserve a lot of credit for the tumbling costumes which they made for the Friars' Revue.

When someone comes up and taps you on the shoulder and asks you to go ice-skating, you may be sure to see Helen Allen standing there when you turn around.

Several inquisitives have asked why Roselma Disler didn't practice tumbling Thursday night at the Shrine. That's all right, "Rosie," little rips will happen.

Miss Patterson is another person who should be complimented on the success of the Friar Revue. She instructed the football team, the tumblers, and the ladder dancers.

The G. A. A. certainly is proud of its football team. It consists of the following: Coach, Roselma Disler; referee, Winnie Locker; head linesman, Edith Pawlish; umpire, Effie Roberts; left guard, Enita Snavely; quarterback, Margie Heuer; center, Florence McKeon; left half, Lorain Heuer; fullback, A. M. Baumgartner; right half, M. Wilkerson; left end, Barbara Scheele; right end, Jean Kirby; right guard, Jo Rinehold; right tackle, Maxine White; left tackle, Nona Fliske.

It looks as if the girls are supporting the basketball team better than the boys according to the number that has signed up for the cheering section.

More seniors than ever are expected to enter the basketball tournament this year. At present approximately thirty senior girls have signed up.

The G. A. A. wishes to congratulate Mr. Wainwright for the success of the Friar Revue. His untiring efforts were certainly appreciated by all.

Middleweights Get Volleyball Spotlight

Tigers and Eagles Score Decisive Victories; Other Games in Intramural Competition.

This week's volleyball spotlight was held by two Iron Middleweight division teams, the Tigers and the Eagles. Each team scored two decisive victories. The Tornadoes bore the brunt of the attack by losing to both the Tigers and the Eagles.

In defeating the Tornadoes, 15-5 and 15-3, Lake of the Tigers, by scoring 12 points, was the outstanding player of the game. Durbin led the losers. Paced by Jones, the Tigers mauled the Punks 15-4 and 15-1.

O'Brien and Nusbaum led the Eagles to victory over the Tornadoes in a one-sided contest by a score of 15-2 and 15-8. The Wind boys were handicapped by the loss of three players. In the second game the Bears were the victims of the Eagles attack by the scores of 15-3 and 15-9.

After losing the first game of the week the Punks came back with a victory over the Cubs. Through this loss the Cubs hold the cellar alone. Woehr of the victors and Stolz of the Cubs were the outstanding players. The score of the game was 15-9 and 15-2.

The Mutts defeated the hard fighting Redskins by the close score of 15-3 and 16-14. The Redskins were handicapped by the absence of three players. King led the losers while Reichert led the victorious Mutts.

Using fine team work, the Fast Freighters rolled over the Swatters by two identical scores of 15-9. This is the fourth consecutive victory for the Fast Freighters out of as many starts. C. Baumgartner and Cochran led the Freighters, and Ertel led the losing Swatters.

In the last game, C. Brandt led the Herring to victory over the Yanks in an interesting game, by the score of 15-8 and 15-8. Taylor was the outstanding player for the defeated team.

Compiling the exceptionally high average of 164 for six games at Scott's Bowling Alleys, Wednesday, December 12, Wallace Bartels was crowned intramural bowling champion of South Side for 1934. Formal Frocks Come In Many Various Styles

Velvet Evening Wraps Are Especially Smart; Distinctive Types of Sleeves Displayed.

Formal frocks for dinners, dances, parties, in fact for all occasions, are now in vogue. Distinctive types of sleeves, shirts, capes, and jackets are shown. Dolman sleeves are featured for dinner dresses and informal evening gowns. Their bulkiness at the top of the frock give the line which the slim skirts demand. They accent the slim line of the hips. A clever dinner dress needs no other feature than these intriguing sleeves and the rich fabrics that fashion now dictates.

Lace is very lovely for evening wear. Jackets of lace add the last touch to a chic evening dress. The very latest is a lace jacket with a frill which stands up around the neck. This alluring ruffle can also be worn flat. Such a jacket is especially interesting when combined with a gown of pastel satin, crepe, or moire.

Necklines Important
Necklines are important this season since many of the simple gowns depend upon them for their sole interest. Throat-high cowls, cut to the waist in back are found especially in the clever crepe and satin formals. Metal cloth and brocades feature the square neckline in front and the soft cowl in the back. Velvets are found with the extremely low V line in both front and back. Many of the more unique necklines are marked by clusters of flowers, either matching or contrasting with the material. Metal cloth flowers are used in white and pastel shades. The drop-shoulder effect has again come into its own. This time the high roll collars dropped from the shoulders form soft frames around the face of the wearer.

Shirring, tucks, "Little Women" bodices, and surplice lines make the waist more important now than it has been for several seasons. High pointed waistlines, back belts, ties, and rhinestone and bead embroidery accent this interest. Sequins, beads, seed pearls, rhinestones, and feathers are found on many of the more clever creations. All of these tend to make the styles more elaborate than they have been in many moons. They add an air of luxury and elegance that has long been missing. Their advent marks the return of the former feminine frills in place of the more tailored styles of recent times.

"Little Women" Style
Skirts are following the lead of the "Little Women" bodice and have gone old-fashioned on us. We find the panels, godets, and flounces of our Mothers' day, as well as the tucks, bias flares, and tube-like fitted skirts of the present. The Oriental touch borrowed from the Far East is found in the skirts slit at the sides and sometimes in the front. Trains or fan-tail insets are found in the more elegant dinner dress.

Cocktail jackets, capes, and butcher-boy jackets have found their way into even the most formal society. They have definitely proved their worth by their practicability and utility. Not only do they turn a clever formal dinner dress into a swanky dinner gown, but they also turn a chilly formal into a snug, smart formal on occasion. They give a festive air to an otherwise severe gown and accent the flowing lines of the skirt. They lend variety and thus spice to life.

But one of the most intriguing fashions of the current season is the new mode in evening coats. The short fur jackets of the past have given way to the full length coat or cape of the present. Many of the more interesting are velvet and trimmed with fur. On some we find high fur collars and cuffs and sometimes a clever muff comes with the coat. The capes are of the same luxurious material and are often lined with material matching the fabric of the dress.

Give The Boy

By Eugene Jackson

What do boys desire as Christmas presents? Boys of high school age have various hobbies and desires and so it is very hard to name a number of so-called Christmas presents that will suit everyone.

The average high school boy receives more ties, handkerchiefs, shirts, and socks than anything else. These articles are therefore very seldom requested as gifts. The seniors may ask for money (for the Christmas social functions), a tuxedo, or a new suit, while the underclassmen will desire a new overcoat or the latest style overcoat. The theme of presents seems to be either money or clothes.

More inexpensive gifts are ice skates, new shoes, or a basketball. A flash light is almost a necessity with a boy. Boys, like girls, like good books. A pocket book is another useful present that a boy would never buy for himself.

Big, classy fur gloves will be appreciated by every boy. Or nice fuzzy sweaters makes anyone look smart.

Give The Girl

By Ursula Morton

When Santa Claus is coming to town, all of Santa's helpers wonder what to give to the high school girl. After hours of tramping and gazing into store windows, we think that we have proved ourselves helpful. In dozens of windows and girls hearts a pair of lounging pajamas comes first. Preferably they should be of a heavy material so that they may be worn on chilly winter evenings.

Another practical gift for cold weather is a pair of kid gloves. Gloves of black that will look nice with gray, blue, or black will be welcomed. A fuzzy white wool stocking cap and scarf trimmed in different colors will be smart. Gloves again may play an important role this Christmas by completing this set.

A white formal is every girl's dream. To go with this a pair of white sandals or a white wrap would be very acceptable. For something less expensive are the gifts of hose and hankies. No girl has a never ending supply of hosiery. She is always wearing them out and needing more. Hardly is there a more dainty usable gift. Handkerchiefs to some mind are what to give when nothing else would be appropriate. However, this is wrong for if a little time is taken in the choosing of novelty hankies they are delightful.

The Archer emblems that the Art Club are selling will be very appropriate because she may use them later to adorn her college room.

And don't forget when you buy gifts, girls still like to sit down with a good book and a box of chocolates or either.

Teacher Writes Play

"Hollywood Premiere" is the title of the stage production which was given in connection with the annual frolic of the William Penn High School of York, Pa. The play was written by Edwin T. Moul of the faculty.

Correspond with Germans

Hoping to establish friends in Germany, German classes in the University High School, Oakland, California, are sending their names to a distributing center in Leipzig, Germany. This center makes a practice of starting foreign correspondents.

If the sub-deb didn't know what sort of frocks she was going to wear to the Christmas dances, she is probably no longer worrying if she saw the Wolf & Dessauer Style Show last Friday. An excellent assortment of formal, semi-formals, and dinner dresses were modeled by the high school girls.

Ruth Stoner modeled a striking white satin formal. It was trimmed with a strip of rhinestones around the arms and a rhinestone belt. The back was merely a strip of satin from the neck to the waistline held in place by the rhinestone. The skirt was fitted and flared at the bottom.

An attractive red crepe dinner dress was modeled by Sally Rex. It had full length puffed sleeves with a tight-fitting band around the wrists. The fitted skirt was buttoned onto the short waist by black buttons in the front and back. The line was marked by a pleated ruffle.

Virginia Gardner was charming in a pink crepe formal. The dress was split low in the front and fastened with silver clasps. The skirt was fitted and flared at the bottom. Crossed straps formed the back. A pink ostrich feather cape, elbow length and tying in front, completed this outfit.

A lovely white satin dance frock was modeled by Maxine Roth. A novelty of this dress was the zipper fastening the dress from the low square back. The dress was trimmed in front by vertical rows of red-pleated ruffles extending from the shoulders to the waist line.

Eldyth Thornton wore a smart tunic dinner dress of green crepe. The tunic had silver threads embroidered through it. The dolman sleeves of this frock were very smart.

A peach colored crepe was worn by Betty Meigs. It had short cape sleeves trimmed with a band of rhinestones. The dress had a high cowl neck and a wide rhinestone belt.

Bon Siline Craig modeled a clever rose taffeta formal. Its full skirt fashioned after the lines of the newest creation, the Little Women frocks, was fastened to a high pointed bodice. The neck was boxed and there were tiny diamond buttons from the neck to the waist line in the back. A sash tied in a huge bow completed this dress.

moon and they became a satellite of the moon. After going around it once, Barbicane discharged some force rockets which sent them back to the earth at a terrific speed.

After Ten Days They Return
Ten days after their departure from the earth, they returned, plunging into the Pacific and nearly wrecking a ship which happened to be in that locality. After a few days' search, the projectile was discovered, floating peacefully on the water. As the rescuers approached the projectile, they discovered that one window was broken open and from it issued sounds of men playing checkers. After further investigation, it was discovered that all three explorers were hale and hearty. In fact, they had grown fat!

Will this attempt, unprecedented in the annals of travels, lead to practical results? Will direct communication with the moon ever be established? Will people ever go from one planet to another?

To such questions no answer can be given. But knowing the bold ingenuity of the Anglo-Saxon race, no one would be astonished if the Americans seek to make some use of Jules Verne's story, "From the Earth to the Moon."

Many Students Attend
Y. W. C. A. Yuletide Hop

Many students from all the high schools in the city attended the dance given by the Y. W. C. A. last Saturday. This dance was given to help the high school students celebrate Christmas.

Lowell Meyer's orchestra played for the dance, which lasted from 9:00 to 11:30 o'clock. Tickets for the affair were free, and only a certain number was given to each high school. They were secured through the deans and the student council. Members of the student council from South Side are: Pauline Crabbell, Aletha Hatfield, Richard Shannon, Max Tricht and Arthur Boerger. The tickets had to be accepted at the door before one could be admitted.

After One Month Comes Money
In one month after the announcement of the proposed trip to the moon, $5,446,676 was contributed by the public to the treasury of the Gun Club.

On the day set for the trip, Florida was agog with excitement. Five million visitors from all over the world yearned for a glimpse of the huge cannon, and they were charged five dollars apiece for a glimpse. Came the time for the attempt and everybody was feverish with anxiety. Would the shock kill the three explorers? President Barbicane of the Gun Club; Captain Nicholl, his deadly enemy; and Michael Ardan, the impetuous Frenchman?

When the projectile was finally launched, there was a tremendous explosion and a blinding flash that lit up the whole of Florida. When the explorers tried to discover the reason that they didn't hear the explosion, Barbicane proved to the others that they had travelled faster than the sound. The trip up was uneventful except for the excitement aroused by the approach of a large meteor, which looked as if it were going to annihilate them; but, luckily, it missed them and only detracted them from their course of the perpendicular to the

Jules Vern Tells Experiences
Of Explorers In Trip To Moon

In his book, "From the Earth to the Moon," Jules Verne tells of the exciting adventures of three courageous explorers who are propelled to the moon in a cylindro-conical projectile.

Inasmuch as the moon is 14,706,771, 200 inches or 247,895 miles from the earth, President Barbicane of the Gun Club of Maryland, which was organized during the Civil War, computed that a projectile would need an initial velocity of 12,000 yards a second to reach the moon. Since the initial velocity, however, will be decreasing, it results that taking everything into consideration, it will occupy 300,000 seconds, that is 83 hours and 20 minutes for the projectile to reach the point where the attraction of the earth and moon will be in equilibrium. From this point it would fall into the moon in 50,000 seconds, or 13 hours, 53 minutes, and 20 seconds.

The cannon constructed to hurl this projectile, the Columbiad, was 900 feet deep and the walls were six feet thick to withstand the powerful shock which must ensue after such a terrible explosion. It was situated in Florida because that state was favorable in the kind of ground in which to sink the Columbiad and in position.

Cottage Costs $400
The humble little first cottage had cost $400, and represented much effort on Trudeau's part. He convinced several wealthy friends who saw the success of his treatment in his own improvement in health to contribute money for other cottages. By 1892, through these generous gifts, there was an infirmary cottage and each year came more attractive buildings in more carefully planned and landscaped settings.

Year by year Trudeau gained fame for his use of rest, fresh air, and nourishing food in the treatment of tuberculosis. Other sanatoria were started and today there are over six hundred attractively built and scientifically managed such institutions for the tuberculosis.

Dr. Trudeau Is First President
In 1904, Dr. Trudeau was the first president of the National Tuberculosis Association. Because of Trudeau's efforts in establishing the "Little Red," the National Tuberculosis Association has at present 2,084 affiliated state and local organizations throughout the country, all supported by the annual sale of Christmas Seals.

The Fort Wayne and Allen County Tuberculosis League has set its goal for selling Christmas seals at $10,000. The people of Fort Wayne have been very generous in their contributions but there are still many who have not turned in their money or seals.

Hostess Need Not Be Baffled By Lack of Money For Posters

A dilemma comparable to the "Devil and the deep blue sea" is the one that faces the modern hostess bent on honoring the visiting lions. The holiday season makes acute the problem of entertaining under the financial handicaps that cramp so many would-be hostesses. However, there are many parties that can be given on a limited allowance and plenty of ingenuity. When so much time is taken up with dances and teas, the hostess does well to provide variety in the form of different parties depending on their novelty for their success.

Bobsled parties, skating parties, watch parties, breakfasts, and the new winter games similar to the favorite treasure hunt, of tracking down the criminal are sure successes. Sledding, skating, skiing, or any other out-of-door game works up a marvelous appetite that thinks anything in the line of food is simply wonderful. Hot chocolate, chili, or any other hot refreshment will be really appreciated after a couple of hours' sliding down a snow-covered hill in the moonlight.

Watch parties, ever popular at the holiday season entail more elaborate refreshments since there is no active sport to distract the masculine mind from the stomach. Buffet suppers of sandwiches temptingly made of cold meats and cut man-size find favor with any guests, no matter how particular. Daintier cheese and nut sandwiches or open-face sandwiches cut in novel shapes attract the feminine eye. Christmas cookies, candies, and nuts, and some thirst-quencher, round out a tempting menu.

For breakfasts more substantial food is required. Old-fashioned grape fruit or oranges cut in interesting shapes take on a new glamour. Waffles, wheat cakes, or regular pancakes with plenty of butter and syrup make a dish fit for a king. If the conversation is to be the high-light of the occasion, even the unromantic bacon and eggs served attractively, take on new character. For the new version of the treasure hunt, a buffet supper featuring some hot dishes and plenty of "seconds" for all will be appreciated. As in the case of the bobsled and skating parties, quantity, not quality, is required. Nothing is more disappointing to a guest than to be working up an appetite all evening and then be served caviar and "peacock's tongues."

Winter Costumes Prove Attractive

Many Swank Jackets Displayed For Various Types of Outdoor Events, Active and Spectator.

As the winter season approaches with its glamorous sports, skiing, ice skating, and tobogganing, Santa has been bombarded with pleas for sport outfits for Christmas gifts. These requests can easily be fulfilled this year, for department stores and specialty shops have made a comprehensive preparation for the approaching sports season.

The sports line includes snow suits, ski suits, ski breeches, lumber jackets, sport coats and jackets. The garments are designed primarily for comfort, warmth, and freedom of movement. Durability combined with smartness are the main features of the suits. Woolen flannel and corduroy represent the materials used in these outdoor garments. The skiing costumes are especially attractive.

The prevailing colors are brown combined with a blending shade of yellow or orange. Many interesting costumes are being displayed in the leading department stores. One dark brown suit is made most striking in appearance by the use of bright orange accessories. Leg bands, high turtle neck, and arm bands of orange are knitted to the brown suit. A fuzzy beret of matching color adds chic to the costume, together with mittens of similar material.

Many swank jackets are being displayed for all types of sports wear for the active sports girl and the mere spectator. Brown trimmed with orange, black with white, blue with a darker blue are the best color combinations for jackets this season. A woolen sports skirt combined with one of these jackets forms a good-looking outfit. A dash of color supplied by a scarf or beret makes this combination very effective. Novel wooden buttons or leather covered ones add to the cleverness of these jackets. Many jackets have a vest of doe-skin or soft suede trimmed with gaily colored plaid sleeves. Colored breeches of corduroy with a brilliantly hued sweater forms a practical outfit for sleigh rides and general sports wear.

Rise of School May Be Noted From Records

South Side's Normal Capacity Is 1,500; Courses Are Cited With Requirements.

South Side High School, which was established in 1922, is the largest of the three public high schools of Fort Wayne. The record of its growth is shown by the following figures:

Year	Pupils	Teachers
1922-23	892	39
1923-24	1013	54
1924-25	1189	60
1925-26	1245	62
1926-27	1298	62
1927-28	1448	63
1928-29	1549	66
1929-30	1683	73
1930-31	1724	72
1931-32	1848	70
1932-33	1895	62
1933-34	1969	61

At the present time, South Side covers about three acres of land with promise of enlargement in the near future. In addition to this there is an athletic stadium with concrete seating facilities for about 3,200 spectators, and to the south of the building is a piece of ground covering one-half of a block for the outdoor intramural activities for boys and girls.

Normal Capacity Is 1500
The normal capacity of South Side is 1,500 students. The gymnasium in which the basketball games are played is 56x105 feet and will seat 2,463 people.

The custodial force of South Side consists of an engineer and an assistant, whose business it is to keep the school warm, and a custodian, five full time janitors, and one half-time janitor.

The regular school day starts at 8:05 in the morning and ends at 3:15 in the afternoon. During the day there are seven fifty-five minute periods with a five-minute interval between each period, bring the school-day to a close at 3:15.

Not all boys and girls entering a secondary school have the same needs and abilities as to training. In order to meet this situation, South Side offers three distinct courses, College Preparatory, General, and Commercial. The College Preparatory course is designed for those who intend to enter an institution of higher learning. Students finishing this course with a good record, and with the elections to suit the requirements of the particular school, can enter on certificate any college or university in the United States if that institution will accept students from any secondary school on certificate.

The general course is prepared for those boys and girls who wish to secure a general cultural training, without preparing for college. This course does not require a foreign language or as much mathematics as does the college course.

Commercial Course Given
The commercial course trains a student for office work, particularly in bookkeeping and stenography. Graduates of this course hold positions in many offices of the city. A graduate of the stenographic department must be able to take dictation at the rate of eighty words per minute, and to type at the net speed of at least forty words per minute on a ten-minute copy test, with no more than six errors.

In addition to providing the three courses, South Side also has attempted to provide classes of different interests and difficulty, which meets the variations in the abilities of students. Side by side, three courses are running in many of the subjects, graded as to difficulty. Students are placed in these according to their ability to perform. The result of this has been much more successful work, which shows by the dropping of the percentage of failure from as high as thirty-five or forty in some subjects to an average of less than five for the entire school.

The approximate enrollments in each course is: College Preparatory, 840; General, 540; and Commercial, 580. The approximate enrollments in each subject, at the present time, are:

English	1664
Math	1126
Language	716
Science	1152
Art	274
Home Economics	326
Industrial Arts	365
Commerce	580
Physical Education	941

Each member of Miss Demaree's English 6 classes is reporting on a different magazine.

Miss Demaree's English 6 classes are working on drama, their last unit of literature.

Two groups in Miss Demaree's classes will present a one-act play.

Recently Miss Kiefer's English 8 class had a special program in the Greeley Room in connection with the study of Robert Burns and his poetry. Miss Pittenger read a group of Burns' love poems. Clarabelle Chenoweth sang "John Anderson, My Jo John." The entire class sang several of Burns' songs with Arline Close at the piano. Gordon Straley acted as master of ceremonies. Phyllis Graham, Clarabelle Chenoweth, and Eddythe Thornton were in charge of the program.

Dorothea Tobianski in Miss Peck's English 3 class has made the highest average in her class in daily quizzes.

Anna Marie Baumgartner and Virginia Baker furnished a musical program for home room 174 last Wednesday morning.

Rosalind Enz, Ray Fisher, and Leona Frederick were chosen to arrange for a Christmas party in home room 174.

The classes in foods 1 will take up the study of desserts, stressing particularly puddings, pastry, and cakes. The laboratory consists of individual and group work for quantity.

The class in house management is beginning the study of child feeding and care.

John Farr, Walter Jackson, La Vern Keel, Victor Pierson, and Shiela Stehly, scored A or above in a 100-point objective test over Selections from American Poetry in Mr. Sterner's English 2 class.

Margaret Buchanan sold the most Friar tickets of Room 142.

In a recent standardized test given in bookkeeping 3, the following pupils made grades above 90: Eric Beyer, Jeanette Braun, 97, and John Brown, 94.

Violet Gordon leads the second big ten with 34 words per minute. Margie Paetz heads the third big ten with 31.8 words per minute.

Most Embarrassing Moments Told To Inquiring Reporter

Blush! Blush! Gasp! Gasp! Many other sounds were heard when the following question was answered. "What has been your most embarrassing moment during your high school life? Why?"

Several would not reveal their moments but many did. However, those selected were the only ones that could be printed. Here they are, call them what you may—

Miles Porter III: Let me think! Well, last month I was supposed to be initiated into a fraternity. I came to school in the costume chosen. I donned earrings, lipstick, and hat, all of which made me feel ridiculous. I walked into geometry class, preparing to do my best to abide by the initiation. When a gush of laughter filled the room, I sat in my seat very dejected. It may not seem embarrassing to you, but wait until you put lipstick on your face and strut into a class mostly occupied by boys.

Lewis Squires: Must I tell? Well, open your ears to this! I was writing words of love in my spare time in one of my classes. I was dreaming and planning a masterpiece!! A poem that would inspire thousands! When I was about to put the finishing touches to it, my room companion snatched it from my hands and displayed it before the teacher, much to my amusement. Was I embarrassed? You guess!

Physics Teacher Helps
Charles Hart: This is really amusing to me! Pardon me while I laugh! I was practicing for a skating party in the halls of South Side High School. I was yelling, screeching, and making all other sounds that go with it. A certain physics teacher came up to me just when I had decided to sit down by compulsion. He caught me and asked me if I thought I was home! I felt so small I could sit in a thimble with ease.

Catherine Allendorph: I heard a few tee-hees in class the other day. I laughed to be polite not knowing why. Several minutes later I felt a draft. It finally came to me that a few hook and eyes decided to part from each other. My dress had been opened. I was terribly embarrassed, but I still thank my stars I noticed it. No one knows what would happen in the other classes. Embarrassed? No, undressed!

Betty Brothers: Embarrassed? Me and my witty humor always has threatened to be the end of me. It almost made me a cripple the other day. I crawled up behind Clarabelle Chenoweth in order to trip her. We were in the crowded section of the school, the Calhoun street entrance. I caught my foot neatly in her flowing garments and went head over heels on the floor. Imagine my chagrin, and in that crowd, too. Was my face red!

Woody Ormiston: I've been told I was tongue-tied but never believed it until I was called upon to give my first speech in public speaking. I strutted to the front of the room, stood in position, raised my hand and uttered "peep." The class got the joke, but I didn't. I walked to my seat with laughing eyes peering at me—I have yet to give my first speech! There are moments and moments.

Mary Ellen Kankamp: I have ears that hear not! What do I mean by that? Well, last week I was sitting in a class. I was dreaming of a party I was to attend. Suddenly I came out of the mist. Why? My classmate kicked me in the shin! The class was laughing uproariously! I later discovered that the teacher had called on me three times but to no avail. I wanted to hide behind the typewriter but didn't try as I was in enough trouble—and you call it a moment!!

"What Does Christmas Mean To You?" Answered by Pupils

"What Does Christmas Mean To You?"

This question, being taken into consideration by a few South Side students, was answered with a spirited enthusiasm. At these times when Christmas is so close at hand there is a confusion and tensely felt by all individuals. The air has a clean, wistful feeling. Christmas really has a definite meaning. However, many of the students have their own definitions in regard to Christmas. What it really means to the individuals was expressed by the following:

Lewis Squires—It is a day that I'm looking forward to. I intend to eat until I fill up. Perhaps I'll "bust" after that but I don't mind. Pleasure first and misery after. Really though, I intend to rejoice and have a good time.

Mary Ellen Kankamp: Christmas means to me a day when our world was saved from sin by Jesus Christ. I think over that fact most people should rejoice.

Miles Porter III: It is a time to be thankful for everything, including your friends. It is the spirit and realization of something fine that prevails throughout the time. It certainly is a day to rejoice.

Bob Blomker: Oh you mean December 25? Well, taking it under consideration I think there is a yuletide spirit that is absorbed by everyone. It is a time to rejoice, I think. However, I won't do much rejoicing, I don't think.

Evelyn Miller: A time to eat! I intend to make it a day of filling the stomach with good old Christmas food. Candy and goodies of all kinds will make me take the day of a grand celebration. That's all Christmas means to me. I can't help it.

Clayton Kilpatrick: It is a day that inspires me to be good. It creates a spirit of giving—and getting. It is a really rejoicing time for me. I expect to be more serious on that day than ever before.

Robert Lee: That is the day I receive five dollars from my father. It surely does my heart good. All I can say is the significance of the day is enough to rejoice in itself.

Virginia Roe: Well, I expect my stockings to be filled with many delights. It is a day I receive gifts and give them. Company comes and a great confusion is felt throughout the place. It means all that to me and more.

Junior-Math Club Has Christmas Celebration

Christmas was celebrated by the members of the Junior-Math Club on Tuesday, December 18, in the Voorhees Room.

Jacqueline Hensch and Virginia McNamara presented a tap dance to the "Bugle Call Rag." Maxine Rippe gave a reading called "Kinders Are Keepers."

The members exchanged a ten-cent Christmas present. After the members enjoyed games, refreshments were served. Rayola Morton was in charge of this meeting. Those assisting her were Jerry Zehr, Paula Gerding, Lois Wyneken, Mary Louise Helms, and Dorothea Tobianski.

To Give Play
The combined dramatic clubs of Frederick High School of Frederick, Maryland, are planning to present a three-act play, entitled "Robin Hood", in the early part of December.

Correct New 1934-35 Tuxedos With Vest at Suedhoff & Butler---$22.50

"Let the Holiday dances begin—"I'm ready with my new Suedhoff & Butler 'Tux' ", said a prominent Archer the other day.

You'll like the new tuxedos—they conform to the natural contour of your body . . . entirely free from strain at any point. Single and double breasted models with satin lapels. Suedhoff & Butler, 1011 Calhoun street, are also selling $5 and $5.50 tuxedo sets—studs, cuff links at $2.95 and $3.95. The store purchased these ten days ago from the Bruder-Calhoun Jewelry Store.

P.S.—Almost forgot to tell you that the price of the tuxedos is only $22.50—and with a vest too. Not a bad Christmas gift idea from "Dad" (if you can sell him the idea).

Students Give Their Opinions On All-Musical Assemblies

In answer to the questions, "What do you think of the series of music assemblies?" and "What do you think would improve them?", there seems to be a great difference of opinion.

While many would have an abundance of popular tunes, many believe they are just right as they are. In all cases, the people questioned seemed to enjoy them a great deal.

Vera Ellinger: I think it is a fine way for the band to make money for their expenses. I think that every one enjoys them very much!

Dick Helm: We of South Side do not realize the advantages of our band concerts. It is time for South Side students to appreciate our band as much as small towns like Butler appreciate their band.

Sally Rea—I think it is a fine way to raise money, and in addition we get some good music. But I think they ought to play a few popular selections. "Tony" Kilpatrick: The last band concert to me was just plain swell. The South Side band was more or less of a side line, but the choir was plenty good. However, the concert was not long enough for me.

Outside Talent Is Favored
Sonia Velkoff: I think that for the most part they are very good. I would suggest harp music and also more popular music. I think that the outside entertainments add a lot to the programs.

Dick Russell: The concerts are O. K. as they are, but I think there should be more harp and xylophone music. Gwen Horn: I believe that these concerts will teach the school appreciation of good music. But, I think that the band should also play better-known pieces.

Bob Long: I would like livelier music. Instead of so much "band concert" we might have some featured soloists and a more varied program such as string sections playing quaint old numbers which we all like.

Wants Popular Numbers
Harriett Storm: I think there should be some popular numbers played during the programs. This would make them more interesting for all.

Herman Makey: I like the concerts which the band gives. The choir does not compare with our band, and vice versa.

Bob Harruff: The musical concerts are to me very entertaining as they are different. Since both the band and the guests are of the best, there is all the more reason why we should enjoy them. Some people comment that there should be more popular music, but I like them as they are, since there is always plenty of jazz on the radio.

Helen Anderson: I think it is a very fine thing for the school. Future assemblies are scheduled for January 25, February 22, April 12, and May 13.

'Twas the night before Christmas, when all through the house Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse; The stockings were hung by the chimney with care, In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there; The children were nestled all snug in their beds, While visions of sugar-plums danced in their heads; And mamma in her kerchief, and I in my cap, Had just settled our brains for a long winter's nap, When out on the lawn there arose such a clatter, I sprang from my bed to see what was the matter. Away to the window I flew like a flash, Tore open the shutters and threw up the sash. The moon on the breast of the new-fallen snow Gave the lustre of midday to objects below, When, what to my wondering eyes should appear, But a miniature sleigh, and eight tiny reindeer, With a little old driver so lively and quick, I knew in a minute it must be St. Nick. More rapid than eagles his coursers they came, And he whistled and shouted, and called them by name: "Now, Dasher, now Dancer, now Prancer, and Viven! On, Comet! on Cupid! on Donner and Blitzen! To the top of the porch! to the top of the wall! Now dash away! dash away! dash away all!" As dry leaves that before the wild hurricane fly, When they meet with an obstacle, mount to the sky: So up to the house-top the coursers, they flew With the sleigh full of toys, and St. Nicholas too. And then, in a twinkling, I heard on the roof The prancing and pawing of each little hoof. As I drew in my head and was turning around, Down the chimney St. Nicholas came with a bound. He was dressed all in furs from his head to his foot, And his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot; A bundle of toys he had flung on his back, And he looked like a peddler just opening his pack. His eyes—how they twinkled; his dim-ples—how merry! His cheeks were like roses, his nose like a cherry! His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow, And the beard on his chin was as white as the snow; The stump of a pipe he held tight in his teeth, And the smoke it encircled his head like a wreath; He was chubby and plump, a right jolly old elf; And I laughed when I saw him, in spite of myself; A wink of his eye and a twist of his head Soon gave me to know I had nothing to dread; He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work, And filled all the stockings; then turned with a jerk, And laying his finger aside of his nose, And giving a nod, up the chimney he rose. He sprang to his sleigh, to his team gave a whistle, And away they all flew like the down of a thistle. But I heard him exclaim, ere he drove out of sight, "Happy Christmas to all, and to all a good-night!"

Can you
 —get a hall permit and resist the temptation to save it for future use?
 —smile at the person that bumps you in the hall?
 —sit in a study hall without talking to your neighbor?
 —turn the drinking fountain on for a person without turning it up in his face?
 —turn down that piece of chocolate pie to keep within your allowance?
 (If you can answer yes to these questions you're a putrid prevaricator.)

Famous Sayings of Famous People

You can fool some of the people some of the time, but they're not all suckers.
 Inflation is not all it's puffed up to be.
 If at "first" you don't succeed—try playing second base.
 When you've come to your last straw—then drink out of the bottle.
 School spirit is not an intoxicating beverage.
 Girl's Recipe for Getting a Date
 (Try this recipe—it never fails.)
 1 compact
 1 innocent smile
 2 soulful eyes
 2 red lips
 Apply contents of compact to lips and upon meeting desirable date cast soulful eyes upon him, inserting innocent smile until he begins to simmer. When he is done to a turn allow him to cool off. Then devour him.

Dear Sir: Goats is very funny animals. They are about as big as sheeps if the sheeps is big enough. A female goat is called a buttress; a little goat is called a goatie. My father had a goat once. My father is an awful good man. This is all I know about goats, except goats is strong—both ways.

There was once a young maiden named Lunne, Adored by the dry-cleaner's son.
 Neither by wile nor by whim
 Could he attract her to him,
 But he pressed him suit til he won.

She: "I'd like to break your neck. May I?"
 He: "No!"
 She: "Aw—always taking the joy out of life!"

Photographer: Your son ordered these photographs from me.

Father: They certainly are very much like him. Has he paid for them yet?
 Ph: No, sir.
 Fa: That is still more like him.

Teacher: Correct this sentence: Before any damage could be done, the fire was put out by the volunteer fire department.

Frosh: The fire was put out before any damage could be done by the volunteer fire department.

"Are you Bill Hatch?" asked the young man beside the cloak rack.

"No," was the surprised reply.
 "Well, I am," came the frosty reply, "and that is his slicker you are putting on."

We don't mean to turn this colym into a children's puzzle page, but this is a good experiment, which a contributor has tried.

It has been said that the majority of the people have defective hearing or are slow in comprehending a question. To prove this statement ask ten people the question, "How much is two and two," and then write down the first word they say.

Here's the results we received:

1. Who wants to know?
2. Four.
3. Huh?
4. Eh?
5. What?
6. Nerts.
7. Four.
8. What did you say?
9. Huh?
10. Why?

Tailor: When your father sent you for samples of cloth, didn't he say what color and material he wanted?
 Small Boy: I don't think it matters, sir, he wants them for pen wipers.

The GARBAGE MAN!

Oh, For Tomorrow!

'Twas the night before pay-day
 And all through my jeans
 I hunted in vain
 For the ways and the means;
 Not a quarter was stirring,
 Not even a "jit".
 The kale was off duty,
 The greenbacks had quit.
 Forward! Turn forward!
 O, time in thy flight,
 And make it tomorrow
 Just for tonight.

Howard: What's the matter with you. You're always wishing for something you haven't got.
 Shirley: Well, what else is there to wish for?

Randy: Well, caddie, how do you like my game?
 Caddie: I suppose it's all right, but I still prefer golf.

Senior: Our economics teacher talks to himself. Does yours?
 Second Ditto: Yes, but he thinks we're listening.

Mr. Jones—My friend laughed when I spoke to the waiter in French, but the laugh was on him. I told the waiter to give him the check.

Overheard Here and There

Teacher: "What did you get out of this experiment?"
 Stude: "A burnt finger."

The Swimming Meet

The water blue was sparkling bright;
 The air was full of steam;
 The population all came out
 To see the swimming team.

The hero, strong and straight was he,
 With dark and curling hair,
 Wanted to win the swimming meet,
 For his lady was watching there.

He went into the water deep,
 But ne'er again was seen,
 For he met down there a mermaid fair,
 And she offered to be his queen.

They lived for years beneath the sea,
 A happy and loving pair;
 While above his maid did wait and wait,
 Till she died from her despair.

Stella (at the seashore): Look! Mary's sinking! Count Bugsy's trying to save her! D'y'e spouse she's drowning?
 Bella: No, I think she's just gone down for the count.

Wonder if they call it bridge because of the constant stream of conversation

"Oh, an advertisement caught my eye," exclaimed the man with the bandaged head

Teacher: What is a stoic?
 Student: Oh, er, well, that is what children believe brings babies.

No doubt part of the rottenness of politics comes from the spoils system.

Those girls who pursue the whims of fashion now, are in for a good lacing.

Gettin' Wise
 Our mothers always told us
 When we were little tots
 That the sooner we got off to school,
 The sooner we got out.

But now that we are older
 We know it isn't true
 'Cause the later you get into class,
 The sooner you are through.

TREES
There is many different kinds of trees. There is kinds what yo' gets sap out of only some kinds of san don't come from trees. Clothestrees is bad trees, 'cause they makes your Pa say naughty things when he gets in late and stumbles over it and then your mother gets sore and everything is dark in the foreground for Dad. Teacher—How old are you, Harold.
Harold—56.
Teacher—Seriously now?
Harold—Sure, life begins at forty.

You got on too much makeup, you look like a sunrise.

Overheard by student the day before grades were distributed.
First Teacher—How are your classes getting along?
Second Teacher—Pretty well, pretty well.
First Teacher—Many students failing?
Second Teacher—About 14, I think.
First Teacher—I'll have about that many too.
Did that leave an empty feeling in his stomach?

I bought a new pig the other day and I named him ink. Do you know why?—Because he keeps running out of the pen.

Fleas
I think that I shall never see
A bug as pesky as a flea.
A flea whose powers readily spread
From doggy's tail to doggy's head;
A flea that looks at dogs all day
And bothers them at work and play.
A flea that can bring deep despair
By getting fixed in doggy's hair.
Upon the doggy's back he's lain
And infinitely brought him pain.
Books prints poems about the tree—
But the school paper only about the flea.
(Apologies to Joyce Kilmer.)

He who laughs last, laughs best, but gets a reputation for being dumb.

Prof. (in chemistry): "This is a very explosive substance, and if we're not careful, it will blow us sky-high. Now come closer, gentlemen, so you can follow me."

Financially Speaking
During the late stormy weather, umbrellas went up considerably. But during the slippery weather, the holders went down. There has been a fall in snow, though that was to be expected, owing to the snow in fall. Washing on the clothes line has been very firm. Old rye active. Hot drinks have gone down briskly, but holders have been quite unsteady. Daughters went up to pa (par) and asked for furs. He steadily declined and has been dull with no present prospect of change. The market is closed.

An Excerpt from "Ten Knights in A Bar Room"
This playlet reveals the influence of "The Green Knight" on two high school students. It is a reminder of the good old days when Knighthood Was in Flower and there was Love in Bloom.
"Greeting to thee, Sir Givin!"
"My blessings on thee, little Knaves. Withersomst thou in such haste?"
"Ah, it gives me, sire, but I must put to you an uncouth query."
"Spake; unbunden thy grief. Thou knowest surely of my fidelity. Withhold not thy sorrows."
"Tis no time for bounteous pleasantries, Knight!"
"Fain, sire, would I but beseech thee to borrow me thy magic manuscript. Within the hour am I do battle with Squire Buckborough."
"Dost wish a shield, sire?"
"I have only my shield of honor."
"It doth seemingly appear to be wrought of thin stuff."
"My gentle nature, sire, doth stir in resentment at thy dirty digges."
"Wouldst my pen, hale fellow?"
"Thou knowest my needs well."
"Ay, sire, I shudder. 'Twill be a battle wrought with fury. To the end, a battle of the wits!"
"It doth seem unto me thou art under a handicap!"
"Cease thy ribaldries, fellow!"
"Soon will toll the bel—hasten, sire, the parchment."
"Verily, brave Knight. I commend thee to the gods of wisdom. Here, sire, the manuscript—notes to you."

There was a young lady named Hannah,
Who slipped on a peel of banana
More stars she espied
As she lay on her side
Than are found in the "Star Spangled Banner."

As Usual
Neighbor: So your son got his B. A. and his M.A.
Proud Dad: But his P.A. still supports him.

Air being sucked in,
Water trickling down,
A clash of metal,
Then he said, Gosh this soup is good!

Did you ever hear the one about the fellow who tried to write a musical comedy about the World Series, but it flopped—because there weren't enough hits in it?

"My face is my fortune."
"When did you go out of business?"

They called her apostrophe because she was "so possessive."

She: "Young people nowadays don't need chaperons on parties."
He: "What they need are referees."

Teacher: "I expect all of you pupils to spend twice as much time on your homework hereafter."
Pupil: "That's easy. Two times nothing is nothing."

Patty: How many ribs have you?
Gene (giggling): I don't know. I've always been too ticklish to count them.

"That's what they call a bear-cat," said little Pery, as he finished shaving the family feline with Pa's safety razor.

Teacher: "I expect all of you pupils to spend twice as much time on your homework hereafter."
Pupil: "That's easy. Two times nothing is nothing."

Grandpa—Well, why doesn't grass grow on a busy street?

I see a tiger in the zoo,
Devouring someone just like you,
A dream that never does come true
Who do I dream those dreams?
And at the close of every day,
A bandit hiding in the hay,
Comes down to steal your last week's pay,
Who do I dream those dreams?
You're right long, this will be my thesis,
You're in my arms in dreams
Right or wrong I am tearing you to pieces,
Oh, how good it seems!
Oh, boy, how you get in my hair!
How long must I let you stay there!
I dream you'll soon be off the air,
Isn't it grand to dream those dreams?

Why is it Professors can wear purple ties,
Haphazard haircuts, and coats the wrong size;

Mr. Rain: I dunno, unless its because my wife always drives at it.

Rita: Yes, but you use them to say the most, my dear.

Yeah, but she can't even darn a sock.

Well, the road is beginning to turn when she does.

More Truth Than Poetry
There was a little girl
Who had a little curl
Right in the middle of her forehead
When she was good
She was very, very good,
But when she was bad
She was popular.

Little drops of water,
Freezing as they fall,
Fat man's feet fly upward,
Biff! And then that's all.

Caesar conquered many nations,
A noble man was he.
But when it came to examinations
He almost conquered me.

His pedigree was phoney;

Voice from porthole—Put a pan under it and go to bed.

Shoemaker—Hide.
John—Why should I hide?
Shoemaker—Hide! Hide! The cow's outside!

John—Let the cow come in, I'm not afraid.

That Unswatted Fly
A lonesome fly got in our house
One day not long ago.
The family armed itself at once
And started for the foe.

Potato-mashers, frying-pans
And baseball bats we got.
And broomsticks—and we started in
With might and main to swat.

We smashed three good-sized mirrors
And tore down the chandelier;
We broke an antique heirloom vase
And wrecked the jardiniere.

It seems a shame to stop and think
What father's got to buy;
We swatted everything we could—
But didn't swat the fly.

Who slept on a ship while at anchor,

When she heard the mate say,

Definition of a Censor
A censor is a lovely man;
I know you think so too,
He sees three meanings in a joke
When there are only two.

Ambition

A barber and a scissors
Got to work on one poor guy.
(Quite a bust.)
A tiny little piggy
Thought that he'd like well to fly
(Look at him.)
And now the wolf eats pork chops.
It's so sad it makes me cry.

They find fault with the editor,
The stuff we print is rot,
The paper's about as peppy,
As a cemetery lot.
The ads show poor arrangement,
The jokes too, are so stale

And the lower classmen wail.
And when the paper's printed,
And the issue's put on file
If anyone misses his copy
You can hear him yell a mile.

You Can Smile
When with the sun you rise and go
Where your books are piled row on row.
In a locker stuffed and scrambled
If you find your theme's been trampled,
You can smile.
When your locker mate's just took
Your only tattered history book,
And you have exams next week,
Widen out your manly cheek,
You can smile.
If your grades are awful low
And your father's wrath doth grow
If you're much too warmed to sit
You can smile (but who wants to?)

The Night Before Monday
'Twas the night before Monday
When all through the house
Not a creature was stirring
Not even a mouse.
The family was all tucked safely in bed
But no inspirations could be found
In my head
Out on the lawn there arose no clatter,
I didn't spring up to see what was the matter.
I chewed up a pencil and a couple of pens;
I thought of the angels, I thought of my friends;
I thought of my future and how I would roam
I thought of that white card I'd have to bring home;
I thought of my brother having sweet dreams
While I burned the oil a-thinking of themes.
I got so depressed and so full of sorrow,
I jumped into bed; thought I'd write it tomorrow.

Paging St. Peter
Driver in a little speeder
Now he's paging old St. Peter.

Two doctors met in the hall of a hospital.
"Well," said the first, "What's new this morning?"
"I've got a most curious case. Woman, cross-eyed; in fact, so cross-eyed that when she cries the tears run down her back."
"What are you doing for her?"
"Just now," was the answer, "we're treating her for bacteria."

You Guess
Willie: Pa!
Pa: Yes.
Willie: Teacher says we're here to help others.
Pa: Of course we are.
Willie: Well, what are the others here for?

A fly upon the sugar bowl
My hand upraised to take its toll
No parasite may thrive or steal
What others gained by honest deal
But poor wee fellow sitting there
Looks hungry, helpless, unaware
Perhaps he has his troubles, too,
Like "tummy" aches or maybe flu
And sure his mama'd cry to see
His tiny carcass in debris
I'm really not the kind to kill.
So, guess I'll let him have his fill.

Sharpen the Axe
Napoleon one day met an old one-armed veteran.
"How did you lose your arm?" he asked.
"Sire, at Austerlitz."
"And were you decorated?"
"No, sire."
"Then here is my own cross for you; I make you chevalier."
"Your Majesty names me chevalier because I have lost one arm. What would Your Majesty have done had I lost both arms?"
"Oh, in that case, I should have made you Officer of the Legion."
Whereupon the old soldier immediately drew his sword and cut off his other arm.

There is no particular reason to doubt this story. The only question is—how did he do it?
"See how I count, Mama," said Kitty. "There's my right foot—that's one. There's my left foot—that's two. Two and one make three. Three feet make a yard, and I want to go out and play in it!"

He: So tomorrow is your wedding anniversary. What do you expect to get for your wife?
Him: I don't know; I haven't had any offers.

Nose rubbing is more widely used by mankind as a greeting than are handshaking and kissing, combined.

P.S.—Could it be that these taped up noses wandering around school really came from basketball?
At least one man—a chemistry professor at Harvard—kept his promise to "eat his shirt" when he was proved to be wrong. He dissolved the shirt in acid, neutralized the acid with a base, filtered out the precipitated material, spread it on a slice of bread and ate it.

Dumb Freshy in English class, reading from a book: "Where are you going?"

Bill: Dad, you are a lucky man.
Mr. Green: How is that?
Bill: You won't have to buy me any school books this year. I'm taking all of last year's work over again.

Smarty: (getting on a bus): Well Noak, is the ark full?
Bus Driver: No, climb on, we need a monkey.

Our dark and handsome hero
Sits standing on his chest,
His face is colored darkly
With gravy on his vest.
And every dog that comes his way
Chases hares from off his chest.

Bill: Did you hear about those new football hamburgers?
Joe: What do you mean football hamburgers?
Bill: First one down and ten to do.

Is nothing safe? Women wear men's pants, look better in shorts than men do, beat men at their own racket, tennis, and the rarer sex is reporting baseball games. Tish-tush and tush-tush with a couple exclamation points tossed in. From now on the hero in every play will exclaim to the villainess, "Aha, I know you, in spite of your pants." Any way the point of this editorial is a warning to all girls. You may wear men's pants, make a long pant shorts, but for cryin' out loud, stay out the Hi-Y.

Bill: Did you hear the big explosion?
Jack: No, what happened?
Bill: Why the wind blew up Calhoun Street.

Then there was the girl who thought that hamlets were little pigs, goblets were little sailors, and assets were little donkeys.

I draw the line at kissing,
She said in accents fine;
But he was a football hero,
And so he crossed the line.

Jayne (bored): Well, what shall we do this evening?
Dick: Let's think hard—
Jayne: No, let's do something you can do, too.

The Roller Rink
Oh, there's something about a roller rink,
Something about a roller rink—
Something about a roller rink that is fine,
Fine, fine.
If you flop, it's just too terrible;
You mop the floor in general,
And you fall right on your head in a line.
Line, line.
Oh, but it's simply just too thrilling.
And really quite as filling.
If you're looking for a grand old time.
Time, time.
Oh! The racing champs are there,
These Emanuels are quite rare.
There's something about a rink that makes you pine,
Pine, pine, pine.
"Jack was the goal of my ambition," she sighed, "but alas—"
"What happened, dear?"
"Father kicked in the goal."

Attendant: Ah! here is a color that matches that dress you wearing. It's something of a blue-green hue. If you don't like that, here is a nice orange.
Lady: No, I don't like either of those. Do you think you could match this scarf I'm wearing?
Attendant: No, madam, that's impossible. I can't give you polka dot gasoline.

It's always a good idea for one to clean up after himself. It's a known fact that "Grime does not pay."

Ma—Did you water the rubber plant, Peggy?
Pa—Why, no, I thought it was water-proof.

Water: Were you kicking about the flies in here?
Patron: No, I was just knocking them about with my hand.

In the Throes of Composition
I tear my hair; I claw the air;
And worry dreadfully.
I wrack my brain, but all in vain;
To get that time and rhythm.
My effort fails; I bite my nails;
My mind seems stricken;
Than sit at home and write a poem
I'd rather take a licking.
I write a line; then scratch out nine.
This stuff should be suppressed
I scratch my head; my brain is dead;
Words can be so elusive.
I have to rest; I've done my best
Next time I'll get abusive.

A Hard Bird
The taxi came to a halt. The fare descended a trifle uncertainly and proceeded to search his pockets slowly.
"Sorry, old man," he said, finally, "but I haven't a bean!"

Dentist: "Have you seen any small boys ring my bell and run away?"
Policeman: "They weren't small boys—they were grown-ups!"
"I understand they have a curfew law out her."
"No, they did have one; but they abandoned it."
"What was the matter?"
"Well, the bell rang at 9 o'clock, and almost everyone complained that it woke them up."

A little boy was entertaining the minister the other day until his mother came home. The minister, to make congenial conversation, inquired: "Have you a dog?"

Cheer Leaders' Reorganization Is Completed

Rules, Regulations, Point System Set by Mr. Heine, Mr. Flint, Miss Patterson.

With a complete reorganization of the cheer leaders a set of rules and regulations and also a point system were made up by the sponsors, Mr. Heine, Mr. Flint, and Miss Patterson. After an average of one year of participation a letter will be awarded. The following rules and regulations for cheer leaders were made up:

Eligibility—All boys who are out for cheer leading squad must maintain passing marks in at least three regular school subjects which require preparation.

Attendance—(1) For practices. Cheer leaders or apprentice cheer leaders must attend all regular practice sessions unless excused by the sponsors. (2) For games. Cheer leaders must be on hand at least 15 minutes before the start of the game for which they are leading the cheer. They must be there until the end of the game in every case.

Must Learn Code

Cheer leaders must learn the code of sportsmanship and help convey it to the student body.

Cheer leaders must obtain passes for the games where they are to work. Practices shall be held once each week during the football and basketball seasons. These practice sessions will be 45 minutes in length and will start promptly at 3:30 on the days set for them.

It is necessary to uphold the good standing of the school by dignified conduct on the part of the cheer leaders.

During the basketball season a call will be made for new cheer leaders, giving all who wish to try out an opportunity. These apprentices may become members of the squad, but will not be assigned to games until promoted by the sponsors.

Equipment is to be kept at school and worn only at games. Uniforms should always be clean and neat in appearance. The master of ceremonies will be in charge of equipment for games and pep sessions.

The new point system for cheer leaders is as follows:

20 Points Given for Service

Service—(a) Twenty points will be awarded for service during the football season. (b) 25 points will be awarded for service during the basketball season.

Game points—(a) 5 points will be awarded for leading cheers at each home football game. (b) 5 points will be awarded for leading cheers at each home basketball game of the first team. (c) 3 points will be awarded for leading cheers at each home basketball game of the second team.

No points will be awarded for service or for games if the cheer leader has more than one unexcused absence each season. Two excused absences are equivalent to one unexcused absence. The master of ceremonies will be awarded as many points for service as the cheer leaders and he will be awarded as many points for games as the regular game cheer leader. 150 points are necessary for the award of a letter. The letter or sweater award, or both, shall be taken away from any member of the cheer leader squad when his conduct or attitude has been unsportsmanlike, or unfriendly to good school spirit. Decision is to be made by the sponsors.

Attendance Heads

Elect New Officers

Clark E. Harrod, Allen County school attendance officer, was re-elected president, and Mrs. Agnes Logan, field attendance officer, of the Fort Wayne city schools, secretary-treasurer of the Northeastern Indiana attendance officers association during its annual meeting at the Y. M. C. A. in Fort Wayne.

Speeches were given concerning the attendance of students in schools.

Miss Bertha Medsker, director of the Fort Wayne city school attendance department, was named head of the association's program committee for 1935. Mrs. Anna K. Pritchett of Albion and Mrs. Hazel Bechtold of Huntington are the other members of this committee.

Copy Editors Find Trouble In Writing Heads for Times

By John Bremer

"Archers To Meet Hicksville Hick." Heck, that's only forty units. Well, let's see, "Evening" on the end of that ought to make it just about right.

Now what shall we make the first deck? "Kelly Klads To Meet"—No, too long. "Southern Team"—That fits. "Meets Champs"—Twelve and "Tea-Quarters." O. K. "Tomorrow Night" is a bit too long. "In Gymnasium"—but that's "padding." "In Hard Tilt"—"Game" will work better. Now we have it. "South Side Team Meets Champs in Hard Game." Such is the work of a copy editor on the South Side Times.

It is no easy job; but, if one likes working crossword puzzles, it is often not a bad avocation. But on analyzing the above sample of a "Banner A" sports head, some parts may have to be revised. The banner seems to be all right, but in the first deck the word "Meet" is repeated; that will not pass. Also the verb in the present tense; it should be future in this case. "Buckeye Team Is Initial For South Side" should work out quite well. Below this we might put "Champions of Ohio To Come Here For Green's First Tilt of Basketball Season."

Partnership Car Is Source of Pleasure To Archer Teachers

"We derive great pleasure from our Ford V-8," replied Miss Mary Crowe when interviewed concerning the enjoyment that she and her sister, Miss Edith Crowe, receive from the car, which they own in partnership. She went on to say that the car is a great time saver, aiding them very much in getting places on time (perhaps that's why they are always getting to school on time). "The car is also a great recreation, and affords much pleasure by offering a change of scenery, in that it enables us to see the country," said the history teacher.

Miss Edith Crowe, the health teacher, stated, "We bought the car last June, and since then have made much use of it by taking week-end trips, and also we used it during our summer vacation. We traveled through North Carolina and around through Washington, D. C., with very little trouble. We have not had any breakdowns, and only one flat tire."

In order to travel with more comfort this winter, the teachers have had a heater installed in their car. The car is enjoyed by both equally, as they both drive it.

Mr. R. Nelson Snider, District Chairman, Presides at Meeting of 300th Anniversary.

Plans for the Three Hundredth Anniversary of Secondary Education were furthered at a meeting held at the Administration Building last night. Mr. R. Nelson Snider, district chairman, took charge. John Bremer Wins Rating in Contest Receives Honorable Mention in East Central States Division for knowing Current Events.

John Bremer, a senior in South Side, was given honorable mention in the East Central States division of the current news contest conducted by Quill and Scroll, international honor society for high school journalists. He is on the board of managers and is general manager-elect of the Times.

More than 20,000 pupils from several hundred schools from practically every state in the Union were entered in the competition.

Virginia Blackley, a North Side student, placed second in the East Central States division of the editorial writing contest. Cornelius Ryan, also a North Side student, was awarded honorable mention in the East Central States division of the feature writing contest.

Opera Presented

Students of the Manual Training High School at Indianapolis, Indiana, were given the opportunity to hear the Davies Light Opera Company in a program presented December 5, featuring five outstanding young artists who are under the supervision of William Davies, the well-known Welsh tenor from Chicago.

Alma Mater Song To Be Played At Pep Meeting This Morning

If you do not know the words to our Alma Mater song be sure to take this copy of The Times to the pep meeting this morning. It was written by Mr. Jack W. Wainwright, music instructor.

"Hail to thee, oh South Side High School;
Faithful may we be.
Our beloved Alma Mater,
We sing our praises to thee.
May we always well remember
All thy gifts to us so free,
And pay homage to thy memories.
Hail South Side High School to thee."

Janitors Do Not Enjoy Life Of Ease, Pleasure In School

Three cheers for the janitors! They really work around this school. While the students of South Side are still peacefully sleeping and snoring in their warm beds, the janitors are industriously working, cleaning, dusting, scrubbing, etc., in our good old Alma Mater. While we are having marvelous times on vacations and shining ourselves up, the janitors are busily doing a marvelous job in shining up the school.

Mr. Vonderau, the custodian of the janitors, stays at school all day. During this time he does whatever has to be done around the school. Ed Bender stays in the building all night, from 10 p. m. to 5 a. m. when the other janitors come. He also takes care of the offices and the locker rooms. Each janitor stays about five hours during the day doing repair work and odd jobs around the school. Then comes the huge task of cleaning the building. After school hours they work until everything is done, sometimes until 11 o'clock.

Joe Junk washes all the blackboards in the building, besides sweeping, emptying wastebaskets, dusting, and cleaning the halls from rooms 2 to 40 in the north end of the building. C. F. Brown cleans up all the manual training rooms (he should be sympathized with) as well as all the rooms from 52 to 70. He also takes care of the music room.

Charles Pigeon has the south end of the building including rooms 72 to 96. He also cleans the study hall of all the dirt, paper, paper wads, and notes. Mr. Mason also has his share of work around the school, including the gymnasium.

Mrs. Chronister gets to the school in the morning at 4:30 o'clock. She also works five hours during class time. Her work is taking care of the show-ers, locker rooms, Miss Patterson's office, much of the dusting, and any jobs which the teachers have for her.

Now, do the janitors work? The students of South Side should realize this and cooperate with them by helping to keep the school clean and refrain from throwing paper, paper wads, and notes on the floors.

Many South Siders Work In Vacation

Numerous Students Addicted To Hard Labor During Holiday Breathing Spell of Pupils.

Not a few South Side students worked hard during their holiday vacation. True, not all worked for money; some worked for the pleasure they got out of it and others because mother wanted the dishes done or the sidewalk cleaned.

Bob Augspurger, Dale Busse, and Bob Cribb poured water and packed snow to make a slide in the Augspurger yard. The children of the neighborhood and some grown-ups, too, proved the slide a success. Margie Hower labored industriously on icy pavements. No, she wasn't shoveling snow; merely trying the new cyclometer on her brother's bike. "Raised the mileage some, too," she said.

But some students really had jobs. Gerry Platt, Lois Ryan, and Dorothy Walker were a few who worked in stores. Bud Fairweather and Millard Swihart continued their work as ushers in theatres.

Senior Hi-Yers Make Party Plans

Affair Will Be Held Tomorrow Night at Y. M. C. A.; Forums Invitation Extended To All.

Because plans for the mixer party had to be completed, no special program was planned for the Senior Hi-Y last night. Lloyd Grodrian, chairman of the entertainment committee, announced that knowledge of the entertainment was being withheld from the students until the party, which will be held tomorrow night at 9 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. Since the party is to be open to all members having paid their dues, a large attendance is expected.

The theme for next semester was discussed, but it was not decided upon. An announcement was made concerning forums this year by Frank Montgomery, South Side senior representative. There will be fifteen held this year on Sunday afternoons, as usual.

The entire student body of all three high schools is invited. Although Mr. E. K. Ackerman, late boys' work secretary, is at Chicago, the boys' work will probably be continued by Mr. Amrhein of the Y. M. C. A.; and it is hoped that the forums will be more of a success this year than ever before.

Play Given at U. S. A. Get-Together Thursday

U. S. A. Club held a meeting on Thursday, January 3, in the Greeley Room. A play was given, entitled, "Poetry and Plaster," a one-act farce centered around four characters. Four members of the Wranglers' Club acted in the play. Jean Kranz, who played the part of Julie; Frank Montgomery, as Jim; Eleanor Cripp, as Elsa; and Bill Hockett as Harry.

At this meeting there was also an election of officers, who will be announced later.

Dancing for Teachers

Classes in natural dancing will be opened to teachers at the Y. W. C. A. gymnasium. The initial meeting will be held next week. There will be a fee of 25 cents, just to pay for a pianist. The dancing teacher will be Miss Bernice Jenkins, a graduate of Battle Creek College of Physical Education.

Have Radio Program

"America Speaks for Education" was the topic of the Racine Public School's radio program, given over station WRN on November 5 by the students of Park High School, Racine, Wisconsin. Music and speeches by teachers and students from other high schools were part of the program.

Times Published Late Because of Vacation

One day was all that was available to get this issue of the Times published. Usually three days are required to put out a paper. The next paper will be published on scheduled time.

Related to Roosevelt

Peoria (Ill.) High School boasts of having a relative of President Roosevelt as one of its students. Janette Delano Williams, a sophomore of that school, is a third cousin to the President.

High Scholarship Marks Career of Loretta Foellinger

Having acquired a very enviable record in her fifteen years of schooling, Loretta Foellinger may very well feel proud of her outstanding career in high school and in college. Miss Foellinger was named general manager of The Times in her post-grad year. She was also named a member of the National Honor Society and Quill and Scroll.

While in high school Miss Foellinger was a very active member of The Times staff, Philo, So-Si-Y, Booster, and 1500 clubs, and also the four-year honor roll. In speaking of her high school career in a recent interview, Miss Foellinger said that she enjoyed her school life very much.

Miss Foellinger has also attained a very admirable record in her two and one-half years of college. She attends the University of Illinois where she is majoring in sociology, and minoring in political science. She had been recognized on every Honor Day for her outstanding scholastic work. She is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, a freshman honorary society for women, and Alpha Kappa Delta, a co-ed honorary sociology organization. Beside her minor and major subjects, she is taking French, German, and astronomy.

Proud of the fact that she still gets The Totem, Miss Foellinger stated that she tries to keep in touch with South Side as much as possible.

Among her various other activities are journalism, skating and horseback riding. At various times, Miss Foellinger has written articles for several publications concerning journalism, and has also worked on the News-Sentinel, which her father publishes.

Marionette Club Presents Play

Dickens' Christmas Carol Given Wednesday Before Vacation; Members Portray All Parts.

Several hundred students of South Side greatly enjoyed the presentation of Dickens' "Christmas Carol," given in the Study Hall during the seventh period December 19, by the Marionette Club.

The play was revised from the original by Eliza Besse Lucas, Georgette McIntyre, and Charles Hart, and consisted of four acts. Act one was a conversation between Marley and Scrooge when Scrooge was informed that three spirits would visit him.

During the second act Christmas Present paid him a visit, and the Cratchet family also made its appearance.

In the third act Christmas Future prophesied Scrooge's reformation and the Cratchet family resolved to act better as a measure of respect to Tiny Tim, who recently died.

The fourth act showed Scrooge's character; changed remarkably by the things the Spirits showed him and by Tiny Tim's death.

The cast of characters for the play was as follows: Herald, Charles Hart; Scrooge, John Box; Marley, Kenneth Scott; Christmas Present, Mary Ann Fark; Bob Cratchet, Norman Budder; Mrs. Cratchet, Millie Hoff; Martha, Emily Gardner; Peter Cratchet, Bob Wiehe; Tiny Tim, Louise Close; Christmas Future, Mary Ann Fark; Boy, Charles Hart.

The committees were: Stage, Norman Budder; properties, Kenneth Scott, and Charles Hart; business, Dick Russell, Clarice Eyock, Helen Walbert, and LaVerne Boyce. The back drop was painted by Kenneth Scott. The play was under the supervision of Miss Dorothy Magley, faculty adviser for the club.

United States Marks Secondary Schools' 300th Anniversary

This year the Tercentenary of the birth of secondary education is being observed all over the United States. Secondary school education started in this country with the establishment of the Boston Latin School in 1635. The main business of this school was to prepare for the ministerial career.

A comparison of the subjects offered by the Boston Latin School in 1789 and those offered at South Side in 1934, easily shows the difference between the early high school and one of today. In 1789 the Boston Latin School offered to its students Latin grammar, Latin poetry, Greek grammar, Latin prose, making Latin and Greek testament. Today South Side High School has English, journalism, world history, citizenship, economics, Latin, commercial geography, chemistry, art, shorthand, music, public speaking, geometry, trigonometry, occupations, French, biology, physical geography, business training, typing, home economics, physical education, algebra, arithmetic, United States history, civics, German, botany, physics, bookkeeping, industrial arts, and health to offer to its students.

The first public high school in the United States was established in 1821. The following figures clearly show the growth of the publicly supported secondary school:

Year	Number of High Schools
1850	11
1860	160
1880	800
1890	2,528
1900	6,005
1910	10,213
1920	14,326
1930	23,930

In 1893 a boy or girl in the United States had one chance in twenty-five of going to high school. A boy or girl of today has one chance in two.

Today there are well over five million high school students in the United States. Almost as many boys and girls will graduate from Fort Wayne high schools this year as were enrolled in high school in 1920.

New Positions Named On Next Term's Staff

Wayne Bender has announced that the following people will take their positions as circulation assistants, starting next term. Various Presents Gladden Christmas Practical Gifts Steal Show for High School Studes; Clothes Most Popular Among Them.

The good Christmas spirit brought with it another practical holiday season. Clothes and accessories seem to have been the mainstays; so far, at least, as high school boys and girls were concerned.

This lovely cold, wet weather prompted the old fellow to bring lots and lots of warm "outers." Coats, rain coats, and even boots and umbrellas found their way to many a tree. A little less practical, perhaps, but surely not less welcome were the ice skates, snow suits, and ear muffs that arrived. Many studies had their wishes fulfilled in a formal Christmas. Lovely formal, together with clips, wraps, sandals, and other accessories gladdened many a sweet young thing's vacation. Boys were not altogether forgotten for some received their first "soup 'n' fish," boiled shirts, and superspecial cuff links and collar buttons.

Reminding us that after this will come the judgment, Santa brought little remembrances of school. Fountain pens and pencil sets, typewriters, and—who knows? Perhaps even dictionaries and theme paper.

But not every gift was practical; for one senior girl replied happily to our questions: "I got a darling little white teddy bear." Just to prove it, she even showed it to us,—such a cute little thing!

German Club Has Christmas Party

Marian Wolf Gives Talk on Teutonic Customs; Songs, Games, Eats Included on Program.

"And a good time was had by all" as runs an old saying. This certainly proved true at the German Club Christmas party held at the last meeting of the German Club on December 19, in the Voorhees Room. The good time was started out by the singing of various Christmas carols in the German language. This was followed by an interesting talk of Christmas in Germany by Marian Wolf. She told of the many customs and beliefs in regards to Christmas which are common in Germany.

Musical chair, an interesting game was then played and enjoyed by everyone. Following this, gifts were distributed by Santa Claus, who was the guest of honor at the Christmas party. The members at the party then drew the lucky number, which determined to whom the prize was to be awarded. The prize, a fancy gingerbread house, was given to Newell Kellogg. Refreshments were served, and the party was closed by the singing of "Stille Nacht," a German Christmas carol.

Students Receive Plane

The students of Little Rock High School in Little Rock, Arkansas, recently received a fully equipped Douglas BT2 airplane, powered by a 12-cylindrical V-type Liberty motor, for use in the aviation class. The plane was accompanied by a complete set of instructions for study, and an extra pair of wings. No other high school in the southwest with exception of New Orleans, has the full five-hour course.

Tribulations of Ad Solicitors Outweighed By the Enjoyment

By Catherine Allendorph

"May I speak to the advertising manager, please?" Right you are, the speaker is a dutiful ad solicitor from the famous paper, The South Side Times, doing his best to secure ads for dear old Alma Mater. Various are the experiences of an "ad-getter" and numerous are his difficulties. Here are a choice few from one Saturday morning's work. Let us all go along on this promising journey.

First, after consulting our memo, we enter the "We Fix 'Em" undertaking establishment. Explaining our mission, we get the following reply:

"Aren't you people quite pessimistic, though? Are you expecting a lot of deaths over at your wonderful high school? You seem to, the way you tell me my business will improve upon putting an ad in the Times. You have a wonderful sales-talk, anyway. Well, I'll give you a contract if you beg hard enough and promise me lots of undertaking to do."

Of course, we beg hard and though we want at least a six-inch ad each week, a compromise is reached on a four-inch ad every other week. Well, not so bad for the first one.

Next we go into a tailoring shop and here we are somewhat disappointed. "The South Side Times is putting out a special issue this week and we're striving hard to secure a lot of big ads. Won't you help yourself and us both, by putting in a ten-inch ad?" we start out.

Extemp Contest Will Be Held First of Week

Coming Monday and Tuesday Set for Semi-Annual Extemporaneous Speeches

Thirty-One South Siders To Enter

Eliminations To Be Monday And Finals on Tuesday; Subjects Are Announced.

Thirty-one South Side students have entered the extemporaneous contest which will be held on Monday and Tuesday under the direction of Miss Dorothy Benner, head of the public speaking department.

"Federal Aid for Education," "International Traffic in Arms and Munitions," "America's Crop Control Experiment," and "Should the Privilege of Higher Education Be Limited to Students of Exceptional Ability?" are the subjects on which the contestants will give five minute constructive speeches and three minute rebuttal speeches. There will be three judges for each contest.

First Contest Monday

Six contests will be held on Monday, and the winner in each of these contests will compete in the finals of the extemporaneous contest on Tuesday, the third period, in the Greeley Room. Five cents admission will be charged the student body, members of the Wranglers' Club being admitted upon presentation of membership cards. An absence blank will be given each pupil who attends.

The winner of the contest will represent South Side in a city extemporaneous contest before the Rotary Club in June, and will also win the South Side Extemporaneous Cup and the Lang Cup.

Speak Before Classes

The contestants are Pauline Crabb, Verna Holman, Eugene Holman, Ellis Lochner, Dick Schannen, John Bremer, Van Perrine, Susanne Meyer, Clarice Rudy, Elizabeth Summers, Eleanor Cripp, John Haeger, Bill Hockett, Lloyd Grodrian, Bob Grove, Maxine Mariotte, Helen Deenges, Mabel Rothberg, Bob Klopfenstein, Frank Montgomery, Robert Long, Garland Eickmeyer, Roselind Enz, Violet Wittmer, Marjorie Rose, Robert Adams, Myron Jones, Louis Bonisb, and Anna Brumbaugh.

The first of the six contests on Monday will be held in the Greeley Room the first period before the first period public speaking class and Mr. Null's first period English class. The second will be before Mr. Null's second period English class in room 178, while the third period public speaking class and Mr. Null's third period English class will witness the third contest in the Greeley Room.

The fourth contest will be held before the fourth period public speaking class in room 178, the fifth will be held before the sixth period public speaking class in room 178, and the sixth and last contest will be held before Miss Benner's seventh period English class in room 178.

Glee Clubs Will Start Work on Show Soon

"Work on the minstrel show, which is to be given by the combined Glee Clubs, will not be started until after the Christmas vacation, Jack Wainland, music director, announced today."

The delay in practice is due to the various Christmas parties and programs the music department is sponsoring. The general music department's party will be held on Thursday; a Christmas assembly will be presented Friday morning; and several groups will sing carols downtown Friday afternoon. After the rush of the season, the organization and practice will be begun.

Snapshot Contest Held

The annual of North High School, Minneapolis, Minnesota, is offering a bright shiny dollar for the best snapshot taken by a student. The second prize will be a stiff cover for an annual.

Ruthlessly Ruin Roaming Redskins' Rally!

"Byrns choice for speaker"—headline. At the stake?

We suppose that the reason they can't keep Ghandi long in jail is that they can't pin anything on him.

"Experts Cut Soot Menace"—Headline. Well, that means the death of that song, "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes."

"Gang Captures Turkeys Worth $3,500"—Headline. That gang ought to be able to do a lot of strutting after a haul like that.

For his contribution this week, Mr. Sniffewaffle writes in and says that he thinks that the key to the door of a Ford is a can-opener.

Those people who claim that there isn't a thing that can't be done by the human hand must never have tried to push the toothpaste back in the tube.

It came to our attention recently that a card mailed in Russia twenty years ago just arrived at its destination. This seems to indicate that it would have been quicker to have put the message in a bottle and consigned it to the Gulf Stream, Japanese Current, or the Saragoss Sea.

A New Year

An Old Year has been ushered out and a New one ushered in—a New Year bringing with it many hopes, plans, joys, and sorrows for the future.

It would certainly be sensible to recognize the mistakes made before and try to correct them in the New Year. For instance, we might resolve to keep up in our school work and take a larger part in school activities. Or we might resolve to be on hand at all times and give our support and co-operation to all events planned for the coming year. These are only a few examples, but we all know our abilities. We should start the New Year out right by resolving to do our work on time and to the best of our ability. Let's each and every one of us return to school in January with our minds made up to do our best at all times.

Are You So Good?

Hayden once said, "The safest principles through life instead of reforming others is to set about perfecting yourself." It would be well if we were to remember this. Whenever a group of people get together, to what do their conversations generally tend? Generally, an absent friend (or otherwise) bears the blunt of hard criticism.

None of us is perfect. That is a recognized fact; yet we are persistently forgetting it and pointing out blunders to friends from the heights of our supposed superior knowledge. We do not stop to think that we are no better than they and have no height from which to speak especially in a critical mood. We are all human. Theodore Roosevelt once said, "The man who never makes a mistake is the man who never does anything." Thus we see that mistakes, after all, are not to be scorned.

Besides being wrong to criticize others, it does no good. It either arouses their wrath against the critic, or else they do not think seriously enough of it to profit by it. It has been said that "Criticism is wasted. The dumb won't profit by it and the smart will get wise without it." We should remember this.

Resolutions

The New Year has finally arrived! 1935! This will not be new information, but merely a fact that is already established. Undoubtedly many resolutions have been made. Sheets of paper have been used and probably wasted in thinking about all the "I'm going to do's" and the "I'm not going to do's." Sleepless nights and wearisome days have been gone through thinking up new resolutions, something that is different but easy to carry out. I will brush my teeth twice a day. I will get to bed by 10:30. I will obey my parents and teachers. I will not make any trouble. These and many others come under the list of "I'm going to do's." I'm not going to be impudent. I'm not going to be bad-humored. These come under the list of "I'm not going to do's." These resolutions can be thrown out as far as standardizing them is concerned. They might be kept for several days a standard until that party comes; then there won't be any time to do any homework and it will be impossible to get to bed before 3 a. m.

Bang—bang—bang—down goes the castle of resolutions, these thereby becoming merely a memory. However, this editorial is not to discourage resolutions. To some extent they are useful; but that is beside the point. The question is "how to make one resolution that you are able to carry out." Eliminate those resolutions which are useless. The resolution that should inspire any individual to carry it out is the following: "I pledge myself to do any worthy duty that confronts me, no matter how difficult, with a cheerful, whole-hearted, co-operative and uncomplaining spirit." Try to follow out this resolution and you will surely find room for it on every occasion.

Opportunity's Knock

By the time we have reached high school age, all of us have become thoroughly familiar with that time-honored maxim, "Opportunity knocks out once." While we hesitate to doubt the veracity of so venerable a statement, it would perhaps be wise to modify it to a certain extent by adding that, though it knock but once, Opportunity is an exceptionally pertinacious visitor and does not desist from its efforts to penetrate into the inner consciousness of the unheeding human brain without first exhausting every means of attracting our wandering attention.

In exemplification of this fact, there are countless opportunities constantly surrounding us as we traverse our devious paths through school. In high school especially are we given a chance to take advantage of many opportunities which we may never encounter in our later life. The high school career is an important period in our development. It is during this time that we leave behind us the carefree phases of our childhood and prepare ourselves for the responsibilities which we, as the citizens of tomorrow, must assume. It is during this crucial period also that we establish certain fundamental characteristics which will determine our future courses in life, that we make lasting friends with whom we will be destined to share our joys and sorrows throughout the remainder of our existence upon this "ball of mud."

True, the public high school has as its basic purpose the education of youth for the purpose of taking over the reins of government which will be handed down to us in the very near future. Unlike the first public schools, however, our education is not limited to mere "book learning." Through the medium of extra-curricular activities, we are given invaluable opportunities to gain real experience in those problems which we must meet after we leave our school days behind us and go to take our places among the business men and women of the world.

Opportunity is knocking constantly about us in various forms, but only we, as separate individuals have the power to open the doors of our consciousness that Opportunity may enter.

Freshman Fantasy

And That's That

Well! Well! Well! And a couple more wells! Christmas came and gone. Socks, ties, shirts, hankies, etc. Some are swell. Some a little dim. Also other things, playful, useful, or just plain ornamental. All that is very fine, but think of the ruin—next month's allowance shot, handsome turkeys mangled, stomachs stretched, acute chcolatlitis. Goodbye carols and pageants, and Santa Claus. Goodbye pretty trees with the little lights and the tinsel and the highly colored doo-dads—see yuh all next year!

New Year's!—more eats, many more eats, and dances, and the midnight vigil and then the bells and whistles and the din of carefully preserved firecrackers. Oh yes—the resolutions, the fine, sturdy, upright, confident resolutions. They were a smart set, but look at them now! Some wrecked already. Others still look good—for instance that one about the scholarship and the National Honor Society—well—long live the king!

From now on things look a little quiet. No more vacation until spring. Not much chance of the school burning down and you can't count on anyone dying who is important enough to have a holiday over. Nothing in sight but great platters of algebra and biology and deep draughts of Latin and English, (children—note the lingering influence of the festive season) but with a little basketball and a few tea dances and such appetizers we can take it—might even get to like it. In fact, some of our ambitious twits are going to dig in and grow nice plump intellects—recitations right, plenty high marks on papers and stuff.

In the meantime it's all over for another year and that's that.

Reporter Receives
Numerous Remedies
For Cure of Colds

"Sniffle, sniffle, sniffle," such are the sounds heard around school, now that the December winds and snow flurries are here. Although everybody is glad that December means a nice long period of ice, snow, etc., a few people were glad to pass on these remedies:

Clayton Kilpatrick: I let nature take its course.

Ruth Berning: I tie red flannels around my neck.

Peggy Kilpatrick: Eat onions, and your cold vanishes like magic.

Jerry Zehr: I take sweat baths for my colds.

Helen Kelsey: Yours truly doesn't wear a hat and in that way disobeys her mother.

Veora Wilkins: I grease my throat.
Phil Green: Being a yell leader, I always try to prevent colds; but since I didn't this time, I go to bed early and eat spinach.

Betty Harnish: I go to bed early.
Dick Helm: For a cold, the best remedy is to cancel all dates because of the circumstances which might result from one.

Emily Lepper and Paula Gerding agree that blowing one's nose is the best remedy.

Students' Impression of Best
Of Amusement Forms Given

Each year South Side offers many activities of a non-scholastic nature from which students may benefit. Skating parties, basketball games, football games, dances and many other projects too numerous to mention are those things which help to give entertainment.

The students respond with great enthusiasm to practically all these offerings.

When asked, "What do you think is the most outstanding activity offered by South Side High School?
Why?" the ones questioned answered with a hesitated but interested attitude. The following answers were gathered from the er-ar-oh and so forth when asked:

Dick Reincke: Skating parties seem to be the most outstanding activity. The students' response to these proves that fact beyond a doubt. At the Senior Hi-Y Party there were so many people attending that I couldn't find room to fall down.

Woody Ormiston: Football is the most outstanding activity. The spirit that prevails throughout the game is inspiring! I fell very poetic over this question, but I shall discontinue before I fill the column.

Catherine Allendorph: Pep sessions!! They vent one's feelings! I'm the talkative type and the place and time of the "pep sessions" is the only place I can develop my type. Wait until the next session, and I'll surely advertise the truth of this answer.

Newell Kellogg: Skating parties!
Gee, some fun! I really enjoy them.
However, the after effects aren't so amusing; but the principle involved is there is only one thing I enjoy more than skating parties, and that is skating parties.

Ruth "Peg" Collins: The Library
Club! It is the only time I can argue

Mademoiselle Modiste

By Rosemary Chappell

Attractive, brightly-hued harmonies of color are portrayed by the swanky new sweaters and blouses which may be worn with sport skirts. Taffeta is among the most popular for a smart blouse. Brilliant geranium-red taffeta is displayed in the clever outfit worn by Dorothy Geary. The skirt is of black and white tweed, with old-fashioned puff sleeves being given a modern air by tiny pleats. The high collar forms a becoming bow. In front the yoke comes to a V which follows the waist line and ties as a belt in back.

The hammered white satin blouse shown by Sally Rea is created along peasant blouse lines. Long, full-length sleeves differ from the usual style of long sleeves, in that they are shirred on the shoulders. A butcherboy style collar is worn. Four large covered buttons fasten the blouse in the front.

Clarabelle Chenoweth wears a twin sweater set of dark green. The sweater jacket has a high neckline, long, tight, sleeves, and buttons in front. The other sweater has short sleeves following the line of puff sleeves, and around the neckline are stripes of light green and yellow, which attract attention.

Navy blue taffeta is flaunted by Bernita McIntosh. The red and navy blue plaid collar ties in a clever bow at the front of the neckline. An especially different touch is given by the panel in front, which is decorated with gold buttons.

One of the popular brush-wool sweaters of a pastel tone of green is the choice of Janet Fisher. This sport sweater has a plain round neckline and long, tight-fitting sleeves. Buckles on each side at the waist add that slim look.

Dorothy Hagerman has a plaid blouse with stripes of orange, brown, and yellow. A shirt waist style collar leaves a tailored touch. Charm is added by the big schoolgirl bow on the collar. Loose, short sleeves complete the general effect.

Another lovely plaid blouse complements Eleanor Warren's sport skirt.
This is of taffeta with stripes of red, wine, yellow, black and white. The collar is composed of three rows of pleated ruffles. Short, gathered sleeves are used; and the yoke forms a bodice which ties in the back.

Gold-colored wool is very fashionable. Ann Abbott's gold-colored wool blouse has a butcher-boy collar. Underneath is a 'kerchief ornamented with brown buttons. The long, loose sleeves have bands which with buttons similar to those on the 'kerchief.

Archers Will Invade North Side Gym in City Tilt Tonight

Green Wave Expects Win In Close Game

South Side's Squad Looks Powerful in Preparing For Tough Encounter.

Redskins To Give Tough Opposition

Nulfmen Show Real Improvement in Winning Recent One-Sided Conflicts.

Out after their first city series victory of the season, South Side's powerful Archers will meet North Side's clever and scrappy Redskins in a city series contest tonight on the North-Side floor. This important clash is scheduled to get under way at 8:30 o'clock, with the reserve teams tangling in the prelin one hour earlier.

After getting off to a poor start this season, being beaten by the Masonic Home, Central, and Decatur, North Side has shown a complete reversal in form and trounced Peru and New Haven in one-sided contests and defeated the strong Kendallville Comets in a close battle. Although they were beaten by the powerful Valparaiso Vikings in the first round of Central's invitational tourney held last Saturday, North Side came back in the consolation round and defeated the Decatur Yellow Jackets to avenge the loss handed them earlier in the season, showing that they are capable of offering plenty of opposition for the Green when they meet tonight.

Give Probable Lineup
Coach Bob Nulf's probable lineup for the contest will consist of Johnny Nill and Voli LaTourette at forwards, Gerald Johnston at center, Ben Knuth and Ivan Barclay at guards. Nill and LaTourette are two of the city's leading scorers and are dangerous shots from any place on the floor. Johnston at center plays well both defensively and offensively and is an important cog in North Side's zone defense. Barclay is another good shot and, teamed up with Knuth, performs very capably. North Side's mentor, Bob Nulf, may decide to use either a man-to-man defense or a zone defense against the Archers as his Redskins use either one very effectively.

Ginn Still Out
Although the Archers lost their first game of the season to Central Catholic on December 27, they proved that they were still in good form by trouncing the Decatur Yellow Jackets 30 to 17 the next night. Coach Jake McClure's starting five will probably be composed of Jim Hilgeman and Paul Lohse at the forward posts, Bob Nelson at center, and Brower George and Gene Jackson at the guard positions. Ed Ginn, Archer guard, will probably still be unable to play tonight's first game because of the ankle injury he received in the Piercetion game.

South Side and North Side have met on the hardwood seventeen times previous to tonight's encounter. Of the seventeen games played, the Archers have won twelve of them and lost five, and the Green has outscored the Red 439 points to 327.

Numbers of the probable starting players are: North Side, 00, Nill; 88, LaTourette; 99, Johnston; 77, Knuth; 11, Barclay. South Side: 20, Hilgeman; 23, Lohse; 29, Nelson; 30, George; 28, Jackson.

Intramural Lettermen Hold Social Meeting

Basketball, handball, and eating featured the December social meeting of the Intramural Lettermen's Club held last December 20, in the gymnasium.

Sixteen boys were present at the meeting, the large number being due to the fact that all boys who have fifty or more intramural points were invited to attend the meeting.

An announcement was made to the members of the club that the election of officers for next semester will be held at the next meeting.

Intramural athletic participants who attended the meeting are: Wallace Bartels, Walter Stone, Charles Baumgartner, Melvin Blume, John Dutterer, John Bremer, Robert Fowler, John Allen, Aaron Schonefeldt, Leroy Cunningham, Wayne Leja, Carl Branca, Harold Brandt, Norman Buck, Robert Klopfenstein, Robert Tapping, and Mr. Louis Briner, faculty adviser.

Volleyball Games Brought To End

G. A. A. Upperclass Season Is Brought To Close; Upsets Are Scored in Final Games.

Volleyball for the upperclassmen will now be a thing of the past and just a memory of good times, good teams, and good games, as they played their last game December 21, 1934.

An unexpected victory was gained by Marjorie Hower's Junior 1 team over the Senior 2 team, captained by Roselma Disler. Although the score, 41-15, was a one-sided affair, all of the players played an excellent game in the hand ball court at 3:30. Doris Figel and Vandetta Clay acted as referee and scorer.

In the south gym court a rather close game was played by two sophomore teams. Team 3 defeated team 4 to the tune of 30 to 26. The referee for this game was Velma Yoder, while Enita Snavely kept score.

Sophomores Play
A default to Thelma Ervin's Sophomore II team was made by Barbara Scheele, captain of Sophomore 5. Junior 5 team scored a victory over the Junior 3 team. This game was played exceptionally well, and the tilt ended at 38 to 30. Clauser, Schrems, Disler, Rison, and Bennington played an exceptionally good game. Miss Alice Patterson and Burhenn were the referee and scorer, respectively.

Alice Mae Siebold led her team to the winning goal of 54 to 26 over Roseann Certia's team, Junior 4. Cupp, Brumbaugh, Siebold, and Tarney were outstanding for the senior team, while Certia, DeHaven, and Findley played well on the Junior team. Marjorie Hower refereed and kept score for this game.

The standing so far is as follows:

Team	Won	Tie
Senior I	2	1
Senior II	1	0
Senior III	3	1
Junior I	3	0
Junior III	2	1
Junior V	2	1
Sophomore II	7	0
Sophomore III	1	0
Sophomore IV	7	0
Sophomore V	2	0

Archers Break Even In Two Home Games During Vacation

Breaking even on their two home games played during Christmas vacation, South Side's fighting netters trounced Piercetion's Cubs 51 to 17 in their first game and then suffered their first defeat of the season in the second game, losing to Central Catholic in a city series contest 25 to 22.

Led by Schott, who scored thirteen points, eleven of them in the second half, the Purple and Gold overcame the 13 to 9 lead held at the half by the Archers and swept on to their sixth consecutive victory of the season. This victory also marked Central Catholic's second city series victory of the year.

Starting the third quarter, Schott, Purple forward, dropped in a fielder from near the foul line. Hilgeman and Nelson then chalked up a free throw apiece and Schott dropped in three more baskets before the quarter ended, making the scoreboard read 17-15 in favor of Central Catholic.

Koch Starts Drive
Koch started the final period off by scoring a basket for the winners on a tip-off play. After a melee under the Archer basket, Ellenwood scored a field goal for South Side to reduce the Purple's lead to two points. This was short lived, however, as McArdle sank a free throw and Schott dropped in his sixth fielder of the game.

Nelson and Morrison then scored baskets and soon after Nelson scored again on an under the basket play and also sank a free throw to chalk up his twelfth point of the game. Schott scored a foul shot as the game ended, making the final score South Side 22, Central Catholic 25.

Scoring 18 of their 24 baskets on under the basket plays, South Side's Archers had little trouble trouncing Piercetion's fighting Cubs 51 to 17 to chalk up their fifth game of the season.

Piercetion's man to man defense was unable to stop the Archers when the winners were under their own basket. Time after time the winners dribbled under their basket to score with Piercetion unable to stop them. The victors' man to man defense worked smoothly, only allowing the losers eight points the first half and nine the second.

Archers Never Headed
Gaining an early lead, the Archers were never headed after the first five minutes of the game. After piling up a score of 31 to 11 at the half, the Archers substituted a whole new team consisting of Symonds, Ellenwood, Close, Hall, and Ginn which continued to pile up the score, making the final count read 51 to 17.

Nelson, with ten points, and Hilgeman and Jackson, with eight apiece, led the winners scoring while Gebert, with seven points, and Grindle, with five, were best for the losers.

Late in the final quarter Ed Ginn, Archer guard, received a badly sprained ankle on a dribble under play and was forced to leave the game.

Statistics for the Central Catholic game show that the Archers really lost that game on their inability to make their charity tosses. South Side made six free throws out of fourteen attempts, while Central Catholic scored five out of eight attempts. The Archers connected on eight of their forty-two shots at the basket, and the winners scored ten in forty-seven attempts.

Archer Reserves To Meet Papooses

Southern Seconds Prepare To Add Northern's Scapls To Long List of Other Victories.

Still keeping their slate clean, South Side's Reserves are now preparing for their encounter with the Papooses from North Side Friday night. The Papooses have been plenty tough this season and promise to give the Green Wave a tough battle.

The Archerites completed their four Christmas games in great shape by chalking up three victories and tying the Central Catholic Reserves.

Wavelets Beat Auburn
The Wavelets opened their Christmas games with a 37 to 33 decision over the Auburn reserves. Coach Bill Geyer used ten men in this tilt with Ostermeyer leading his teammates with fourteen points. Hall was close on the heels of Ostermeyer with ten points to his credit. Williams led the Red Devil reserves with eleven points.

On the following evening the Green took the Piercetion reserves into camp by a 21 to 11 count. The Archers went into a 10 to 2 lead in the first period and forged into a 13 to 3 lead at the half. Piercetion opened up in the third period and held the Green and White to a single point while they scored five points. The Archers came back in the final period to score seven points to their opponents' three. Carl Hall led his team with seven points. Fourteen men saw action for the Archers in this encounter.

Crowd Gets Thrill
The spectators really got a thrill in the Archer-Central Catholic clash when the reserve teams battled to a 12 to 12 tie in a double-overtime game. The encounter was called at the end of the second overtime period in order to start the varsity game on time. The teams battled on even terms throughout their tilt and were never separated by more than a point and at times the playing became very rough. The regular playing period ended in a 12 to 12 tie and neither team was able to score during the overtime periods although there were frequent melees under the baskets. Hall led his team with seven markers, while Bail counted on two baskets and a foul shot.

The Yellow Jacket reserves proved to be the final victims for the southern reserves in their clash at Decatur last Thursday night. The Green emerged victorious by a 25 to 19 score after holding a lead throughout the game. The Archer scoring was evenly divided with Hall again leading his teammates with five points gained on a perfect evening at the charity line. Smith led the Yellow Jacket squad with six points.

Hardwood Heroes

Harold Kitzmiller, a fast and tricky stepping forward of Bill Geyer's reserves, deserves a lot of credit in helping to keep the winning streak of the reserves free from defeats. Harold specializes in the underhand and the two-handed passes—which has become a great value to the squad in tight games. Harold, who is 5 feet 10 inches tall, and is 15 years old, expects to make the varsity grade in another year or two. He has seen action in nearly all of the preliminary games played this year by South Side.

Kitzmiller came in contact with basketball on the Monroeville grade school team on which he played as a forward. The quintet on which he played won the Allen County grade school championship from Hoagland in a hair-raising battle. Harold has scored an average of four field goals in every game he played for Monroeville. The team also defeated the Decatur Yellow Jackets by a 28 to 17 score. Decatur was the first to score but their lead was short lived, the Archers jumping into a 4 to 3 lead at the end of the first quarter and never being in danger from this point of the game.

Archer Hardwood Team Scores Two N. E. I. C. Road Tilts

Winning both of their games played on the road during Christmas vacation, which were N. E. I. C. tilts with Auburn and Decatur, South Side's Archers tied Central's Tigers for first place in the N. E. I. C. standing. Both teams have won three games and lost none.

In their first contest played at Auburn, the Archers trounced the Red Devils, 31 to 19. Auburn gave South Side a scare in the first half, holding them to a 14 to 12 lead at the end of that period. However, the Archers began to hit their stride in the third quarter and kept it up the remainder of the game, finishing on the long end of a 31 to 19 score. South Side's ability to control the tip off during the second half was an important factor in the Green's win.

Scoring honors for the Green were rather evenly divided between Hilgeman, Nelson, and Jackson, who scored eight, seven, and six points respectively. Stebing, Auburn guard, was the loser's big gun, scoring nine of their nineteen points.

South Side's second N. E. I. C. vacation victory was won over the Decatur Yellow Jackets by a 28 to 17 score. Decatur was the first to score but their lead was short lived, the Archers jumping into a 4 to 3 lead at the end of the first quarter and never being in danger from this point of the game.

Decatur's netters showed signs of putting up a great battle in the first quarter, only being one point behind at the end of the initial period. The Archers, however, put on a spurt in the second period to remain out in front 13 to 7 at the halfway mark. South Side continued to run up the score during the second half, making the final score 28 to 17.

Again the Archer scoring was evenly divided. Hilgeman, with eight points, and Jackson, with seven, were the top scorers.

North Side Wins and Loses, While Central Catholic, Central Score Two Wins.

North Side's Redskins defeated New Haven while Central Catholic beat the Garrett Railroaders and nosed out the Tigers in a city series tilt. Central defeated Valparaiso and Decatur and North Side won over Decatur only to be defeated by Valpo by a small margin in a cage tournament held last week at North Side.

The Redskins won over the New Haven Bulldogs by a score of 30 to 21 in which the Redskins led the scoring throughout the game, being paced by Nill and LaTourette. At the midway they led by a score of 16 to 10, but this margin was shortened at the beginning of the fourth period, the score being 16 to 20. As the fourth quarter came on it was cut to 20 to 18. The Redskins then steadied themselves and again lengthened the margin till they led by seven points.

Central Catholic Scores Wins
Central Catholic beat the strong Garrett five in a scrappy battle to hold their unbeaten record. At the close of the initial quarter the Irish led by a small score of 4 to 2, but in the second period the Railroaders came up to tie 7 to 7. In the third quarter the Irish rallied to an 8-point lead, but this was cut in the last quarter which closed by a score of 24 to 18.

Central Catholic defeated the Tigers in a city series battle before a large crowd at Central's gym in a scrappy game which closed by the close score of 19 to 17. The Irish having superior height had a small advantage over Central, which they made use of at every opportunity. In the first quarter the Irish had a tighter defense and a snapper attack which gave them a lead of 5 to 10 at the end of the period. Again Central trailed at the half by a score of 13 to 6. But a third-quarter rally brought the score up to 15 to 14 with the Irish having a one-point lead. The crowd was on its feet constantly during the last period in which the score stood 17 to 18 and Warfield of Central tied it up with a foul shot. In the last minutes Central Catholic scored a field goal to go into the lead and win the game.

Central Defeats Valparaiso
Central defeated Valparaiso in a cage tournament by a score of 32 to 20. Both teams displayed clever ball handling with the score at the half standing 15 to 13 in Valparaiso's favor. In the third period Central led the scoring by making five field goals while Valpo made many spectacular shots only to fall behind to 27 to 25 score at the close of the third period. The last period was scrappy, both teams fouling frequently to end the game in the Tigers' favor.

In Central's next game in the tournament, they defeated Decatur by a score of 29 to 26. With Decatur never threatening, the score at the half was 12 to 8 in favor of Central. Warfield led the T-gers' attack with nine points, while Peterson of Decatur led their attack with the same number of points.

Redskins Win, Lose
North Side lost to Valparaiso by a close score of 25 to 22. Near the close of the final period Valparaiso was fouled but missed the bucket and then tapped the sphere in for a field goal in a scramble under the basket to give Valpo the game.

The Nulfmen defeated the Yellow Jackets of Decatur by a score of 24 to 18. The Nulfmen clicked in the third quarter to give themselves a lead of ten points. The scoring was again led by Nill and LaTourette, while Blythe led for the Yellow Jackets.

Downtown Block Once Traded For Saddle by Indian Chief

By Jim Sweet

How many South Side students know that the eighty acres surrounded by Calhoun, Masterson, Lafayette, and Lewis streets was once supposedly traded for a horse saddle with an old Indian chief? Arthur St. Claire Vance and Allen Hamilton, two early pioneers, made the bargain sometime before 1820, when this land was entirely covered by water, and when Fort Wayne was just a small settlement surrounded by dense woods and cut off from contact with other towns except by long journeys.

The above statement may or may not be true, but the records of the General Land Office show that the full payment had been made by them according to the provisions of an Act of Congress passed April 24, 1820. On March 10, 1825, they were given a patent to the land in Washington signed by President John Quincy Adams.

Hamilton Is First Sheriff
Allen Hamilton was one of the city's leading citizens at the time. He came to Fort Wayne in 1823, and became Allen County's first sheriff when the county was organized in 1824, later becoming its first postmaster. He was active in banking affairs, and his name was incorporated in the name of the First and Hamilton National Bank.

Arthur St. Claire Vance was among the first lawyers admitted to the bar in Fort Wayne. The actual value of the ground must have been only a trifle, since Vance sold his half interest to Hamilton on October 6, 1825, for $80. In 1860, his land was laid out in an addition to the city of Fort Wayne by Allen Hamilton, who in 1862, died at Saratoga, N. Y.

Among the first to buy a lot in the new addition was Frederick H. Scheumann, who purchased lot number 70 from the heirs of Hamilton on July 1, 1865. In 1872, he built the above home at 1725 Calhoun Street, which has been used by the Scheumann family until several years ago as a home, when it was remodeled and used as a funeral parlor.

No Sidewalks South
It is interesting to know that about the time he built it, he asked the city council about having sidewalks built. He was told he would never see sidewalks south of the railroad!

Since that time, a large city has grown up several miles south of it, including many homes, a growing business district, and several fine schools, including South Side. Mr. Scheumann died about ten years ago. It would take a person over sixty years old to remember when the house was built. In the abstract of the property, it has only made two major changes in ownership, first to the Hamilton, and then to the Scheumann families.

Boys Enjoy Cooking
Twenty-two eligible young men of Bartlesville High School, Bartlesville, Oklahoma, are daily becoming more proficient in teasing and pleasing the palate. All boys seem to be of the same opinion, that this cooking class is "great." One even claims that he has gained ten pounds since starting the course.

Five Teams Play In Pin Tourney

Steger-Swhart Combination Is First in Final Intramural Contest, Wednesday, Dec. 19.

Five teams participated in the intramural bowling tournament held at Scott's Bowling Alleys, Wednesday, December 19. This was the last bowling tournament held this year.

David Steger and his partner, Swihart, were the victors of this tournament with a total of 943 pins. Swihart led the winners with three games of 189, 161, and 142 for a total of 492. Steger had games of 167, 144, and 140 for a total of 451.

Second place was taken by the team of Baumgartner and Leininger with a sum total of 890. Leininger collected 483 pins, and Baumgartner had the remaining 407. Although Bartels had the highest total of the evening, his team was unable to win through the inability of Russell, his partner, to knock down the pins. Their combined total was 881. Bartels collected 496 of this total, giving him an average of 165, slightly higher than his winning total through which he won the individual championship last week.

The scores of this tournament, although none were in the two-hundreds, compared favorably to the scores of the individual tournament. The highest scores were rolled by Swihart with 189, Leininger and Bartels with 173's and Steger with 167. The scores of the bowlers are listed in the order of team placement. They are:

Steger	167	144	140	451
Swihart	189	161	142	492-943
Baumgartner	139	153	115	407
Leininger	162	173	148	483-890
Bartels	170	173	153	496
Russell	115	133	137	385-881
Zent	124	164	118	406
Nelson	91	144	100	335-741

G.A.A. Beginning Frosh Basketball

Yearlings Shown High Points Of the Game at First Practice; Teams Are Organized.

"How do you pivot? Is this the way to dribble? Please show me how to shoot for a basket." These were some of the questions asked by the Freshmen at their first basketball practice. Their coaches, Leona Menze, Enita Snavely, Velma Yoder, Lenora Stephenson, and Marge Hower, answered them and drilled them on the different types of passes, on dribbling, free throws, guarding and even some simple plays.

After their practice was over they went into the gym office and elected captains, who chose their teams as follows:

Team I—Betty Eisenacher, captain; M. L. Coats, J. Crabill, D. Ellenwood, H. Forker, E. Fries, H. McCormick, C. Moring, M. Morrison, M. Persing, M. Redding, D. Rindchen, R. Steinberger, M. Stoller, F. Walling, E. Briggs, and A. Williams.

Team II—Babs Raymond, captain; M. Beck, A. Crumrine, B. Davenport, M. Eser, D. Franke, B. Garton, M. E. Geringhor, J. Hartman, J. Kennedy, W. Lorts, C. McGinty, H. Rarick, L. Weikart, B. Weseloh, and M. A. Bohn.

Team III—Betty Broderick, captain; E. Addington, M. E. Blauvelt, M. Crum, E. Faeller, M. Kern, C. Krimmel, M. B. LaFever, E. Liby, M. A. MacKee, H. Meese, B. A. Moring, L. Roe, G. Schaefer, J. Telley, and V. Walker.

Team IV—Marcia Roop, captain; A. Affolder, F. Clark, B. Calkins, D. Estabrook, H. Habig, D. Hockensmith, E. Koop, M. McAtee, M. Mulford, F. Peters, D. Russell, M. Shepler, M. Walburn, V. Woods, and M. J. Staley.

Archer Squad Is Now Outfitted In Silks and Satins

By Joe Bell

Hail to the Archers in all their new glory, clad in silks and satins but still the same basketball team—we hope. The new suits of the Archers sport green jerseys with white numerals and exquisite green satin pants with a white stripe running down the side. Each player on the first team is now the proud possessor of a green satin jacket with the word "Archers" printed across the back in white letters.

It seems that these suits were accepted enthusiastically by the student body, and they are now able to hold their own in arguments about the best dressed teams in the vicinity. It may be recalled that some few years ago during the coaching regime of Mr. Lundy Welborn, an excellent South Side team was bedecked beautifully in new togs in the middle of the season. This team immediately hit a losing streak, and a few weeks later when they again began to hit the pace that characterized their early season play, it was because they began once more to think of basketball instead of their new suits.

The moral of this story is that we hope South Side keeps right on playing the brand of basketball they have displayed so far, and that they don't let their new suits go to their heads.

Class Room News

In Miss Oppelt's home room, the students enjoyed a very interesting Christmas program. Ruth Garrison gave "The Other Wiseman" by Van Dyke. "Pompey's Christmas," a poem of old Rome, was given by Charles Hart. James Geiger then introduced a funny game to the members of the class who were asked to write a telegram in which the first letter of every word was to spell Merry Christmas.

Rex Knorr entertained Miss Kiefer's home room by demonstrating magic. The class also enjoyed the refreshments which were served.

Miss Thorne's home room had the following Christmas program: Margaret Murphy read a story, Erna Fuhrman gave a humorous speech, and Alvina Greiber played the piano while the class sang Christmas songs. A penny gift exchange was an added feature.

In Miss Demaree's home room the following presented a Christmas program: Maxine Jones sang "Silent Night," Ann Hull gave a talk on "What We Have Done to Christmas," and Mary Jane Klomp gave a reading. Refreshments consisted of popcorn and candy. The class members also exchanged gifts.

In Mr. Furst's Bookkeeping 1 class, Ruth Goeglein made 98; Martha Newell, 96; Leona Menze and Kenneth Miller, 93; and Lucille Kneller, 91, on a recent test.

The home room Christmas party in room 36 was arranged by William McLeish, Leona Menze, Stanley Meyer, and Homer Miller. A tap dance was given by Clara Jane McElwain. A contest was held to see who could make the most words out of the word Christmas. There were apples and candy canes for refreshments.

What A Value For High School Boys! Suede Leather Jackets at Only $3.95

These windbreakers at Suedhoff & Butler's are the talk of the town... and no wonder!... they ARE "some values!" In fact, if it weren't for a special purchase, they would be priced $5 and $5.50 instead of $3.95.

They're the kind of jackets that take the sting and "bite" out of the bitterest wind. Zipper front style, with knit collar, cuffs and bottom. Some of them were slightly shaded during the tanning process, but—boy, oh boy!, how they'll wear. The quantity is limited and there's no telling how soon they'll all be gone, so you'd better get yours right away... at the SUEDHOF & BUTLER Men's Wear Store, 1011 Calhoun, just south of Washington street. (They're selling a lot of these jackets to high school GIRLS, too!)

Interview of Ziegfeld Follies Prove Enormously Interesting

By Vera and Gwen

With gaping mouths and shaking limbs, we traipsed through the stage door of the Shrine Theatre last Sunday night at exactly 7:20 o'clock. The object of our escapade was to enlighten ourselves as to the mysteries of the glamorous stage. Our first thrill came with a fifteen minute interview with Fannie Brice, the leading lady of Ziegfeld Follies.

When we entered dressing room No. 1, Miss Brice, with the assistance of her maid, was deftly applying stage makeup. Miss Brice in her own characteristic manner gave us her version of stage life as a career. She told us she enjoyed her career very much although it became monotonous at times. Her stage experience started when she was thirteen years of age.

Is Stage Veteran
"How long have you been in the Ziegfeld Follies?" was the first question.

"I've been in the Ziegfeld Follies since 1910," she answered. "Do you dislike doing shows on the road?" was the next question. "No, I enjoy them very much, but I dislike getting up early to catch trains," she said with a hint of laughter in her voice.

"What city has been the most responsive?" we queried. "All of the cities in which we have been have been equally responsive," she answered.

"What do you do after the performance?" was the next interrogation. "I go straight home and go to bed," she replied in all seriousness.

Will Ziegfeld Follies be permanent?
"Yes, I think they will be from now on."

Is playing in the Follies under Billie Burke much different from what it was under Flo Ziegfeld?

"No, there isn't any difference. I enjoy working with them equally as well."

New Forum Series Starts Next Sunday

Hi-Y and So-Si-Y Clubs of City To Sponsor Group Of Programs on Sunday.

Archer To Lead First Discussion

Mary Osborn, So-Si-Y Member, To Conduct Meet at 2:30 o'clock at Y. W. C. A.

Announcement of the opening of the Sunday Forum series which has been conducted annually for a number of years by the Girl Reserves and the Hi-Y Clubs of Fort Wayne has been made by H. F. Armheim, boys' work secretary of the Y. W. C. A. and Luella Holtzapple, activities director of the Y. W. C. A. The first of the series will be held on Sunday, January 13, at 2:30 o'clock at the Y. W. C. A.

The leader of the opening forum will be Mary Osborn, a representative of the So-Si-Y Club of South Side High School. "Social Life in the High School" will be the topic of the discussion, which will probably center on fraternities, sororities, and school clubs.

A Centralite, Herman Deck, a representative of the Central Senior Hi-Y, will be the leader at the second in the series of the forums to be held on January 20. The subject at this forum will be "How To Conduct a Forum—And Why." This topic is especially important because of the varied manners in which the forums have been conducted in the past and the advantages of the varied types of meetings. The topic of discussion at the third forum will be "American Democracy." The leader for this meeting will be decided later by the forum committee.

Three City S.P.C. Clubs To Initiate

"Rough" Party To Be Held at North Side a Week From Coming Monday at 2:30 o'clock.

On the first Monday afternoon of the new semester the Student Player Clubs of the three high schools will gather at North Side High School for their "rough" initiation. The initiates of all schools are each working on a program which they will give at this time. All members are to be there at exactly 2:30 o'clock, at which time the program will begin.

Shirley Sykes is in charge of the committee which is working with the initiates at South Side. Elgaun Stump, Charlene Davis, and Clarice Fyock make up the rest of this committee. The officers at South Side are as follows: Bob Blomker, president; Margaret Murphy, vice-president; Clarice Fyock, secretary-treasurer. The following are the officers in the North Side S. P. C.: Edward Rosenthal, president; Frederick Kroemer, vice-president; Fay Shiffer, secretary-treasurer. At Central High School the officers consist of the following: Brock Cleary, president; John Brown, vice-president; and Ruth Phinney, secretary-treasurer.

The initiators' programs will be judged by the president of each school. The winning school will be given a certain number of points while the outstanding initiator award from each school also gets so many points.

Following the program, there will be a private tea dance with Bud Goldman's orchestra playing for the members and the initiates. Miss Suter stated that those who have not paid their dues will not be admitted. She also stated that the members who are not in dramatic classes at the present time should be there promptly at 2:30 o'clock, too.

Miss Marjorie Suter, adviser of the three high schools, stated that the Sunday afternoon following the rough initiation, will be the formal one. All initiates must be at this meeting in order to become a member of the Student Player Club.

Elections for next semester will be held in February as usual. The potluck will also be held at that time.

Attendance Merits Vacation. Home room groups who have no unexcused absences for five weeks will be rewarded with a half-day vacation. This system has been instituted at Phoenix High School, Phoenix, Arizona.

Times Has Two-Way Broadcast On First Radio Program of Year

There is no doubt that the outlook of the South Side Times Radio Program is quite rosy. The first program of the year, which was presented last Monday evening at 8 o'clock, bears proof to this statement. Instead of the usual one-way broadcast, a very interesting two-way broadcast was presented. Mr. Waterman and the South Side High School Band broadcast their part of the program direct from the school, while Bob Zeig, the master of ceremonies, and the other members of the program broadcast from the WGL studio. This arrangement proved to be very successful.

The band ushered in the program to the strains of "Cheerio." After the new system of broadcasting was explained, the band contributed another number, "Phi Kappa Emblem."

Bob Zeig then introduced Mr. Russell Clark, the man who is responsible for the personal comfort, and also the dispositions of many of the students during school hours, as the one to be interviewed on that particular program. The interview proved to be very interesting. Mr. Clark stated that he used to play a violin in the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. However, when taking part in the World War, he was

Weather Man's Mind Changes and Causes Snifflings, Sneezing

First warm weather, then a little cold weather, and then a little warm weather again; and so on. This continues for several days; and finally our poor little attendance teacher is surrounded by students afflicted with colds (at least that's what they say).

To begin with, there are many kinds of colds. First there is the little big, the big little, etc. Of these, there are many varieties of colds. In a recent interview, the following students gave the following data:

Dot Nance: Big and little ones.
Ursula Morton: Noisy colds.
Elinor Cupp: One that turned out to be contagious.

Dick Russell: An Arabian colt.
Frank Montgomery: Always had a desire for one. Folks wouldn't let me have one.

Moose in the hall: No cold. We wonder! It's nose is big enough.

Kenny Scott: A slow cold (slow colds).
Helen Hickman: Has a little-big one, or maybe a big-little one.

There, ladies and gentlemen, is the sneeze and cold situation.

Sixth period: Manuel Rothberg, "America's Crop Control Experiment," first place; Louis Bonsib, "Should Higher Education Be Limited to Students of Exceptional Ability?"; second, Bob Groh, "International Traffic in Arms and Munitions," June Haeger, "Should Higher Education Be Limited to Students of Exceptional Ability?"; Violet Wittmer, "Federal Aid for Education."

Seventh period: Eugene Holtman, "Federal Aid for Education," and John Bremer, "International Traffic in Arms and Munitions," tied for first place; Ursula Morton, "America's Crop Control Experiment," second; Suzanne Meyer, "Should the Privilege of Higher Education Be Limited to Students of Exceptional Ability?"; Garland Eickmeyer, "International Traffic in Arms and Munitions."

The judges of the preliminary contests were: Miss Donna Schlegelmilch, Miss Patricia Savage, Mr. Roy Welty, Mr. Paul Congdon, and Miss Dorothy Benner. The contest was open to any student who cared to compete. There will be another contest held next term to name South Side's other representative to the June contest.

Junior-Math To Hear Talks About Far East

Two students will give a talk to the Junior-Math Club on Tuesday, January 15. Mathematics of the Chinese and Japanese will be their topic.

The election of officers for the coming semester will also be held. The committee in charge of the nominations meets on Wednesday, January 9. For entertainment the members will enjoy games.

Margie Clayton is in charge of this meeting. Those on her committee are Robert Meyer, Billie Bichhoff, Beulah Horstmeier, and Charles Hart.

Study War Problems

In order to educate the students of their school about war problems that confront the general public, "The Mountain Echo" of Altona High School, Altona, Pa., has issued six questions to their readers. These will be especially studied by their history classes and a vote taken on them sometime in January.

Yell Leaders' New Satin Suits Are First Seen at Pep Session

Last Friday morning a pep session was held preceding the South Side-North Side game. The band played several selections to get everyone in good spirits. The student body then got the surprise of their lives when the cheer leaders came out on the floor in their new uniforms purchased by the Booster Club. They consist of green satin trousers with a white strip on the side, and green satin jackets with two S's on the front in white letters, and with YELL written on the back.

Gordon Straley, captain of the football squad, and Bill Geyer, prominent athlete of South Side, gave talks on school spirit.

Bob Klopfenstein then introduced Mr. Ora Davis, who in turn announced the boys, who had been awarded sweat-shirts. He also called down on the floor those who were eligible for letters and presented them with their letters and certificates of honor. Cliff Schrom introduced two new yell leaders and the student body gave them excellent cooperation in leading their first yell.

An unexpected feature of the assembly was the entire student body singing "Happy Birthday" in honor of Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, whose birthday it was. Mr. Snider was properly surprised when he was presented with a beautiful bouquet of flowers.

The executive committee which is serving at present will have complete charge of the affair. Miss Mabel Thorne, the faculty adviser, will serve as chairman for this group. Tickets will be on sale Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of next week. They may be procured from any member of the club.

The usual routine for skating parties will be followed. The favors which will be awarded to persons attending have not been decided upon as yet. Definite data concerning them will be secured at a later date. Mr. Bell, manager of the rink, has generously allowed the club to have their party at a date during vacation. For this reason, a large attendance is expected.

Philos Hear Talk Of Globe Trotter

World Traveler Speaks Before Club; Quartet Entertains By Singing Two Numbers.

Mrs. James Hurlston, of England, who is visiting her niece, Shirley Sykes, spoke on "Women of Other Countries" at the Philo meeting Monday in the Greeley Room. She is well traveled and was able to describe accurately the conditions existing for women in other countries. She based her conclusions on the condition of women in Egypt, Spain, France, Germany, Portugal, Morocco, and Africa. Mrs. Hurlston said that the women and girls of United States are given more freedom than those of any other land, although the women of England ranked second in this.

The quartet, composed of Betty Medaris, Clarabelle Chenoweth, Betty Brothers, and Helen Flaig, sang two numbers: "Mighty Like a Rose" and "Kentucky Babe."

Elections for officers for next semester were held during the business meeting. The results are as follows: Alice Hulse, president; Margaret Murphy, vice-president; Verna Holtman, treasurer; Mary M. Hobrock, sergeant-at-arms; Ruth Adler, program chairman; and R. A. Jones, publicity chairman; Edythe Thornton, decorations chairman; and Betty English, pianist.

Beatrice Fudge Is Meterite President

Members Present Beautiful Gift To Miss Eleanor White, Retiring President of Organization.

An election of officers took place at the Meterite meeting Tuesday. The following were chosen: President, Beatrice Fudge; vice-president, Julia Crabbill; secretary, Betty Garton; treasurer, Betty Pugh.

The Meterites gave a beautiful compact to the retiring president, Eleanor White, as a token of their appreciation of her loyalty. The presentation speech was made by Ina Claire Chap-pell.

Refreshments were served. They consisted of chocolate, vanilla, and strawberry Dixie cups. Several kinds of cookies were also served.

Games were also an important feature at the meeting. The chip-chop game created a lot of laughs and fun-making. Miss Peck also displayed a few of her magic tricks.

German Club To Elect Heads at Next Meeting

Election of officers will feature the next meeting of the German Club to be held in the Voorhees Room on next Wednesday. The persons who are eligible for election will be chosen by the nominating committee, consisting of Lorraine Meyers, Donald Sparkman, and Donald Vetter. Miss Clara Schmidt, adviser of the club, will also act as a member on the committee.

After the election and business meeting, a short program will follow. The meeting will be closed by the singing of "Die Lorelei," accompanied by Donald Vetter at the piano.

Greeley Room Will Be Scene Of Baby Show

Girls' Athletic Association To Stage Contest Today And Tomorrow 5th Period

Many Cute Babies To Be On Exhibit

Pictures in Club Groups; Favors Will Be Given; Admission Is Five Cents.

With all the plans for the G. A. A. Baby Show practically completed the date has been set for Thursday and Friday the 10th and 11th the fifth periods. It will be held in the Greeley Room as originally scheduled, and everybody attending will receive a favor.

Once inside, such an array of babies will greet the eye as would not seem possible. They are grouped by clubs and organizations. For instance, one division will consist of the pictures of the teachers. This is sure to attract the attention of all who attend, because the pictures are just too cute for words. Why, just by looking at some it is possible to see that sex appeal began to show at the age of two. One which shows this is that of a little girl. She is standing very straight, and is wearing a very cute dress. She has long dark curls falling down by her face, and her eyes are very bewitching. Watch for her.

Arranged by Clubs

Other groups represented are the Wranglers, Art Times, G. A. A., athletics, So-Si-Y, Travel, Meterites, U. S. A., Math-Science, and others in miscellaneous groups.

All of the groups just listed above will have unlimited attractions. There is one picture in the Times group that is the very image of an athlete. It is a girl. She has practically nothing on and her rolling muscles seem to say that some day she is going to be a great basketball player.

Another picture sure to attract quite a bit of attention is that of a very sober baby. It has on a long white dress, which is quite a contrast to its dark hair. It is sitting very demurely on a chair and has such an innocent expression on its face that it is really, quite lovable.

These are descriptions of just a few of the babies. Some have soft curls falling around their faces, while others are bald-headed.

Winners Get Cups

With all these babies, it is natural to want to know which the people think are the cutest. In order to decide this every person attending may vote on the one he thinks is the cutest boy, the cutest girl, and the cutest teacher. Cups will be given to the winners. The boys will have a pink ribbon tied on the handle, the girls a blue ribbon, and because it is unknown whether the teacher will be a man or a woman, both a pink and blue ribbon will be on their cup.

Everybody is cordially invited to attend. Admission is five cents.

Watch for the Baby Parade the fifth period today. They're the real thing in flesh and blood, like pictures brought to life!

Faculty Members Put In Charge

Committee of Seven Pedagogues To Make Plans for Celebration of 300th Anniversary.

The committee in charge of the South Side High School celebration of the 300th anniversary of American high schools was announced by Mr. Snider at a faculty meeting Monday evening after school. Those named are A. Verne Flint, chairman; Miss Dorothy Magley, Miss Rowena Harvey, Miss Mary Helen Ley, Mr. E. S. Gould, Mr. Wilburn Wilson, and Miss Gertrude Oppelt.

This committee will have charge of the observance and programs at South Side. It will make arrangements for all assemblies, home room programs, and is in general charge of the celebration.

Each Issue of Publication Involves Co-operative Efforts

Each issue of The South Side Times comes from the press as a product of many tasks both small and large. The click-click of the typewriters, the chatter and noise of the students, which you hear in The Times room are merely the outer aspect of the publication of our weekly paper.

Every story and feature is assigned to the reporters by the news editor, whose duty it is to assign as many interesting stories as possible. The reporters take the assigned story and get the material needed to write an interesting story. After the story is written, it is read by the copy readers and editors, who correct grammatical and spelling mistakes.

The editorial page keeps you informed on sense and nonsense. Some cryptic comments and good opinions are found in the editor's column. It is not necessary to use a shovel to dig up the dirt for the dirt columns, for a good portion of it finds its way to the Times mail box. This is not the best sort of journalism, just the rugged side of human nature. The editorials and dirt columns are assigned by the editor and written by the editorial writers.

The expense of printing a paper would be too great for any school to support by subscription only. Here the advertising department comes to our aid.

Ads must be solicited from business houses; they must be written to please the advertisers and appeal to the consumer. This calls for salesmanship and good business sense. This is the duty of the ad solicitors and copy collectors. Later, the money for these ads must be collected. All this means a good bit of time and running about, which is done by the bill collectors.

After the stories are written and the copy collected, it is printed in the press room. The proof is then read by three different proofreaders and sent to Mr. Snider for an OK.

The paper is then cut up and arranged by the makeup editor and his assistant; after which it is printed. All the Times members are asked to fold papers the evening before it is distributed. Since there are many subscribers, it takes two hours to fold the papers.

Everything that has been mentioned above is done under the supervision of Miss Harvey and the general manager.

Our part in our team's success is the support we give it.

We hope you didn't get your "temp" up too much working for the extemp contest.

K-K-Krush Kendallville; Courageously Conquer Central's Cats, Columbia City's Cagers.

If you don't make the grade, you can be quite sure that your lack of effort is the big cause.

High Scholasticism: Petitioning for more pep meetings, apathetically sitting in the gym refusing to yell.

"Just like looking for a needle in a haystack" is the job of finding someone to write a story the last minute.

Take a trip to Bell's Rink next Thursday evening to celebrate your good grades or to roll away your despondency at the Travel Club Skating party.

When climbing a high hill, one usually takes it slow but with power. Steady work throughout the semester works better than a hasty spurt at the end.

Although the weaker sex is known for its loquacity, the boys took all the honors in the extemp contest. Maybe its quality, not quantity, that counts.

The idea that the decisions of athletic officials might be reversed is quite erroneous; and booing by the fans, which seems to be increasing, is a black mark against the school and a hindrance to the team.

Just Twenty-four Hours

Most people seem to be poor budget-makers, for few of us are able to finish the work we have planned for the day. The reason for this is that sometimes we are interrupted or have planned more work than our capacity; but generally it is because we lack the determination and stick-to-it-iveness.

It's not such a good idea to undertake more work than you can do even though you do think that it will bring you great glory. When you attempt so much, you can't possibly do justice to any of them. Remember "Anything worth doing is worth doing well."

Since there are just twenty-four hours in a day, it might be a good idea if each one of us would plan our work so that it can be finished on time.

How's Your Record?

Two reasons more to add to the many why we should turn over new leaves and study harder—New Year and new semester. We have a clean sheet to fill up as we will, and it is up to us whether we produce a masterpiece or a ten-cent novel.

Granting that grades are not everything important in our lives, we must admit that they tell the tale of at least seven hours daily of our life. They tell whether our time is being spent to the greatest advantage and in the best possible way. Until we discover what is best for us to learn and what will help us most, we should bow to the superior knowledge of our teachers and learn what they have found is best for us. We have all heard that "whatever is worth doing at all is worth doing well;" and this, naturally, applies to lessons as well as anything else.

Take Your Pep Along

At the last pep session various talks were given. Most of them contained the underlying thought of the attitude of students towards various athletic activities. These talks were given enthusiastically and taken thus. Why? Perhaps the way the speaker talked held the interest of the audience. Perhaps it was due to the popularity of the person, his social standing. It may have been received enthusiastically due to the fact that it was a pep session. Many reasons could be given for the marvelous response. Cheering, handclapping, and other means of backing a speaker was shown by the student body. Summing all the above factors up, it amounts to one word, "Pep." Don't gasp at the word! It isn't very surprising! Pep in all its characteristics. Yes—everyone of you responded in a particular manner. Some leaving the assembly with one thought. "Gee, wasn't he good-looking?" or "Did you see her new dress?" Why not take the assemblies for what purpose they are given? The pep session was to convey the meaning of pep and to emphasize its importance in school functions, particularly athletic activities. When attending the games, back the team with a cheer, a boost of some sort. Be impressed with the pep sessions so as to be able to carry the impression out at the attending game. Be happy, shout, scream, do anything but disillusion the players. Spur them on to greater glories. You can do this if you remember to take your pep with you when you are about to witness a performance by your athletic teams.

Freshman Fantasy

Football Again

Let's look ahead a little—provision is said to pay dividends, and South Side needs dividends among other things. Football season will be here next fall. We should begin to prepare right now.

First of all comes the selection of players. Let's gather all our males in the gym. Groups of ten will run the length of the floor and dive head-first into the wall. Those taking more than three minutes to come to, are eliminated.

The ladies come in here, too. We need bigger and better cheering. We must hold a hog-calling contest for the darlings. The winners will sit down in the front and will have special twerping privileges with the gridiron heroes.

Then comes training. We need bloodier and more vigorous scrimmages. The player will lie on his back. Seven husky South Siders will sit on his chest for an hour twice a day. After a week the number is increased to fifteen. (Yo, ho, ho, and a bottle of Coca Cola.) Thereafter a platform is substituted whereon the glee club will practice. This will get him used to the grunts, groans, and general racket of a real football game.

Every day the candidates will tackle each light and telephone pole to and from school. As the season progresses, they may work out on the pillars at the front of the school. If they progress satisfactorily, they may be privileged to advance to the bronze urns.

Now, of course, if the practice hours are chosen with an eye to Calhoun Street traffic, there will be a crowd of the idle curious. What an opportunity! Juniors, studying civics, who want a job during the next census, can enumerate the crowd and list the auto license numbers. Seniors, looking forward to the law, will be issued white belts and gloves and will direct traffic. The public speaking classes and debating clubs will be provided with soap boxes. The home economics dears will vend hot-dogs. The Sophs will be supplied with pointed sticks and big bags and will clean up the mess after the show is over.

Magna Cum Laude

Having a few spare seconds the other day, we started thinking of some of the sweetest things in the world, and aigh on the list was that last five minutes after the alarm goes off before we have to actually get up. Personally we just couldn't make the grade lots of mornings if we couldn't lie in bed luxuriously and pretend that we don't have to be in school by eight. In fact we've even set our clock up five minutes so we'll be fooled every morning. But think of the poor girls who have to get up the very second the clock rings and hie themselves schoolward! Think of the poor working girls on mornings like this when they have to get up before dawn to work at their thankless task! That is truly working for the love of the job. For instance think of the poor girl who comes every morning to keep Mr. Wilson's large lending library in shape. It isn't the work she does so much as the hours she has to keep to do it. Imagine having to get to school every single morning at seven-thirty! We think we're abused when we have to get here by eight and fifteen minutes early is a personal affront, but to have to come at seven-thirty is just one of those things you read about but never believe. But it really does happen and right here at our own dear South Side. Mildred Hoerner, the poor working girl, is the industrious "chile" who tears herself from her downy bed and precious slumber every morning to take care of the books borrowed by the civics classes. In the morning she checks the lists of books overdue and checks in the books as they are returned. She makes a new list of the overdue books and the ones who neglected to return them on time. During the day she checks out the magazines, clippings, and extra references demanded by the classes. She answers questions as to the sources of particular information and in all ways performs the duties of a regular librarian. When the current issue of "Time" comes in and the copies of "Scholastic," she makes a record of the nickels paid for them. She helps to keep the tables, desks, and cupboards in order; and she does any special work that Mr. Wilson needs to have done. After school she is assisted by Irene Cordevey, who has charge of checking the books and references out.

Both of these girls work hard and do much to relieve one of our more popular pedagogues of a task both intricate and timetaking. For their assistance to Mr. Wilson they should receive the thanks of all those who benefit from their work.

"Bath Night"

Daffy Ditties

Some one kinda told me
That this stuff doesn't rhyme;
Well, I don't blame you,
But, gee, give me time.

Tish! Such breakin' up
During Christmas vacation,
Seems t'is ol' Dan Cupid
Moved to a new location.

Why Bobby Firestone! My goodness
And you are only a Fresh;
Sending Christmas cards to girls
Is just a lot of bosh.

Here! Here! Don, is that nice?
Chiseling on brother Dick;
It's a pretty bad idea, son,
And it usually doesn't click.

The boy was skating
On the ice—The ice was thin
The boy was skating on the ice—
It cracked! The boy fell in.

Nancy Quince stood on a corner
Waiting for a date;
The Centralite did not appear.
She's fished! Such is fate.

Ruby Snyder had a party
It lasted till half-past two;
Her boy friend wasn't present
Ba-hoo! Ba-hoo! Ba-hoo!

The night was very dark,
The night was very late;
Cowan walked home Woods,
But he didn't see the gate.
(He fell.)

'Twas the day before grade cards
When all through South Side;
Not a student was naughty
For fear of his hide.

Second Table

Isn't it too bad that big, burly lettermen can't even take care of themselves among a group of fems? To wit: Fowler vs. Brumbaugh and Siebold.

McAlhoney has very good taste, but what did he get the North Side girl for Christmas?

Who gets Hildegarde Bahde's dates for her? For information, see the Journalism classes. (adv.)

Highlight No. 1 after the North Side game: Dot Willson licking up a sundae dish. Looks cute, after all the training she's supposed to have had.

Killen's happy look was back for a while. Goldfish Rinehart was in town for Christmas vacation.

Highlight No. 2 after the North Side game: Street car conductors telling Herb Hornmann to go back to school if he insisted on playing football. He would try it on a street car.

We never thought Dick Schannen was much of a lady's man, but what all didn't he do at that New Year's party.

By the way, Steger, what's your trouble? Do you expect the girls to do all the courting?

Well, it seems that all we need to do to find Ginny Beck's boy friends is go to a basketball game with her. You did all right at the North Side game, Becky.

We wonder what Sally Rea had her eye on at the game last Friday night that caused her to fall down the steps three times.

Then we hear that Craig and Swanson are not going steady anymore. There's a break for you, girls.

It seems that these musicians must stick together. Chuck Garber, cousin to Jan, comes way down from Ohio to see Maxine Morton every Sunday. Music or otherwise, Max?

History of Newspapers Told In Many Interesting Books

There is perhaps no better way to understand the real nature of newspaper work than by learning as much as possible about the history and background of American journalism. The story of newspapers makes fascinating reading—but, reading which will dispel any idea that the game of newspaper-making is as full of thrills and as devoid of responsibility as the average motion picture dealing with newspaper life would have us believe.

Since this story is so long it cannot be adequately described in any single book. In Dr. Willard C. Meyer's "Main Currents in the History of American Journalism" he begins with the forerunners of the newspaper in England, carries it to colonial America and takes it from there to the present era. The manner in which the great news agencies like The Associated Press and the United Press originated and developed is recounted in Victor Rosewater's "History of Co-operative News-Gathering in the United States." In "The Story of the Sun" by Frank O'Brien, the early history of this paper as the first penny paper in the United States and its rise to fame under Charles A. Dana is recounted.

Big Surprises Are Anticipated By Studes in Way of Grades

The great anticipation is fast approaching! The end of the grading period is about here. The red letter day is January 15! Great surprises are in store! Some students will be more surprised than the teachers!! Cards will be taken home. Excuses will be made. Crying and boo-hoing will take place in a quiet home. Father will get the old piddle out from behind the door and make splinters. All this and more can be expected on the night after the distribution of the good news. However, many students have expectations as to what their grades will be. These students, some of them, are preparing the receiving end of the piddle with a geography book or some other means to prevent the friction that may occur. The question, "What are your expectations of your coming grades?" was answered by snickers, grins, noises, etc., mean looks and nervous agitation.

Paul Kennedy—What do I expect? Heh! Heh! That would be telling! Oh, well, being it's you, here goes: I expect to pass everything—except a few major things! No fooling, if I don't pass all with an A+ my parents will have a confusion—I mean confusion.

Wayne Decker—Me? I expect to pass everything with an A+. Of course there are exceptions!! My exception is English. Unless there is a very important crisis between a certain teacher and me—well, it's all off. Bill Fries—Bad news! Bad news! Dat's all! Pardon my southern slush! What I expect could not be printed! Nothing higher than C+.

Mademoiselle Modiste

By Rosemary Chappell

Of all the accessories, collar and cuffs cause the most worry. This season, fashion shows a great variety of collars and cuffs, which may be worn to make a plain dress attractive, or to help "make over" last year's frock. The "kerchief" is a variation of a collar which is widely used for school wear. Mary Hayes enriches the color in her wine-colored crepe dress by a "kerchief" of white crepe. Long, white fringe trims the edges in a manner characteristic to that of a scarf.

Another well-known addition to this year's style in collars is fagoting. A turquoise blue collar fagoted in brown thread is worn with Ruth Fritz' brown crepe frock. In back the collar is round and it gradually forms scallops as it comes around in the front. The matching cuffs are scalloped similar to the collar.

With her light blue smock JoAnne Smith wears a collar of crash linen. It is round, and ties in front with a blue bow. Blue embroidered dots contrast the light tan of the crash. Mary Martha Hobrock shows an unusual collar and cuff set of brown and orange braided yarn. These are worn with a brown knitted sweater. The collar and cuffs are round, and the cuffs have little balls of yarn which fasten in front.

Oilecloth is a new fad for a collar to be worn with a sporty sweater or wool dress. Shiny, red oilecloth is used by Vera Ellinger with a navy blue wool dress. The round, simple collar is edged in white bias tape. The cuffs match the collar.

Then, there are the clever crocheted sets. Maxine Howard finds that a white crocheted collar enhances her green wool dress. The collar is made of two rows of scallops. It is gathered by white ribbon and ties in a tiny bow in front. Cuffs are formed of scallops which fit tightly around the wrist.

Dorothy Walker picks a collar of white, checked taffeta. In back it is square, but comes to a V in front. At the point of the V is a small bow. From the shoulders to the point of the V it is edged in a tiny ruffle.

With an orange wool frock Pauline Crabb wears a brown satin collar. The collar is of tiny pleats. In the middle it is gathered by a brown ribbon which fastens in a large bow in front. The upper part of the collar droops over and gives the effect of being double.

Well, finally, Swanson and Craig have found their way to Reno. Nevertheless, they both seem to be happily pursuing their own respective courses.

There seemed to be quite a mix-up between dates New Year's Eve. Lohman started with G. DeWald and ended with T. Uebelhoe. Geyer started with G. Horn and ended with nobody and Gwen ended with A. Fruechte. A. Winters started with B. Zeig and ended with T. Conway—and so far, far into the morning. True, true, indeed.

Archers To Face Schedule of Three Games In One Week

Tigers, Comets, Eagles To Play Green Quintet

Kelly Klads To See Action In City, N. E. I. C. Tilts; Central Will Be Strong.

Kendallville To Be Opponent Friday

End of Term To Bring Blue Netters to Southern Gym; Eagles Look Unimpressive

Meeting Kendallville's Comets here tomorrow night and Central and Columbia City next week, South Side's netters will have a good chance to better their standings in the city series and N. E. I. C. races.

Tomorrow night's contest with Kendallville should produce the Archer's fourth N. E. I. C. win, although Coach Charley Ivey's Kendallville team is coming along fast and may give the Green and White plenty of trouble before the game is over.

The Comets have only been victorious in two of their four previous conference tilts, having lost to Central and North Side.

Tomorrow night's contest is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock with the preliminary getting under way an hour earlier. L. E. Pink and Hugh Vandivier are the officials for the game.

Meet Old Rivals

South Side's initial clash of the season with Central's Tigers, to be played Wednesday, January 16, is expected to be one of the most thrilling hardwood tilts ever played on the Archer's floor. Both fives have bowled over all opponents except Central Catholic so far this season, the Irish having proved to be a stumbling block for both quintets. However, the two public school teams have regained their stride and are bound to show the fans some real basketball when they go after the first tip-off next Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock. As usual the reserves will tangle an hour earlier.

Carl Burt and Vaughn Russell will officiate at the two games.

Wednesday night's contest will mark the thirty-second basketball game played between the two local squads. Of the thirty-one tilts actually played, the Archers have won nineteen of them and the Tigers twelve. South Side-Central battles have always been thrillers and an over-capacity crowd is expected to fill the Archer's gym for their first city series contest of the year.

List Probable Lineups

Coach Murray Mendenhall's probable lineup will see Warfield and Sitko as forwards, Altkruse at center, and Neat and Riddle at the guard posts. However, Mendenhall has two good men in Barker and Paul and may decide to insert either one of them into this important fray.

Warfield and Sitko as forwards make up the highest scoring pair of forwards performing on local hardwoods this year, and teamed up with Neat at one of the guard posts do almost all of the Tiger's scoring. Altkruse at center and Riddle at guard perform very well defensively but have failed to get going offensively so far. Barker and Paul are two high scoring players and will probably see action before the final gun goes off.

South Side's probable lineup for the Central battle is doubtful at this time, but Coach Jake McClure will undoubtedly use Hilgeman and Lohse as forwards, Nelson at center, and George and Jackson as guards. However, the Archer net mentor may decide to insert either Howard Hall or Si Symonds into the starting lineup in an effort to make it click better.

Playing the Columbia City Eagles on the Eagle's floor Friday, January 18, the Archers hope to chalk up another N. E. I. C. win. The Eagles' record for the season so far does not appear very impressive, having won only one of their five conference tilts. The Green netters are expected to have little trouble in gaining a conference victory over their Parlor City opponents.

Volleyball Teams Retain Standing

Leading Squads Remain Outstanding After Eight Games Are Played in Recent Series.

With eight intramural volleyball matches being run off during the week preceding Christmas vacation, the leading volleyball teams continued to be outstanding.

Defeating the Katz 15-12, 15-8, the Herrings clinched second place in the Blue heavyweight league and assured themselves of a place in the final play-off. The final play-off will be between the first two teams of the two heavyweight leagues. These four teams will play a round robin tournament, the winner to be the heavyweight champion.

Winning their fifth straight match in as many starts by defeating the Cubs 15-2, 15-4, the Tigers won first place in the Iron lightweight league. In the other two Iron league matches the Punks defeated the Tornados 13-15, 15-1, 15-11; and the Bears won from the Punks by forfeit.

In the Steel middleweight league four matches were played although none of them had any bearing on first place, that place being won by the Plugs before this week's play. By virtue of victories over the Kangaroos and the Wildcats, the Archers gained title to second place in the final league standings. The Archers defeated the Kangaroos 15-2, 15-2, and the Wildcats 15-1, 15-6.

Wavelets Win Victory Friday Over Papooses

Reserves Come Through to Triumph 26-15 Over North Side in Interesting Tilt.

Sweeping through the Redskin defense with little difficulty, South Side's reserve squad contained their fine playing as they gave the North Side's reserve squad continued their at the northern gym last Friday night. The Archers had little difficulty in scoring and were very successful in their use of a tight man-to-man defense which kept the Redskin Papooses in check throughout the tilt. The Archers started fast and held a 9 to 3 lead at the end of the initial period. The Redskins chopped the Archer lead to a 13 to 8 count at the half, but the Green came back strong in the third period to score nine points and gain a 22 to 10 lead as the last period started. They then rode on to their 26 to 15 triumph.

Teams Start Fast

Both teams started fast and several melees took place under the Archer basket as the players battled for possession of the ball. Miller finally got away from his guard and went under to give his team the lead. Shortly after Miller counted from the charity line to give the Redskins a 3 to 0 lead. The Redskins were using a fast block play. Geyer cut the ice for the Archers when he scored from underneath the basket. Reichert followed with a foul shot. Eiser put his team in the lead with a fielder. Hall and Hines increased the Archer lead to 9 to 3 as the quarter ended.

In the second quarter Shilts connected from the foul line when fouled by Reichert to open the scoring. Hines hit the hoop from mid-floor. Neither team scored for four minutes after Hines' shot. Hall finally put one in from underneath to give his team a 13 to 4 lead. Shumme scored from the foul lines and Miller hit on a beautiful left-handed pivot and once from the foul line to cut the Archer lead to five points as the quarter ended with the Green holding a 13 to 11 lead.

Hines Starts Scoring

Opening the second half Hines pivoted for his shot and then dropped one through from well out to put the Archers in a 17 to 8 lead. Reichert increased his team's lead with a set-up shot and Hall connected on a pivot shot to put the Archers out in front by a 21 to 8 lead. Young chalked up the only basket his team made in the period just as it concluded.

The Redskin defense tightened considerably in the final quarter and limited the green-jerseyed players to four points. Hall and Hines connected on cut-in shots while Shilts and Holman scored fielders and Miller scored a charity toss for the Red quintet.

Central Leading N.E.I. Conference

South Side Is Second in List; Both Teams Have 1,000 Pct.; Tigers Have One More Win.

Having trimmed the Auburn Red Devils 42 to 21 in an N. E. I. C. contest last Friday, Central's Tigers have moved into first place in the Northeastern Indiana Conference. The downtown five has won four games and lost none, while South Side, who remained idle over the week end in respect to conference games, is in second place with three wins and no losses.

Auburn's fourth conference loss of the season plunged them deeper in the cellar of the standing. In the other conference tilt played on Friday, January 4, Kendallville's Comets put on a last half rally to win over the Columbia City Eagles 40 to 32. Although the score stood 16 to 13 at the half in favor of the Eagles, the Comets put on enough power in the second half to come out of the contest victorious. The Comet's victory moved them up to fourth place, while the Eagles remained in eighth place.

Nine tilts are scheduled for the next two weeks, although the leaders are expected to remain unchanged in the standing.

The conference schedule for the next two weeks is as follows:
January 11—Bluffton at Garrett.
Decatur at Auburn.
Kendallville at South Side.
Central at Hartford City.
January 12—Garrett at North Side.
January 18—Central at Bluffton.
South Side at Columbia City.

Archers Come From Behind To Beat North Side, 18 to 13

Staging one of the most thrilling fourth-quarter rallies ever witnessed on a local hardwood, South Side's mighty Archers vanquished the fighting North Side Redskins 18 to 13 last Friday night in a city series contest.

Faced with the task of overcoming the 9 to 2 lead held by the Redskins at the half-way mark, the Green and White began to hit their stride in the third quarter and out the North Side lead to 12 to 7 at the end of the third period. The Archers continued to hit the hoop in the final quarter and swept on to their seventh win of the season.

During the first half of the game the Archers were unable to make their shots stick, only chalking up one field goal, scored by Nelson; while the Redskins jumped into a 9 to 2 lead by scoring four fielders and one free throw. Three of the baskets were made by La Tourette, Redskin forward, who continually thrilled the over-capacity crowd with his shots from far out on the floor. Barclay dropped in the fourth North Side basket of the first half and Johnston sank the free throw.

In the third quarter South Side began to get going and outscored their opponents five points to three. Nelson counted on an under-the-basket play and Lohse sank three free throws to chalk up the Archers' five points. LaTourette dropped in another of his long shots and Nill scored a foul throw to make the score stand 12 to 7 at the end of the third period in favor of the Redskins.

Starts Archer Rally

Starting the winners' belated rally of the fourth period, Symonds, Archer forward, scored on a dribble-in play. Knuth, Redskin guard, then scored the loser's last point of the game by sinking a free throw. With five minutes remaining to play in the second half Symonds scored again, this time on a difficult shot from the side and Nelson scored a foul shot to bring the Archers within one point of the leaders.

Putting the Green and White out in front for the first time during the game, Jackson sank a one-handed shot under the basket that nearly sent the crowd into hysterics. With two minutes remaining to play Nelson scored his third fielder of the game on a dribble under shot, and Lohse put the game on ice for the Archers by scoring his fourth and fifth free throws of the game.

Nelson Leads Attack

Bob Nelson led the Archer's attack, scoring three times on dribble under plays and scoring one foul shot for seven points. Paul Lohse proved his free throwing ability by making good five of his five chances at the free throw line. Si Symonds, sent in late in the third quarter, proved to be the needed spark in the Archer lineup, starting the winners' sensational rally in the fourth quarter by dropping in a basket on a dribble under play and a few minutes later scoring on a shot from the side.

North Side's zone defense proved almost impenetrable during the first half, but the Archers broke through it in the final quarter to score five of their six field goals. The winners' defense was also very tight, keeping the Redskins shooting from far out.

South Side showed a marked improvement in their free throwing ability, cushioning in on six of their seven charity attempts. The losers counted on only three of their six chances at the foul line.

G. A. A. Flashes

The G. A. A. Baby Show will start this week. All those who do not have their pictures handed in had better do so soon.

Many of our G. A. A. girls spent most of their time ice skating during vacation. Keep it up girls, every point counts toward your letter.

Basketball season is now beginning. Don't be surprised to find basketballs shot all over the gym.

Every G. A. A. member should remember that an honor basketball team is picked for each of the freshman, sophomore, junior and senior classes at the end of the season. A tournament is held between these four teams to decide the champions of the school.

Remember, girls, to keep right on studying when the new term begins because every girl must be passing in all her studies in order to be eligible for any sports.

The G. A. A. seems to be increasing every year. We believe this is because so many of the seniors are joining and persuading others to join.

Sophomore I came out on top in the volleyball tournament, losing only one game. The sophomores were captained by Leona Menze. Their only loss was to Betty Har-nish's team.

Officer Election Is To Be Held By Jr. Hi-Y'ers

Club Will Name Leaders for Coming Year at Meeting Tonight at the Y. M. C. A.

An election of officers for next semester will be held at the weekly meeting of the Junior Hi-Y at the Y. M. C. A. at 7:30 o'clock this evening. The nomination list is made up of Norman Buck, William Hebernehl, William Tries, Robert Harruff, Miller Makey, Herman Makey, and Morgan Harrison.

A new plan of election will be introduced this year. The members of the club will vote for three nominees designating the office they consider them to be capable of filling. The value of the votes for each office will vary, the presidency counting three, the vice-presidency two, and the combination secretary-treasurer's office will count one point. The nominee receiving the highest number of votes will be elected president, the second highest will fill the vice-president's office, and the third highest will become secretary-treasurer.

The theme of the club for the next semester will also be chosen and the general plan of meetings will be outlined. Speakers for the immediate meetings will also be chosen.

Officers Nominated at Meeting of Puppeteers

The nomination of officers was held at the last meeting of the Marionette Club. A called meeting at which the officers of next semester will be elected will be held Thursday, January 10. All members should be present as plans for a pot-luck and theatre party are to be made. The committee in charge of this affair consists of Lorraine Meyer, chairman; Clarice Fyock, and Bob Wiehe. All members should sign up Thursday in room 140.

It was decided that no more plays would be given next semester, but instead, the time would be given to making and learning to manipulate the puppets more perfectly. Each member, if he wishes, is going to make an entire marionette.

Deceased

Marshall Rosenthal

Marshall Rosenthal, prominent member of the class of '35, died last Saturday morning, following less than a week's illness. Affected with sinus trouble, he was taken to the hospital Thursday.

At South Side, Marshall was active both on The Times and in club work. On the Times he held the position of make-up editor, and editorial writer, having previously held the positions of reporter, mailing manager, and assistant make-up editor. He was treasurer of the Philatelic Society and general manager of Stamp News, publication of the society.

Several South Side students attended the funeral Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Services were held at Klehn & Sons' funeral chapel and burial was in Lindenwood Cemetery, Rabbi Samuel H. Markowitz presiding.

January 15 Is Date For Ticket Payments

The final payments on the season tickets are due January 15, it was announced by Ora M. Davis, athletic manager, this week. While it is not due until then, students are urged to pay up this week in order to save the teachers additional work. It is pointed out that they will be working on grades then.

South Side Girls May Now Attend Swimming Class

Y. W. C. A. To Offer Series Of Lessons; Gym Credit To Be Given Participants.

Through arrangement with the Y. W. C. A., South Side girls will have the opportunity to attend a swimming class for full gym credit. The classes will be taught by Mrs. Florence Clem, instructor at the Y, and will be open to both beginners and advanced students.

The price will be three and one-half dollars for a full term of forty lessons. This is a reduction of at least half the usual price. Beginners' classes will be held on Monday and Wednesday, and advanced periods will be on Tuesday and Thursday. These classes will be held during the eighth period, so no rearranging of programs will be necessary.

A seventh period class will be arranged for those who are free that period or are scheduled for gym or study.

Grades will be given by Miss Patterson and Miss Smith as in gym, and of course the same attendance will be required.

Many girls have expressed their intention of signing up for the class; those who sign first, of course, will be admitted. South Side has long realized the need of swimming facilities, and this plan, if given full co-operation, will solve that problem.

Grade System Reorganized
In an effort to make grading in physical education activities more distinctive than just "passing" or "failing" or "credit," or "no credit," a new grading system has been introduced by Central High School in Evansville, Indiana. The girls can gain points in the following: participation in class work, 30 points; progression, 30 points; attendance, 15 points; shower attendance, 15 points, and appearance, 10 points.

Spring Isn't Here, But Cheer Leaders Sprout Green Suits

South Side's Booster Club is a real credit to our school. They are forever endeavoring to boost the school. Many of their accomplishments are known only to a few. But the whole student body was pleasantly surprised at the pep session last Friday morning when, behold, our yell leaders appeared in new uniforms, so satiny, and shiny, that their beauty brought "ahs" and "ohs" from the whole assembly.

The two-piece suits are of bright green satin, which by the way, is the same shade as the new suits of the basketball team. On the front of the zipper blouse are two white S's, while on the back is "yell." The five members of the yell-leading squad who are wearing the suits are Rex Knorr, Cliff Schrom, Phil Green, Dave Steger, and Bud Mahurin.

These suits are the latest "boost" from the Booster Club, and a credit to our school. Three cheers for the Booster Club!

Honor Typing I Pupils Placed on "Big Ten"

Miss Covalt has, as an honor roll for Typing I pupils, three Big Ten lists, each containing the names of ten pupils doing the best work in the typing classes.

The first Big Ten is headed by Lorraine Meyer. The following pupils have qualified for the first Big Ten list: L. Meyer wrote 45.5 words per minute; B. A. Schaaf 43.8, R. Gale 39.2, M. Morgan 38, R. Fowler 38, G. Shearer 36.7, M. Tieman 36.4, V. Garton 35.6, W. Bleke 35.4, H. Heikowsky 35.2.

Louis Bonsib heads the second Big Ten list with 34.8 words per minute, and Goldie Bruoit heads the third Big Ten list with 31.2 words per minute.

Screen Shows Occupations
On the West High School screen, of Minneapolis, Minnesota, will soon appear vocational and educational pictures portraying the life, routine, and surroundings of people in the various eligible occupations.

Student Players Begin Casting of Two Plays

The casting of the two plays presented annually by the Student Players' Club has been begun by Miss Suter. As the parts are not final and since they are subject to changes at any time, the cast will not be announced for some time. Since it will soon be time for the senior play, seniors are taking part in these two plays to gain experience.

One play, which has three parts, is already casted and the other, which has ten parts, is being casted. The first play deals with the circumstances derived from a very honest man finding a purse. There is much argument pro and con for returning and keeping the purse. A satisfactory conclusion is finally reached.

In the other play, a humorous situation arises when an elevator apparently becomes jammed and two lovers are carrying on the traditional quarrel. On top of this comes the appalling discovery of finding a dead fish aboard the elevator.

Riflers' Match Won By Robert Schrieffer

The Boys' Rifle Club held its bi-weekly meeting at the range Tuesday evening immediately following a short business meeting in room 54. After the fifteen members present had listed their names in squads of four, they proceeded with their practice to show their ability in the art of marksmanship.

When the roll was called, it was found that about half of the boys who had signed up at the beginning of the term were not present. The boys present who had not paid their dues for this term were urged to do so.

The handicap match that was started four meetings ago was dropped without any award being given to the boy with the greatest number of points. This boy was Bob Schrieffer.

The boys discussed several matches that are to be held with the other high schools of this city and near-by towns. There was an announcement made pertaining to the South Side team practicing at the newly constructed range at Dehler and Hughes Optical Store.

Wranglers Will Elect Officers Next Monday

Election of officers will be the feature of the next Wranglers' meeting to be held next Monday. The officers for this term who are officiating for the last time are Bill Hockett, president; Bernita McIntosh, vice-president; Eleanor Cupp, secretary; Dick North, treasurer; Bob Willson, sergeant-at-arms; and Dick Helm, assistant sergeant-at-arms. As the election of officers plays a very great part in the success of a club, all members are requested to attend so as to be able to vote. Miss Dorothy Benner has been adviser of the club for the past semester and will continue in that capacity during the spring term.

Departmental Quizzes In Math Given Today

Departmental tests in algebra 2, algebra 4, and geometry 2 will be given today. Following these tests, the final selection of students eligible to take the recognition tests will be made. Recognition tests will be given this week and next week. The recognition tests with the exception of geometry 3 will be given Tuesday, January 15, at 3:30 o'clock. The geometry 3 tests will be given Thursday, January 10, in Room 52. A place for the algebra 2, algebra 4, and geometry 3 tests will be named later.

Club Makes Experiment
Members of the science club, Peoria Central High School, Peoria, Illinois, released a balloon in an effort to beat the record of the 1931 club whose balloon was found and returned by a Central Indiana farmer.

Pebble Pups To Hear Talks at Next Meetings

The committee in charge of the next meeting of the Pebble Pups is planning a series of talks on various rocks. This committee is Jack Rehner, chairman; Catherine Hirschman, and Mary Snider.

Jack Rehner will speak on "Formation of Igneous Rocks," Talks on "General Characters of Igneous Rocks," and "Granite and Syenite" will be given by Catherine Hirschman. Mary Snider will talk to the club on "Drarite, Gabbro, Felsite, and Basalt." After these talks, various specimens of these rocks will be passed around for illustrations.

Elections of next semester's officers will also be held.

Marionette Club Will Discuss Pot-luck Plans

A special meeting of the Marionette Club will be held today in room 140. Plans for the pot-luck to be held Friday, January 18, in the Greeley Room, and the theatre party will be completed. The committee in charge of this event consists of Lorraine Meyer, chairman; Clarice Fyock, and Robert Wiehe. All members of the club are asked to be at this meeting and sign up. The last day to sign up is Wednesday, January 16. Election of next semester's officers will also be held.

Classes Study Coins
As an aid to their study of foreign commerce, the students in the economics classes at West High School, Minneapolis, Minnesota, are being shown a collection of foreign coins brought by a student.

Advertisements

are a guide to value

Experts can roughly estimate the value of a product by looking at it. More accurately, by handling and examining it. But no one person can be an expert on steel, brass, wood, leather, foodstuffs, fabrics, and all the materials that make up a list of personal purchases.

There is a surer index of value than the senses of sight and touch . . . knowledge of the maker's name and for what it stands. Here is the most certain method, except that of actual use, for judging the value of any manufactured goods. It is a guarantee against careless workmanship, or the use of shoddy materials.

This is one important reason why it pays to read advertisements and to buy advertised goods. The product that is advertised is worthy of your confidence.

With the goal set at one thousand subscriptions, the Times campaign is underway for the spring term. The easy payment plan will be used again this semester to enable all the pupils to subscribe. The price in full is to be paid by April 5.

Aside from the fact that the South Side Times is one of the best high school papers in the world, it has proved through its twelve years' existence to be a priceless companion to those both in and out of high school. Freshmen are especially urged to make use of the school paper to better acquaint themselves with the activities of the school in clubs, sports, and the like.

The entire student body will receive the first three issues of the Times. After these only the subscribers will be given a copy, so subscribe at once.

Subscriptions may be given to the room agents in the home rooms or to any member of the staff at the Times Room. Assisting Lois Magley, circulation manager, are: Ina Claire Chappell, Dorothy Crabill, Helen Kelsey, Harriet Yapp, and Dorothea Nance, assistant circulation managers.

Vanities Headliners Answer Queries of Inquisitive Lad

By Charles Hart

Done to the sparkling music of Ray Kavanaugh's orchestra, to the humorous and witty dialogue of Eugene Conrad, and to the gorgeous staging of the whole production by Ned McGurn and others, the current production of Earl Carroll's Vanities was one of the stellar attractions to play before a local house in recent years. The revue was staged in two acts and forty-four scenes, all with lavish props and settings. Some outstanding effects were gained by the use of very colorful costumes illuminated by brilliant floodlights. Another unusual effect was gained by neon lights in the form of wands.

Ken Murray, Chaz Chase, Helen Charleston, her brother Milton, Rosie Moran, and Peggy Hoover were the outstanding members of the cast. Others deserving mention are the Rio Brothers, the Samuel Brothers, and Eddie Rio.

Since your reporter could see only three members of the cast, there will only be three interviews to discuss. But luck led me to the three lead of the cast, namely Helen Charleston, Rosie Moran, and Ken Murray.

The first one to be interviewed was charming Helen Charleston, the leading lady of the revue. Having loved dancing all her life, Miss Charleston has always taken great pleasure in her profession. Miss Charleston has studied character impersonations un-

151 New Freshmen Will Add to Mobs In Crowded School

The coming of the spring semester brings to South Side High 151 new freshmen. With them come now in the Greeley Room, Cafeteria, gym, and study hall, where are the new freshmen going to be put? Their home rooms will be larger than usual, making one room for 37 and three of 38.

As there are 1,847 pupils this semester, the newcomers would make a total of 1,998, but since some seniors do not take a post-grad course, this number will be cut down to about 1,950. Last year the total was 1,855. This great increase in student enrollment will make more work for the whole teaching staff.

Suzanne Meyer Is New So-Si-Y Head

Girl Reserves Install Officers
For New Semester at Recent Meeting; Dean Gives Talk.

Impressiveness marked the semi-annual installation service of So-Si-Y, South Side's junior and senior Girl Reserve club. Miss Rinehart, one of the four advisers, read the ceremony which included candlelight procedures. Old officers gave retiring speeches and lighted the candles of the new officers. The old and new executives formed a half-circle, in the center of which was a table flanked with white candles in blue holders—the Girl Reserve adopted colors. Suzanne Meyer, newly-installed president, gave an acceptance speech in behalf of the newly-elected heads. The retiring officers are: President, Mary Osborn; vice-president, Suzanne Meyer; secretary, Emily Gardner; treasurer, Elfrida Enz; service chairman, Martha Baumgartner; social chairman, Ada Broyles; membership chairman, Violet Wittmer; and publicity chairman, Ruth Adler; Inter-Club Congress representative, Arleth Carvin. Those taking over these respective offices are: Suzanne Meyer, Violet Wittmer, Martha Baumgartner, Virginia Beck, Betty Medaris, Arleth Carvin, Ruth Reitz, Alwita Tarney, and Catherine Hirschmann.

Preceding this ceremonial, Mary Osborn, outgoing president, announced a magician's show to be held in the Central auditorium next Tuesday, January 22, proceeds of which will go to the Hi-Y clubs. Later new committees were announced for the ensuing semester. Following these announcements, Miss Pittenger, dean of girls, gave a short talk on "Ideals of Girl Reserves." Devotions, consisting of a Catholic Reserve prayer, were given by Catherine Allendorph. The program was concluded with the singing of "Follow the Glean."

Librarians Finish New Point System

Bronze, Silver, and Gold Pins
To Be Awarded; Officers Are Installed at This Meeting.

The new Library Club point system was discussed at the meeting of the club December 8. It was decided to give points for library service, attendance at club meetings, service on program committees, punctuality for work, and service on programs, a total of 106 points being possible in two years' work.

For 25 points a bronze "L" will be given; for 50, a silver one, and for 100, a gold one, all the pins being the property of the club, except the gold one, which will be awarded at graduation. It is planned to distribute the pins at recognition assemblies. The plan was made up by the executive committee, consisting of Frank Montgomery, Catherine Hirschmann, Helen Hickman, Virginia Beck, and Clayton Kilpatrick.

The meeting was in the form of a pot-luck, after which a treasure hunt was held under the direction of Helen Hickman.

At the business meeting, an election of officers was the main feature, it being the last meeting of the term.

The following officers were elected: Dick Russell, president; Martha Franz, vice-president; Jo Anne Smith, secretary; Bill Fries, sergeant-at-arms; Jim Sweet, Inter-Club Congress representative; Eugene Holtman, point recorder.

An amendment to the constitution was added to authorize the office of point-recorder.

Freshmen Are Given Official Guide Books

As in recent years the freshmen and new students again received the Green Book, the official guide book of South Side, at their meeting Friday morning. This book contains the names of all the teachers, and the addresses, telephone numbers, and subjects they teach. The clubs and all other extracurricular activities are listed. There is also a plan of the school which aids the students in finding their way about. The rules of the school, the school song, and a number of yell are also contained in the Green Book.

The Green Book was first edited in 1927 by Helene Foellinger. It was revised in 1929 by David Parrish, in 1931 by Libby Yapple, and in 1933 by Mark Gross. Last year every page was revised, and many pages were added. It now contains 135 pages, being one of the most complete pamphlets of its kind in Indiana.

Miss Smeltzly Talks At Latin Meeting

"Rome" Subject of South Side
History Teacher at Club Gathering Thursday Afternoon.

Miss Eleanor Smeltzley was the speaker on the subject, "Rome," at the meeting of the Societas Romana last Thursday. Her last visit to Rome was taken with her sister, Miss Mary Catherine Smeltzley, in 1928.

Miss Smeltzley told about the ancient history of Rome and how the city was founded by Romulus and Remus. In the Capitol building of Rome is a large statue incased in glass of the wolf who rescued Romulus and Remus from the river. She also described the beautiful churches, including St. Peter's. A person at one end of the church would not be able to see another at the opposite end because it is so large, she said. Miss Smeltzley stated that a heating system has never been installed because of its magnitude, and in the summer time it is always cool inside. Another example of its magnitude is that one-half the people in Fort Wayne could be accommodated at one time. Another example of the beautiful sculpture work is the beautiful Vatican palace where fine works of art are kept. One of Michelangelo's great pieces of sculpture is the statue of "Moses."

Miss Smeltzley stated that one of the biggest thrills of her life was the interview with Pope Pius X. To get a personal session, very strict recommendations from high officers of the Catholic Church are needed. Miss Eleanor Smeltzley and her sister were very fortunate in getting these. They were among fifty other people in this interview.

Bob Blomker Elected Philatelic President

Bob Blomker was elected president of the Philatelic Society for the next semester at the monthly meeting January 9. The other officers elected are: Jane Louise Brinkman, vice-president; Clayton Kilpatrick, secretary; Jane Loomis, treasurer, and John Thacker, sergeant-at-arms. The staff for the stamp club paper was also announced. John Bex, Margie Killen, and Jim Sweet were named on the staff. Several changes are to be made in the paper, it has been announced.

The program, in charge of Bob Adams, retiring president, included a quiz on South American stamps, the questions being asked by him, and answered by H. Fisher Rehner, Hollis Logue, Helen Kelsey, and Margie Killen. Another feature of the program was the playing of several popular tunes on the accordion by Maxine Morton and Georgianna Jane Jones. A game of stamp lotto was played, this consisting of lotto played with postage stamps instead of numbers.

One Hundred-Fifty Incoming Students Enter This Term

Permits Necessary
For Student Drivers

"Everyone driving a car to school must have a permit," Mr. Snider stated. "Any one who rides with a student must also have one," he added. Students may get their permits as usual at the office. They must be filled out and signed by the parents and O. K'ed by Mr. Snider.

D. A. R. Plans Senior Awards For Character

"Wheel and Distaff," a Junior Division of D. A. R., To Recognize Six Each Year.

"Wheel and Distaff," a junior division of the Daughters of the American Revolution, will award medals to a boy and girl in the graduating class of each of the three high schools in the city. It has been announced by Miss Gretchen Smith, president of the club. Selections are to be based on service character, leadership, and scholarship. All students will be able to vote at the end of the school year, and the reward will be made at the various recognition services.

In the last session of the D. A. R. Congress, the following plan was passed, which will be added this year. Among the winners selected from the high schools in the United States, a girl will be selected to represent each of the forty-eight states in a trip to Washington. This selection will be made over a period of ten months from this coming June, until April of the following year, under the direction of state superintendents of schools together with the D. A. R. committees.

The purpose of announcing the contest at this time is to give the students an opportunity to point out those eligible for the reward. Good citizens are the chief aims of the public school system. A good citizen is one with character, unselfishness, and honesty. He is a person who will be his own master, a leader, and a good sport. They believe that if every student would be a good citizen, there would be no foundation for black shirts, brown shirts, or red flags, and no salutes to a leader whose power is inspired by fear. Therefore, the D. A. R. has chosen to further the purpose of good citizenship in our country.

There were four medals awarded in the city last year. Babette Dessauer and George McKay received them at Central High School, and Roberta Garton and Eugene Craig received them at South Side. North Side did not enter the contest last time, but plans to do so this year.

Times Exchanges Papers With Many Different Schools

Each week the man in the blue uniform brings heaps of school papers from all over the United States to the Times Room. Schools in thirty-nine states send their papers in exchange for the South Side Times.

These states are: Alabama, Arkansas, Arizona, California, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Jersey, New Hampshire, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Wyoming, and Utah.

Washington D. C., and Canadian schools also send papers.

Although there are 213 schools represented, Indiana heads the list with 39, and Indianapolis is the city which sends the most exchanges. There are six from Indiana's capital.

The majority of these papers are weekly. However, some are monthly or bi-monthly. Only one is a daily.

Why, Wherefore of Two-way Broadcasts Are Made Public

"And thus another two-way broadcast of The South Side Times comes to a close." How are these two-way broadcasts between the studios of WGL and the music room at South Side High School conducted? Here's the whole story.

Two trunk lines, which are, in truth, both common telephone lines, have been put in. They run through the tunnel underneath the school into the music room. These wires are connected to a large cable which leads to the broadcast studios. One wire is connected inside to a telephone off of the music room. This telephone which is privately used by the program manager, Mr. Medford Maxwell, rings directly to the engineer at the studio. The other line which is connected to the microphone goes directly into the transmitter at the down-town studios.

Subjects Selected In Grade Schools

New Enrollment Is Smaller Than Last Term, Survey
Of Statistics Reveals.

Approximately one hundred fifty new students, fresh from the eighth grade, enter South Side today to begin a four-year stay. Coming from the Harrison Hill, Hoagland, and James H. Smart Schools, they start a new term all together in this school, after having previously selected their courses and freshman subjects during November and December last year.

The number of people entering at mid-year is always about half the number entering in September. Students are asked not to take advantage of unknowing freshmen as this seriously hampers the work of teachers the opening day, and adds to the already large confusion. Those entering are:

A New Term, a New Chance

We have bid last semester a final farewell and are now turning the leaf over to a new program, new teachers, new subjects, and, most important of all, a chance to correct our faults and bad habits. Perhaps you have been growling to yourself a long time that you are going to reform "some day," but have put it off to another time when you are "not so busy," or perhaps you feel that you are the exception to the rule. Now is the best time of all to get into good habits. Start doing all your work on time, and do it right. You may feel that you are as perfect as you care to be, but there is always room for improvement. Always remember:

"Good, better, best
Never let it rest,
Till your work is better,
And your better best."

The habit of being industrious, when well kept, will give you that satisfied feeling of work well done, and, most important of all, prepare you for the time when you must go out into the world to earn a living.

Hobby Horses

In this modern day and age of the world when machinery takes the place of much of the work done by hand, people have many more hours of leisure time. This has become such a gigantic problem in America that a campaign has been started to urge the American people to take advantage of their spare time by cultivating a hobby.

To carry out further this campaign, many programs are aired weekly, among the most outstanding is, "The care and feeding of hobby horses." This program heard by millions presents some of the most unusual and interesting hobbies in the world. In this way the people might get an idea of a hobby for themselves.

There are millions of hobbies from which a person could derive great enjoyment. Stamp collecting, reading, sports, autograph collecting, and amateur theatricals are just a few of these. Hobbies are educational and interesting and often prove a profit to the owner. Many people have been known to turn their hobbies into a business.

Throughout the United States there are clubs and classes organized for the purpose of furthering this hobby movement. Take advantage of them and be a happier person.

Get in the Swim

Do you belong to a club or any extra-curricular activity? South Side has forty-three clubs, which are for such various purposes as furthering hobbies, gaining knowledge, sponsoring social affairs, speaking, and other such activities. Pupils may belong to athletic clubs, such as the Intramural Lettermen and the Girls' Athletic Association, or they may go out for major athletics. For practically every person's tastes, there is a corresponding club in which one may meet others interested in the same thing, and really have a good time.

Clubs do a great deal of good for a person. Some clubs help many students find their life work. Others help give them enjoyment they otherwise would not get. They add to the cultural side of a person and sometimes make a lasting impression in his character, something which is all important in later life. Even one club may be just as beneficial as three or four, and may become a real influence in one's life.

This week, one hundred forty new students enter our portals for a four-year visit. These freshmen have the opportunity to become a vital part of our school life, an opportunity many upperclassmen have missed or embraced late. They have missed much of the fun of school, ignoring things other than class work. Join a club now, freshmen! Show those other students how to do things up right.

Magna Cum Laude

The laurel wreath this week goes to a group of boys who work most unobtrusively for the good and order of the school. These boys come early to every game, his in itself is a simple statement, but think how many hastily-eaten meals, blocks run at top speed, and last minute rushes lie back of those few words. They arrive at six-thirty and take their positions in the gym at their individual posts. Some of them keep the students from getting into the sections reserved for the adults. Others guard the gates and keep kids off of the floor. Others try to keep the students from tearing down the decorations which the decorating committee has put up with so much time and labor. All during the game they stand at their posts, alone and away from their friends. Sometimes, due to the large crowd and the constant attention their jobs demand, they do not get to see much of the game; but, uncomplainingly, they turn up at the next game at six-thirty. When they are unable to handle a situation they are forced to call an officer, but these situations are unusual. In most cases they are able to handle their tasks with no assistance from our officers of law and order.

These boys, members of Senior Hi-Y, have volunteered for this work. All during the football season they did the same thing in the stadium. Now they work in the gym where it is a little more pleasant climatically speaking, but certainly harder energetically speaking. Because of the part they play in assisting our police force and because of the part they play in preserving order, they deserve our unreserved thanks and gratitude.

The Senior Hi-Y volunteer police force and usher service combined are: John Bremer, Lloyd Grodrian, Jim Roth, Frank Montgomery, Dick Reincke, Bob Klopfenstein, Paul Randall, Wayne Bender, and Dick Russell.

Freshman Fantasy

On the Writing of Editorials (By one who knows not, and knows not he knows not, i.e., a freshman).

What ho! Yon freshie is in truth studying something! We must direct our steps thither to inquire into this unusual phenomenon. Ah! 'Tis as we thought. The young lad has procured a newspaper job, and is in the throes of his first editorial. Sheet after sheet is scribbled upon, torn from the notebook, and thrown aside. Hours later he finally finishes, his face worn and faggard. He inserts a sheet into the typewriter and begins to copy it. His method of typing is the hunt and peck method (mostly hunt). Another hour slips by. He is almost finished. His face begins to brighten. But even as it brightens, it fades and a look of horrible amazement creeps over it. He has typed a wrong letter!

With feverish fingers he attempts to erase it, go over it, anything; but in vain. It only smears it worse. Choking back his sobs, the little fellow places another sheet into the typewriter and begins his tiresome task again. It is in the few hours of the morning before, with drooping eyelids, he removes the sheet and glances over it with half-hearted satisfaction. In the morning he will turn it in, hurrying out of the office before one of the higher-ups can get a chance to read it.

It is four years later. A lanky senior has just dropped his half-finished homework to retire. The phone rings. He answers it. The conversation is brief. He is to write a one thousand word editorial for the next day. He replaces the telephone and limps off to bed. Dawn, the long-drawn, breaks. Later the same senior awakes, looking at his garments, he remembers the editorial.

Grabbing a ragged sheet of paper and a stub of a pencil, he sits down and begins to scribble. Five minutes later, with much smeared erasing, he finishes. Off to the news office he goes. Bursling in the door he crams the paper into the editor's hand and stomps from the room.

now times do change!

Hit 'Em Hard, Buddy

Theme of the Week

A Profitable Vacation
English 3—Period 4
Victor Nussbaum Jr.

"Hello son, what did you do today?" asked Mr. Clayton one day in early May, just after he had come home from spending a day of work at the office.

"Oh, I've been studying all day," answered his son. "My tutor could not come today. So when he called me on the telephone, he gave me an extra big assignment to prepare."

"Oh, Mrs. Murphy, how soon will dinner be ready?" Mr. Clayton asked the housekeeper as she passed the door.

"In five minutes, sir," she replied. "I'm glad of that because after dinner, I've got something very interesting to tell you, James. Come, let's go to the dining room."

While they are eating their dinner, I shall acquaint you with the Clayton household. Mr. James Clayton Sr. is a wealthy Chicago banker. When his son, James, was four years old, he was in a bad automobile accident, in which both of his legs were crippled and from then on he has had to have steel braces on his legs. In this accident, his mother died; and from then on the household duties have been taken over by Mrs. Murphy. James Jr., who is called Juny by his friends, Nick Dawson, a friend of Juny's, have played together since they were six years old. Now they are both fifteen. Nick is a strong, healthy lad and is a son of the Clayton chauffeur. While Nick gets his education at a public school, Juny is tutored by a certain Mr. Savage and therefore is far ahead of Nick in his studies. Juny and Nick have become the best of friends and they spend all of their leisure time together.

Now we shall return to the Claytons', who have just finished their dinner, and have gone into the library.

"How would you like to spend the summer at the lake," he said.

"Oh, that will be swell," replied Juny. "We'll have great times together."

"No, I'm afraid we won't," said Mr. Clayton. "You see, the bank is sending me to Europe this summer, and I believe that the trip will last from early June to late August. My plan is for you to pick one of your boy friends to go along with you for the summer. Dawson will go up with you and take care of the cottage and cook the meals. Who do you think you would like to take along?"

"May I take Nick, dad? He, his father, and myself will have a swell time together. But, gee, I'm sorry you won't be along."

"All right, Nick is elected. I shall tell Dawson tomorrow. First we shall have to decide when and where you will go. A friend of mine tells me that Lake Placid, in northern Minnesota is the nicest summer resort he knows of. I've inquired and found out that there is a modern six-room cottage to be rented. I've also heard that the lake is stocked with bass, pike, and pickerel. So you couldn't pick a better place for fishing."

In this manner, quite a few hours were spent on deciding what materials, equipment, and the like would be needed for such a vacation.

The next morning when Juny told about the vacation he and his father had planned, Nick could not keep from jumping up and down. This was, he thought, the biggest and best thing that ever had happened to him.

Mr. Clayton had now rented the cottage and had made the necessary arrangements. It was also decided that they would leave May 28. Three busy weeks were spent in preparation. Finally the day for their departure arrived.

The Dawsons were up and dressed by five o'clock.

"What car are we going to take, dad?" asked Nick while they were going down the steps from their apartment to the garage.

"Mr. Clayton said that we should take the coupe. The three of us will sit in the front and there will be enough room in the rumble seat for the small luggage. Yesterday, Mr. Clayton sent all the big trunks and packages on the train. Well, we had better start putting the luggage in the car. Nick, you pack these suitcases and packages in the rumble seat while I check the oil and see if the motor is okay."

"When is Juny going to bring out his stuff, dad?" said Nick.

"Mr. Clayton said that Juny would be out here by seven o'clock, replied his father. "You go upstairs and get some breakfast as soon as you are finished with your work."

At seven o'clock, Juny and his father came out to the car. The Dawsons were ready so the three got into the car.

"Goodbye, son," said Mr. Clayton, shaking his son's hand. "See what you can do for the pair of legs while you're up there."

"I'll try my best to improve them, dad. Goodbye."

"Take good care of them, Dawson," reminded Mr. Clayton.

"I'll do that, sir," replied Dawson and then he started the car down the driveway and onto the boulevard. "Well, we're off," said Nick, who was very excited because this was the first long trip and the only vacation he had ever had.

This trip was uneventful. They stopped at a roadside inn for lunch and arrived at their cottage at 4:00 p. m.

"Gee, isn't this a swell place," said Nick, never expecting to see a place like this.

The cottage, which was surrounded by huge trees, was about seventy-five feet from the lake. The ground sloped slightly down to a sandy beach. A newly-painted dock extended out into the water about thirty feet. On one side of the dock, an outboard motor boat was tied; on the other side was a rowboat.

"Can't we go in swimming, dad?" asked Nick anxiously.

"Nope, sorry; but we are going to

Mademoiselle Modiste

By Rosemary Chappell

"Time out" should be taken to view the array of new "fads" in school-girl apparel. Smocks, blouses, collars, et cetera, are differing in fashion since the beginning of the school season.

When first introduced, the artists' smocks were in plain colors. Now we find gay plaids, prints, and even polka dots and stripes. Crash linen, a new entrant to the smock world, is being featured in several of the cleverest smock creations. A crash linen smock is worn by Lorrene Shannon. A collar characteristic of the butcher boy is worn, being adorned with a huge red bow edged in black. The patch pockets have appliqued red and black leaves forming flowers on them. Sleeves are long and semi-full.

Clarice Fyock is pleased with a gay flowered print smock. True to smock style, it has the round lay-down collar. The neckline is trimmed with a black bow. A large black embroidered artist's pallet forms the pocket.

The popular brush wool sweaters are giving way to the robin-egg blue knit sweaters. A lovely knit twin sweater set of robin-egg blue finds favor with Helen Gray. The jacket, has long sleeves, a wide band about the waist, and buttons in the front. It is woven in zig-zagging stripes. The underneath sweater is similar to the sweater.

Another intriguing sweater of the same color is worn by Eleanor Cupp with a blue corduroy skirt. The long sleeves of the sweater fit closely around the wrist with a wide band. Around the waist is a band which matches those on the sleeves. It is woven in diagonal stripes. The neckline is round, and is gathered with a brown knitted string which has small tassels on the end.

Taffeta is the keynote for a clever collar. Helen Anderson chooses one of red, navy-blue, and white striped plaid taffeta. It is fashioned of a wide ruffle. In front three wide ruffles are set on. This adds more attraction to her wine-colored wool dress.

Margie Cartwright likes plaid taffeta of brown, yellow, orange, green, and blue stripes. In back, the collar is round, and in front a circular piece is set on. This is edged in two wide ruffles which form a collar similar to the ascot tie.

Around the School

What was Elmer Lee doing on White's porch last Friday night at 12 o'clock? Getting fresh air?

Bud Cochran and Flo Rose Whittmer seem to be doing all right. Can this go on forever?

"Wiggles," what's the matter with Elmer White? Why don't you give the poor girl a break, Jim? She's okeh!

Bob Nelson, you should know better than to keep Ginny worried. (Referring to your tardiness at the game last Friday.)

Our dear friend Murray seems to be quite interested in a certain junior here at South Side. (Not Patz.)

Who is this guy that got stuck to the flypaper, June? Up at Arcadia.

Jean Bollman, what's the big idea of scolding every girl you see talking to a boy? Jealous, or do you practice what you preach?

Betty seems to enjoy cutting up immensely in The Times Room.

Second Table

Room S during the fifth period has turned out to be more of a Ladies' (and Gents') Gab Society than a place to study. It's getting so that even the studees notice it.

Fairweather went to his seventh period class more, lately. He's decided that Christine Elliott is worth gazing at.

Correct this sentence: The only place to look for "dirt" nowadays is on the floor and back of people's ears.

So dirt isn't a high type of journalism, eh? All contributions cheerfully accepted—high class ones.

And then there's poor little Eyleenberg, who says no one ever mentions her. But that was before we knew anything about Bobay, C. C.'s basketball captain. Hy'a, Ruth!

We knew lettermen weren't as "he-mannish" as they pretended, but when we saw them in long dresses and lace—oh, my goodness, draculous!

Why does Charlene go to the "Res" with Killen so much? We'll be around for the five cents, presently, Davis.

Kirby, Certia, and Findley use a Tarzan yell to locate each other at dances. Some system, yelling all over the place.

First we had a "Winter Wonderland," then "Stormy Weather," and now "It's Spring Again."

Terra Firma Topics

Get this straight. Dorothy Golden is not chesling in on Maxine Roth. You see, there happen to be two or three Bohl boys, and Max and Dorothy each have a different one. Get it?

Talk about stuck-ups. We will announce the biggest and best—Hugh Scott! If you don't know why—just ask him.

Poor "itty-bitty 'Cliffy'" Schrom. Everybody thinks him's such a wittle baby, and him's not. At least dot's what he says.

Example of a history book—forward and backwards—Walter Weaver.

Doesn't Tom Jaenicke look smart and sophisticated in his new glasses? He says he can't see through them, but they cover up part of his face.

It seems too bad that we can't be babies all our lives. Practically everybody was a beauty in those days. Did you see the picture of Dick North and Max Tritch? And Doris Bennett's dimples were even larger at five months of age! Straley looked as if he was ready to swallow an orange whole!

Mademoiselle Modiste forgot to mention Phil Greene's delightful muddy gray felt hat and Robert Lohman's chic shoes of a pastel whitish gray.

Isn't Dot Geary an old smarty? She has her dates timed. Just as one car drives away another drives up. How does she do it?

Then there is Dick Busch who sits in the sixth period study hall combing his long curly tresses.

W. Duemling Addresses Club.

Violet Garton was elected president of the Wo-Ho-Ma Club during the last business meeting. The other officers are as follows: Faith Clark, vice-president, and Dorothea Tobianska, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. W. W. Duemling, school physician, was the speaker at the Wo-Ho-Ma meeting held Thursday in the Greeley Room. He spoke on "The Care of the Skin and Cosmetics." In discussing the care of the skin, he gave its functions as protection, regulation of heat, and an aid in respiration.

Those who have the idea that cosmetics are a modern invention are very much mistaken. In his talk, Dr. Duemling stated that the ancient Greeks had many of the same beauty aids we have today including powder, rouges, lipsticks, creams, lotions, and false fingernails. He also said that the first beauty shop was established in Athens about 440 B.C. At the conclusion of his talk, Dr. Duemling said the best way to acquire a healthy complexion is to get plenty of sunshine and fresh air and to use soap and water.

During the remainder of the program Alice Bandt played "Minuet in E Flat" as a piano solo. A watch game which was played was won by Beatrice Schieber.

unpack and look at the cottage first. Here, give a hand. Juny from now on you help too. When you go home this fall you are going to be able to walk without the help of braces."

"What do you mean?" asked Juny. "You see," interrupted Nick, "dad and I have worked out a plan. Every day we are going to give you special exercises, so at the end of the vacation, when you go home, you will be able to walk and run without the help of the braces and you will be strong and healthy. What do you think of the plan?"

"Oh, that will be fine," said Juny. "I'll do my best to help you all I can."

"You haven't heard of the rest of the plan, though," said Dawson. "Nick has not been getting along with his studies very well this last year. So every night you will have to help Nick with his studies. Don't you think that's fair?"

"That's all right with me. Let's start to haul this stuff up to the cottage so we can get a swim before it gets dark."

The cottage was a six-room affair consisting of three bedrooms, a living room, dining room, and a kitchen. In the front of the cottage was a big porch which opened off the living room. On both sides of the living room was a bedroom. The dining room and kitchen were behind one bedroom. So Dawson took the one with the big double bed, and the boys took the one with twin beds.

After they got their rooms arranged, they went swimming while Dawson started cooking the evening meal.

Nick dived in the water and started swimming, cutting the water with clean strokes. Juny sat down on the dock and took off his braces. Then he got into the water and started paddling feebly. Nick, noticing that Juny could not swim, went back to help him.

"First," he said, "take a deep breath and stretch yourself out on the water like this."

Juny did this without much difficulty.

For the next fifteen minutes, Nick tried to show Juny how to kick correctly; but Juny, on account of his weak legs, could not kick long nor hard enough. Then they lay on the warm sand getting their first tan until Dawson said that they had better get cleaned up for supper.

Dawson proved to be a very good cook; therefore, they enjoyed their supper very much. After they finished the dishes, they went into the living room to discuss the plans for the vacation.

"To pass the time away this summer," said Dawson, "I got a job as a mechanic in a garage at Fair Haven, a small town about two miles from here. I'm going to work every day from nine to three except on Saturdays and Sundays. I'll get breakfast and supper every day, but you boys will have to get lunch. I'll also get the necessary supplies. You two can make out your body and mind-building plans now while I go out into the kitchen and see what food supplies we need."

"Well," said Nick, "the first thing we have to do is change the back bedroom into a gym. We'll use the mattress for the mat on which we'll do exercises. Then we can rig up some machines that will help in building muscles. We should get in nine hours of sleep each night. So we'll have to be in bed by 9:30 if we want to get up at 6:30. Is that all right by you?"

"Sure, that's O. K. for the body-building program. Now I'll tell you what we're going to do about the mind-building program. You need help in history, geometry, English, and Latin, don't you? So we will study four nights a week, Monday for history, Tuesday for geometry, Wednesday for English, Thursday for Latin. That will give us Friday, Saturday, and Sunday nights to do anything we want to. And how does that sound to you?"

"It's all right with me," replied Nick, "but according to the plans, we had better hit the hay because it's exactly ten after nine."

Both boys, tired from their long ride, slept soundly until Dawson called them at 6:30 the next morning.

"Let's take a dip," said Nick. "The water is cold and will wake us up and start the blood through our veins."

The water was colder than the boys expected. So they were in the lake only a few minutes before they had to jump out and get up to the cottage to get warm.

"First," said Nick, "we'll go to the gym. I'll do the exercises. You watch carefully and then try to do them."

Juny proved to be a good student and learned fast. Then they went in swimming. Nick continued his swimming instructions and was rewarded with little more success than that of the first day. They followed this by lying in the sun for an hour and talking about what they could do during the vacation. At noon, they cooked themselves a small, but nourishing lunch. In the afternoon, they continued their body-building plan until Dawson came home.

After supper they went into the living room with their histories. Juny was a brilliant student and because he understood Nick's ways and weak points, they got along very well.

The following days were spent similarly because Juny had not yet acquired the strength to do some of the things Nick had planned. However, both plans were working out splendidly. Both Nick and Juny were rapidly improving.

One morning, about two weeks after they had arrived at the lake, they decided to cancel the gymnasium work for that day and go on a fishing trip, which would be Juny's first. Nick sorted the fishing tackle while Juny packed a small lunch in a knapsack. They placed the tackle and the food in the boat and shoved off.

"Say, wait a minute," yelled Nick. "We forgot the bait."

So they rowed back to the dock. Nick jumped out and pulled up the minnow trap, in which there were about two dozen good-sized chubs.

They put these in a minnow pail, and again they shoved off. When Nick started the motor, they went quickly out to the place that a fisherman had told them was the best place for pike fishing.

After they let down the anchor, Nick gave Juny a rod.

"First," he said, "you should be sure that there are no weak places in your line. Then check your sinker. It must be heavy enough to keep the minnow down. Now get a minnow from the pail, the bigger the better. Be sure to hook him through the lips. By doing this, you will keep the minnow alive. A dead minnow catches no fish. Throw out your line and let it float about thirty-five feet."

Juny did as he was instructed. After they sat there fifteen minutes, neither of them getting a bite, Juny got tired.

"I guess this is a bad day for fishing," he said.

"You can't be sure yet," said Nick. "Some days, you have to sit an hour before you get a nibble."

Ten minutes later, Juny jumped up

North Side Scene Of S.P.C. Initiation

New Members To Be Initiated
By Three High Schools; Dance
To Be Held Later in Cafeteria.

North Side's auditorium will be the scene of the Student Players' initiation Monday, January 21, at 2 o'clock.

Following the initiation, a dance will be held in the cafeteria. It will be open to only the initiates and the members of S. P. C.

and jerked his rod.

"What did you do that for?" Nick wanted to know.

"I had a bite," cried Juny, excitedly.

"Well, you'll never catch a fish that way. Let the fish swallow the minnow. He will probably run thirty or forty feet with it. Then, before you pull up and reel in the line, you'll have to play it until you get it in a good position."

Five minutes after this, Nick got a good bite and successfully demonstrated how to pull in a fish. It was about a seven-pounder, the biggest live fish Juny had ever seen.

At 3:30, they pulled up anchor and started for home. Nick had caught three big fish and Juny one. They also had a number of small fish.

The days passed quickly. Numerous fishing trips, over-night hikes, and boating trips filled the program. Juny got healthier and stronger. Nick learned more and more. By the first of August, Juny could walk fairly well without braces. In a couple of weeks, he ran and swam almost as much as Nick. A week before the end of August, Dawson received a telegram from Mr. Clayton saying that he had just got back from Europe and would be up there the next day. He arrived at a quarter of four the next day and was received by Dawson.

"Where are the boys?" asked Mr. Clayton.

"Oh, they're down on the beach having a race. Wait a minute. Here they come."

"Why, James, where are your braces?" exclaimed Mr. Clayton, greatly surprised. "How did you do it?"

"Nick helped me build myself up until I could walk without braces," he replied. "I've grown and put on a lot of weight, too."

"I can see that you have," said Mr. Clayton. "Nick, I don't know how to thank you for doing this."

"Oh, that's all right," answered Nick, blushing. "Juny has repaid me by helping me bring my lessons from below to above normal."

"Well, it looks as if you both profited by this vacation. I'm hungry from my long ride. Let's eat."

Swim Lessons May Be Taken As Gym Credit

Plans Made for Girls To Take Aquatic Instruction At Y. W. C. A. This Term.

Through arrangements with the Y. W. C. A., South Side girls will have the opportunity to receive full gym credit for swimming. Mrs. Florence Clem, instructor at the Y will teach the classes to both beginners and advanced swimmers.

For a full term of forty lessons the price will be three and one-half dollars. This is a reduction of at least half the usual price. It is planned to have beginners classes on Mondays and Wednesdays and advanced classes on Tuesdays and Thursdays. No rearrangement of programs will be necessary as these classes will be held during the eighth period. Those who are free the seventh period or are scheduled for gym or study will have a seventh period class arranged for them.

Miss Alice Patterson and Miss Gretchen Smith will give grades to these pupils as in gym, and the same attendance will be required. Many girls have expressed their intention of signing up for the class; those who sign first, of course, will be admitted. South Side has long realized the need of swimming facilities, and this plan, if given full co-operation, will solve that problem.

Those who have decided to take advantage of the classes should sign up immediately in order that the medical examinations may be taken, and the classes may be started as soon as possible. Thirty-five have already signed up.

Instruction will be given concerning all strokes, diving, and life-saving if enough pupils request it.

No Faculty Changes

Mr. Merle J. Abbott, Superintendent of Schools, has stated that there will be no changes in the faculty this semester. He also stated that Mr. Alvano Perlini will continue in the place of Miss George Anna Hodgson, teaching geometry II, algebra I, and arithmetic.

Mr. Makey's Special Class Discontinued

Mr. Makey's special English class has been discontinued since only ten of the twenty-three pupils of the class want to continue the special English work. Only five or six others have applied, and that is hardly enough pupils to make up a special class. Most of the pupils in the class have not finished this semester's work, which they will complete next semester with the aid of Mr. Makey after school.

Reserves Hit Slump As They Drop Two Hard-Fought Tilts

South Side's reserves dropped two hard-fought games during the last week, losing to the Kendallville reserves by a one-point margin and dropping a thriller to the Central Bengals by a 23 to 20 count. In both tilts the Archers experienced great difficulty in hitting the hoop. Their passing game was also slightly off shape and they frequently lost the leather due to erratic passing.

In the Kendallville encounter the Archers lost the lead early in the game and never were able to regain it. Dickinson, the Comet's husky center, led the Comet scoring with seven points, while Epmeier and Reichert led their teammates with four points each.

Archers Start Fast

The Archers started fast and had a four-point lead with three minutes to go in the opening quarter. The Comets rallied, however, and hit on two from the field and twice from the charity line, while Epmeier scored a foul to take a 6 to 5 lead as the quarter ended. In the second period both teams were unable to hit from the floor and no points were scored until five minutes of the quarter had ended. Epmeier finally hit on a pivot play and this score was quickly followed by a fielder by Dickinson to put the Comets out in the lead by an 8 to 7 count at the half.

Opening the second half, the Comets started fast and increased their lead to 12 to 7 by virtue of two quick baskets. The Archers rallied after J. S. and Reichert's looper from the middle of the hardwood and Geyer's angle shot put the Green within a point of a tie. Two foul shots by Gallows gave the Comets a 14 to 11 lead as the third period ended.

In the final period the Archers put up a desperate rally and seemed destined to win, but were unable to score on the numerous shots they had. Reichert started by hitting on a beautiful shot from the center of the floor. Bushong hit from underneath, but the Green came back when Hall pivoted to the right to score. At this point the Comets started to stall and the game ended in a series of melees as both teams fought for the ball.

In the Central tilt the Bengals started fast and soon held a commanding lead, which the Green were unable to cut down until the midway point of the game. The Blue opened up at the start of the game and piled up a 9 to 3 lead at the conclusion of the initial quarter.

Blue Gains Lead

In the second quarter the Blue held an 11 to 2 lead with a half minute to go, when the Archers started a rally which had the spectators on their feet. Hall started the rally with an angle shot, and Epmeier hit on a short under-the-basket shot, and Hines put the Archers in the lead with a pivot shot.

In the third period the Blue and White once more went into the lead when Bourne, Central guard, went on a scoring spree and scored four baskets, while Altkruse hit from the foul circle to give the Bengals a 20 to 14 lead as the quarter ended. Hines scored the only Green points when he connected on two foul shots.

In the final period the Archers put up a determined rally, but Central scored enough points to preserve their lead. Both teams played fast ball and took numerous shots, but the Archers were unable to hit consistently enough to take the lead.

Archers Tounce Kendallville, Lose to Tough Central Squad

Winning a decisive victory over Kendallville's Comets, Friday, January 11, and then losing a hard-fought tilt to Central's Tigers, Wednesday, January 16, South Side's Archers rung up their seventh win of the season and lost their second game.

Dropping their shots through the hoop from almost any place on the floor, South Side romped to a 44 to 21 victory over Kendallville's Comets.

This victory marked the Archer's fourth consecutive conference win and kept them in a tie with Central for first place in the conference standings. Getting off to a 9 to 4 lead at the end of the first quarter, the Archers continued to hit the hoop in the second period to run up the score to a 21 to 12 count at the half-way mark.

Continuing to sink their shots from all angles during the second half, South Side proceeded to pile up the score, while still holding the Comets to nine points, making the final score 44 to 21.

South Side's scoring honors for the game were evenly divided, George leading with nine points, and Hilgeman, Symonds, Nelson, and Hall having seven. Holbrook was the outstanding player for the losers, scoring nine of their twenty-one points.

Led by Dick Warfield and Lyle Neat, who were playing sensational ball, Central's fighting Tigers downed South Side's powerful Archers 29 to 19 in a city series contest. Central's win placed them in a tie with Central Catholic for the lead in the city series race, as North Side handed the Irish their first defeat in eleven starts, the same night.

Using one of the fastest breaking offenses seen on a local hardwood this season, the Tigers swept through the Archers defense to score twelve field goals and five free throws. Coach McClure's men seemed unable to make their shots stick consistently in the game and lost many baskets they should have had.

Green Gains Early Lead
South Side got off to an early lead and led at the end of the first quarter 8 to 2, by virtue of two fielders by Symonds and one each by Nelson and George. Warfield sank two free throws in the first period to start off Central's scoring.

After Warfield had dribbled the entire length of the floor only to miss the basket at the beginning of the second quarter, Neat took the ball off the backboard and dropped it through the hoop to start the Central second period rally which carried them into the lead at the end of the first half.

Soon after Neat's score, Warfield dropped in a fielder and a free throw to pull the Tigers up to within one point of the Archers. Altkruse then fouled Nelson, who made good his charity toss to give the Archers a two-point lead. However, this lead was short-lived as Paul scored on a sleeper play and Neat sank a long toss from well past the center of the floor just before the half gun went off, to give Central an 11 to 9 lead at the half.

South Side Will Meet Eight Net Opponents This Semester

Archer Quintet Will Face Four N.E.I.C. Battles

Team Hopes to Come Out on Top in Conference Games; Close Tilt, Are Expected.

Green Will Play Undefeated Squad

South Side Gym To Be Scene Of Encounter With Berne Next Saturday Evening.

By Norman Buck

During the coming semester South Side's net squad will play eight hardwood contests, four of which will be home games. Of these eight tilts, at least four and perhaps more are expected to be close, exciting contests. These are the Berne, North Side, Central, and Muncie engagements. Of the scheduled contests, four will be N. E. I. C. engagements.

Berne will travel to South Side to play the first contest after school reopens. The Bears have a strong aggregation. They have dropped only one tilt thus far, that against Portland about a week ago. The Archers will do well to down Berne, one of the strongest teams in the state. This contest is scheduled for next Saturday.

On the following Friday, New Haven will meet the Archers on the Green hardwood. The Bulldogs have not as yet shown anything extraordinary, and unless they get a "hot" streak, the Green Wave should smother them without exerting themselves.

On the next evening the Green will make their first road trip of the semester to meet Huntington. The Vikings are the squad who tripped up South Side in last year's regional tourney; hence the Green will be out to avenge the defeat. They will probably do so, but not as easily as against New Haven.

South Side will have another double bill week-end on February 8 and 9. On Friday they visit Hartford City's Airedales. Last year's regional winners lost its entire squad and is forced to rebuild entirely this season. However, the Airedales are improving and might give the Green a little trouble before the Archers can emerge victorious. This will be an N. E. I. C. contest.

This week-end will be one of the toughest on the remaining schedule. On Saturday night the Green will play North Side at South Side's gym. Several weeks ago the Green Wave downed the Redskins in a thrilling battle after a second-half rally. This next contest will be for blood, the Indians trying to get revenge and the Archers trying equally as hard to keep their N. E. I. C. record clean.

Central's Tigers will provide the Archers with all the opposition they can handle on the following Friday. Of all things to predict, the outcome of a Central-South Side battle is the hardest. Previous records mean little in one of these tilts. Both squads usually play far over their heads, and seldom can anyone safely predict the outcome even at half-time.

South Side will conclude their regular schedule on the next week. On Friday the Green plays Garrett in another N. E. I. C. game, at that city. The Archers will probably down the Railroaders without too much trouble. On Saturday Muncie will come to South Side to continue their annual rivalry. Pete Jolly usually has a fine team, and this year is no exception. This game should give the fans a real treat as it will pit two of the state's outstanding teams against each other. This game should give sport fans a fair idea of the comparative strength of these squads for the State Tourney during March.

South Side, Central Close Competitors

Central's Tigers and South Side's Archers continued their N. E. I. C. winning streaks on January 14, chalk-up their fifth and fourth straight conference victories. Hartford City's Airedales were the victims of Central's victory, and South Side's win was over Kendallville's Comets. Both the Archers and the Tigers are undefeated in conference competition and are likely to remain so until they meet each other in the middle of February.

North Side's Redskins trounced Garrett's Railroaders over the week-end to move into a tie for third place in the conference standing. Other week-end N. E. I. C. wins were chalked up by Bluffton over Garrett, and Decatur over Auburn. Bluffton remained in second place, and Decatur moved into a tie for third place with North Side.

On January 14 the Northeastern Indiana Conference standing was as follows:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Central	5	0	1.000
South Side	4	0	1.000
Bluffton	4	1	.800
North Side	2	1	.667
Decatur	2	1	.667
Kendallville	2	3	.400
Garrett	1	3	.250
Columbia City	1	4	.200
Hartford City	0	3	.000
Auburn	0	5	.000

Hardwood Heroes

Bob Symonds, a brilliant forward of the varsity five, has proved to be the spark plug of the team, as was demonstrated in the North Side and Kendallville games. Bob is the best passer and one of the best shots on the varsity; in fact he is regarded by many to be the best basketball player in Allen County. Symonds has made good on the varsity squad for two years. He has been with the team ever since; he has also played on the reserves as a forward for two years. 'Sy' is five feet nine inches tall, eighteen years old, and is a post-graduate. He is also active on softball teams outside the school and in other sports. Bob will be badly missed when the next basketball season rolls around and will not be easy for Coach McClure to replace. Symonds played on one of the Hoagland grade school quintets as a forward before coming to South Side. After graduation, he plans to be active on independent basketball and softball teams.

Jimmy "Wiggles" Hilgeman, diminutive Archer forward of the first string varsity squad, has thrilled the vast crowds of basketball fans attending the South Side games with his spectacular shots from all over the floor. Jimmy has saved Coach J. McClure a lot of headaches this season with his sensational playing on the hardwood, and will be sorely missed when the '35-'36 basketball season rolls around. "Wiggles" has earned one varsity letter and is well on his way towards his second letter. The Macman has seen action on the reserves for two years and has played in all of the varsity games this season so far. He is five feet nine inches tall, and is next to the smallest player on the varsity squad. Jimmy is a post-graduate, seventeen years old, and is active in other sports outside the school. Hilgeman came from Harrison Hill where he played as a forward on one of Coach Pop Tudor's quintets. He also plans to attend the University of Pittsburgh and will be active in basketball.

John Hines, a clever, quick-thinking guard of Coach Bill Geyer's reserves, scored forty percent of the Green Wave's points in the North Side-South Side preliminary tilt. John has proved himself a valuable player to the reserve squad by taking the rebounds off the backboard and passing the ball out to his teammates. Hines is intelligent, a consistent player, and is always open to criticism. He is five feet ten inches tall, fifteen years old and a freshman, and expects to make the varsity five in another year or so.

John first played basketball on the Harrison Hill grade school squad, as a guard. Hines scored an average of eight points a game when he played on the squad.

Many Varsity Stars Get Start Playing Intramural Games

With basketball looming large on the intramural sports horizon it seems to be a good idea to get the views of some of the former intramural stars who are now playing on the varsity.

A survey of the team shows that such players as Bob Symonds, Jim Hilgeman, Howard Hall, Gene Jackson, Brower George, Bob Nelson, Ed Ginn, and Joe Close were former stars.

Bob Nelson: I always had a good time. Eugene Jackson: It's a swell idea because it develops material for the next year's varsity. I think that the games ought to be longer.

Bob Symonds says he thinks it's a great idea because every one gets to play. Jim Hilgeman, Brower George, and Joe Close all said that they think it's a great idea, but they wouldn't say anything except that they believe that it helps develop material for the varsity.

When intramural basketball starts there will be quite a large group of boys competing, but Mr. Briner, intramural director, hopes to have every boy who is not playing varsity basketball come out and play intramural ball.

Central Wins Two, Loses One Game

Hartford City and Winchester Are Tigers' Victims; Warsaw Outplays Downtown Squad.

After scoring two victories, Central sustained its second defeat of the year last week end, winning from Hartford City and Winchester and being trimmed by Warsaw. Hartford City playing on its home court was unable to stop the Tigers and Central came out on top in a free scoring battle, ending 41 to 34. Central plunged into the lead immediately and was never headed, although Hartford City gave them a great scare in the second half. The first half was all Central's, the Tigers holding onto the ball and shooting beautifully and accurately at the basket, the sharpshooting of Warfield featuring the Tigers play. Central led at the intermission 24 to 11, a lead which was repeatedly cut down by a rejuvenated Hartford City team that came out in the second half. But the lead was too great and they fell short by seven points. Warfield had one of his good nights, dropping in eight field goals and one charity toss to lead the scorers with 17 points. Barker also stood out for Central.

On Saturday night the main portion of the varsity squad journeyed to Warsaw where they dropped their second contest of the year, Warsaw winning 34 to 23. After the first quarter, at which Central led 4 to 2, Warsaw completely outplayed the Tigers, going out in front in the second quarter and widening the gap with each succeeding minute. Lyle Neat, coming in for Central in the second quarter, dropped in 5 field goals and a foul, to shoulder the main portion of the Central scoring. Bollinger was Warsaw's best, hitting for ten points.

Central's "B" team which Mendenhall left here under the direction of Assistant Coach Bob Dornie, tackled Winchester and emerged victor to the tune of 25 to 21. Central was held to three points in the first half, all of them scored by Lloyd Altekruze. However in the second half, the Tigers began to click and pulled up into a 15-all tie at the end of the third quarter. In the last quarter Central coasted into a four point victory. Paul led the Tigers, sinking four fielders for eight points.

Frosh Offered Chance To Join Several Clubs

Most School Organizations Give Opportunities To New Freshmen Students.

Activities Varied In Student Appeal

Rocks, Stamps, Music, Art,
Radio, Marionettes, and Athletics Are Included.

Numerous opportunities are offered at South Side High School for freshmen who are interested in joining clubs. The purpose and activities of these clubs are so varied that every freshman should be able to find at least two in which he is interested.

The Y. W. C. A. sponsors the U. S. A. club for freshman and sophomore girls. The purpose of the club is to give service to others. The advisers for this club are Miss Betty Kelly and Mrs. Roy Weldy.

Freshmen are also eligible to Travel Club. In each meeting the members study the customs and mannerisms of a foreign country. Miss Mabel Thorne serves as adviser.

The Times, the newspaper published weekly by the school, also offers a few freshmen opportunities. Some freshmen begin as reporters. Other freshmen begin as an ad solicitor and earn business positions. Miss Rowena Harvey advises the Times staff.

Mr. Jack Wainwright sponsors the Glee Clubs which give pupils a chance to further their musical training. A minstrel show is sponsored by these groups each term, and the cast for the operetta is now being chosen from them.

The Booster Club also invites freshmen into its membership. This club sponsors the tea dances, game decorations, and sale of refreshments at football and basketball games.

Freshman boys are given an opportunity to participate in athletics through intramural sports. These are composed of tag-football, basketball, track, baseball, tennis, golf, boxing, tumbling, and wrestling. Points are awarded for participation in each sport and letters are given for 125 points.

The Girls' Athletic Association has the largest membership of any of the girls' clubs. It is for girls interested in athletics and offers six major sports and five minor sports. Miss Alice Patterson and Miss Gretchen Smith direct these activities.

Another club to which freshmen are eligible is the Philatelic Society. The club is for people who are interested in stamp collecting. Miss Pauline Van Gorder is the adviser.

Freshmen who take German are invited to join the German Club. Miss Clara Schmidt is adviser.

The French Club is open to all freshmen studying French. Miss Olive Perkins serves as faculty adviser.

Latin pupils are invited to become members of the Latin Club, of which Mr. Martin Rothert and Mrs. Weldy are advisers.

All freshman girls studying sewing or cooking are invited to join Wo-Ho-Ma. The club endeavors to make girls more intelligent concerning problems in the home.

The Sunshine Club, advised by Miss Edith Crowe and Miss Mary Crowe, also invites freshman girls into its membership. This club endeavors to give service to the school and to form friendships among the members.

The Wranglers Club is for people interested in public speaking and oratory. The adviser is Miss Dorothy Benner.

The Library Club is to further its members' interest in books, authors, and library work. Miss Emma Schoup, the librarian, is the adviser of the club.

A study of the beauty of rocks and things formed by them is the theme of the Pebble Pups under the direction of Miss Mable Thorne.

The Marionette Club studies marionettes, how to operate them, and gives many marionette plays in which the club members take part.

All boys interested in airplanes may join the Airplane Club, in which a very complete study of airplanes is made, under Mr. C. A. Bex, the adviser for the club.

The Radio Club furthers the pupils' interest in radios and the building of them. Mr. Sidell is the director.

Meterites is a very prominent literary club, which limits its members to those having not lower than a B in English. Miss Susan Peck is the adviser.

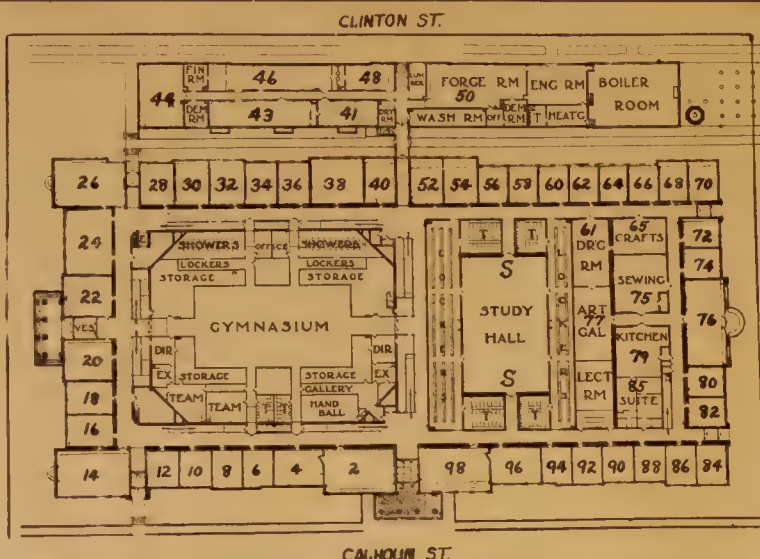

The Art Club is for pupils interested in art. Anyone may belong, whether they have artistic ability or not. Miss Erma Dochterman and Miss Mary Helen Ley are the advisers.

Seniors Form Commission
At Lake View High School, Chicago, a commission is the ruling power of the school. It is composed of six commissioners, three boys and three girls who are elected by the student body. In the second, third, and fourth years, the money is given out in $200, $150, and $100 amounts, respectively.

Schools Offer Scholarship
Wabash College for men of Crawfordsville, Indiana, offers a number of scholarships. There are four honor scholarships of $100 a year for four years. Four-fifths of the fees are awarded on the basis of competitive examinations held in Crawfordsville during the last week in May. Other scholarships are available, most of which are for $80 a year. For these the candidates must apply by personal letter to Dean George V. Kendall, Wabash College.

Rockford College for women, which is in Rockford, Illinois, makes a grant of full tuition in the freshman year. The applicant must be a student of distinction and promise chosen from one of the selected areas. Anyone wishing to be a candidate from his district should apply for further information to his principal.

Swarthmore Gives Five
Swarthmore College of Swarthmore, Pennsylvania, offers scholarships to both men and women. There are five competitive scholarships for men and three for women. The scholarships are of $750 per annum for four years. Applicants are always interviewed by one of the deans or a representative of the college.

Goucher College of Massachusetts, offers two scholarships in this region. They are both competitive and will be awarded by the scholarship committee on the basis of school record, scholastic aptitude test score, and other pertinent information.

Seniors Must Have Caps, Gowns Soon

All seniors must care for the ordering of their caps and gowns and invitations. Those who have left the school have ordered them, and all others must have placed their orders by March 21. There is no limit to the number of invitations a senior may order. The price of the invitations will be 10 cents apiece, and the caps and gowns will cost $2.00.

All order taking will close according to schedule, and the responsibility for placing the order belongs to the individual, as no effort can be made to contact those who leave without placing their orders.

Just in case, freshmen, you should happen to get lost; find this paper and this map of the school. You'll find the Times useful not only physically but also when you're "lost" mentally by bringing you complete and correct in- formation in your hour of need.

All the rooms in the building are on the first floor except the offices, Greeley Room, dispensary, teacher's rest rooms, and rooms 138, 140, 142, 144, and 146 which are at the east end of the center incline; the cafeteria at the top of the north incline; and rooms 174, 176, 178 at the top of the south incline.

Pupil's Shins Saved As Men's Room Door Opens Inwardly Now

Flash! Scoop! Extra! In fact, even exclusive. Long years have our suffering students violently collided with the protruding door to the men's room upstairs. Scholarly minds have thought black thoughts, only to go on anew to other worries. Now, at last, Vonderau, the people's friend, has come to the rescue. Hundreds of abused shins are avenged; just think, all these thirteen years. Such a long time!

Now the door opens inward! Votes of thanks should be pouring in any minute now; in fact, here are some of the first arrivals:

"When the door swung outward and struck the well-known shin it created a feeling that you feel when who is a deep thinker, glibly stated.

"Skinned shins—saved socks soon seen by several students," said Dorothea Nance.

Absence Regulation For Term Outlined

Absence slips must be presented to the teacher before being admitted to class after an absence. Mr. Snider announces. To secure an absence slip from Miss Montgomery, the pupil must bring an excuse stating the days of absence and the cause.

This slip must be signed by a parent or guardian. The pupil will receive a white slip if the absence was due to personal illness or because of death in the immediate family. A pink slip will be issued for any other cause. Work can not be made up if the pupil is given a pink slip.

These slips are to be obtained in the morning and must be returned to Miss Montgomery at the end of the day. The pupil must have his respective teachers sign this slip for the classes he has missed.

A pupil may not leave the building if sick unless he has secured a slip from the office.

Secondary Schools Celebrate Birthday

300th Anniversary of Founding
Of Boston Latin School To Be Marked With Many Honors

Three hundred years of high school education are being celebrated throughout the United States during 1934-35 school term under the leadership of the Department of Secondary School Principals of the National Educational Association. The celebration commemorates the founding of secondary education in the United States, when the Boston Latin School was founded in 1635. Projected features of the national celebration include a series of radio broadcasts, a memorial postage stamp, a national school fair, moving pictures, and the publication in February of a 300th Anniversary Issue of "Scholastic," national high school weekly, depicting the finest phases of the secondary schools.

Functions of the secondary school are to provide development from protected childhood to the age of independent self-reliance and to direct specialized attention to the problems of the adolescent through increased creative cultural courses.

The principle of public supported educational opportunities was started by the opening of the Boston Latin School in 1635. Statistics show that the number of boys and girls of secondary school age receiving education has greatly increased.

Allen Collins, Alumnus, Acts in Old Fort Play

Allen Collins, a former South Side student, portrayed a prominent character in a play presented recently at the Majestic Theatre by the Old Fort Players. This play, "Danger," written by Thomas Barry, was sponsored by the Quest Club of this city. Allen played the part of the lawyer from New York and portrayed the character very well.

While attending South Side, Collins was very active in many extra-curricular activities. Dramatics especially occupied his extra-curricular time, as he was a prominent member of the Student Players' Club, and also appeared in many plays. He was also active in dramatics at Valparaiso University while attending school there. At South Side he also was a yell leader.

Freshmen Learn Laws Of School at Meeting

A meeting of the incoming freshmen was held Friday morning in the Study Hall with Miss Martha Pittenger and Mr. R. Nelson Snider as the principal speakers. Miss Alice Patterson, girls' gym teacher, and Mr. Louis Briner, boys' teacher, talked to the girls and the boys separately on the regulations concerning physical education work.

Circulation talks urging incoming freshmen to buy the Totem and subscribe to The Times were given by Lois Magley for The Times, and Bill Hockett, Totem editor, for the Totem.

The purpose of the meeting was to acquaint the freshmen with South Side and its rules and operations. They were given the Official Green Book of the school, which contains information helpful to new students.

Archers Help In Debaters' Tournament at North Side

An invitational debate tournament was held at North Side High School Saturday, January 12. Several schools from this section of the state and one from Bryan, Ohio, were entered in the contest, in which LaPorte was the final winner. Two hundred and seventy-five persons were present at the noon banquet.

Although South Side students did not take part in the actual debating, their assistance was very important to the success of the tournament. The tournament was such a success that another is being considered for next year.

The election of officers featured the meeting of Torch Club Monday.

The retiring president, Bill McLeish, turned the office over to John Edwards. The other two officers saw Paul Ellison and Bob Lee take the positions of vice-president and secretary-treasurer respectively.

The members suggested eight topics, one of which the program committee must select as the line to be followed by the club for this semester.

Announcement was made of a show to be put on at the Central auditorium Tuesday, January 22. It will be a magician show, staged by one who calls himself Murdock, and sponsored by the Hi-Y clubs of this city. Murdock's show is said to be an excellent entertainment of two hours, full of a weird and mystic quality which should characterize all things pertaining to magic.

Cards containing three adult and three children's tickets were handed out to all who wished to sell them. Everyone selling this card will obtain a free ticket to the show. The price is twenty-five cents for adults and ten cents for children.

Linoleum Block Contest Scheduled

Winning Wood Cut To Be Mounted and Posters Made for Distribution To Home Rooms.

A linoleum block poster contest in celebration of the three hundredth anniversary of American schools has been announced by the teachers' committee in charge of the celebration at South Side. The winning wood cut will be mounted by the School Press and posters will be printed for distribution to home rooms, hall bulletin boards, and perhaps through the Parent-Teacher Association, the committee has decided. There may be a prize for the winning poster, although this has not been decided definitely.

The contest is open to all students who care to enter; and work is being started immediately, the committee planning to judge them as soon as Miss Ley, who is in general charge, reports them to be finished. The committee, consisting of A. V. Flint, chairman; Dorothy Magley, Rowena Harvey, Mary Helen Ley, E. S. Gould, Wilburn Wilson, and Gertrude Oppelt, will judge all entries.

Although the size has not been definitely decided, entries must be approximately 15 inches by 20 inches, and must contain the wording "300 Years of American High School, 1635-1935." They also must show a contrast between the early American high schools and high schools now, Miss Ley stated. They will be used as a distinctive South Side medalion for exhibition during the celebration, and the winning one may be entered in a national competition to be held by the Scholastic magazine.

Have Movies Weekly

This year the classes of the biology department of the Senior High School, Arkansas City, Kansas, are using motion pictures every Monday as a supplement to their regular work. The subjects will be insect and plant life and will follow as nearly as possible the general class work.

Girl Reserves Of Fort Wayne Attend N.I.F.C.

Talks by Deans, Open Discussion, Swimming, and Games Feature Meeting.

Girl Reserve Cabinets, representing all the high school Girl Reserve Clubs in the city, met at the N. I. F. C. conference at the Y. W. C. A. club rooms from 10:30 to 3:30 o'clock on January 17. The conference was under the direction of Miss Lucille Holtsapple and the retiring officers of Inter-Club Congress.

The conference was opened with several selections from the Central Trio, followed by several Girl Reserve songs led by Pauline Gemmer of Central.

Reports on last term's work were given by the retiring presidents of the separate Girl Reserve clubs, who are Florence Swanson, Polar-Y; Hutoka Neu, Friendship; Mary Lou Cory, C. P. C.; Dorothy Walker, Wheatley Center; Mary Osborne, So-Si-Y; and Ruth Harrison, U. S. A.

Inspiring talks on "How We Are Being Trained To Be Leaders Through Our Girl Reserve Clubs," "What Is the Value of a Girl Reserve Club in High School," and "How Girl Reserve Ideals Qualify Us for Life" were given by Miss Lewis, dean of girls at Central; Miss Lorraine Foster, adviser of Polar-Y, and Miss Martha Pittenger, dean of girls at South Side, respectively.

A recreational period in the gymnasium or swimming pool was then participated in by all the girls. Novel ideas, that could be used in planning meetings, were in the center of each of the six tables at the luncheon. The table decorations were carried out in blue and white, the Girl Reserve colors. They consisted of napkins bearing the Girl Reserve emblem, place cards with the conference emblem on them, table sprays, cut flowers, and large silver candles.

Hutoka Neu, president of Friendship, was in charge of impromptu speeches after the luncheon, such as "Why Pick on Me," "Memories Which Return as I Look Over This Group of People," "What I Would Do If I Had the Wings of an Angel," "Why One of These Subjects Is Just as Good as Another," and "Why This Is a Very Delicate Subject."

During the afternoon an open discussion on the Forums, a world fellowship project, the tournament dance, and Camp Yarnelle was held under the direction of Marie Wurtzenburger, the retiring president of Inter-Club Congress.

The new officers of Inter-Club Congress are Martha Baumgartner, president; Betty Riemer, vice-president; Esther Hartman, secretary; and Cleo Terry, treasurer.

Miss Hienbaugh performed the serious initiation of these new officers and the retiring officers performed the humorous initiation.

Many Books Are Placed On Shelves of Library

Many new and valuable books have been added to our library recently. "The German Classics" are one of the outstanding sets. They are books of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries which have been translated from the original German into the English language. Twenty volumes compose this set. Money was taken from the general trust fund.

South Side Award

The science department of South Side High School, one of sixty-four high schools in the United States given the right to award this medal, has been allowed to present the Honor Science Medal sponsored by the Bausch and Lomb Optical Company of Rochester, New York, to the most outstanding member of the department. Science teachers are meeting to discuss the basis on which it will be awarded.

Outside Talent To Be Feature Of Assemblage

Jimmy Richard's Orchestra, Edward Clark on Music Program This Morning.

The South Side band, under the direction of Mr. Jack Wainwright, will again present music program for the entertainment and pleasure of South Side students this morning in the gymnasium. The students are admitted for the very small amount of five cents.

All students who can afford this amount are to see their home room teachers for a free ticket. In this way every student in our school is able to participate in the enjoyment of this monthly concert in spite of a charge of admittance, however small. The money taken in at these concerts given by the band is to defray the expenses of the band and orchestra and to buy new instruments. In this way the band hopes to be self supporting, owning all of the instruments they use.

The program this morning is to have a variety of music, showing South Side and other local talent. The people who are to appear on the program from outside of the school are Mr. Edward Clark from the Tom Henry Music Company, and Jimmy Richards' Orchestra, the orchestra from the Berghoff Gardens, a popular local rendezvous. The program for the music assembly is as follows:

King Cotton, by Sousa.....Band

Since Travel Club is the Red Cross club of South Side, the first meeting of the new semester was in the form of a Red Cross meeting with Anna Bremer and Eliza Besse Lucas, vice-president, and secretary-treasurer respectively of the Allen County Inter-Club Red Cross Council, in charge.

Eliza Besse Lucas told about the history of the Junior Red Cross. It came into existence through the war when the children were given the privilege of participating in the humanitarian work of the Red Cross through the making of bandages, dressings, and comforts for the soldiers at the front. These Red Cross organizations rapidly spread all over the world.

Communication between the Red Cross organizations of different countries is carried on through the sending of gifts, letters, and portfolios, such as the one Travel Club recently sent to Australia.

"The Junior Red Cross is organized for the purpose of instilling in the children of this country the ideal of peace and the practice of service, especially in relation to the care of their own health and that of others, the understanding and acceptance of civic and human responsibilities, and the cultivation of a spirit of friendly helpfulness toward other children in all countries," Eliza Besse stated.

Anna Bremer told about the work of the local chapter of the Junior Red Cross. This chapter sends monthly remembrances, appropriate clothing, stockings, books, and other things to the veterans' hospital at Marion and at Indianapolis. She also told about the National Children's Fund and what it does in foreign countries.

Installation service for the new officers was also held, installing the following: Wayne Christie, president; Mary Michaels, vice-president; Ruth Fowler, secretary; Catherine Allen-dorph, treasurer; Newell Kellogg, foreign secretary; and Lloyd Gordinian, sergeant-at-arms.

All members were assigned to a program committee for one of the meetings. The following program committee chairmen were announced, in the order of their meetings: Verna Holtman, Charles Thorne, Mary Kay Smith, the Ruhl twins, Georgetta McIntire, Rosemary Lehman, Helen Walbert, and John Bremer.

Writers Club Resumes Organized Activities

After much deliberation the Writers' Club has been reorganized. The club in former years was the organization which published "Singing Arrows."

Dr. Werner Duemling will speak on Radium at the Math-Science meeting this evening at 7:30 o'clock. Dr. Duemling is the school physician and is well known to the students on that account.

This is the first meeting at which the new officers will preside. They are Duncan McLeish, president; Anna Brumbaugh, vice-president; Mildred Foellinger, secretary; and Ned Hackney, treasurer. The committee heads and their committees will be announced at the meeting.

Following the program, games will be played after which refreshments will be served. Sophomore A's, Juniors and Seniors who have had either a year of math or a year of science are eligible to join.

After much deliberation the Writers' Club has been reorganized. The club in former years was the organization which published "Singing Arrows."

Dr. Werner Duemling will speak on Radium at the Math-Science meeting this evening at 7:30 o'clock. Dr. Duemling is the school physician and is well known to the students on that account.

This is the first meeting at which the new officers will preside. They are Duncan McLeish, president; Anna Brumbaugh, vice-president; Mildred Foellinger, secretary; and Ned Hackney, treasurer. The committee heads and their committees will be announced at the meeting.

Following the program, games will be played after which refreshments will be served. Sophomore A's, Juniors and Seniors who have had either a year of math or a year of science are eligible to join.

Wins Award

Ursula Morton

Ursula Morton, past general manager of The Times, has been named to Quill and Scroll by Miss Rowena Harvey. Her award to the society was not made till this semester because of the requirement that members be 12A's. More members will be named later in the semester.

Totem Staff Is Starting Drive For Freshmen

Two Week Campaign Begun To Get Frosh Subscriptions; Down Payment $1.

Although the goal for the 1935 Totem has been reached, a campaign will be staged during the first two weeks of February in order that the freshmen may subscribe. The price is two dollars and may be met by a down payment of a dollar and payments within the next two months amounting to one dollar.

The underclassmen picture drive so far has had most gratifying results, for during the first two days that pictures were taken, over two hundred fifty students responded. A goal of 900 has been set; and, if all the room agents do their best, it will most certainly be reached.

In past years when underclassmen were given no space in the yearbook other than group pictures, the demand for single pictures was overwhelming. The photographer sets up in the room just to the right of the south entrance to the gym. Students may be excused from their study periods for five or ten minutes to have their photographs made. All underclassmen are urged to sign up with their agent as soon as possible.

Senior panels were sent to the engravers last Tuesday. However, because there were only three on the last panel, this has been withheld. Eleven more places on the last panel are available at a reduced rate because they will not be in alphabetical order.

Rockettes to Hold Drill On Requisites

Description, Identity, and Classification of Crystalline Formations Membership Requisites.

New requirements for membership in the Rock Club will be featured in a drill at the next meeting. The new set of requirements is the idea of Fred Prange, president of the club. The requirements are as follows:

Be able to describe and identify: Quartz crystal, milky quartz, feldspar, mica, calcite.

Be able to name the three classes of rocks. Explain how each class is formed. Name three examples of each. Be able to identify sandstone, limestone, shale, marble, slate, gneiss, granite, basalt, and diorite.

Present a collection of at least ten specimens, correctly labeled in an acceptable tray.

Non-members may attend meetings, and those who desire membership will be given ample time to familiarize themselves with specimens.

This will be the first meeting of the semester, and the new officers will take office. They are: Fred Prange, president; Rosalind Enz, vice-president; and Dale Busse, secretary-treasurer. They will conduct a contest on the new requirements. Those present will be divided into two teams, with the losing team presenting the program for the following meeting.

Marionette Club Plans To Build Puppet Stage

John Bex, new president of Marionette Club, announced that the main project of the club would be the building of a puppet stage for the club. The stage will be fashioned after one built by Tony Sarg, eminent authority on marionettes. Besides the stage, the members of the club plan to study the making and manipulation of marionettes.

The other officers are Georgetta McIntire, vice-president; Mary Ann Park, secretary; and Eliza Besse Lucas, treasurer.

On last Friday night, the club enjoyed a potluck and theatre party. The latter was held at the Palace theatre.

Alvaro Ferlini Heads Sale of New Text Books

Mr. Alvaro Ferlini has been in charge of the sale of new books during the eighth period for the past week. The sale will continue next week if the demand for books is great enough. So many pupils have requested English books, including "Romeo and Juliet," "Three Narrative Poems," and the English II textbook, that it will be necessary to place another order. Commercial textbooks have also been greatly in demand.

Joint Graduation For High Schools At Northern Field

Opinions on Grades Vary; Some Students Hurt, Others Happy

From the query of this reporter, it seems that the teachers of our dear school are very unjust or else the students have a poor idea of the proper grades. At any rate, there is much "I think the grades terribly low" or "she didn't give me near as much as I deserve," etc. But then, as always, there are students who are satisfied or more than satisfied with their grades. Some of the following are evidence of the foregoing data.

Three young ladies, Dorothy Aldrich, Emily Lepper, and Jane Brothers respectively, replied: "I was overwhelmed," "I was astonished," and "Oh, the teacher."

The curly-haired Kenneth Scott said that his eyes almost popped out of his head. (We have always wondered what was in his head; nothing ever came out of it.)

Virginia Baumgartner, that gal with the million dollar smile, said that she was pleasantly surprised at the little marks the teachers placed on her card.

The teachers not only grade low, but I think maybe I must be sorta dumb," was the reply of Jean Kirby. Billy Fries said that his stomach was guilty of having a sinking sensation.

Although not satisfied, she was pleasantly surprised, said little Miss Louise Closs.

Paul Randall had extreme feelings over his marks.

Committee Appointed For Meterite Campaign

Installation of the new officers took place at a Meterite meeting held January 22, in the Greeley Room. A special drive for new members is being made. Joan Bonsib was appointed chairman of the campaign committee. Those on the committee are Margaret Anne Ruckel, Betty Garton, Anne Peters, Betty Wilson, and Ruth Henline. Book reviews are going to be given at each meeting this term. The settings of the books are to be in foreign lands. Mary Jane Wagoner is going to give a book review at the next meeting.

The Best

To the many new students entering South Side this term, we wish to take upon ourselves the responsibility of introducing you to the school publications, namely, The Times and The Totem. The Times, having for several years been judged "The Best High School Paper in the United States," maintains at all times the highest standard possible of any publication of its kind.

A yearbook is the only means through which a high school graduate may keep and cherish a record of his happy days during his school years. A yearbook which has time and again been given the title of "All American," should be a great companion to a student through post-graduation days.

The student body of South Side is far more fortunate than they possibly realize in having two of the best publications of their kind in the United States.

The Times and The Totem are of great value to every classman from freshmen to seniors. Whether they want to acquaint themselves with the activities and departments of the school or know the graduation plans, diploma requirements and so forth, they will find all answers in these two publications. Everyone interested in getting the latest news will be justified in offering their subscriptions to these two publications.

The March of Progress

Initiative, says Elbert Hubbard, is doing the right thing without being told. Can you imagine what sort of a world this would be without initiative? There would be no electricity, no automobiles, no activity of any kind except that necessary to live. People would die by the millions of diphtheria, malaria, smallpox, and all the other scourges of mankind. We would lead a primitive life, probably in mud huts amid the greatest filth, and with not the slightest inclination to improve our condition.

Private initiative is the only thing which separates us from such things. Fulton's steamboat was called folly by the "intellectuals" of his age. Morse battled years to get a Congressional appropriation for his telegraph. Why? Simply because people did not believe in strange things, like superstitious savages who regard things they do not understand as supernatural.

But today huge liners travel from here to Europe in four days. Morse's invention brings all nations together as neighbors. A king is assassinated in Europe and it is on front pages in New York, San Francisco, Honolulu, Tokyo, and Bombay inside of twenty-four hours. Yet it was "impossible" such a short time ago as a century! And these two examples only scratch the surface of modern progress. Thousands, even hundreds of thousands of people are at work today for the betterment of mankind. Most of them will very probably remain unknown all their lives. A Pasteur, an Edison, a Marconi are today unknown workers in our midst, unselfishly giving their energies for the world's betterment.

There is still much to be done. Tuberculosis and cancer plagues have yet to be conquered. Man's life has yet to be extended another decade. In a remarkably short time, we of the younger generation will have opportunities to remedy these and many other things. Whether we will take advantage of them or not remains entirely up to us. We are the only ones who will determine the amount of our energies, and private initiative is the only power which will do it.

High school is the period of life where real character first shows. The pupil who pursues his studies on his own initiative will be the one who leads men in later life. No amount of avoiding unpleasant things now will get us anywhere then. We will stand alone against the world, without the supporting props of school and outside aid. Nothing but death can separate us from the hard knocks of life. It is our problem now. Will we be ready?

Magna Cum Laude

"Working their fingers to the bone" is not the hyperbole it seems when applied to those on the decoration committee of the Booster Club. This may be a slight exaggeration, but it is certainly true that the students who decorate for the football and basketball games, banquets, and other affairs, have no easy time.

Hours and hours of work are put in by this committee in making and arranging decorations. Their work is handicapped by the actions of over-zealous persons who tear down the artistic creations which might have been used again. For example, at the Central game a beautiful decoration was made; it might have been used again, but some evidently thought that their rooms needed it more than the gymnasium. But this is just one trouble undergone by the hard workers of the Booster Club. They often sacrifice well-prepared suppers to prepare decorations; a hamburger perhaps has to satisfy until after the game. Then there are the special favors: hats, bows, flags, and other things to make a game more interesting. The committee prepares these things and then hands them out at the games. The National Honor Society banquet always means a great deal of work for these little-praised workers.

Yes, we feel that all the work, from carrying to and from the stadium green and white pennant poles to wrapping crepe paper around the handrails of the gym should not go unappreciated. Edythe Thornton is chairman of the decoration committee of the Booster Club, which consists of Betty English, Arnold Metch, Elga Stump, Bernita McIntosh, Alice Hulise, Anna Bremer, Virginia Greiner, Betty Wolf, Henry Miller, Margaret Murphy, Clarabelle Chenoweth, and Georgianne Jacobs.

Freshman Fantasy

Fresher Freshmen

What a feeling! What a feeling! We begin to realize why the sophs attempt to place themselves even above the high and mighty senior in bossing us freshmen around. At last we have advanced to a position where we, though still lowly and green, have humans beneath our thumb. How we gloated over that straggling group of awestricken, wide-eyed scared little eighth-graders that came tramping into the gym, only to go out much wiser and sorrier little freshmen. Revenge is sweet. For once, our footwear was unmolested, except for those older but never-the-less smaller freshmen who could convince no brutal soph that they were not of the greenest. Next year, it will be our privilege to leave the shoes down; yes, even to the deepest depths of the gym floor and stuff. Even our usually gentle hearts call for fountains and large bird-baths (and in this icy weather!)

But perhaps it would be better to stay our marauding band. If we freshmen, as sophs, cease the customary teasing of those who are fresher, they in turn would not molest those below them and so those habits would be replaced by other more commendable ones. We might at least refrain from such pointless humor as directing the freshmen to wrong classes. Surely we can concoct some higher method of expressing our superiority. Give him a break until he gets to know the ropes.

King of Them All

Second Table

The new third period study hour looks very much like a Letterman's convention with practically every one of the brutes in attendance.

Rowena Bevington does a lot of looking for a red and black jacket with a "C" emblazoned on the manly front. Matts Luepke is the occupant.

We saw one young man traipsing about the halls of this fair school trying to act as if he had been here for two or three years. But we knew he was a freshman because he said, "Pardon me!" to everyone he barged into.

Virginia MacNamara, the talented little dancer, displays an abnormal interest in Concordia College, or maybe it isn't the school.

We've been wondering for a long time if Scheiber likes sugar with her "Coffee."

Upperclassmen will have a grand time watching the new freshman romances. There'll be gobs of them starting soon.

Say, were they Pappert and Ream?

Eighth periods again, for goodness sake!

But he hadn't better try.

Theme of the Week

THE WOUND

Jerry Zehr English 3

Old Dr. King stood facing the desk in his office engaged in deep concentration. Suddenly he turned to the serious-faced young man, Lyle Roberts, who stood behind him.

"Lyle," he said, "your wife has told us, I believe, all that she knows concerning that wound on her neck. To-day she said that on every Saturday morning the wound gives her pain and, on Friday nights, she dreams of a hideous-looking man. Also she said that on the Saturday mornings after she has had an attack, one of her French windows, which she always keeps shut, is always open. Lyle, I have been concerned with this case for a long time; and I believe that I have finally found the solution to this puzzle."

"What is it, doctor?"
"This thing which has been gradually weakening your wife, it is hard for me to tell you. If I do tell you, you may not believe me; but you must. I have given much time to this case, and this conclusion seems inevitable."
"Quickly, doctor. What is it? I will believe anything you tell me."
"Just this one word tells the whole story."

As the doctor struggled to tell Lyle and to be done with it, he pitied Lyle with his whole heart, for he knew what a shock the news would be to him. For an instant, he thought that he might be wrong after all; but he realized that with his definite proof he could not be wrong.

"Lyle, it is a vampire."

At first, Lyle looked at the doctor with a curious glint in his eye. He asked the doctor to say again what it was. After the doctor had repeated himself, Lyle went into maniacal laughter.

"Vampire," muttered the dazed Lyle, "no, no it cannot be a vampire," he shouted. "Why, vampires exist only in stories and fables. Doctor, you're crazy. Who ever heard of such a thing as a real vampire. You're, you're—"

"Shut up, you fool," snapped the doctor. "Do you want everyone to hear you? When you're calm enough to talk decently, you can come back. Now go on outside and cool off."

Lyle Roberts was one of the most successful young business men in a western town of a hundred thousand people. His father had started a department store and, when his father died, Lyle had carried on and had greatly enlarged the business. When he was twenty-five, he eloped with the girl who was his wife. Fortunately, the match was a happy one, although he had known the girl for only three days before he married her. When they had been married for three years, she had developed a curious wound in her neck. This wound, which had baffled many well-known medical specialists, until old Dr. King had stated that the cause of the wound was a vampire, was on the right side of her neck and looked like it had been made by a small knife.

Archer Atrocities

The floor of the Times room has just been swept, so there is plenty of new dirt this week. To begin with, an admirer of Jim Phelps writes in to say that he looks like Tarzan. My, my!... Why is it that William Meyer's face gets so red when he looks at Dona Brubaker? Too bad because she is eating her heart out for Paul Rider. We feel for you, William, but we can't reach you... Phyllis Shorb rates plenty of the boys when she's over at the reservoir—maybe that's why she is so fond of skating....
